There is not much movement reported. Alsike is dull and unchanged at from $2.50 to $4, except for extra fancy stock, which is worth slightly more. No quotations for timothy are obtainable.

MARKET NOTES.

Hides have declined ¼c.

Eggs have advanced 1 to 1½c.

Creamery print butter is 1c. dearer.

Cable offers on figs have been withdrawn.

New season's Valencia raisins are on the local market.

Standard oatmeal and rolled oats have declined 20c.; rolled wheat 10c.

There has been another advance of ½c. per lb. in Japan teas in the primary market.

The feeling regarding cheese is weak, a decline of ¼c. being noted at some board sales this week.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has contributed a fair volume of trade during the past week, both for actual shipment from stock and in the shape of forward orders for future delivery. In the first respect, demand for refined sugar has been most noticeable, while in the latter, the orders placed for canned salmon and vegetables, and for Valencia raisins for fall delivery, have been quite numerous. In all of these goods, the tendency of values, for the reasons enumerated in the regular market reports, is quite firm; in fact, there is a strong possibility of still higher prices.

BLUE RIBBON TEAS

SUGAR.

The sugar market is firm, in sympathy with the strong feeling displayed by outside markets, and a fairly active volume of trade has been transacted during the past week. Raw sugar has ruled quite firm at New York, and, while beet has fluctuated somewhat in London, the general tendency has been steady. On spot, trading has been done at last week's prices, which are firmly held. In fact, everyone admits that stocks are small, so that a good brisk business is anticipated until these have been thoroughly replenished.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in syrups, which rule quiet, as last quoted.

MOLASSES.

A stronger feeling has been developed in the molasses market and prices for round lots of Barbadoes have advanced 1 to 1½ c. per gallon, the inside figure for wholesale lots now being 29c. In a jobbing way values are very firmly held, with the possibility of an advance in the near future. The strong feeling is due to the fact that wholesale houses generally have made up their minds that the supply on spot is going to be short. In 1897 the imports of Barbadoes to Montreal and Quebec amounted to some 17,000 puncheons, out of which refiners got 5,000, leaving 12,000, and 1,000 Porto Rico and 1,000 Antigua, making a total of 14,000 to the trade, which came on top of a heavy stock of old that was between 4,000 to 8,000 puncheons. This year the total imports to Montreal and Quebec have been 13,000 puncheons of Barbadoes only, out of which 5,000 went to the refiners, leaving 8,000 to go to the trade, which shows a decrease of 6,000 puncheons as compared with last year, and no old stock on hand. The cost of molasses this year was 6 to 7c. per gallon more than in 1897, and the quality not so good.

CANNED GOODS.

An active trade has been done in new-pack salmon during the week, but almost wholly in cohoes fish, on the basis of $3.50 f.o.b. Coast. Packers are not quoting sockeye fish very freely, but $4.50 to $4.75 f.o.b. Coast have been among the prices lately mentioned in this market. All accounts agree that the yield this year will be much lighter than in previous seasons. In canned vegetables, the recent cold weather has imparted a much stronger tendency to the market, and demand for peas, corn and tomatoes has been more active. No quotable change is reported here, but values are steadily held.

COFFEE.

Only a few round lots of Maracaibo have been moved, and prices all round are unchanged.

SPICES.

These continue unchanged on spot, but advices from abroad are quite firm.

TEAS.

Business in new Japan teas has transpired, during the week, at prices ranging from 16 to 20c., and the market has an upward tendency at this range, the values named applying, of course, only to round lots of goods, small jobbing business being impossible at these figures. Japan advices also state that the third picking is a disappointment, and not to be relied on. Black and green teas have furnished little of moment.

DRIED FRUIT.

The Valencia raisin market is still irregular and unsettled as regards importations of new crop, but, though quotations vary greatly, good quality fruit are held exceedingly firm. Importers have shown more disposition to operate this week, and some large contracts have, it is understood, been placed for Valencias, for fall delivery by direct steamers, at 15s. to 15s. 6d. for fine off-stalk, 19s. for selected, and 21s. for layers, which are the figures named by the best shippers.

In California raisins, nothing special is to report, for the very good reason that packers are not urging sales to any extent as yet. In fact, several leading houses on the Coast are still withholding prices.

There has been little news in connection either with California or European prunes.

NUTS.

There has been nothing to report in nuts since last week.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been very little change in the green fruit trade during the week. Demand for lemons has been quite active at $4.75 to $5 per box, an advance of 25c. Oranges are also scarce and firm, at $3.50 to $4. Limited quantities of apples are arriving, and prices are firm at $1.50 to $2 per barrel. Receipts of Canadian peaches have been large, and they sell at 50 to 65c. per basket. Pears are a glut at 30 to 40c. Canadian plums are dull and heavy under large receipts at 20 to 30c. per basket. Arrivals of California fruit have been light, and prices generally steady.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—A good trade was done in eggs today in a small way, and prices ruled firm for strictly new laid at 17½ to 18c. per doz., and choice stock for exporting was quoted at 15½ to 16c. We quote: No. 1 candled, 12½ to 13½c.; No. 2 candled, 9 to 10c.

BEANS—There was no change in beans, and the market is dull. We quote: Choice hand-picked at 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—The supply of honey is large, for which the demand is slow, and business quiet. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to 7½c.; dark, 5½ to 6½c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Was dull and neglected. We quote: Syrup in wood, 4½ to 4¾c. per lb.; in tins, 45 to 55c., according to size; sugar, 6 to 6¾c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

There was a fair trade done in local provisions, but the market on the whole was quiet, and without any feature to note. We quote: Canadian pork, in bbls., $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8¼ to 8½c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10½c. to 13c.; and bacon, 10 to 13c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

Business in the local grain market was quiet, which was due chiefly to lower cable advices. In oats, the feeling was easier, and prices declined ½c. per bushel, with buyers bidding 28c., and holders asking 28½c. afloat. Peas were stronger, and values were ½c. per bushel higher, with sales at 61½c. afloat. Rye was firm at 48c. in store, and all other lines were quiet.

In Manitoba flour business continues active, there being a good demand from all points, and some large sales were made. The tone was firm, and prices show no change. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4 to $4.25; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.75; in bags, $1.65 to $1.80; Manitoba patents, $4.80 to $4.90; strong bakers', best, $4.50 to $4.60.

The demand for feed was good, and the market is fairly active, with no change in price to note. We quote: Ontario winter wheat bran, $12; shorts, $14.50 to $15 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $11 to $11.50; shorts, $15.

Business in oatmeal was dull, and prices were unchanged at $3.60 per bbl. and at $1.75 per bag for rolled oats.

A fair trade was reported in baled hay, and the market is moderately active and steady. We quote: No. 1 at $6.50; No. 2 at $5 to $5.50, and clover mixed at $4 to $4.50, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese exhibited no striking change, the tone being fairly steady. We quote: Finest western, colored, 8½ to 8¾c.; finest western, white, 7¾ to 8c.; finest eastern, colored, 7¾ to 8c.; finest eastern, white, 7½ to 7¾c.; Liverpool cable, colored, 38s. 6d.; Liverpool cable, white, 37s. 6d.

The butter market ruled quiet and steady, as last quoted. There was enquiry for finest creamery, but holders were firm. We quote: Extra finest creamery, boxes, 18¼ to 18½c.; extra finest creamery, tubs, 17½ to 17¾c.; ordinary finest creamery, boxes, 17¼ to 17½c.; ordinary finest creamery, tubs, 16¾ to 17c.; dairy butter, 14 to 14½c.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Sep. 13, 1898.

BUSINESS during the week has been just fair, though obligations are quite promptly met. In markets there is little change. Canned goods are firm, and some lines of dried fruit, particularly figs, are higher. The annual exhibition is occupying considerable attention. It is a success as regards the space being fully occupied. What is needed to complete the success is fine weather. THE GROCER, of last week, was read by the wholesale trade more carefully than for some time, on account of the interviews regarding the proposed tea standards. Those interested here take strong sides on the matter, and their views will duly appear in THE GROCER.

OIL—The only active line is burning oil, and quite large quantities have been placed. Contracts now are not made as far ahead as formerly, time being limited to 30 days. Prices are held as last quoted, and little, if any, change is expected. In lubricating and paint oil business is quiet. Cod oil receipts are light and prices firm.

SALT—The demand, particularly for Liverpool coarse salt, continues good. Two cargoes, of some 10,000 sacks, are expected. Prices are firm. A little rock salt is in demand, but the sale is light. The Canadian salt is not in as active demand as earlier, but there is a steady sale. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—There is not much of interest. Some packers are quoting full lines, but others are not. Dealers are quite well supplied. Salmon are higher. Some cohoes are offered, but they are not liked by the trade here. Those who have carried over stock will make a good profit, and stocks are likely to get well cleared up, as few new fish are being bought. Local prices show little change, but must soon be advanced. In finnan haddies much larger quantities will be packed than ever before, and the outlook is for a large sale, not only in western Canada, but some shipments have been made to Boston, and further demands from that market are expected. Kipperred herring, which our packers are now putting up, have had a most satisfactory reception. There will also be a large pack of sardines.

GREEN FRUIT—The market is quite active, but small fruits, such as grapes and plums, have not the active sale of last year. In plums, the Nova Scotia crop is large. Prices so far obtained are low, and the package is small, when compared with the western basket. The western plums are liked, but the expense of bringing them here is too large to leave much for the shipper. A few Malaga and California grapes are being used. The Ontario, on account of prices, have the big sale. Apples now being received are of good quality, but sale is limited, and price keeps low. Some particularly fine California pears were received this week. Prices are held firm. Barreled pears have a steady sale at even prices. Bananas were scarce for a few days, but are again in good supply; oranges light sale. Lemons keep high. It is getting near the end of the season for them. In peaches, Eastern American have, as yet, rather the advantage in quality.

DRIED FRUIT—There is little as yet to make this an active line: California raisins are not yet quoted. Old stock is getting well cleaned up, and there is the same report from American cities, where prices for spot goods show an advance. In Malaga layers, prices are higher than last year, and will affect importations. Figs are again quoted higher, and will, when new goods arrive, sell much higher than last year. In Valencia raisins, little has yet been done here. Quotations are rather higher than last season. Prunes have but little attention. There is little local demand till after the holidays. Currants are firmly held. A few new evaporated apples of good quality have been received, but there is very little sale at this season. There is no movement for dried. Onions are lower. Market is supplied by American and Spanish, but Canadian are now quoted, and will soon be here. In peanuts, rather lower quotations have been received.

SUGAR—This line does not seem to be one of particular interest. Dealers, this season, have bought higher than usual. The different grades of granulated now offered, and the presence of foreign sugar, has put a stop to much speculation. Many disappointments have no doubt had their effect. A fair business at even prices is reported.

MOLASSES—The price here is still low. Dealers are slow to get up any particular interest. Stocks seem ample for the demand, though not large. Holders feel that with the regular fall demand prices must rule higher.

PRODUCE—Business seem to improve slowly. "In butter the price is still low," said a large dealer to THE GROCER, "we have so much poor butter that when we get a good tub we have to sell at the regular price to try and please those to whom we must sell the poorer quality." Case eggs move slowly. Cheese show little change. As the later makes come on the market it becomes more difficult to sell the earlier cheese. Their are fair stocks held and factories offer freely.

FISH—An improved business is noted. Dry cod hold their price, though, with the weather getting cooler, rather lower prices are likely to rule, as receipts will be larger. Pollock are light stock, but low prices rule, as there is light demand. Hake have a good sale. They are chiefly exported. Smoked herring have a fair sale at easy figures; pickled move more freely, and show good returns. There is quite a variety in quality. Pickled shad have a steady sale. Alewives are moving off at quite a good price. We quote: Large cod, $3.55 to $3.60; medium, $3.50 to $3.55; pollock, $1.35 to $1.40; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.70 to $1.80 ½-bbl.; old smoked herring, 7 to 8c. per box; Canso, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4½ to 5c.; rippling herring, $1.90 to $2; wolves do., $2.25 to $2.50; new smoked herring, 9 to 10c.; spring shad, $4 ½-bbl.; fall do., $5 ½-bbl.

PROVISIONS—There is a more active sale. Prices rule easier. In mess pork there is an increased demand each year for the local packed, and our packers are increasing their output. They have not yet started operations for this season. Smoked meats are dull. In lard, dealers are buying quite freely at lower prices, but some packers refuse to meet the competition.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—In flour, business is still unsatisfactory, considerable flour being sold at a loss. Ontario brands continue to have the largest sale. Some millers hold prices quite firm, but they do not look for much higher figures. Oats and oatmeal are rather lower; there is light sale, particularly for the former. New oats are not yet wanted. Cornmeal, which has a large sale, is rather lower. Mill feed is scarce and likely to be so. Beans show but light sale, price rather firmer. Hand-picked have the demand, mediums preferred. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.00 to $5.25; best Ontario, $4.40 to $4.50; medium, $3.95 to $4.15; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.80; cornmeal, $2.15; middlings, $2.00 to $2.10; bran, $1.70 to $1.80; oats, 38 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.75; hay, $8. to $9; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Every effort is being put forth to enforce the close season as regards lobster fishing. One patrol steamer reports destroying 197 lobster traps in one day.

Banks, feeling the competition of express and post office money orders, have reduced their rates on drafts, the minimum charge being 8c., in place of 25c.

The merchants of Fredericton regret very much the retirement of D. C. Chalmers, manager for that city of the Bank of Nova Scotia. W. H. Burns takes his place.

In few lines are there as many competitors as in chocolate and cocoa. F. H. Tippet & Co., representing Fry's, report regular sales as usual, and claim the reason is the quality of the goods which they sell.

St. John is interested in a proposed dry-dock, towards which the city is asked to grant $2,500, for a maximum period of 40 years. The proposed dock would be 800 feet long and modern in every way, costing about $1,000,000.

At the last meeting of the board of trade, attention was called to the fact of the sailing of the steamer Arcadia from Quebec direct to South Africa, affording intending exhibitors at the South African Exhibition an excellent chance to send their exhibits.

JAVA SUGAR FOR CANADA.

The first of the sugar ships chartered by The British Columbia Sugar Refinery, the Lombora, arrived in port yesterday, having come direct from Java.

Capt. Howes, her master, stated that he left Java with 2,900 tons of sugar with a fair breeze, and reached Mononan, Japan, in 19 days. The trip from Mononan to Vancouver took 17 days, the boat going at the rate of 10 knots an hour.

The latter part of the voyage was very unpleasant, owing to the fog, which made navigation difficult. The sugar is put up in baskets, and is being discharged to-day at the refinery. The B. C. Refinery Co. has arranged for the shipment to them of 20,000 tons of sugar, and other vessels are expected in shortly. The Australian steamer will probably bring in a heavy consignment. —The Province, Vancouver, Sept. 7.

The new kiln placed in the Clinton, Ont., evaporating factory is giving good satisfaction. About thirty are now employed, and will likely be employed till New Year's.

PUSHING JAPAN TEA.

THE competition of British colonial tea with the Japanese product has been so successful in this country, the principal foreign outlet of the latter, that the Japanese Government have been induced to set aside $42,000 for advertising native tea in American papers. Of course, China teas have always been the most formidable competitors of the Japan leaf, but their sale here has not increased at the expense of the Japan teas, as has been the case with India and Ceylon teas. Last year, the imports of both the China and Japan kinds experienced a serious decline, and the Japanese Government, evidently, has not taken action too soon for the preservation of the share of the native teas in our import trade.

It remains to be seen whether the usually potent agency of printers' ink will avail in this case. Japan teas have merits which have commended them to many good American judges of tea, but, in these days of keen competition in every line of effort, when every artifice and agency is resorted to in order to win popular favor and retain it, something more than ordinary merit is demanded if any article of merchandise is to hold its own or make its way, and therefore the former conservative methods of the Japan tea growers have had to take a back seat in favor of western ways of pushing goods.

If the agents of the Japanese Government entrusted with the expenditure of the $42,000 are well advised, they will devote a reasonable portion of the sum to the cultivation of the favor of American grocers through the medium of the trade press. The grocers must be shown why it may be to their advantage to handle Japan leaf. The suitability of various grades of the tea to certain kinds of water must be pointed out, and also the merits of special blends of Japan leaf. If the missionary work in the newspapers is not supplemented by equally judicious endeavors through the agency of the trade press, the Japanese Government may have reason to regret that it spent any money at all for advertising purposes, for it may prove to be money thrown away.—Merchants' Review.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

September 15, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. John, N.B., Halifax, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12, 1898.

THE past week has been cold and wet, quite unfit for threshing. Consequently there is no change in the wheat situation. To-day, the weather is extremely fine with every appearance of being settled, so that in all probability threshing will be in full swing by the middle of the week.

The first car of Ontario fruit, packed on the California principle, reached Winnipeg on Saturday. The shipper is Mr. Jemmett, of Grimsby, Ontario, who came forward with the car. The shipment included pears, plums and grapes. The pears were all paper wrapped and packed in the oblong cases, precisely similar to the California package. The fruit was in fine condition and demonstrates that all that is required for Ontario fruit is proper packing, in order to bring it here in perfect condition. Part of the car was devoted to tomatoes. These were wrapped in paper and packed in crates, similar to those used for California peaches. The tomatoes are probably the finest ever shown on this market and were in absolutely perfect condition. The one defect in the shipment was that the strapping of the cases had not been quite securely nailed at one end so that some of the crates were thrown out of position.

As mentioned last week, the J. Y. Griffin Co., are opening up retail houses through the city. These will be known as supply stores, and will carry, in addition to fresh meat, all kinds of perishable food stuffs, and will have a complete refrigerator system so that the goods will be put on the market in first-class shape. They will handle the meat from the new abattoir.

The grocery trade is good, but without excitement or change for the week. Few of the new canned goods have arrived, and heavy Fall orders will not begin to move until these come in. The only new canned goods as yet on the market are peas, corn, raspberries and strawberries.

CANNED GOODS—There is no change in price from last week, except an advance in raspberries, which are now quoted at $2.75 to $3. Tomatoes are very firm, and offerings from packers are light. Canned meats have fallen off, as the sales here are always light with the advance of cooler weather. Owing to the short pack, canned salmon has advanced $1 per case.

FISH—New cod is selling at 6½ to 7c., and herring at $3.60 to $3.75 the half barrel. Finnan haddies will not arrive for another month. Smoked herrings are 16½c. the small box.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—This market is remarkably firm. As people have not yet grown accustomed to the advanced prices sales are light, and there is a demand for inferior fruit, such as nectarines and a lower grade of peaches, fruits which will sell for 8½ to 9½c. per lb. However, this cannot last long, as the supplies of these are limited and cannot be renewed. Apricots are quoted at 13c. for first-class old stock; new, to arrive, 15 to 16c. Evaporated apples will be little, if any, lower than last year.

PRUNES—No new fruit yet in market. First-class old stock, small sizes, 5 to 6c.; larger sizes, 6½ to 9c. Reports indicate that while in California there is a fair crop of small sizes, large sizes will be short, and a further advance is looked for with the new stocks.

TEAS—The advance on low-grade Japans is now declared to be from 2½ to 3c. per lb. Advance on higher grades has not yet been declared.

COFFEE—Market is firm, but dull, at 8½ to 9½c., according to grade, for Rios.

SUGAR—Has again advanced 1-16c. per lb. Granulated, 5 3-16c.; yellows, 4 7-16. to 5c.

BUTTER—No change in situation or price; 18 to 18½c. is quoted, though one or two small deals went through this week at an advance on this figure. Dairy, 13½c., Winnipeg.

CHEESE—We quote 9 to 9½c. Considerable Ontario cheese is coming in. One house received two carloads on Saturday morning, and have a third in transit. Local dealers are still holding for higher figures.

EGGS—We quote 13½c., Winnipeg. Supply for last week has been liberal.

GREEN FRUITS—Market is well supplied in all lines. Peaches were short during the week, but are now in full stock, price, $1.25; plums, $1 to $1.25, according to variety; Ontario plums, 75c. per 20-lb. basket. Ontario grapes are arriving, and in fair condition. Moselle, 40c.; Concord, 35c. per basket. Ontario pears, 60 to 75c. per basket.

ALMONDS—Orders for import are placed at figures considerably in advance of last year, and there is some difficulty in placing import orders at anything like reasonable figures.

Canadian Vinegar in Britain.

O. Haaz & Co., of Kingston, Ontario, shipped, last May, 110 gallons of proof vinegar to Glasgow, Scotland, as a trial consignment. The same was tested along with German, French and other vinegars, and the fact that the firm received last week an order to ship about 1,000 gallons of proof vinegar, equal to 1,500 gallons ordinary table vinegar, is sufficient to prove the high standard of excellence their goods must have maintained to compete with these old country vinegars. ## CHEERFULNESS AND LONGEVITY.

"MEN are not made to hang down either heads or lips," says a modern writer, "It is the duty of everyone to extract all the happiness and enjoyment he can without and within him, above all, he should look on the bright side of things. As well might fog, and cloud, and vapor hope to cling to the sun-illuminated landscape, as the blues and moroseness to remain in any countenance when the cheerful one comes with a hearty 'good-morning.' Don't forget to say it, with a smile, to all you meet. A busy life cannot be otherwise than cheerful. Frogs do not croak in running water."

"I have told you," says Southey, "of the Spaniard who always put on spectacles when about to eat cherries, in order that the fruit might look larger and more tempting. In like manner I make the most of my enjoyments; and though I do not cast my eyes away from my troubles, I pack them in as small a compass as I can for myself, and never let them annoy others." We all know the power of good cheer to magnify everything.

When Garrison was locked up in the Boston city jail, he said he had two delightful companions—a good conscience and a cheerful mind. It was Lincoln's cheerfulness that enabled him to stand up under the terrible load of the Civil War. His jests and quaint stories lightened the gloom of the darkest hours of the nation's peril.

About two things we should never fret, that which we cannot help, and that which we can help. Better find one of your own faults than ten of your neighbor's.

Henry Ward Beecher was the greatest joker in college, and shocked many church people because he was so full of fun. His sister, Harriet Beecher Stowe, said he was like "a converted bobolink who should be brought to judgment for short quirks and undignified twitters and tweedles among the daisy-heads, instead of flying in dignified paternal sweeps like a good swallow of the sanctuary, or sitting in solemnized meditation in the depths of pine trees like the owl." Solemnity was regarded then as evidence of Christian character; but this preacher has done much to show that religion is the most beautiful thing in the world.

Helen Hunt says there is only one sin that seems to be everywhere, and by everybody is underestimated and quite too much overlooked in valuations of character. It is the sin of fretting. It is as common as air, as speech; so common that unless it rises above its usual monotone we do not even observe it. Watch an ordinary coming together of people, and we see how many minutes it will be before somebody frets—that is, makes more or less complaint of something or other, which probably everyone in the room, or car, or on the street corner, knew before, and which most probably nobody can help. Why say anything about it? It is cold, it is hot, it is wet, it is dry, somebody has broken an appointment or ill-cooked a meal; stupidity or bad faith somewhere has resulted in discomfort. There are plenty of things to fret about. It is simply astonishing how much annoyance and discomfort may be found in the course of everyday living, even of the simplest, if one only keeps a sharp eye on that side of things. Some people seem to be always hunting for deformities, discords and shadows, instead of beauty, harmony and light. We are born in trouble, as sparks fly upward. But even to the sparks flying upward, in the blackest of smoke, there is a blue sky above, and the less time they waste on the road, the sooner they will reach it. Fretting is all time wasted on the road.—Pushing to the Front.

COLORED SPOTS IN CHEESE.

NUMEROUS enquiries have been received by the Dairy Division, Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, concerning the "disease" of cheese, sometimes called "cheese rust," which is more or less prevalent in certain sections of the country, and has caused considerable annoyance and loss to some factories and dealers.

From about fifty reports received, the following facts are gathered: The affection is noticed where white, or uncolored, cheese is made. It may not appear until after the cheese is sold, but is usually first discovered from one to three weeks after the curd is pressed, when there may be seen a number of red to reddish yellow spots on the outside and throughout the body of the cheese; the spots may be detected with the aid of a microscope some time before they are visible to the naked eye. These sometimes seem to be in irregular layers, and when a trier is inserted piercing the layers rings appear on the plug withdrawn. If a cheese affected in this way is cut across the layers it is found to be streaked.

The spots increase in size from day to day, and vary from mere specks to large patches; they are chiefly in the open spaces, or cells, or interstices, between the pieces of curd, and sometimes resemble a sprinkling of iron rust or red pepper. In some cases, they are described as being the size of small shot, and are scattered through the cheese as though "they had been dropped into the curd while putting to hoop." In other cases, they are as large as silver quarters, and, occasionally, on the outside of the cheese, especially at the ends which come in contact with the shelves, there are colored patches as large as one's hand. The trouble occurs in hot weather, and is at its worst in July and August. Sometimes it affects only a part of the output of a factory, but if it gains a good foothold it is liable to be found in the entire product.

An investigation of an outbreak of colored spots in a Canadian factory, resulted in the discovery that imperfect drainage was the source of low organic life, and that the bacilli about the drains closely resembled those found in the spotted cheese. A culture of the bacilli was introduced into milk free from infection, and then the milk made into cheese; within a few days the spots appeared. The germs are easily carried or transferred from the place of development to a factory. The remedy is absolutely perfect sanitary conditions in and about the buildings, and absolute cleanliness in the care and use of materials and tools about the factory. In one factory, which had been troubled for several years, the difficulty disappeared with a change of operators; the new man gave everything a thorough cleaning, and saw nothing of rust spots. In another case the renovation, and, in fact, the reconstruction of a factory, failed to remedy the trouble, which was finally located in the dairies of some of the patrons.

Absolute cleanliness in and about a store-keeping food, is the only insurance against bacteria, which are nature's scavengers seeking the destruction of impure stuff. Many of the losses connected with the grocery business can be eliminated by having perfect sanitary conditions about the store, inside and out.

ADVERTISERS DEFACING NATURE

It is said that many people in Maine are so offended at the advertisements painted on boards and barns along country roads that they refuse to deal with the firms which so advertise.—New York Tribune.

Everywhere there are people who silently protest against the placing of advertisements of obesity pills, purgatives, soaps, etc., upon the landscape, whether it is a sign painted on Storm King, or a board panel in a smiling meadow by the roadside or along the railway. We know of consumers who boycott in their homes articles so advertised, believing it an offence against Nature and an intrusion on their right which they can only resent by ignoring the articles so advertised. At the same time, it is certain that others have their minds impressed with articles so advertised, and, naturally, when in need of them, instinctively recall the name of the articles advertised on or near the highway.

Like all debatable questions, it has two sides, both of which advertisers are bound to consider.—American Grocer.

COLEMAN'S SALT WINS

At the Toronto Industrial Exhibition, 1898, there were three classes for creamery butter. In each of these the first prize was awarded to the Ayton Creamery, owned by Isaac Wenger. The butter was salted with Coleman's Butter Salt.

The Fergus Creamery, operated by Aaron Wenger, received two second prizes. This creamery also used Coleman's Butter Salt.

Our special prize of $25 00 also goes to Mr. Isaac Wenger as the winner of the highest award for creamery butter in large packages.

It Pays to Use Coleman's Salt

Every creamery—every farmers' dairy—should have a supply. It costs little more than the cheapest, commonest salt. Dealers should make a point of having it in stock. Write us for quotations and samples.

THE TEA STANDARD QUESTION.

HOW IT IS VIEWED IN WINNIPEG.

G. F. & J. GALT are among the largest tea importers in the West. Your correspondent waited on them with reference to the action of the Dominion Government regarding the inspection of tea. G. F. Galt spoke for the firm, and stated that they certainly approved of a proper inspection law. "In the past," continued Mr. Galt, "very large quantities of tea, which failed to pass inspection in the United States, have been reshipped to Canada. This tea came in duty free, and was, no doubt, a great detriment to business here. Under a proper inspection Act, it would be impossible for this worthless tea to enter Canada. Of course, the value of this legislation will entirely depend on its being enforced in an intelligent manner, and extreme care should be taken in the selection of standards. The difficulty in enforcing a law of this kind will be that experts must be consulted, and experts are nearly always, more or less, interested parties.

"In the event of such an Act being enforced, Winnipeg should most certainly be made a port for inspection, as otherwise great delay and actual loss would be occasioned by having to send samples east for inspection."

Sutherland & Campbell were next called upon. Robt. Campbell, present head of the firm, said: "We would be in favor of an inspection law. I do not think that damage done to the Canadian trade by the shipping in of tea rejected in the United States has been serious, so far as Manitoba is concerned. The danger, however, exists, and is likely to increase.

WHERE THE DIFFICULTY WOULD BE.

"Should the Act be passed, Winnipeg should most certainly be made a port. Almost our entire tea supply comes to us from the Pacific Coast, comparatively a very small quantity, and that chiefly flavoring tea, comes through United States. It would be very detrimental to our trade if we had to send samples east for inspection. The only difficulty to my mind will be the selection of standards."

CONSIDERS IT USELESS.

Mr. Kenneth McKenzie, head of the firm of Kenneth McKenzie & Co., wholesale grocers, and large importers of tea, said, in reply to the query, What do you think of the proposal of the Dominion Government to establish a law requiring the inspection of tea? "It is utterly useless, in my opinion, for the reason that I do not think there is any need for it in this country. No one is going to bring tea in here that cannot pass United States inspection, for the simple reason that it would not sell. There is nothing that the people of this Province are more particular about than getting good tea. My second reason for thinking it a needless expense to the country, is that the man whom they will get will, in all probability, know no more about tea than he does about the inhabitants of the moon. A man may spend a whole lifetime in the study of the tea trade and yet have many things to learn, and I do not imagine the tea importers of this country want to submit their tea to either the caprice or the opinion of one who is incompetent to judge. I think the Government might profit by the experience of their predecessors in office, so far as this matter is concerned. The late Government had a man who was supposed to be an expert in tea. Three samples of precisely the same tea were sent to him for inspection. He reported two as up to the required standard and the third unfit for human consumption, and yet they were all exactly the same tea."

AN INSPECTOR AT EVERY PORT.

"Unless the Government are going to appoint a man at every point where tea is imported direct I do not see how it could be worked, for importers would not be willing for their goods to lie here in bond until such time as inspection was passed at, say Toronto or Ottawa. And a man at every port would mean a pretty expensive business for the Government. In my opinion they would do well to leave matters in the tea trade as they are.

SEES NO NEED FOR THE LAW.

The Codville Co.—After calling a number of times your correspondent succeeded in getting an interview with Mr. Georgeson, who spoke for the firm in this matter. Mr. Georgeson said: "I really cannot see the need for the establishment of inspection in regard to tea. If it is necessary for the eastern Provinces it certainly is not for Manitoba and the Territories, continued Mr. Georgeson, because we have no population which would look at a grade of tea that would not pass United States standards.

POOR TEA NOT USED IN MANITOBA.

"In the very early days here, a poor grade of tea was salable in the trade with the Metis, but that trade (as a distinctive trade) has almost entirely disappeared, and Government contracts for Indian supplies call for a tea which would always come up to the standard. Our large foreign population are not tea drinkers, they all use coffee, and buy, as a rule, No. 5 Rio.

"The decision of the board of inspection, to be useful, would need to be final, and this would necessitate the employment of expensive men. There could hardly be less than three on a board of this kind, and, to do justice, there should be a board at each port where tea is imported direct. This would entail enormous expense, and I cannot see that any corresponding advantage would be obtained. To my mind, the best protection we have against worthless tea is the fact that there is no market for it here."

OPINION OF A BROKER.

One of the brokers, who has been a long time in the business here and handles large quantities of tea, stated to your correspondent that he could not see any advantage to be gained by an inspection law. He further said: "If I understand the proposed regulation correctly, it is that all tea costing 10c. per lb. and under shall be subject to inspection. Now, in the first place, there is no demand, in this part of the Dominion at least, for so cheap a tea. And, in the second place, supposing my tea is invoiced at 10½c. per lb., it is not subject to inspection. What is to hinder my having a 10c. tea invoiced at 10½c. I have not looked into the matter very closely and this point may be guarded against, but such is not my impression. Then, supposing the Government pass the Act, there will be the greatest difficulty in getting men who are competent to do the work. I do not suppose that it is possible to get a man who is really a tea expert to work for less than $5,000 per year, and, to make the law workable at all, there should be a port of inspection at each point where tea is imported directly. It does not seem possible to me that the advantage, if any, to be gained can possibly warrant such an outlay."

AN ENGLISH OPINION OF OUR NEWSPAPERS.

One of the English firms exhibiting at Toronto Exhibition made the following statement to the writer: "Your newspapers here are run in a very queer way. A number of advertising men have asked me to let them write up our goods and put it in as reading matter, charging 5c. a line. If they were to write it up as a news item, it would be all right, but the 'bloomin'' fools will put in any 'bloomin'' thing you tell them. You know we would never think of such a thing at 'ome, and I wouldn't do it here."

EARLY THANKSGIVING DAY WANTED.

Editor GROCER,—In response to your invitation to the trade in this week's GROCER to discuss the question of the date for Thanksgiving Day, it seems to me that an earlier date than we have hitherto had would be an improvement. The latter part of November is generally stormy, muddy and uncomfortable, and, as the almost universal practice is to observe "Thanksgiving" by family reunions, and similar gatherings, a more desirable time would be the latter part of October. Why the time has heretofore been fixed so late I do not comprehend, unless it was simply following our United States neighbors, and this is not always the best thing to do. We are old enough to strike out our own furrows, and in this case it would certainly be better than the old rut. As to the date coming at a busy time for the trade, it is generally a busy time from now to Christmas, but when a merchant closes his store, he likes to be able to take full advantage of the holiday, and get away from the scene of his work, and this he can do much more pleasantly in October than in November. Of course, the turkeys must be consulted, because they would have to start earlier or grow faster, or both, in order to meet the changed condition of things, but, no doubt, they could be prevailed upon to begin their courting a month earlier to accommodate the public. Yes, all things considered, Mr. GROCER, let us agitate for an earlier Thanksgiving.

JOHN T. JAMES.

Bridgeburg, Ont., Sept. 16.

DISCONTENTMENT IN GUELPH.

The Daily Advocate, of Guelph, reproduces, in its issue of the 17th inst., the editorial which appeared in last week's issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER, re Thanksgiving Day, and adds: "In this connection there have frequently been heard discontented rumblings in Guelph among the merchants other than grocers, and for this reason we reprint the article, so that those that are not in receipt of THE CANADIAN GROCER will have a chance to give their opinion on the matter."

FAVORS THE WHOLESALE DISCOUNTS.

Editor GROCER,—In your report of the Retail Grocers' Association, I am reported as having said that the recent action of the Wholesale Grocers' Guild, re discounts, "was meeting with much opposition from the retail trade in the city."

These remarks were not made by me, and for the correctness of the statement I cannot vouch.

I am of the opinion that the best trade of the city would approve of terms allowing discount on all payments made from the 1st to the 10th of each month following the purchase of goods.

The three months' term is a relic of old times, when big profits, with long-time credits were in vogue. It is not suited to this age of keen business methods, and should be amended.

Retail dealers should always remember that discounts are put on before they are taken off.

TO GUARD AGAINST DEAD BEATS.

In not a few of the leading New York markets a rule prevails which, if generally adopted, would lessen the risks involved in credit giving, says an exchange. Prior to giving credit the applicant is expected to fill up a blank sheet containing searching questions as to his or her property, income and references. If this is satisfactorily executed and the subsequent investigation sustains the various answers, an account is opened. On the blank form a footnote appears which informs the applicant that the questions are purely business ones, and on the same principle as that adopted by wholesale houses toward their retail customers.

TRADE CHAT.

A DESPATCH from Waterford, Ont., states that Bartlett pears and tomatoes are unusually plentiful in that part of the country, pears selling at 50c. per bushel and tomatoes at 23c.

A new industry, that of canning herrings, has been commenced at Digby, N.S. Between 40 and 50 men are employed.

The Musquash, N. B., pork-packing concern has commenced operations for the season. Eighteen men are employed.

The Moose Jaw creamery recently sold 12,000 pounds of May butter at 18c. per pound to J. Y. Griffin & Co., Winnipeg.

J. E. Proctor, grocer, Petrolia, Ont., has sold out to W. E. Langford. The former will go into business in Leamington, Ont.

The erection of two additional buildings, each 72 x 16 feet, for Tighe's evaporating works, in Chatham, Ont., has been commenced. This will make five buildings in operation by this firm.

The International Ice and Cold Storage Co., of Vancouver, have installed over $10,000 worth of new machinery. Their business, especially the creamery department, is much improved.

A Windsor dispatch states that Montreal tobacco merchants are making an inspection of Essex and Kent counties. If they consider that section capable of sufficient production they will probably start a factory for the manufacture of smoking and chewing tobacco there.

Several consignments of plums sent from the Chilliwack, B.C., district to Manitoba and the Northwest, this year, have been affected by "plum rot." The B.C., fruit inspector is now inspecting this district, and precaution will be taken against the recurrence of the rot next year.

W. A. McClean and M. R. Duncan, who have conducted a grocery business in Owen Sound, Ont., for sixteen years, under the style of W. A. McClean & Co., have dissolved. Mr. Duncan will continue the business, and Mr. McClean will devote his whole attention to his pork-packing business.

Wm. Warner, M. E. Cornwall and G. R. Myles, of New York State, have formed a partnership under the style of Warner & Co., and have commenced the erection, in Harrow, Ont., of an apple drier two storeys high and 50 x 16 ft., and a workroom 16 x 20 ft. About 15 hands will be employed, and 200 bushels of apples per day will be dried.

A business man expresses himself thus in regard to advertising: "A man who tries to do business without advertising is like the man who, having goggles on, winks at a pretty girl; he may know what he is doing, but no one else does."

The consolidation of the wholesale fish trade of the Great Lakes, was concluded last week. Chicago capitalists, under the style of Booth & Co., with a capital of $5,000,000 now control the business. The combination states that it does not intend to increase prices; the profits are to be derived from the reduction in the cost of handling the business.

A Winnipeg despatch states that a consignment of plums, pears and grapes from Grimsby, Ont., packed in the California method, has been received in that city in excellent condition. As the Manitoba market has hitherto been chiefly supplied with United States fruit, owing to Ontario shipments arriving in poor quality, the success of this consignment is encouraging.

A WORD FOR CANADIAN HONEY.

English housekeepers, whose families have sweet teeth, might do much worse than look out for Canadian honey. This year it is said to be in particularly fine condition, especially that coming from the apiaries of Ontario and Quebec. In both Provinces beekeeping is conducted on a large scale and on most scientific principles. Unfortunately the source of supply—the great clover crop—is apt to be rather intermittent. Last year it practically failed altogether, and the consequence was the best Canadian honey was only to be procured with difficulty. The contrary, however, has been the case this summer, with the result that prices ought to come down. The old caution, however, must be laid stress upon, that if you ask for Canadian honey you should see that you get it.—Grocers' Journal, London.

There are about 75 hands employed in the Stratford, Ont., evaporating factory, and nearly 800 bushels of apples per day are turned out.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season. •

WARREN BROS. & CO. have in stock a shipment of Champion's new peels, including orange, citron and lemon, which is being offered at low prices.

Canadian "kippered chickens", deep tins, are in stock with The Davidson & Hay, Limited.

A shipment of Brazilian "Colory" coffee is in stock with Warren Bros. & Co.

T. Kinnear & Co. have just received a shipment of "Chocolat Menier" in  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's and  $\frac{1}{2}$ 's.

Fruit jars, all sizes, "Crown" or "Beaver" brands, at right prices, are in stock with T. B. Escott & Co.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, are making a drive in imported sardines,  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's flats and deep, and  $\frac{1}{2}$ 's.

An importation of new season's Young Hyson, a splendid 25c. retailer, is in transit for The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol's time table, fast freight service and map of Ontario can be procured on application to the firm.

Good value is what people appreciate. George Foster & Sons say that is why their "Golden Leaf" Japans are so popular.

New Sultana and Valencia raisins have been moving out freely during the past fortnight with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

George Foster & Sons have in stock a full line of spices and vinegars for the pickling season, and quote close prices, with no premiums.

T. Kinnear & Co. have a fresh shipment of pure cod in 1-lb. blocks, quail-on-toast in 1-lb. packages, and boneless fish in 25-lb. boxes.

George Foster & Sons report having just received an excellent cup Ceylon tea, to retail at 40c., and will be pleased to send samples on application.

T. B. Escott & Co. say they have made large purchases of finest growths of currants to fill orders for "Hercules" brand cleaned currants.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. state that, notwithstanding the weak state of the lard market, they cannot supply the demand for "Maple Leaf" lard.

A Teeswater firm write us this week giving the following unsolicited testimony to "Grand Mogul" tea, with T. B. Escott & Co. "We are having better results, and our customers better satisfaction, from 'Grand Mogul' tea than from any other package tea we have ever handled."

T. A. Lytle & Co. are finding an unusual activity in orders for jams, jellies and catsup. Buyers had better make a note of this and place orders early.

George Foster & Sons state that they are quoting close prices for round lots of raisins, currants, etc., to arrive, and are booking many orders for these goods.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, are in receipt of further direct shipments of Japan teas, straight leaf and Nagasakis. There are some splendid values in a 25c. retail tea in this shipment.

In store with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, are these recent arrivals: Morton's fresh and kippered herrings, No. 1 Labrador herrings, pure cod and boneless fish, "Golden Oval" haddies and domestic kippered herrings.

The Canadian Coconut Co. report heavy sales of "White Moss," especially in the west. The manager said, in conversation, that he had sold more in July and August in the west than all last year.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, report the arrival of a large line of Ceylons and Assams, including Pekoe Souchongs, Pekoes, broken Pekoes and Golden Tipped Orange Pekoe, with some scarce value in Formosa Oolongs—all showing exceptionally fine style and cup quality, at specially close prices.

THE MODERN STORE.

Time was when the handsome new store formed but seldom the theme of the trade journal or the local newspaper, because it was but seldom that the grocer's store deserved the epithet, "handsome," remarks Merchants' Review. But Time, that old and venerable but vigorous Father Time, has changed all that, and now the "palace" stores are as "thick as leaves in Vallombrosa." The difficulty is to select samples for comment, when so many are deserving of praise. The change is partly due to the publicity given by the trade press to the triumphs of the decorator's art, and partly to the enterprise of the firms that make a business of housing the grocer in decent quarters, transferring the dingy and cramped den of the greater part of the century into the "store beautiful," if the term is admissible. "I can't get many housekeepers to visit my store," complained an old-fashioned grocer. "No wonder, man," replied a candid friend; "a decent hog wouldn't come twice." We are changing all that nowadays, and, if Mahomet should refuse to come to the mountain, it would prove that Mahomet does not know what a treat is in store for him.

"OUR OWN BUSINESS."

IT IS significant, remarks American Grocer, that the most prosperous manufacturers, jobbers and retailers, when asked to discuss trade evils, are averse to taking an active part in efforts to correct what the majority regard as demoralizing to the entire trade. Almost without exception, they say: "Our own business pushes us so, and goes ahead so successfully, that we must leave these evils, if evils they are, to work out their own solution."

This is particularly true as to the position of manufacturers towards the cutting of prices at retail. Many claim that the sale of proprietary articles at cost gives them no concern, nor can they discern that it has any bad effect upon their trade. One very prominent company, at a time when a department store cut the price of their goods below the net jobbing price, made a canvass of the retailers in order to find out what effect it had, and discovered that the retailers said it had no influence on their trade and did not lessen the sale of the article in question.

The conclusion drawn was that the people understand thoroughly that prices are cut as a special inducement, are temporary in character, and generally cover an extortionate profit on other goods, and, therefore, they are indifferent to such allurements.

This possibly explains, in part, why successful business men say "we push our own business" and cannot find time—in fact, have no disposition—to help overcome the ills which engage so much of the time and effort of less fortunate traders. While others engage in associated effort, they push ahead for trade. If it falls off in one direction, they increase it in others. They study their environments and opportunities and seek a policy which is vigorous enough to overcome all friction. They believe that a certain amount of trouble or resistance is inevitable, and that the more they talk about evils the bigger and more annoying they become. As one well-known manufacturer remarked: "I am no missionary to go out and help make the weak and inefficient trader strong."

The moral of this short talk is that the closest personal attention to "our own business" takes out of consideration trade evils, so far as they affect individual firms. The merchant who is not enthusiastic, and whose whole heart is not absorbed in his business, invites disaster.

Eternal Vigilance is as much the price of Trade as of Liberty.

ACTIVE SPECULATION IN BUTTER.

THE export butter market has furnished a lot of excitement during the past ten days, and, as a result of competition for late made August creamery between three prominent Montreal speculators, values are fully 2c. per pound higher than they were a week ago.

Conservative traders, while they admit that demand is better, consider that the prices paid lately in the country were entirely unwarranted by the legitimate situation.

The best price that current export limits will allow in Montreal is 19¼c., yet, fully 1c. per pound above this price has been paid at country points, no less than three factories in the Townships section being bought on Saturday last at 20¼c.

With this cost in the country, the owners, if they were to let out with the bare charges, would have to realize 20¼c. in Montreal; and it is undeniable that this figure is not possible at present.

The fact, however, is not bothering the people who are doing the buying at present, because they have publicly announced that they consider their purchases worth all they have paid for them, and consider they will realize a good advance later on.

At present, stocks in Montreal are estimated to be heavier than in 1897, but the accumulations on the other side of the water are not any greater than they were at the same time last year.

ARTIFICIAL ALBUMEN.

AN Austrian inventor has discovered a method of obtaining an extract from waste products, such as coal tar, that is equal in nutrition to meat, eggs, milk, etc. It will cost about one-fifth as much as pepton obtained from meat. As analysis has shown the artificial pepton to contain the same proportions of carbon, nitrogen, hydrogen, and oxygen as the natural pepton, and, as it is in the powder form similar to the natural article, its economic value to explorers, travelers, etc., is apparent.

But it cannot be expected to materially interfere with the sale of eggs, meat, etc., to the general public, as there is an old-time, but deeply seated prejudice in favor of the product of the cow and the hen for eating purposes, as against phenol (a product of coal tar obtained from the waste of gas works), amydo-acetic acid, monochlorine acetic acid, and phosphoric oxychloride, which are announced as the agents in the manufacture of the artificial albumen.

FURTHER ADVANCE IN FIGS.

As far as Eleme figs are concerned, what has already been said in previous issues regarding their extraordinary high price, is being more than confirmed by later advices.

A cable received in Toronto this week from Smyrna states that there has been a further appreciation of values, and that for anything of average quality 65s. was being paid. This is about equivalent to 18c. per lb.

Shipments now on the way to this country are costing 5c. per lb. less than if bought to-day, and in the neighborhood of 10c. per lb. more than last year.

Comadra figs, while dearer, in sympathy with the Eleme descriptions, are relatively a great deal cheaper than the latter, and will, doubtless, meet with a large consumption. As far as Eleme figs are concerned, this price has practically made their consumption prohibitive in this country.

THANKSGIVING DAY QUESTION.

IN another column will be found a letter from John T. James, the well-known merchant of Bridgeburg, Ont., in regard to Thanksgiving Day. Mr. James agrees with THE CANADIAN GROCER that the holiday should be held earlier than at present, and suggests the latter part of October.

The latter part of October would undoubtedly be more favorable for Thanksgiving Day than the latter part of November.

If, by holding the holiday three or four weeks earlier than usual, more settled weather is possible; by all means let it be held that much earlier.

Canadians have reason, this year, to be particularly thankful. Such a yield of grain the country probably never experienced before, while the fruit crop has been, on the whole, good. Then, the evidences of prosperity are of a most pronounced nature.

And, if we have much to be thankful for, why should we be compelled to do our rejoicing, or, rather, attempt to do our rejoicing, when the rain is deluging our spirits and the mud is clogging our feet, as is frequently the case year after year?

By all means, let Thanksgiving Day be held earlier than at present. Let us hear from the trade in the matter.

Public opinion is a good thing when you can stir it up, but, when dormant, it is worth less than a dead mule.

VALENCIA RAISINS FIRMER.

Valencia raisins are firmer. Owing to the cost of exchange there has been a slight advance in the sterling quotations on this fruit, while the farmers in Spain consider the situation strong enough to warrant their refusing to sell at present figures. This latter condition is making it difficult for shippers to complete contracts for large quantities.

A cable from Denia announces the sailing of the Escalona, the first direct steamer this season for Canada with Valencia raisins

Wholesalers in Toronto are quoting Valencia raisins to arrive by this direct steamer at 4¾ to 5c. per lb. for fine off-stalk, 5½ to 6c. for selected, and 6 to 6½c. for layers.

THE CANNED SALMON SITUATION.

SHIPMENTS of new pack sockeye canned salmon are being received this week by the wholesale houses, and retailers' orders booked some time ago are now being filled; at least partially filled, for the shortness of the pack has precluded the complete filling of orders for several brands.

Newspaper exchanges to hand from the Coast give the pack on the Fraser at 225,000 cases, or over 600,000 cases less than last year.

The visible shortage of the Fraser river, Columbia river, Puget Sound and Alaska canneries is placed at 1,000,000 cases.

The sockeye market continues strong. There are no offerings from the Coast, as far as can be learned, of anything but cohoes.

Advices from London, England, state that sales of sockeye have been made there at equivalent to $5 f.o.b. the Coast, or $1.40 per dozen laid down in Toronto, Montreal, and other eastern points.

There have been a good many transactions between wholesalers the past week or two in last season's sockeyes. One lot held in Montreal was sold to a Toronto firm, to whom it was shipped, and the latter, in turn, sold it to another Montreal house, and an enhanced price was obtained in each transaction.

A round lot of "do-overs," which, last year, sold at 95c., within the last few days have changed hands on the Toronto market at $4.55 per case, or about $1.14 per dozen.

Most, if not all the orders now being filled by the wholesalers, were taken at $1.10 to $1.15, but, for this same fish, business would not be accepted at less than 20 30c. or 35c. per dozen advance. Some wholesalers report they would accept $1.40 for small lots of "Horseshoe" and equal brands, but $1.50 is the idea with others, while one occasionally hears $1.55 quoted.

A great deal of interest is now being centred in the coho pack, which began on the 15th inst. If there is a good run there will, no doubt, be a large pack, for, not only is there a short supply of sockeyes to warrant it, but there is the large residue of cans left over from the sockeye pack, which an effort will be made to use up. These empty cans, it is understood, cannot be carried over from one season to another, on account of their susceptibility to rust.

One well-known canner writes: "We are packing cohoes because we have the tins, but the price at which we are selling them will only allow us to get back dollar for dollar expended."

Although it is possible there will be a good pack of coho salmon, there is no sign of any weakening of prices. On the contrary, there is rather a stiffening of values; at least, some of the canners are asking 25c. per case more than they were a week ago. And there have been transactions in some good round lots in Toronto at the advance.

There is rather a wide range in wholesalers' quotations on last season's coho salmon in stock, some being firm at $1.15, while others are quoting $1 to $1.10 per doz.

At the time of going to press, we have received no information from the Coast as to the nature of the run of cohoes.

Through an unfortunate error, it was last week stated that the packers of "Maple Leaf" brand would only be able to fill 60 per cent of their contracts for 1-lb. flats, and 25 per cent of 1-lb. talls. The reference was intended for another brand altogether, the "Maple Leaf" people being in the fortunate position of being able to fill every contract entered into.

THE NEW WESTMINSTER FIRE.

New Westminster, which was nearly burned off the map two weeks ago, is already the scene of great activity. A despatch states that whole blocks of debris are being rapidly cleared away, and all capable men are engaged in the construction of new buildings.

Hardware stores, grocery stores, barber shops, fruit and refreshment stands, offices, etc., are under course of construction everywhere. Among the larger firms which have resumed business are The Cunningham Hardware Co., The Jubilee Grocery, R. F. Anderson, hardware merchant; T. J. Trapp, dealer in agricultural implements, and A. Godfrey, hardware merchant. Friday, the 16th, was held as market day, as usual.

Work has been commenced on the construction of the new city hall. The city business is being temporarily done in a tent.

The electric light system, to which about $25,000 damage was done, was in working order within a week after the fire, when the electric lamps throughout the city were re-lighted.

BURNED OUT.—NO INSURANCE.

ONE of the regrettable things to be noticed in regard to the recent fire in New Westminster was the fact that some of the merchants burned out were not insured, and, doubtless, some of these unfortunates have been ruined financially.

But this is not altogether a new thing. It is no uncommon thing to find in the newspapers and commercial agency reports statements to the effect that this and that merchant has been "burned out; no insurance."

Insurance rates are, no doubt, often high and often excessively so. But it is better to feel the prick of excessive insurance rates than, by avoiding it, suffer the loss of property by fire without possibility of compensation; unless being driven out of business be accounted compensation.

A merchant is neither just to himself nor just to his creditors who does not carry insurance equal to at least 60 per cent. of the value of his stock.

You may have been in business forty years without being visited by fire, but you may not be in business another forty hours before you are visited and compelled by the flames to make your exit.

Be prepared for such possibilities.

THE SUGAR AGREEMENT.

Several wholesale grocers from different trade centres in Canada are in Quebec this week conferring with confreres there with a view to adjusting some differences in the recent sugar agreement.

It is said for one thing that some of the wholesale houses are still purchasing foreign refined sugars in spite of the agreement to the contrary.

NEED OF A COMMERCIAL AGENCY RECOGNIZED.

IN a recent letter in The Toronto Globe, written by a resident of New York, reference is made to the lack of British capital in the development of Canada. "But," he adds, "it is not England's fault—the lack of capital arises from lack of advertising, and I rejoice that your Government is now opening up an agency in London."

The writer is not correct in all his premises. We can, for instance, scarcely relieve Great Britain from at least a share of the responsibility for the sparing manner in which her superfluous capital has found investment in Canada. Nor is he correct in his understanding that the Canadian Government is "opening an agency in London."

But, in the most important particular, he is unquestionably on the right track: He recognizes that the desideratum is a commercial agency in England through which a knowledge of Canadian affairs shall be imparted to the British public. In other words, through which Canada may be advertised.

There can be no question about it: The great need of Canada in the past has been the want of advertising in Great Britain. And the want of advertising in turn has been due to the want of a commercial agency in London.

During the last fifteen months, Canada has been brought to the attention of the British public as it never was before. There have been the preferential tariff, the Kootenay and Klondyke gold fields, and the Imperial penny postage, all of which have set people in Great Britain talking about Canada. And, what is more, been turning the attention of capitalists and emigrants towards the Dominion as was never done before.

But the nail has not yet been clinched: The commercial agency has not yet been established.

It ought to have been established. There has been plenty of time for it to have been established. The opportunity of doing so may not in a short time be as favorable as it is now.

Canada is at the moment a fruitful subject for newspaper articles and after-dinner speeches in the Old Country. While not probable, yet it is possible, to-morrow it may be some other part of the Empire that has the eye of the British public. No one can tell what may be in the lap of futurity.

While the iron is hot is the time to strike. The conditions are hot, very hot in fact, for the establishing of a commercial agency in Great Britain and it is the duty of the Government to strike now.

MANTLE MAKERS AND RECIPROCITY.

The mantle makers of Canada are sending a deputation to Quebec to interview the Canadian representatives on the international convention.

It appears that the mantle makers in the United States are in favor of reciprocity with Canada, and have presented their case to the delegates representing their country. Now, the mantle makers in Canada propose to present their case in order that their interests may not suffer by any agreement that might be entered into.

TO CORNER THE TOBACCO CROP.

The New York Journal of Commerce refers to a recent cable to the effect that a combination of London capitalists were making efforts to buy up the tobacco crop of the United States and Cuba.

It states that New York dealers agree that the cable is misleading—that the probability is that the London syndicate is endeavoring to buy up the tobacco now in Cuba, about 100,000 bales. This, however, will likely be difficult, as about two-thirds of the total amount is in the hands of manufacturers, who would not sell out except for a good margin.

The New York dealers laugh at the idea of buying up the United States tobacco crop, which is, like the wheat and cotton crop of that country, a staple production, and is produced in altogether too large quantities for any syndicate to buy up.

SULTANAS AGAIN ADVANCE.

Sultana raisins have not yet got over their bullish tendency, a cable received this week announcing an advance of another 3s. per cwt.

Very little business has been done in Canada, owing to the high prices, and the continued appreciation of values will certainly not help increase it.

New season's goods, now on the way, are costing 1½c. per lb. less than shipments would at to-day's prices, while 1897 fruit, which is now being sold by wholesalers here, cannot be imported under 7¾ to 8c. per lb.

THE PRUNE MARKET.

BOTH French and Austrian sorts are much lower than they were last fall at this time. Montreal wholesalers are offering the latter to arrive at 2c. per lb. less money than they asked for the same goods last season.

California prunes, on the other hand, are quite firm, and the general anticipation in regard to fruit from the Pacific Coast, is that prices will rule pretty strong throughout the season. In fact, some of the more sanguine authorities predict that every single line will advance in the near future.

They attribute this tendency in the case of prunes and evaporated apricots, pears, etc., to limited supplies, while the strength in raisins is due to the action of the Growers' Association, who, according to all accounts, completely control the situation on the Coast, and will work up raisin prices after Oct. 1.

When a young man has overcome himself, he has overcome one of the chief obstacles to success.

WALNUT MARKET FEATURES.

The situation in walnuts is not without interest.

Advices to hand state that the growers in the Grenoble district, having last year been compelled to lose money on their forward sales by Bourdeaux speculators, who eventually cornered the market, have this year refused to name forward prices.

Marseilles houses estimate that the price of Marbot walnuts will be about 97½ francs. As a matter of fact, however, one Bourdeaux firm, which has secured under contract with the farmers a considerable portion of the new product, is offering to sell in Canada at prices a good deal below this figure.

It is thought that the business this season will largely go to this firm, as the ordinary trader is said to be unable to name figures.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 22, 1898.
GROCERIES.

A FAIRLY good business is being done. Canned goods is probably the most interesting line. Canned salmon, of new season's pack, is on the market, and prices are higher in some instances than they were last week. New pack tomatoes are also in the warehouses this week, and they are being firmly held. Corn also continues firm. The tea trade is just moderate. Coffees are still quiet, although there appears to be a little more disposition to do business. All foreign dried fruits, except currants, are firm, but there is not, at the moment, much business being done. Spices continue to rule firm.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned salmon is still the most interesting feature in the canned goods market. New pack is this week being taken into the warehouses of the local wholesalers, and orders placed by retailers are being filled. Prices are firmer rather than easier. Lowe Inlet sockeye is being quoted by wholesalers at $1.30 upward, and Fraser river fish all the way from $1.40 to $1.55. In cohoes there have been some transactions for future delivery at an advance of 25c. per case above the figures ruling last week for same brands. Canned tomatoes are being taken into the warehouse, and orders previously booked are now being delivered. The ruling wholesale quotation for canned tomatoes is 80c. No offers from the packers are reported. Wholesalers are quoting corn at 75c. upward and peas at 70c. upward. We heard of a transaction in a round lot of corn at 72½c. per dozen. Fruits are quiet and without feature.

COFFEES.

Trade, locally, is beginning to pick up a little in Rio coffees, and a good demand is reported for the "colory" descriptions coming forward. The outside markets are a little easier on Rio coffees.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business appears to be picking up a little in syrups, some of the refiners' agents being able to report transactions in carload lots this week. Yellow fever in New Orleans had the effect of stiffening prices in the molasses from that city. Locally, there is very little doing in molasses.

SUGARS.

The local market is steady and unchanged. The demand is, perhaps, not as brisk as it was a week ago, but there is still a good business being done, nevertheless. Beet sugar has declined a little in Europe, but the cane market has ruled steady. In New York, the market is quiet and steady. Some large shipments of Java sugar have arrived there during the last few days for the Trust, but the independent refineries are still buyers of raw sugars at present figures, while importers, whose supplies are light, are not anxious sellers. Last week, a couple of grades of refined sugars were advanced 1-16c. per lb. in New York, while Muscovados declined by a like fraction.

Total stocks of sugar in Europe and America last week were 1,051,124 tons against 1,254,832 tons the week before, and 1,207,507 tons last year at the corresponding time.

SPICES.

Pepper, according to advices, is still firm in both London and New York. And as continental buyers are beginning to purchase, still higher values are expected to

*See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

rule. Ginger is steady at the recent decline. Cloves are firm with the prospect of higher prices ruling.

RICE, TAPIOCA, SAGO.

Patna rice is fractionally easier in the primary market. Tapioca and sago are firmly held. Locally, the market is quiet and unchanged in all these lines.

NUTS.

Tarragona almonds are cabled 2s. per bag dearer. The cause of the advance is the exhaustion of the old crop, and the smallness of the new.

TEAS.

Bids, during the past week, have been sent in for Japan teas at the low prices which some claimed to be ruling, but they were refused, so the market is evidently maintaining its steadiness. Further shipments of Japan tea are due to arrive next week.

A slight improvement in the demand for Ceylon tea is to be noted. Brokers report that Ceylon broken pekoes, on spot, at from 19 to 25c. per lb. are quickly picked up. Medium pekoes are a shade dearer in London.

Generally speaking, both wholesalers and brokers report a quiet tea market.

Advices from London show a firm market for both Indian and Ceylon descriptions of teas. On Sept. 9 the stock of Indian tea was 2,500,000 pounds above last year, while that of Ceylon was 4,500,000 pounds less than a year ago. At the auction sales in London the average price for Indian tea during August was 9¼d., as compared with 9¾d. per lb. the same period a year ago, and in Ceylon teas 7¾d. against 7½d. per lb. a year ago.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—Buying for importation has been fairly liberal during the week, but prices are cabled slightly easier. Russia is, however, expected to be a buyer and higher prices are then looked for. Currants now on the way, by direct steamer, are now being quoted, per pound, by wholesalers, to arrive as follows: Filiatras and Provincials, 5 to 5½c.; Amalias, 5½ to 5¾c.; fine Patras, 5¾ to 6c.; Vostizzas, 6 to 7½c., according to quality. Cleaned, these currants are being quoted ½c. per lb. more than above figures.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Exchange rates are higher, and the farmers in Spain are holding for higher prices. As a result, prices are slightly higher. A cable announces that the direct ss. Escalona has sailed from Denia for Canada. Orders for the fruit coming by this steamer are being sold by wholesalers to arrive as follows: Fine off-stalk, 4¾ to 5c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c. New fruit at present in stock is being quoted at 6c. for fine off-stalk and 7c. for selected.

SULTANA RAISINS—Prices have advanced another 3s. per cwt. Very little import business is being done in Canada owing to the high prices. New goods now on the way are costing about 1½c. per lb. less than they could be replaced at to-day's quotations, and old fruit which is being sold by local wholesalers at 6½c. would cost 7¾ to 8c. to import to-day.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS — Orders placed early for future delivery have been confirmed, and the fruit will be shipped first half of October. Shippers intimate that there will be a further advance in prices shortly.

FIGS—The primary market is still higher, and Eleme figs of average quality would now cost about 18c. Comadra figs are also firmer, but they are much cheaper than the former.

THE ST. CROIX SOAP MFG. CO.

ST. STEPHEN, N.B.

PRUNES—A fair import business is reported in prunes of Bosnia growth, while prices are stronger. A letter from E. M. Dadelszen & Co. states that the quality of French prunes d'ents this year is exceptionally fine, and, with the low price existing, a large business with Canada ought to be done. No new business is reported in California prunes.

GREEN FRUITS.

Generally speaking, there is just enough fruit offering on the market to meet the demand, which is good. Peaches are scarce, and the probability is that all wanting the first-class qualities will have to pay a fancy price for them. An advance of 50c. per basket is quoted this week. Late varieties of pears are now coming in. As was anticipated, the crop is a large one, and prices are likely to continue at about the present figures. The demand for both eating and cooking varieties is good. Plums are about done, and, while prices are unchanged, there is likelihood of an advance. Grapes continue to arrive in immense quantities, but, as the demand keeps active, there is no glut, and prices are steady. No sweet potatoes are arriving now in baskets, but there are lots in barrels, which are quoted at $3 to $3.25. Muskmelons are arriving in large quantities, and in all sizes and packages. The demand is sufficient to absorb the supply, and prices continue unchanged. The sale of bananas is limited by the large receipts and moderate prices of other fruits. Messina lemons are off the market; Verdillas have advanced 50c., and dealers here anticipate a further rise in price. A few seedless oranges are on the market; they are quoted at $4 per case. The fall apples now coming on the market in barrels have a fine appearance. The price is unchanged from last week.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is no change in the situation. A good demand keeps the prices firm at 14 to 15c. per dozen for fresh laid and 12 to 13c. for held stock. From 11½ to 12½c. is paid for cases, and farmers' lots bring from 13 to 14c.

POTATOES—There is every indication that the Ontario crop, as a whole, will be much below the average. The price quoted is 70c. for car lots, and 75 to 80c. off farmers' wagons.

HONEY—There is some difference of opinion among dealers as to the market value of clover honey in comb. Some houses state that the finest clover is worth $1.50 per dozen, or 12½c. per section, while others offer large quantities of the same goods at 11c. per section. There is no change in the price of strained. There is yet little demand for any kind.

VEGETABLES—Cauliflower has advanced 50c. Celery has declined 10 to 15c. per doz. There are now some small Danvers onions offered at 75c. to $1 per bushel. We quote: Cauliflower, $1.50 to $2 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 30 to 50c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 30 to 50c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz;

60 to 75c.; parsley, 10 to 20c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 10 to 20c. per doz.; Canadian butter beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; beets, 10c. per peck; carrots, 10c. per peck; onions, Danvers, 75c. to $1 per bushel; green beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; vegetable marrow, 75c. to $1; butter squash, $1 to $1.50; pumpkins, 75c. to $1; red cabbage, 50 to 75c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The market for both dairy and creamery butter is firm. The export demand is good, and the local business is excellent. We quote the following prices at country points: Dairy tubs, 12½ to 13c.; prints, 13 to 14c.; creamery prints, 18½ to 19c.; tubs and boxes, 17 to 17½c.

CHEESE—The market has experienced almost a boom, and an advance of fully ½c. is noted. This is considered by some of the dealers here to be largely speculative, as an equivalent rise is not noted on the British market. At country boards, 8¼ to 8½c. is a common figure. The price on the local market is from 8½ to 8¾c.

PROVISIONS.

There is a brisk sale of smoked meats reported. Long clear is also selling well, but prices have declined ¼c. in sympathy with lower value for hogs. The demand from lumber camps has at last commenced, and from present indications will be better than anticipated. Barrel pork is steady at $14.50 to $15 for Canadian heavy mess and $16 for Canadian short cut. Lard is weak, and is ¼c. cheaper than a week ago.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The scarcity of wheat in Toronto has been somewhat relieved by liberal deliveries. The price for both red and white winter is steady at 65c. on cars outside. The street market is active, large quantities of wheat, peas, oats, and barley coming in. We quote: Wheat, white, 69 to 71c.; red, 69 to 71c.; goose, 58 to 59c.; peas, 55 to 55½c.; oats, new, 28c.; rye, 43c.; barley, 40 to 46c., Toronto freights; old Manitoba No. 1 hard has steadied in price to 90c.; the new grain is selling at 80c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—There is no change in the flour market. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.20; Ontario patents, $4 to $4.15; straight roller, $3.25 to $3.40, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Prices are unaltered. Business is good. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.60 in bags and $3.80 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

FISH.

The sales of fresh fish continue good, with the supply sufficient to supply requirements. Prices are unchanged for these goods. Pure Cod, in 1-lb. blocks has begun to arrive on the market. It is worth 6½c. per lb. The demand is opening up for Labrador herring, but there does not seem to be any on the market. It is nominally unchanged in price. Boneless fish is offered at 3¼ to 4c., and quail-on-toast at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Oysters have begun to arrive in moderate quantities. They are quoted at $1.35 per gallon. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 7c.; fresh whitefish, 7c. steak trout, 7c.; fresh pike, 5c. per lb.

HIDES—The market has steadied somewhat. We now quote: No. 1,  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c.; No. 2,  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c.; No. 3,  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c.; cured,  $9\frac{1}{4}$ c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Shearlings and lambskins continue firm at 60c.

WOOL—Business remains quiet, buyers and sellers still differing as to values. Prices are unchanged at 10c. for unwashed and 16c. for fleece.

SEEDS.

Business is quiet. There is such a range of alsike still coming forward that the prices ruling run all the way from $2.50 to $4, and for extra fancy stock slightly more than $4. No quotations are yet given as there is not sufficient movement to set any price.

SALT.

There is no change in price. The demand is good. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 54c.

MARKET NOTES.

Tarragona almonds are 2s. dearer.

Peaches have advanced 50c. per basket.

Currants are a little easier in the primary market.

Sultana raisins have advanced another 3s. per cwt.

Cheese has advanced  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. this week. As high as 8 15-16c. has been paid on country boards.

The Ontario potato crop has been a light one, and prices are likely to be high. At Toronto 70c. is quoted for car lots.

The cable announces that the Escalona, the first direct steamer with Valencia raisins for Canada, has sailed from Denia.

There has been a further appreciation in the price of Eleme figs, and average quality fruit would now cost about 18c. per lb.

John Sloan & Co.'s new sample-room presents quite an improved appearance. It has been enlarged to double its former size, and otherwise improved, giving a much better opportunity of displaying goods, which the firm has not been slow to take advantage of. An additional telephone has also been put in.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Sept. 22, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery trade has been satisfactory on the whole during the past week, though the volume of business was decreased in some lines. Sugar was an example in this connection, but it still contributed a fair movement, while prices rule steady. Molasses rules firm and holders are not urging sales. Strength is still the general rule in canned goods, though the movement has been somewhat smaller than last week. Coffee and spices rule steady, and buyers who have been holding off on tea with hope of more favorable prices were compelled to come into the market this week. Dried fruits have furnished many interesting features, as noted in the regular report elsewhere, and values are generally firm, especially on figs, which are fully 50 per cent. higher than they were a week ago.

SUGAR.

Business in sugar has been less active during the past week in this market, but refiners state that there is still a steady demand, and that it is likely to continue throughout the month. Stocks here are well reduced, and the situation, on the whole, healthy. Both granulated and yellows are selling at the prices previously quoted. In London, beet has been somewhat easier since the opening of the present week, the distant position being  $\frac{3}{4}$ d. lower. Present month, however, is quoted unchanged, viz., 9s.  $7\frac{1}{2}$ d., while October is named at 9s.  $8\frac{1}{4}$ d. Cane, in London, is steady, with light offerings and prices unchanged; Java, 12s.; fair refining, 10s.  $7\frac{1}{2}$ d. Raw is firm at New York; fair refining, 3 13-16 to  $3\frac{3}{8}$ c.; centrifugal,  $4\frac{3}{8}$ c.; molasses, 3 7-16 to  $3\frac{3}{8}$ c. Refined in that market continues strong.

SYRUPS.

The market for syrups is steady at  $1\frac{1}{4}$  to  $2\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb. for Canadian in the wood.

MOLASSES.

Molasses has not furnished any new feature, the undertone being firm, holders of round lots of Barbadoes having refused to accept  $28\frac{1}{2}$ c. Car lots are quoted as before. The high price of the Barbadoes article is, it is said, leading to more business in New Orleans molasses, both in this Province and in Ontario, at a range of 19 to 23c., as to grade, in straight invoice lots.

CANNED GOODS.

This market has been somewhat quiet since our last report. The strong feeling in salmon continues, and prices are held stiff at the late advance. Vegetables are steady also, new pack tomatoes offering at 75c., and corn and peas at 70c. per dozen.

COFFEE.

This market rules quiet, only a few sales of Maracaibo in a wholesale way being noted at 9 to 11c. Of course, jobbing lots necessitate an advance on these figures. Santos, in a large way, is quoted at 8 to 10c., and Rio at the same price.

SPICES.

There has been little to report in the spice market.

TEAS.

The firm tone is fully maintained, and, so far as present indications go, there appears to be little chance of any decline in Japan teas to arrive, and firms who have held off on this expectation have been disappointed and are now coming into the market. Business in round lots of Japans has transpired at 14 to  $17\frac{1}{2}$ c. for low grade, and 17 to  $19\frac{1}{2}$ c. for medium. Green teas have moved at 10 to 12c. to the extent of some 1,000 packages, while a few small lines of Ceylons have sold at 14 to 18c., as to grade.

DRIED FRUIT.

The Valencia raisin market is quite firm and some brokers here, who made firm offers and had them accepted, now find that they will make a loss of over 6d. a box on some of their contracts. Quotations issued this week, by local jobbers, on new crop Valencias are as follows: fine off stock  $4\frac{1}{2}$ c.; selected  $5\frac{3}{8}$ c.; and 4-crown layers  $5\frac{3}{4}$ c.

The firm tendency noted on California raisins is maintained, in fact, the anticipation is for higher prices, if the Growers' Association, to which reference has been made, is successful in its efforts. No arrivals are expected before October, and, in the meantime, jobbers are offering the goods to arrive at the following range; 2-crown loose Muscatels,  $5\frac{1}{2}$ c.; 3-crown loose Muscatels,  $6\frac{3}{4}$ c.; 4-crown loose Muscatels,  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c.; seeded raisins,  $9\frac{1}{2}$  to 11c.; fancy clusters, \$2.30 to \$2.50 per box; Dehesa, \$2.25 to \$3. and Imperial, \$3.25 to \$3.50.

Currants are steady and first offers of new crop to arrive are being made by jobbers here. They are quoting Filiatras in barrels,  $4\frac{1}{4}$ c.;  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbls.  $4\frac{3}{8}$ c.; and  $\frac{1}{2}$  cases,  $4\frac{1}{2}$ c.; Patras,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cases 5c.; Vostizzas,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cases  $5\frac{1}{2}$ c.; and extra choice Vostizzas 6c. Sultana raisins are quite stiff in tone, and no prices for forward delivery have yet been named here. The speculative operations of some London dealers, according to advices received here, have had a lot to do with the strength of the market.

California prunes are steady, and no arrivals of new crop are expected before October. Demand here from local jobbers has been quite active, and the prices they are offering this week, on goods to arrive, are firm, compared with last year. The range is as follows: 40's to 50's, 10¾c.; 50's to 60's, 9¾c.; 60's to 70's, 8¾c.; 70's to 80's, 7¾c.; 80's to 90's, 7¼c., and 90's to 100's, 6¾c. Nothing has been done yet in French prunes for import, but prices are lower than they were last year. The same is to be said of Bosnia fruit. In the latter, some business has been put through, and local jobbers are offering 110's to 115's, in 55 lb. boxes, at 4¾c. to arrive. This fruit sold last year at 6½c., so that it can be seen that they are considerably cheaper this year than last.

Figs, on the other hand, are very strong, and stock that cost 26s. last year is held at 60s. and over. Local jobbers are, accordingly, asking relatively high prices on new crop to arrive, 10-lb. boxes being quoted at $1.85 to arrive, against $1 last fall, and two-row 12-oz fruit at 14c., against 8c. last year; or an advance of fully 50 per cent.

Evaporated California fruits are steady to firm. Apricots, to arrive, are quoted at 15½ to 17c.; peaches 13½ to 17c.; pears, 13½c.

NUTS.

The market is quiet, but steady in tone. Offers of several sorts have been made this week to arrive by wholesale houses here. They are asking 10½ to 11c. for Tarragona almonds, and 25c. for shelled. Shelled walnuts to arrive are quoted at 20 to 21c. No quotations have been named on new Grenoble walnuts in a jobbing way. Sicily filberts, in 220-lb. packages are quoted at 7 to 7½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market has developed a firmer tendency on fresh Canadian and California fruit since last week, under the influence of decreased receipts. Canadian peaches are 25c. higher, at 75c. to $1.30, and advances have also been recorded in pears and plums, as noted in our prices current elsewhere. Bartlett pears, in barrels, are quoted at $4 to $6. Oranges are firmly held at the late rise, while lemons have scored another advance, and are now quoted at $5 to $6 per box.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was no change in the situation of the egg market. The undertone continues firm and prices are maintained. We quote: Strictly new laid at  $17\frac{1}{2}$  to 18c.; held fresh,  $15\frac{1}{2}$  to 16c.; No. 1 candled,  $13\frac{1}{2}$  to 14c., and No. 2, 10c. per doz.

BEANS—The market for beans continues quiet, and prices are steady. We quote: Choice hand-picked at 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—In honey there is little doing, and supplies are large, but prices show no further change. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c.; dark,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c.; white extracted, 6 to  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Continues neglected. We quote: Syrup in wood,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to  $4\frac{3}{4}$ c. per lb.; in tins, 45 to 55c., according to size; sugar, 6 to  $6\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

A fair trade continues to be done in hams and bacon, and the market for these lines is moderately active, but other sorts rule quiet, and prices are steady all round. We quote: Canadian pork, in bbls., \$16 to \$16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at  $8\frac{1}{4}$  to  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to  $5\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. Hams,  $10\frac{1}{2}$ c. to 13c.; and bacon, 10 to 13c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

A fair volume of business has been transacted in grain. The demand was principally for oats and some round lots changed hands at  $28\frac{1}{2}$ c. afloat. In peas, the feeling was firmer, and sales were made at  $61\frac{1}{4}$  to  $61\frac{1}{2}$  afloat. In Manitoba wheat, business was quiet. Some round lots of No. 1 hard were offered for delivery the first half of October, at 68c. afloat Fort William, but no sales were made.

There was a good demand for all grades of flour, and the market was fairly active with no change in prices to note. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4 to $4.25; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.75; in bags, $1.65 to $1.80; Manitoba patents, $4.80 to $4.90; strong bakers', best, $4.50 to $4.60.

A fair business was done in feed and the tone of the market was steady. We quote: Ontario red winter wheat bran, $12; shorts, $14.50 to $15 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $11.50 to $12; shorts, $15.

Business in oatmeal continues quiet, the demand only being for small lots to fill actual wants. Rolled oats are selling at $3.60 per bbl. and at $1.75 per bag.

The demand for baled hay is only fair, and supplies are in excess of requirements, consequently, the prospects for any improvement in prices are not encouraging. We quote: No. 1 at $6.50; No 2 at $5 to $5.50, and clover mixed at $4 to $4.50, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese was firm and higher prices were realized than a week ago by fully  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. The demand is due in part to a desire to procure the September make, but in addition to this the cable furnishes more encouragement from abroad, and the influence is naturally potent. The chief spot business this week was contributed at the wharf where 5,000 boxes were offered and sold at a range of  $8\frac{1}{4}$  to  $8\frac{3}{4}$ c., the inside being the ruling, which is an advance of  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. on last week. Western makes were nominal with values firmly held at  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c. The public cable also advanced 6d. Monday all round. We quote: Finest western, colored,  $8\frac{3}{8}$  to  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c.; finest western, white,  $8\frac{1}{4}$  to  $8\frac{3}{8}$ c.; finest eastern, colored,  $8\frac{1}{4}$  to  $8\frac{3}{8}$ c.; finest eastern, white, 8 to  $8\frac{1}{8}$ c.; Liverpool cable, colored, 38s. 6d.; Liverpool cable, white, 37s. 6d.

The butter market is excited and extreme prices were paid both on spot and in the country, though the local position despite the advance, is not yet on a parity with what late made creamery is costing in the country. The best figure yet realized here

MONTREAL NOTES.

Bosnia new crop prunes are offered to arrive at lower prices than they ruled at last fall.

Frank Magor & Co. have been appointed sole agents for Canada for Bryant & May's matches.

The supplies of canned blueberries are going to be very light this season, as the crop is short.

New figs are quoted, to arrive, in a jobbing way this week, fully 50 per cent. higher than they were last year.

The first arrivals of new crop California raisins, prunes and evaporated fruit are due here during the first week in October.

First offers of new Tarragona almonds, shelled walnuts and Sicily filberts, in a jobbing way, to arrive, were made this week.

Samuel Duncan, dealer in teas and crockery, has assigned, at the demand of W. H. Tapley & Co., with liabilities of about $2,000.

Advices on new dates are much higher, owing to the uncertainty about first shipments. The first lots are expected to leave Bussora about September 30, and the second about October 15.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., Sep. 20, 1898.

THE city has been full of visitors this week attending the exhibition, which is pronounced a success, the best, in fact, that we have had for years. The Government exhibit, which is part of the exhibit they had at Boston, receives much favorable comment. There are many improvements on the grounds this year, including a new grand stand and a new poultry house. Most of the visitors are customers and many are buyers. Many houses have brought in their travelers to aid in entertaining their friends. The interest of the week has been in dried fruit. Although all lines show good business, there are but few changes in prices to report. Importers begin to look forward to the arrival of their China teas—that is, the larger importations. Blended teas are rapidly driving the others out.

OIL—The business in this line is rather quieter than it was, owing to many fall orders having been taken earlier. This is in relation to burning oil, prices of which show no change. Other lines are also quiet.

SALT—Liverpool coarse, which, after all, is the grade in which the big end of the business here consists, is becoming quite light stock. There is, however, some about due, and little, if any, change in price is expected. Factory filled fine has a fair business, and Canadian moves out in its regular way; though rather a lighter demand is noticed, we quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—Some new goods continue to arrive, although, as yet, no corn or tomatoes are to hand. The market is firm, and packers are not looking for business; in fact, they will hardly quote prices. There is not, as yet, however, any particular advance noticed. Corn is the highest line, in proportion. Gallon apples hold their advance. Quite a number of Nova Scotia packed apples are being sold here. A car of canned meats and pork and beans arrived from Chicago this week. Deviled and potted meats are offered rather lower, and concentrated mincemeat, in tin pails, shows improved demand. Lobsters hold at the full figures. Salmon tend higher, with very little offering from the Coast.

GREEN FRUIT—This is the busy season. It is difficult to quote prices, as so much depends on the quality and the amount of stock, which one day may be light and the next day an overstock. Apples continue to improve in quality; rather better prices are being obtained for best grades, though there are still a great many cheap apples on the market. Auctions are frequent, although little of the best stock is sold in this way. Nova Scotia pears are being received. Pears are low, between the many kinds now offered. The Californias are still, however, preferred, and hold their price. Peaches are but fair stock, and not a large sale. Plums are about out of the market; they have ruled low. Grapes have a big sale, particularly Ontario grades, at fair prices, but lower figures are expected. Lemons are quite high, and but fair sale. Oranges are in light demand. Even bananas, though still moving freely, show the effect of the other lines offering.

DRIED FRUIT—This line has had perhaps the chief attention during the week. The high prices at which the California market opened have curtailed the sale of this line. The new terms are not at all popular, though if this line is wanted there is but the one rule. Drafts will not be held for arrival of goods. There is this much to be said: All goods will be properly graded and little or no difference will be noticed in the quality of the fruit no matter from whom bought. The high price of seeded will affect the quantity and quality of those bought. Dealers have bought quite freely of Valentias, particularly layers. Shippers show quite a range in prices and any change is expected to be to higher values. Malagas have had but little attention as yet. Prices quoted are quite high. Evaporated apples have a little better enquiry, but are still a light sale. Currants firm. Figs are ruling very high. Canadian onions are on the market, and further arrivals are expected daily. Prices here tend rather lower, but west they quote a firm feeling.

SUGAR—Some refineries have shown more of an inclination to sell, but prices, on the whole, are firmly held. Competition from foreign sugars is not much noticed.

MOLASSES—While there is a fair, steady sale, there is little of interest to note. Stocks are getting lighter, and, it is expected, if there is a good demand for fall, higher prices will rule. They are low at present. There is no movement in New Orleans.

PRODUCE—This is a quiet line. Butter continues a large stock and low prices are the rule. Much is the fault of quality. Eggs move slowly at even figures. Here, again, there is a difficulty to get satisfactory stock, except in small, hennery lots at high figures. Cheese is quiet, particularly in the local market; early makes are hard to sell. Some factories have closed.

FISH—There is a good business doing. Pickled herring show a steady sale at firm figures. In dry cod, the demand is for the medium sized, and while there is perhaps an easier feeling, there is little or no change in price here. There are rather larger arrivals. Hake, if rightly cured, brings a good price. Pollock is quiet at this season. Smoked herring easy; it is hard to hold prices up, as the market is not large. Shad continue to have a good sale. A few pickled mackerel are seen, but this is not a market for this grade, and the price prevents many being brought here.

PROVISIONS—Buyers are still backward. movement is still light. Local packers are beginning operations. One drawback to the business here is that farmers bring their pork to market largely at one season. In smoked meats, there is but little doing.

Lard shows quite a movement at full figures, though packers show quite a range in prices.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—There is fair, steady sale, but no particular movement; many fear lower prices. From reports of the wheat, extra good flour may be expected this season. Little low grade is being sold. This, a few years ago, was quite a feature, but then cornmeal was higher. Ontario grades still have the large demand. Oatmeal shows better inquiry at firmer figures. Oats are rather easier and but fair sale. In feed, the amount offering is rather larger. Some say our people make a mistake by not using more bran. Beans are rather firmer and show better sale. Cornmeal shows no change. Barley is high. Split peas more freely offered. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.00 to $5.25; best Ontario, $4.40 to $4.50; medium, $3.95 to $4.15; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.80; cornmeal, $2.15; middlings, $2.00 to $2.1; bran, $1.7 to $1.8; oats, 38 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.75; hay, $8. to $9; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¼ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

E. A. Smith, of Smith & Tilton, after quite an extended trip to England, is again at his desk.

The steamer from London had a particularly large cargo this week, owing somewhat to the fact that many goods were shut out of the last boat because of a dock strike.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

September 22, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. John, N.B., Halifax, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

in every city, town and hamlet throughout the country, and this, backed up by the purest, cleanest, healthiest and most popular tea in the world, will make a veritable gold mine for the retailer.

Order from your wholesaler without delay.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 19, 1898.

THOUGH threshing is now pretty general, deliveries of wheat are very light. Nearly all the grain now delivered by farmers is being stored, at present, in expectation of higher prices. The market is unsettled, from 55 to 60c. being paid for No. 1 hard on different markets, where freights are just the same. Wheat-selling will be very slow up to the time of the close of navigation. So far as can be at present ascertained, the crop will grade northern, principally. There will be comparatively little No. 1 hard, owing to the wet weather, which has bleached the grain. In a short time now, all wheat will be purchased on an export basis.

FLOUR—Trade is dull, and flour has dropped a further 10c. per sack. Patent is quoted at $2.05; bakers', $1.85; Algoma, $1.45, and XXXX, $1.15. Bread has not dropped in proportion to the fall of flour, the finer grades being still quoted at 6c.

The grocery trade is quiet, and the volume of business small, which is the prevailing state of things at this time of year. There is no change in prices to report. Canned goods, particularly corn and tomatoes, are now arriving, but, owing to high prices, the sales are light and very slow. Evaporated fruits continue high and firm, with indications of a further advance.

RICE—Market is still somewhat bare of this article, and high prices rule, though the feeling is a little easier than it was some weeks ago.

• FISH—Several carloads of Labrador her- ring, fresh cod and mackerel have been received. Small quantities of finnan haddies are coming in by express to the retail trade.

Oriental freights are slow, and many dealers are complaining at the long delay in receiving orders. The C.P.R. Pacific steamers seem to have too much to do.

BUTTER—Market shows little change, the nominal price being 18½c. f.o.b. point of shipment. The tendency is still to hold. A few factories have received a shade over the price quoted. Dairy butter receipts are liberal at present, and the price remains 13½c., Winnipeg.

CHEESE—Nominally, cheese is 9½c., but little is moving. Local manufacturers held for a higher figure, and dealers, rather than pay more, have purchased from the east, and local men now seem likely to have their cheese on their hands or will have to sell it at a lower figure. Some factories are still holding June make.

EGGS—Receipts are fair and the quality good. Price, 13½c. Winnipeg.

GREEN FRUIT—Ontario grapes are arriving freely, in fact, the city seems full of them. Concord, in 100-basket lots, are selling at 27c.; small lots, 35c.; Niagara, 32c. for 100-basket lots, and 35c. for smaller quantities. Washington and Oregon free-stone peaches, $1 to $1.25 per case, according to quality; Montana crabapples, $2 for 60 lb. boxes. Crabs have advanced in price rapidly, owing to the fact that southern crop is shorter than anticipated. The samples from Montana are excellent. Washington pears are from $2 to 2.25 per box. Jersey sweet potatoes, $5.25 per barrel. Imported tomatoes, 60c. per basket. There are large quantities of Ontario pears arriving in baskets, but the bulk of them are in such doubtful condition that no market is given. There will be an auction sale of this class of fruit on Monday. Apples, at present, are dear and not very satisfactory.

CHINA TEAS IN ENGLAND.

It is a peculiarly significant proof of the continual decline of the China tea trade that just now, when teas from the celestial Empire are practically a drug on the market, with no activity or promise in them, and only a retail trade passing therein, buyers of Indian teas should be coming forward quite briskly and the market becomes firm at good prices. The teas from our own possessions are of good quality this year, and now that they are landing in larger bulk buyers have a good selection, and we are able to test their opinions of the new arrivals. The good prices realized last week, as high as 2s. 4¼d. for Indian, show the estimation in which some gardens are held, and evince that steady improvement which is destined to kill the China trade altogether unless great changes are effected in the methods of preparing for market.—Grocers' Journal.

PLOUGHING FOR CLAMS.

The ancient and honorable method of digging for clams has been found too slow on Puget Sound. Here is what an exchange says of the modern method:

"Considerable feeling is being manifested on Puget Sound against the wholesale destruction of the natural clam beds by the packers at Port Angeles. It is reported that the beach is being ploughed up by means of a plough pulled by horses, and the result of this method of catching will soon result in total annihilation of this toothsome bivalve. A bill will be introduced in the next Legislature looking to a correction of this abuse."

A shipment of new Young Hyson teas have just been received by H. P. Eckardt & Co.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are quoting new currants and raisins to be received by the first direct steamer.

TRADING STAMPS DOOMED.

The merchants of Ansonia, Derby, and Shelton, Conn., have set the seal of doom upon the trading stamp, having decided to discontinue all schemes of the kind after Sept. 1, 1898. After the appearance of the so-called "green stamps," the stores not in the combination began to give away the red stamps issued by another concern. The merchants say that over 1,000,000 of the red stamps have been given away, representing an outlay of $3,000 to the merchants. A petition has been circulated in the triple towns, and generally signed, in which the merchants agreed that, after Sept. 1, they will discontinue the giving of stamps and gift advertising, thus enabling them to give better values. They also resolved that they will take space in no advertising sheet, programme or other form of advertising matter, making an exception for religious organizations.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

COLD CURRIED EGGS.

Cold curried eggs, prepared as follows, will, according to an exchange, be found delicious: Hard boil as many eggs as are required, cut them in half, remove the yolks, pound them in a mortar, and mix with sufficient well-seasoned white sauce to form a smooth paste; add curry paste to taste, and a small piece of butter. Refill the whites of the eggs with the mixture; smooth it over with a knife, and cover each half thickly with some rice (still warm) which has been boiled until quite soft, mixed with butter, and seasoned with pepper, salt and nutmeg. Put the curried eggs aside until the rice is cold and set, then lightly flour them, dip into beaten egg, roll in fine breadcrumbs, and fry. The eggs should be placed in small fluted paper cases before being wrapped up in grease-proof paper.

ERRORS REGARDING FLORIDA ORANGES.

An erroneous statement, says an exchange, about the Florida crop is in circulation. It is to this effect: "The drouth has probably cut down the Florida orange crop one-third to one-half below what it was expected the crop would be. At one time the yield of the groves this year was estimated at between 750,000 and 1,000,000 boxes, but the long-continued dry weather caused a great quantity of the fruit to drop, and it is now believed that the crop will be in the neighborhood of a half million boxes. Growers expect fancy prices, though, and are far from being disheartened." The truth is that the Florida crop is larger than last year, and will continue to thus increase from year to year, unless we have another disastrous freeze.

FICTITIOUS VALUES.

THIS is what I overheard in a store. A customer had been trying to purchase an article which the merchant happened not to have in stock.

"Can you tell me where I will be likely to find it?" enquired the buyer.

"I hardly know," answered the dealer, "It is something for which there is little demand. You might search a week for it and not find it anywhere, and then you may strike it at the first place you call. If you are going down past Brown's you might try there. He is as likely to have it as anyone."

"The truth is, I don't care to go to Brown's, for, between you and me, he knows what he wants for everything he sells."

"You are not the first one I have heard say that, either," replied the merchant, with a laugh. "Others make the same complaint."

"Well," continued the customer, "I want everyone with whom I deal to make a legitimate profit on what he sells me, but, when a man robs his customers as Mr. Brown does, he drives them away from his store. People find it out, as a rule, when they have been overcharged for a purchase, this not only has the effect of keeping them from placing themselves in the way of a second dose of such treatment, but, in addition, they are more likely to tell their experience to someone else, who also repeats it, and Mr. Brown comes to be known as a desirable party to avoid. No worse advertisement can be published than a reputation for exorbitant prices."

And so the talk ran on, emphasizing the philosophy of President Lincoln when he said: "You cannot fool all the people all the time." Get-rich-quick methods always come to grief sooner or later when built upon the foundation of usurious profits. Every merchant has a right to a fair margin, and no one begrudges it to him, but his violence is sure to return upon his own pate when he attempts to place fictitious values upon his wares. He must not forget to give the buyer credit for the possession of an average amount of discernment. There is no surer way of making an enemy of a man than by cheating him.—Mercantile Journal.

WANTS A CREAMERY IN ALGOMA.

The Algoma Pioneer, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., is advocating the establishment of a creamery in that district. It waxed enthusiastic as follows: "No other county in Ontario is more highly favored than Algoma with the natural conditions for excellent butter; luxuriant and nutritious grasses are indigenous here; thousands of acres of primeval forest offer unlimited food and shelter against heat and storm; and these unsurpassed pastures are kept fresh and green from early spring to late fall by the gracious dew for which this northern Ontario is remarkable. So that 'scorched pastures' are almost as rarely seen as hens' teeth."

NEWFOUNDLAND FISHERIES.

The shore fishery, says a correspondent of Fishing Gazette, from Belleoram, is a blank. The Bankers are doing very well—better than last year, in fact, to date, they have landed more fish than all of last year. The lobster fishery is worse than last year—not much better than half as good; but for the good prices the factories would have closed before this. The lobster fishery will be ruined if continued as it is. Unless a long season is enforced for, say a year or so, the fishery will be ruined. The laws permit fall fishing on September 25. It is too late; it should be September 10. There is every reason to hope for an average season in the cod fishery of Newfoundland. Prices are not satisfactory. It is thought marketable codfish will not exceed $3.20 per quintal, and Labrador fish will be only $3.20 per quintal. Lobster fishing is fairly good; prices are high, and will continue so, owing to scarcity of lobsters in the United States and Canada. Cod oil has declined lately $4 per ton.

A SATISFIED BUSINESS MAN.

C. P. Fabien, the manufacturer of Aubin's patent refrigerators, speaks hopefully of last year's business. He is gradually extending his business throughout the whole Dominion. He makes fifteen different kinds of refrigerators, ranging from four to ten feet in length. He has lately appointed Buchanan & Gordon, of Winnipeg, as his agents in Manitoba and the Northwest. This firm showed two of the largest Aubin refrigerators at the late exhibition, and they write that they were greatly admired and that the manufacturer can count upon a large business from that section next season.

BANANA FLOUR.

The next dietetic fad is going to be banana flour, says New York Post. Manufacturers are experimenting in this direction, and promise soon a meal that will keep as long as wheat flour and make a much more nutritious bread. As already the craze for whole wheat flour is passing, this new albumen will undoubtedly meet a quick welcome when it comes. The use of the banana has developed its great value as an article of food, and the great army of banana consumers are prepared to accept eagerly its further development.

ZANZIBAR CLOVES.

In a recent consular report to the British Government, the following table of the yield of Zanzibar cloves appears:

| Year.     | ZanzibarFrasilas. | Pemba.Frasilas. | Total.Frasilas. |

| 1897..... | 90,676                | 240,954             | 331,630             |

A frasila equals 35 lb. The foregoing figures represent the actual quantities of cloves brought into the town of Zanzibar from the "shambas" or plantations of this and Pemba Islands during the last eight years. The actual clove season, that is, the period during which the produce of the trees ripens and is picked, dried and brought to market, extends from September to March, and it is at its height in January, but for the purpose of this report the year is reckoned in the usual way, from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31.

The reduction in the yield for 1897 is ascribed to dry weather, and the same trouble is being experienced this year, the crop being so much endangered that some authorities expect prices to advance 50 per cent. within 60 days. The Zanzibar fall crop will not, it is feared, exceed 32,000 bales.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. James A. Henderson, of Tarrant, Henderson & Co., Colombo Ceylon teas, was introduced to the trade in Montreal by Mr. Cecil Gordon.

Mr. W. P. Downey has gone on a business trip to New York, in connection with Hires' rootbeer and his other American agencies.

Mr. E. Becker, of E. Becker & Co., has just returned from a business trip to the Pacific Coast and reports business good, especially in Manitoba. He speaks in glowing terms of the future of our Canadian Northwest.

ROTHSCHILD'S RULES.

A London paper says that Baron Rothschild had these rules posted in his bank:

Shun liquor.
Dare to go forward.
Never be discouraged.
Be polite to everybody.
Employ your time well.
Never tell business lies.
Pay your debts promptly.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

CANNED SALMON IN LONDON.

THE changes in the position of salmon have been so sudden and drastic that it is difficult to realize that the advanced prices are fixed on a sound basis. The advance, however, far from being in any way fictitious, was probably never on firmer lines, and the rise is not only fully warranted, but, considered statistically, is moderate, and will, in all probability, be further enhanced when the exact position of some of the shapes is ascertained. The prices asked for the new pack by some of the canners vary from 23 to 27s. for talls and flats; these prices, however, will probably prove to be extreme, but it serves to show that the prices now ruling in the United Kingdom are not without justification.—Grocers' Journal, Sept. 10.

GOOD APPLES SCARCE IN ENGLAND.

An English paper says: "The scarcity of good apples is badly felt, even on the threshold of the season. What it will be later on can hardly be imagined. We learn from The Fruit Grower that really good English apples, especially the dessert kinds, will be worth much money, so that growers having stocks will know how to act. Very choice home-grown apples will meet a free demand so long as they can be obtained during the present apple season. Well-colored samples are freely sought for by buyers, and, amongst other kinds, best Quarrendens cannot be obtained in quantities large enough to satisfy the demand."

SHIPMENTS OF CALIFORNIA FRUITS.

For the season June 26 to Sept. 3 there were shipped by rail to the East and Europe from the Santa Clara valley 1,441,360 pounds of canned goods, against 1,818,795 pounds for the corresponding period last year. Of cured prunes the shipments from June 26 to Sept. 3 were 1,306,290 pounds this year and 628,625 pounds last year; cured apricot shipments for the same period were 341,035 pounds in 1898 and 4,596,800 pounds in 1897. Shipments of dried peaches during the same time were 98,460 pounds compared with 84,445 pounds last year.

NEW CURRANTS IN ENGLAND.

The second cargo of new currants, consisting of about 750 tons, per Buccaneer, was shown on Wednesday, the bulk Patras and Amalias, with some Provincial and Gulf. The quality again proves better than expected, the condition being good, although the size is rather small. A fair demand has prevailed, but sales have not been readily effected. The sales comprise Provincials, half and quarter cases, at 18s. to 19s.; Amalias at 18s. 6d. to 21s., with fine at 23s.; Patras from 20s. to 24s., and a few Gulf at 22s. to 24s. In old, business continues small, including Provincials at 14s. 6d. to 15s. 6d.—Grocers' Journal.

CALIFORNIA ORANGE CROP.

The seedling crop of California oranges will show a great falling off from last year, according to an exchange. While there are particular orchards which will yield heavily, many will have very little fruit. There will not be over one-third the usual quantity of seedlings.

FLORIDA ORANGE CROP.

H. F. Reils writes from Orient, Fla., to The Fruit Trade Journal that a canvass of the orange districts of Florida, covering 479 points, warrants him in making the prediction that the increase over last year's crop will be fully 25 per cent. The condition of the fruit, he says, is not generally as good as might be desired, but, on the whole, will average up well. Growers are holding out for $2 per box, but $1.75 will be a good average, and a figure that should prove very satisfactory and profitable to all concerned. The fine appearance of most of the groves has resulted in giving a decided impetus to the orange industry; old groves, that have been neglected since the freeze of 1894-95, are now being taken in hand, and within the next six months there will be a marked improvement noted, and a large increase in the acreage of bearing groves, to say nothing of the new groves planted out.

CALIFORNIA RAISIN SITUATION.

The present situation in California raisins does not seem to be at all satisfactory to commission merchants in the east. Accepting the prices and terms made by the California Raisin Growers' Association, they have gone ahead and sold freely for September shipment, and, in a very short time, we understand, all that was available for September shipment had been contracted for. Then, sellers in the eastern market solicited and obtained orders for first half of October shipment, but, before many of these orders were confirmed, notice was sent out by the association that the time for shipments at the opening prices had been extended to midnight, Oct. 8, only, after which it was probable that an advance of  $\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb. would be made by the association, and all goods shipped after that date would be subject to the increased price.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

AGGRESSIVENESS IN BUSINESS.

Some merchants are content to let their business grow with the natural growth of the neighborhood or town, says an exchange. These may make a modest competence, but hardly a fortune. Others are continually reaching out for new trade, and, when other things are equal, this class of dealers eventually amass wealth. As the grocery business is a laborious occupation, in either case, it would seem that grocers might as well be aggressive as not, and make as much money as possible. Aggressiveness is a desirable trait or quality, as necessary to the merchant as to the successful general. We would like to see it more common in the grocery trade.

TOBACCO IN ESSEX AND KENT.

In a recent estimate of the quantity of tobacco under cultivation, it is stated that in Essex and Kent there are 6,000 acres planted in tobacco, and yielding not less than 1,500 pounds to the acre. This means a total of 4,500 tons, or 9,000,000 pounds. It is estimated that the crop alone will be worth from $1,000,000 to $1,250,000. The Canadian leaf is being very largely used by Canadians.

The outlook is that those who were fortunate enough to produce good crops, and are successful in the curing, will make considerable money this year. This will give an impetus to the industry, and, no doubt, next year will see a greater quantity grown.—Banner, Chatham.

OWEN SOUND SUGAR BEET CO.

There was a meeting of shareholders of the Sugar Beet Co. in the Y.M.C.A. hall, Owen Sound, on Wednesday, 14th inst. Mayor Thomson presided. Perhaps a score of shareholders were present. Secretary

W. D. Forrest made a report of the financial operations of the company during the last year. About 3,000 pounds of seeds had been sold within the jurisdiction of the company last spring. A general discussion, participated in by the mayor, secretary, John McKenzie, D. N. Dodge, — McMillan, and a half dozen others, followed, when it was concluded to adjourn the meeting to Nov. 8, same place, and to convene at the same hour, 2 p.m.

USE OF WOOD IN PACKING TEA.

Few people have any idea of the amount of wood used in making tea chests. It is estimated that the wood exported annually from Ceylon alone in the shape of tea chests would cover 400 acres, if the chests were taken to pieces and their tops, sides and bottoms laid out in close contact at the edges like a pavement. Mr. Frederick Lewis, the assistant conservator of forests in Ceylon, gives a description in The Journal of Society and Arts of no less than 36 different kinds of wood which are used for making tea chests. Soft light woods are especially in demand, as it is important that the chest should be easily made, and should be as light as is consistent with its having the necessary strength. In the 36 kinds of timber just alluded to, as many as 21 natural orders are represented, the Lauraceae providing 4 out of 36.

Before the war between China and Japan, most of the Ceylon tea chests were made in Japan, but the home producer of them has now got a better chance, although the industry is in a very disorganized condition.

It may be mentioned that certain London importers raised objections to some of the Ceylon tea chests, on the ground that the tea had acquired a taint from the smell of the wood, notwithstanding the fact that an airtight envelope of lead intervenes between the wood and the tea itself. A still further objection was raised that certain woods corroded the lead lining, and introduced poisonous matter. There is every reason to believe that both these objections are wholly without foundation.

when you are very busy a customer comes in for 5 or 10c. worth of soda. Well, it takes as much time to weigh and dig out of the keg as it does to sell a dollar's worth of something else. When you have "Cow Brand Soda" in stock all of this unnecessary trouble is done away with. It is packed in all saleable size packages.

One reason why dealers will handle Monsoon <sup>Indo Ceylon</sup> Tea is because people are asking for it. A still better reason is the better quality of Monsoon, which the dealer can offer at prices no higher than other teas. Monsoon, in bulk, in Ceylon, is worth—and costs—four cents more per pound than the qualities which enter any other package tea sold in Canada.

WHAT DATE SHOULD THANKSGIVING DAY BE?

A GENERAL COMPLAINT THAT IT IS NOW TOO LATE IN THE SEASON.

THERE is a strong feeling among the merchants of Canada that our Thanksgiving Day is fixed too late in the season. For some years past, this opinion has been growing, partly because the weather has proved inclement, and partly because a date late in November seems to have become the rule.

On looking up the record for the past four years, it appears that the dates chosen have all been late in November. For instance, last Thanksgiving Day came on Thursday, Nov. 25; in 1896, it was on Nov. 26; in 1895, on Nov. 21, and, in 1894, on Nov. 22. There is a point in connection with the choice of date which deserves consideration. In fact, one firm—that of G. E. Smith & Co., Halifax—in writing us, make special reference to it. That is, the question of having the date identical with Thanksgiving Day in the United States. Certainly, if, as in 1894 and 1895, the Canadian Thanksgiving is fixed for so late a date as the third week in November, it might just as well be made the same as the United States day. This is not so much a matter of neighborliness as a question of convenience. There is a suspension of business in both countries on Thanksgiving, and it often proves convenient to have the day the same.

However, the general opinion seems to be that November is too late altogether. Climatic conditions are not the same in the two countries, and there appears to be no sound reason why the conditions in Canada and the wishes of the Canadian people should not alone determine the date chosen. A large number of merchants, in different parts of Canada, have expressed their views, and these are quoted below. It will be seen that, while they are not all agreed upon a fixed date, they are nearly all, with very few exceptions, of opinion that the latter part of November is too late.

HALF WAY BETWEEN TWO OTHER HOLIDAYS.

Guillet Bros., Cobourg, Ont.: We are strongly in favor of a change in the date of Thanksgiving Day. The complaint is general in and around Cobourg that, it has always been too late in the year. One month earlier, or the last Thursday in October, would be a far more suitable time. The weather is likely to be much better, and then the holiday would come about half way between Labor Day and Christmas.

A. R. Woodyatt & Co., Guelph, Ont.: We have no preference as to which month Thanksgiving Day should come in. It is all the same to us, but we would like to see it nearer the middle of the month, as the end and beginning of each month are always very busy seasons with us.

Brock & Paterson, St. John, N.B.: We are in favor of a change in the date of Thanksgiving Day, and consider the last Thursday in October a very suitable date.

A STRONG PROTEST AGAINST A LATE DATE.

A. E. Micks, of Micks & Cox, Peterborough, Ont.: Thanksgiving Day has been so very late that it always rained or was snowing and really was no use for outside sport. The only way to put in the day was to sit by a good warm stove and give thanks, or be thankful that you were not out in the cold. I would say about the last week in October, say Thursday, be appointed as Thanksgiving Day, and if you can so bring the matter before His Excellency to have it changed to that date, you will do a great deal for suffering humanity, and place us all under an obligation. Thanking you for the interest you are taking in the matter.

T. N. Hobley, Barrie, Ont.: Very much in favor of a change of date. Everybody in this neighborhood laments the lateness of Thanksgiving Day. From about the middle to the last of October would do, while I think the last Thursday in October would be about right.

MAKING IT THE SAME AS IN THE STATES.

Geo. E. Smith & Co., Halifax, N.S.: We are not in favor of the change of the date. We think the last Thursday in November would be the best date. One of our principal reasons is that it conforms with the date set down by the American Government to be observed as Thanksgiving Day. We do not mean by this that the Canadians are supposed to follow the Americans in every particular, but, in the matter of Thanksgiving Day, it looks friendly for two nations, side by side, to observe the same day.

Hobbs Hardware Co., London, Ont.: Thanksgivings should be held directly after Manitoba's and the Northwest's harvests are gathered, say, about the end of October.

G. A. Richardson, Guelph, Ont.: Most decidedly favor a change of date. The last Thursday in October, or even earlier, would be suitable.

T. Drifill & Sons, Bradford, Ont.: We very heartily agree with John T. James, of Bridgeburg, in his letter in last issue, re date of Thanksgiving Day. His arguments are so clear and conclusive that we think it quite unnecessary to add anything further. There is just one thing we would suggest as a decided advantage. That is, to have the holiday on a Friday or Monday. This would be a great boon to thousands of our school teachers, who could go to their homes and have three day's rest and enjoyment, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, or Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Either of these days would suit the general public. We would very strongly urge the Monday (say the last Monday in October), as being the most suitable that could be selected. We will be very glad if you will press these views (if you concur in them), on the Government.

Kingan & Allen, Peterboro, Ont.: We think a change with reference to the date of Thanksgiving Day would be a decided advantage, and consider the last Thursday in October a convenient day to settle on.

G. R. Hannah, Shelburne, Ont.: Favors a change in regard to Thanksgiving Day, as the last of November is generally wet and disagreeable, and is heartily in favor of the last Thursday in October.

Pratt & Watkins, Hamilton, Ont.: Favor a change of date, and think the last Thursday in October would suit.

W. J. Harbottle, Cardinal, Ont.: Thinks a change should be made, and approves the last week in October.

Bryson, Graham & Co., Ottawa: Favor the last Monday in October as a date for Thanksgiving Day.

NOVEMBER A DISAGREEABLE MONTH.

J. Fennell & Son, Berlin, Ont.: Favor a change of date, and would recommend the middle of October at the latest. November is the most disagreeable month of the year, and the selection of the latter part of it as a Thanksgiving Day would seem to be done for the purpose of testing the gratitude of our hearts to the utmost extremity. November is a blue month. Select a bright, pleasant season, say about Oct. 1.

J. H. Glendenning, Sunderland, Ont.: Believes in a change of date; say, about the last of October.

Kenny & Cockrill, Gananoque, Ont.: Favor a date about the middle of October. The last Thursday in October would be an improvement on the date of past years; but they would prefer Thursday, Oct. 20.

A. Westman, London, Ont., assents to a change, and thinks the last Thursday in October a suitable date.

W. J. McMurtry, St. Thomas, Ont., favors a change of date. One Ontario firm, writing anonymously, do not favor a change. Think there is less work to do in the country in November, and October would interfere with trade more.

HOLIDAYS TOO CLOSE TOGETHER.

John Northway & Co., Chatham, Ont., favor a change of date, and think the last Thursday in October would be suitable.

James R. Inksater, Paris, Ont., favors the first Thursday in November. The last Thursday in October would be suitable enough, not only on account of the November weather being cold, but the end of November brings Thanksgiving too close to Christmas, crowding the three holidays almost into one month.

J. E. Martineau, Quebec, points out that Thanksgiving is not generally observed in the city of Quebec, and suggests November 1 as a better date than that now chosen.

Geo. Ritchie & Co., Belleville, Ont., suggest a day from the middle to the end of October.

John Hayden, Guelph, Ont.: In regard to the date that would be most suitable to hold Thanksgiving Day, I certainly would advocate the latter part of this month (September), or the fore part of October. After those dates the weather is liable to be cold and disagreeable.

OTHER OPINIONS FAVORING A CHANGE.

It will be noticed that several firms would prefer the Thanksgiving to be on a Monday or Saturday, so that a complete holiday, allowing a man to go home from a distance, would be given. It remains to be seen what view the Government will take on this point.

Isaac E. Pedlow, Renfrew, Ont., I think the change to a month earlier a commendable one. The last Thursday in October would give us assurance of much nicer weather for a holiday. While on the subject of special holidays, do you not think that they are multiplying rapidly; in fact, becoming a nuisance to the business community?

John H. Laughton, Parkhill, Ont.: Thinks the first Thursday in November a suitable date, while as to the last Thursday in October that would be better than the last week in November.

A Cornwall, Ont., firm say the last Wednesday in October would suit the trade there.

An Orillia, Ont., merchant thinks the proposal for a change a very good idea, and suggests a month earlier than usual as a suitable date.

ALMERIA GRAPES.

This season for Almeria grapes, says the London Grocer, promises to be one of exceptional abundance. Already numerous cargoes of Denia grapes have arrived at London and the outports, and, being very cheap, as well as of excellent quality, they have quickly passed into consumption. It may be regarded as probable that the entire crop will embrace 750,000 barrels, which will be more than equal to that of 1897, when it was estimated that not above 700,000 barrels of Almeria grapes were secured. There was thus a contrast with the production of the same class of grapes in 1896, when it amounted to 850,000 barrels, and we should not be surprised if the crop this year came near that total.

KINGSTON GROCERS' PICNIC.

THE grocers of Kingston, Ont., were rather late in the season in holding their first annual picnic, but it lost nothing by this fact, for it was pronounced an unqualified success by those (and there were nearly 4,000) present.

The day was an ideal one—cool enough for the races, but not too cool for the spectators.

Some extremely amusing, as well as interesting, events were included in the programme. Chief of these was the Chinamen's race, in which three "real" Chinamen took part. The baseball match and the tug-of-war, between the wholesalers and the retailers, absorbed much attention, the wholesalers proving victorious, after a good contest in each case.

As will be seen, the programme was a long and well-arranged one. The winners were as follows:

Baseball match, retailers vs. wholesalers—Prize to the wholesalers by a score of 21 to 15.

100-yards' race open to all boys in the grocery trade of 15 years and under—1 Lawlor, 2 Gage, 3 Moxley.

One-mile trot (one heat), open to city horses that have not won public money in three years, and owned by city butchers, bakers, hardwaremen, dry goods men, cabmen, carters and grocers—1 R. Joyce, 2 J. Gilbert, 3 C. Clark.

One-mile bicycle race, open to all grocers and employees—1 McDonald, 2 H. Martin, 3 McRae.

Half-mile running race, open to grocers' delivery horses—1 M. Corkey, 2 J. Redden, 3 L. W. Murphy.

Chinamen's race, every Chinaman to get a prize—1 Hong Doo, 2 Chaa. Hing, 3 Hong Lee.

One-mile trot (best 2 in 7), open to grocers' delivery horses—1 H. Wilkinson, 2 W. R. McRae & Co., 3 J. P. Gallivan.

Tug-of-war, wholesalers vs. retailers—Prize to the wholesalers (2 out of 3).

One-mile running race (horse), open to same as No. 3—1 J. Gilbert, 2 L. W. Murphy, 3 Jas. Crawford.

"Comfort" soap race, open to grocers' wives, daughters or lady clerks in grocery stores—1 Miss Blomley, 2 Miss Marri-son, 3 Miss Doolao.

100-yards' dash, open to clerks in retail grocery stores, Kingston—1 M. Gallivan, 2 McDonald, 3 J. Cornelius.

Girls' race, open to any girl of 16 years and under—1 Mildred Macdonald, 2 Mahel Wright, 3 Martha Gray.

Hop, step and jump, open to all grocers and their employees—L. W. Murphy, 32 ft. 2 in.; Geo. Couper, 32 ft. 1 in.

100-yards' foot race, open to retail grocers—1 L. W. Murphy, 2 D. A. Shaw, 3 Lawless.

Half-mile foot race, grocers and employees—1 R. Robinson, 2 J. Hol-land, 3 A. Singleton.

100-yards' bicycle race (slow), grocers and employees—A. Murphy, A. Davis, McRae.

Half-mile bicycle race, open to wholesale and retail grocers—1 J. Gilbert, 2 Jas. Crawford, 3 W. A. Craig.

100-yard's race, employees of wholesale grocery trade—1 A. Singleton, 2 John Davey, 3 McRae.

50-yards' race, drivers of delivery horses, wholesale and retail—1 Geo. Couper, 2 R. McCulla, 3 John Cruise.

High jump, grocers' delivery horses—1 J. Gilbert, 2 M. Corkey, 3 Jas. Crawford.

Police Constables' race—1 P. C. Araeil, 2 P. C. Graham, 3 Sergt. Nesbit.

On the evening previous to the picnic a big procession, or, as one of the Kingston papers expressed it, a parade of physiogs was held. It was also a big success. Among the characters represented were knights, clowns, hayseeds, tramps, Turks, Chinamen, soldiers (both of ancient and modern), negroes, policemen—in short, people of every race and clime. Music was furnished by D. Cooper's pipe-organ, with the chimes of Normandy attached, Redden's orchestra and the citizens' band.

The picnic and the parade entailed a good deal of work on the part of the committee, P. Scanlon, S. Kirk, M. Corkey, A. Singleton, J. Singleton, R. McCullough, J. Gilbert, James Crawford and D. A. Shaw. The whole grocery trade, however, devoted a good deal of time to making the affair a success, and relief was expressed when it was all over, one dealer saying that, for a week, one of his men did nothing but talk about the picnic and look after the delivery horse, so that the latter would be fit to take part in the races. He spent a day in plaiting the animal's tail.

RETAIL GROCERY NOTES.

J. Whitehead, grocer, Walkerton, besides looking after his large grocery and crockery business, is exporting apples extensively this season.

H. Ebert, grocer, Port Elgin, has just moved into his new brick store, which he has finished up in bright, natural birdseye maple. The effect is pleasing.

GROCERS SPEND A SOCIAL NIGHT

THE TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION made a good move at their regular business meeting two weeks ago when they decided to hold a special meeting on Monday, this week, for social enjoyment and to extend an invitation to the Toronto city travelers to spend the evening with them.

Between 60 and 70 travelers gathered in the Association's rooms in St. George's Hall, Elm street, on Monday evening, and a most enjoyable time was spent discussing topics of interest to the trade and indulging in various amusements. Refreshments were served during the evening.

That this move is likely to result in an increase in the membership of the association is evidenced by the fact that three applications for membership have been received from grocers who were invited to the social.

Secretary Hawes informed THE CANADIAN GROCER that in all probability these meetings will be continued regularly.

GUELPH GROCER SUICIDES.

On Monday, at noon, Wm. P. Clay, grocer, Guelph, committed suicide by shooting himself. No cause is assigned.

Mr. Clay was in usual spirits on Monday morning, giving a good order for groceries, and conversing with quite a number of his friends.

Deceased was born in London, Eng., in 1833, and went to Guelph 25 years ago, where he continued in business for some time, when he moved to Galt, Ont. He sold out in Galt to his sons two years ago, and returned to Guelph. He leaves a wife and seven children. Three sons live in Galt.

WANTS "BLUE RIBBON" TEA.

Hello Toronto! G. F. & J. Galt, please. Hello, is this "Blue Ribbon"? Well, say, will your traveler, Mr. Stewart, be around this way soon? Oh! Not for a couple of weeks, eh! Don't think I can wait that long. Have lots of good teas in stock, but my customers are continually asking why I don't handle "Blue Ribbon". So I am going to try it. Guess you'd better send on a sample lot, say, about 25 pounds each, assorted halves and pounds in the three best grades. Expect to make "Blue Ribbon" my leader in teas. Advise Mr. Stewart to call on me regularly.

The output of the Calgary, N.W.T., creamery during August this year was 5,980 lb., as compared with 4,067 lb. last year, an increase of 1,917 lb.

OGILVIE'S NEW ELEVATOR.

W. W. Ogilvie, the Manitoba flour miller, is building what will be the largest grain elevator in Montreal. The plans are already completed for its construction, and it will have a capacity of 2,000,000 bushels. The mill will be built almost directly opposite the City mills, also operated by Mr. Ogilvie, on Mill street. Already, the foundation is said to have cost fully $30,000, and the total cost of the elevator, when completed, will be enormous. It will have a frontage of 240 feet and a depth of 200 feet. The site is a splendid one, and, while the Grand Trunk now runs right beside it, the C.P.R. could easily build a track there, too, if deemed necessary. The elevator will undoubtedly be a great acquisition to the grain and flour trade of Montreal.

SIX MONTHS FOR FRAUD.

IN the Court of Queen's Bench, Montreal, on Sept. 26, W. E. Gillespie, a retail merchant, of Penetanguishene, Ont., was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the Montreal common jail, on the charge of attempting to defraud the wholesale dry goods firm of Thibeaudeau Bros. by furnishing a false statement.

The facts of the case, as given in The Dry Goods Review of August, were as follows :

On July 10, 1897, Gillespie furnished Thibeaudeau with a statement showing a surplus of $10,000. On April 14, 1898, a second statement was submitted showing about the same surplus, and assets of $22,000. No later than June 11 last a third statement showed the assets to be $18,000, with a surplus of $12,000. On the strength of the latter, Thibeaudeau Bros. & Co. advanced goods to the value of $7,900. In a short time Gillespie assigned, with liabilities amounting to over $17,000.

All three statements were false, the first, because the book debts which The Gillespie Co. claimed as theirs had been assigned to the firm of S. F. McKinnon & Co., of Toronto. The second statement was equally untrue. It stated that at the last stock-taking of The W. E. Gillespie Co., there existed assets to the amount of $22,000, whereas it had been proved that the stock-taking of February, 1898, of which Mr. W. E. Gillespie had a knowledge, showed assets of $4,000 only. The last statement also was untrue. It gave assets of $18,000, whilst the official inventory, subsequent to the failure of The W. E. Gillespie Co., exhibited resources of $3,000 and liabilities of $17,500.

Other firms interested in the failure of The Gillespie Co. are: S. F. McKinnon & Co., $1,500; Lailey, Watson & Co., $833.29; Green & Wade, $323.55; F. J. Weston & Sons, $323.25; W. E. Chalcraft & Co., $277.70; A. A. Allan & Co., $261.13; H. Bradshaw & Sons, $223.33; E. J. Dignum & Co., $133.86; E. Boisseau & Co., $106.90, all of Toronto; M. L. Schloman, $324.22; W. Agnew & Co., $273.05; W. D. Stroud & Sons, $257.68; James Coristine & Co., $172.07; John Horsfall & Sons, $120, of Montreal; and following Hamilton firms: Knox, Morgan & Co., $495.53; James C. Taylor, $210.09; Walter Woods & Co., $165.60; James Turner & Co., $119.60.

The case naturally attracted a lot of attention, the accused being defended by a prominent lawyer, Mr. J. W. Greenshields, who, after the jury had found him guilty, made application for a reserve case, on the plea of lack of jurisdiction, or, in other words, that the accused should have been tried at his home in Ontario, and not in Montreal. This plea was disallowed, with the result above given.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Ouimet pointed out that it would be wrong to allow false sentiments of sympathy to rule in a case of the kind under consideration. It was highly important that fraud in commercial transactions should be put down with a strong hand. He also expressed the hope that the present conviction would serve as a lesson to others, who might be inclined to think that they could not be punished for sharp practices of this kind. Remarking that he could, if he so desired, impose a sentence of five years, he added, that, in consideration of Gillespie's state of health, and the fact that he had not pecuniarily gained anything, he would simply impose a sentence of six months, without hard labor.

THANKSGIVING DAY AGITATION.

THE opinions of merchants of all kinds, printed in this issue, demonstrate, as far as ascertained, that the merchants of this country are almost unanimously in favor of an earlier date for Thanksgiving Day than is customary. If we were to canvass the working classes we have no doubt the result would be the same.

But, aside altogether from the published opinions in regard to the matter, the experiences of the past few years have been more than strong enough to condemn the latter part of November for the celebration.

To celebrate Thanksgiving Day concurrently with the United States is, from a sentimental point of view, quite nice, but, when it comes that the weather, over a large part of Canada, is unpropitious, year after year, for holding such a holiday, all the sentiment and all the pleasant things are knocked out of it. By all means let next Thanksgiving Day be held two or three weeks earlier than last year.

WHY LIGHTNING STRIKES BARN.

The Bridgeburg Review recently drew attention to the fact that barns struck by lightning always have their crops in, empty barns seeming to escape the electric fluid, and suggesting that scientific men devote some of their time and ability to learning the cause of this peculiarity, with a view to devising ways and means of lessening the danger.

A writer in a Kingston paper has taken the matter up and gives what he regards as the cause, and there may be something in it. If this theory is correct, it would be an easy thing to avoid the lightning's stroke by providing the suggested means of ventilation. He says: "Now, I have never heard or known that any barn with an open lattice ventilation has been struck or burned. All farmers know that no matter how dry grain or hay is when put into the barn it will sweat more or less; this sweat forms a gas, which invariably rises to the top. We know this, for, if we salt the bottom of a mow, the top also becomes salty. I believe that lightning has an affinity for this gas, and that the gas, if confined in the top of a barn, draws this lightning."

THE CANNED TOMATO SITUATION.

ALTHOUGH the packers are still busy putting up tomatoes and the pack is likely to be, on the whole, a fair one, the market is, if anything, stronger than it was a week ago.

Perhaps the chief cause of this is the fact that people are realizing more fully than ever that even should the pack be as large as it was last year it will come upon a market unusually bare.

It is true, the unusual bareness of the market is due, largely, to the demand on British Columbia and Klondyke account. And, while the demand on this particular account may not be as large as it was last season, yet there will, no doubt, be a good many more tomatoes required for shipment to those parts of the Dominion than were two years ago.

Then, there is the general consumptive demand the Dominion over. That is certainly expanding.

Again, the fact that some wholesale houses are known to have bought but lightly, and now, with those who have over-sold for future delivery, are in the market as buyers, naturally tends to keep prices firm.

The packers, having booked orders for large quantities early in the season, some beyond their ability to supply, are naturally inclined to quote very high prices, or, in some instances, not to quote at all. So there are in reality no reliable packers' prices.

Wholesalers would readily pay 80c., and one merchant did this week pay that figure to another for 200 cases. He wanted 500 at that figure, but could get no more than the quantity mentioned.

The ruling wholesale price to retailers is now 85c., and one house, which was last week offering at 80c., has this week withdrawn quotations.

ELEME FIGS ON THE WAY.

New season's Eleme figs for the Canadian market are on the way.

The supply will be exceedingly small for all consuming countries, on account of the very small crop. Importations into England are only about one-fourth what they were last year.

Prices are even more astonishing than the quantity, for figs which last year were invoiced at 30s. per cwt., are now costing 70s.

With the ad valorem import duty of 25 per cent., it is obvious the laid-down price of figs in Canada will be well on the way to the clouds this season.

CANNED GOODS IN MONTREAL.

ONE of the interesting features of the week has been the unmistakably stronger tone developed both in canned tomatoes and corn.

A Montreal broker, who returned from the west last week, told THE CANADIAN GROCER that his people were not in a position to accept any new business at all in either lines, as their stock was not sufficient to complete existing contracts. As a result of this they had withdrawn all quotations.

Another commission man had a bid of 80c. for several thousand packages of tomatoes, but, when he wired the order, the reply came back that the canners were not in a position to consider propositions of any kind.

Enquiry among the buyers elicited corroborative testimony to the above. One leading wholesale firm stated that it had been able to place an order for 4,000 packages of tomatoes at 80c., and that it considered itself lucky for being able to do so. The firm had tried to close for a round lot of corn, but without result. In a word, it considered the situation on both these staple lines of vegetables a strong one indeed.

Other firms interviewed had not been so lucky as the above, and one gentleman gave it as his conviction that he was doubtful if even a bid of 90c. would now be accepted for tomatoes. In the case of corn the position was even stronger, and he looked for much higher prices in the near future.

One fact that it was important to bear in mind was, that the present situation was due to absolute scarcity, and not to speculation, as had been the case in previous seasons. Last fall, there had been considerable speculation in Montreal, and a large quantity of stock accumulated on this account. This was not the case this fall, for it was well known that almost everyone was carrying a light stock, and anxious to procure additional supplies.

CANADIAN HONEY WANTED FOR EXPORT.

PROBABLY no one in this country ever for one moment thought it possible that merchants in the United States would be trying to secure Canadian honey for export, in place of the product of their own country, although we, of course, do ship a little honey every year across the border.

But, whether anyone hitherto thought of the matter or not, it is a fact that at least one firm in the United States is prospecting with a view to buying Canadian honey for export. The firm in question is located in New York, and writes to THE CANADIAN GROCER as follows:

"Can you put us in communication with anyone who handles Canadian honey in a large way? We export California honey quite largely, but as it is so high priced and scarce this season we may be able to get our friends to take up Canadian."

The yield of honey in Canada this season is large, and it is to be hoped the firm in question may be able to get its friends abroad to take Canadian honey.

Will readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER, who can supply honey in large quantities, or who can furnish information as to who is in a position to do so, kindly forward same to the editor of this paper?

It is curious to note that the quantity of honey the Dominion exported last year was practically the same as it imported, the figures being 26,598 and 26,149 pounds respectively.

CHEESE ADVANCING.

During the past two weeks the price of cheese has appreciated fully  $1\frac{1}{4}$ c. Two weeks ago 8 to  $8\frac{1}{4}$ c. was the ruling figure at country boards.

It advanced gradually last week until on Friday last, 9c. was a common figure, and as high as 9 3-16c. per lb. was paid by one man for 400 boxes.

This week,  $9\frac{1}{4}$ c. has been the ruling figure, and 9 5-16c. has been received for about 1,000 boxes. A bid of 9c. has been refused on three boards.

The price of cheese is now just about the same as it was in September last year. The latest reports indicate that the firm feeling is still manifest.

CANNED SALMON SITUATION.

THE position of canned salmon is even stronger than it was a week ago. The run of cohoes has not been good, although The Vancouver Province, of a recent issue, says the run has considerably improved.

The average catch per boat up to the beginning of last week was only 20 to 30 fish.

But not only has the run so far been light, but a couple of canneries that have booked large orders for future delivery are competing so keenly for fish that the price being paid to the fishermen is 20c. per fish, while the average so far is 18c. against 7½c. last year.

The Province, Vancouver, of the 19th inst., said that the canneries had not then opened up in great numbers, while at New Westminster no canning would be done. "The canneries," it added, "on the lower parts of the river, will do most of the work, and it is expected that about a dozen will be running the early part of next week."

Some of the canneries are still offering cohoes at $3.50, f.o.b. the Coast, while others are asking 50c. per case more than this figure.

A private letter received this week in Toronto, from British Columbia, stated that it was costing the packers $4 per case to put up cohoes.

The market for sockeye keeps strong. We hear of one transaction, during the week, at $4.50 f.o.b. the Coast.

Recent mail advices from London, Eng., state that Fraser river falls are quoted there at 23s., against 17s. 3d. in July last.

The season has been a bad one for the canneries on the Fraser river, aside altogether from the shortness of the pack.

The market, it will be remembered, opened at an unusually low figure, and large orders were booked. But, when the packing began, such high prices had to be paid for fish, etc., that the canners, in some instances, lost a dollar per case.

The canneries on the northern rivers, however, had a good season, and, as the two or three previous ones were not satisfactory, no one begrudges them their good fortune.

THE FIRMNESS OF CANNED CORN.

One, at least, of the wholesale houses in Toronto has withdrawn prices on canned corn, and, while the ruling quotations are from 77½ to 85c., sellers would just as soon not do business.

If there is anything they have confidence in it is corn, and they would, therefore, just as soon not take orders at this stage of the campaign.

Packers who are quoting are asking 80c., as a rule.

An interesting story is told which illustrates the situation in corn. A wholesale house, in Toronto, when prices were ruling around 65c., sold a round lot to a retailer at that figure. A few days ago the retailer transferred his purchase to a broker for 77½c. per dozen, and now this broker is offering them to the original wholesaler at 90c. per dozen.

JAPAN TEA LOWER.

JAPAN tea is slightly lower in price. This is announced by a cable received this week. Prices are still, however, where they were in June and July last, and, compared with a year ago, are 3c. per lb. higher.

It appears there is a larger quantity of low-grade teas on the market than was anticipated. In fact, according to one authority, the quantity is very large. Then, the Japanese are offering more freely.

At the same time, however, it is difficult to get desirable teas. A good many of those offering are right as far as the leaf is concerned; the shortcoming is in the liquoring quality of the tea.

Although prices are lower the values are practically no better, owing to the depreciated quality of the teas now coming forward.

The teas which are plentiful are very low grades, and grades which will not match the United States standards.

It will be remembered that the advices of a few months ago stated that it was the intention of the Japanese Government to prohibit the picking of the low grade leaf, but a letter received from Japan a few days ago remarked that, even if the Government had done what some declared it was likely to do, its efforts would have proved abortive. This statement was corroborated by a Japanese gentleman who was in Toronto this week.

The controlling force in Japan, as far as the tea trade is concerned, is the Japanese Tea Traders' Association. Every tea-grower and every tea merchant in Japan is a member of this association, and, under the power of its charter, all growers and merchants are compelled to be members thereof. Any regulations, therefore, in regard to the picking of tea which the Government desired carried out, to have any force at all, would have to be enforced by the association.

THE GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT.

It is a hopeful, an encouraging sign of times, that the agitation in favor of the improvement of the roadways of Ontario, is, at last, receiving a good deal of attention from business men, as well as from the public generally.

The Ontario Provincial road instructor, A. W. Campbell, reports that within the last two years, when the movement was first begun in earnest, the towns of Niagara Falls, St. Catharines, Galt, Berlin, Stratford, Chatham, Owen Sound, Collingwood, Parry Sound, Barrie, Lindsay, Brockville, Cornwall, Kemptonville, Ingersoll and Woodstock, have undertaken the macadamizing of their streets and roads, and have spent nearly a quarter of a million dollars on the work. Other towns have shown more or less activity in the matter.

There is no question but that to country merchants it is desirable that every highway in, and connecting with their town, should be in the best condition possible. The good condition of the roads facilitates the delivery of goods, and, lessens the wear and tear of vehicles.

It has been demonstrated that all improvements to the country roads leading into a town tend to increase the traffic to and from that town. In fact, farmers frequently drive eight or nine miles with a heavy load over a good road rather than go a couple of miles shorter journey over roads kept in poor repair.

It is sometimes urged that the profits derived from keeping roads in good repair do not repay the business man for the extra taxation thereby entailed, but this argument is not sound, for, though it is true that the first cost of building a proper roadway is considerably more than making a poor one, the cost of keeping in repair a road once properly constructed is not more than the amount now expended in repairing the poor road.

It behooves business men in all sections of Ontario to see that the agitation leads to practical ends, and merchants in the country are not the only merchants who should be interested in this matter.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 29, 1898.

GROCERIES.

A FAIRLY satisfactory business has been experienced during the past week. Sugars continue steady, and in good demand. Canned goods continue to be the most interesting feature of the wholesale grocery market, although not many transactions are taking place. Advices from the Coast in regard to the coho pack are of a bullish nature. In canned vegetables, tomatoes and corn are, if anything, stronger than they were a week ago, although quotations are much as they were before. Japan teas are easier in the primary market, but Ceylons, on the other hand, are cabled firmer from London. The cable also announces an advance in currants in Patras, and foreign dried fruits generally are steady to strong. The spice market rules steady, although business is light.

CANNED GOODS.

Advices from the Coast, in regard to the coho pack, indicate that the run of fish is light and the price firm. Some canneries are still quoting cohoes $3.50 f.o.b. the Coast, but others again are asking 50c. per case more than that figure. Owing to the competition among a couple of the canners 20c. per fish is being paid to the fishermen, and it is said that every case of cohoes now being put up costs the canner about $4. The feeling on the local market is strong, although no actual change in quotations is to be noted. For well-known brands of canned salmon wholesalers are still quoting $1.40 to $1.50 per dozen in tall tins.

Nothing new has transpired in regard to canned tomatoes, as far as actual change in price is concerned, but there is a rather stronger feeling, although why, there does not appear to be any well-defined reason, as the ultimate outcome of the pack will not be known until packing operations cease. At the time of writing, the factories are still busy. There have been, during the week, transactions between packers and wholesalers at 80c. This figure was also bid by one wholesaler to another for 500 cases, and, while this figure was refused for the quantity named, it was accepted for 200 cases. Most of the wholesalers are now quoting 85c. to retailers, and one house, which last week named 80c., has this week withdrawn quotations.

The feeling in corn as well as in tomatoes is stronger, and some wholesale houses will not quote at all. At the same time, the ruling idea is from 77½ to 80c. per dozen. Packers are, as a rule, quoting 80c., but we hear of no transactions at that figure. Peas are unchanged at from 70c. upward.

COFFEES.

Coffees are receiving a little more attention, but there is not much doing yet. Rios are quoted from 7¼c. upward, and Maracaibos at 13 to 16c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Some of the refiners have no syrups to offer, while those who have them to sell are experiencing no demand. Molasses are quiet and steady at unchanged prices.

SUGARS.

A fairly good trade is being experienced both by the wholesalers and the refiners. As far as the local market is concerned, nothing new has developed in regard to

*See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

prices, 4½c. still being quoted for standard granulated.

The London market is cabled a little lower for beet root sugar, but cane is steady and unchanged. In New York the refiners are not buyers at the moment, but importers' stocks are light, being only 13,000 tons, and they therefore are indifferent as to sales. The fact that Java sugars are beginning to arrive in the United States for refiners is making the latter independent of spot supplies.

The European beet market is still a weather market. Licht has not yet given his estimate, but various authorities place the shortage all the way from 150,000 to 400,000 tons.

SPICES.

The spice market keeps firm in all lines. The chief import business at the moment is in pepper.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Rice is firm at the recent decline in the primary market. A fair import business is being done in tapioca at previous prices.

TEAS.

Japan teas are cabled a little easier, but, as the quality is poorer than it was, values are practically no better than they were. Prices are now about the same as they were in June and July last, and, compared with last year, are about three cents per lb.

dearer. Teas being offered here are largely very low grades, and teas which will not pass the United States standards.

The Ceylon tea market is exceedingly firm, with low grades about ¾d. per lb. dearer in London. Estimates of the crop have again been reduced, this time by about 7,000,000 lb.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—The cables this week announce an advance of 6d. per cwt. in the price of currants at Patras. A small shipment of new season's Provincial currants reached the Toronto market on Saturday, and they are being quoted at 5¼ to 5½c. per lb. in cases, 5½c. in ½ cases and 5¼c. in ½ barrels. Amalias are being quoted to arrive at 5½ to 5¾c., fine Patras at 5¼ to 6c. and Vostizzas at 6 to 7½c., according to quality.

VALENCIA RAISINS — The cable announces a firm market for Valencia raisins. A good import business has been done during the past week or two. New fruit in stock is still quoted at 6c. for fine off-stalk and 7c. for selected. There is quite a range in quotations for future delivery. The idea for such brands as Trenor's and Arguimbau's are: Fine off-stalk, 5½ to 6c.; selected, 6½ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c. Other brands not so well known are quoted as follows to arrive: Fine off-stalk, 4¾ to 5c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c.

MALAGA RAISINS—A cable to P. L. Mason & Co. reports that rains have damaged a considerable quantity of the fruit. A cable from Rein & Co. states that the first shipments are due to arrive here in about two weeks.

FIGS—Some early shipments are on the way to this market, but prices, as already noted, are beyond all precedent.

PRUNES — The market for California prunes is still firm. The larger sizes are about 1c. per lb. above the opening figures. Bosnia prunes for November shipment are being offered, but the tendency of the trade is to wait before placing orders.

GREEN FRUITS.

The past week has been uneventful. Native fruits continue to arrive in large quantities, and prices are practically unchanged from last week. Fall apples, in barrels, have been coming in rather too freely for last week's prices, however, and a decline of 25c. per bbl. has ensued. Sweet potatoes are plentiful, and are quoted 25c. cheaper than a week ago. Bananas are in but moderate demand, and prices are unaltered. Late Valencia oranges are on the market at $4 per box. Maori lemons have come in, and are selling at $9 per box. Verdillas remain firm, at $6.50 to $7. Spanish onions have arrived in large quantities. They are worth $1.25 per case.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The supply is not as large as it has been, and, as the demand keeps good, an advance of 1c. is noted for strictly first-class eggs. Held eggs are worth  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. more than a week ago. At country points,  $12\frac{1}{2}$  to  $13\frac{1}{2}$ c. is being paid for cases. Farmers' lots sell on the market at 14 to 15c.

POTATOES—While reports continue to evidence a poor crop in Ontario, a decline at 5c. has resulted this week. We now quote 65c. for car lots, and 70 to 75c. off farmers' wagons.

HONEY—The feeling is unchanged from last week. Clover in comb is quoted all the way from 80c. to $1.50. Strained clover is quoted at from 6 to 7c., according to color and quantity. The demand is fair.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The market for new evaporated apples is commencing to open up. At country points, 7c. is being paid. f.o.b., while 8c. is the general jobbing price. The indications are that the production this year will be larger than usual, as in many localities new evaporators have been commenced. Dried apples are now on sale, the opening jobbing price being  $4\frac{1}{2}$ c. Both dried and evaporated stock is said to be arriving in excellent condition.

BEANS—Some transactions are reported. For small, round lots, 90c. has been paid lately.

VEGETABLES—Cauliflower, lettuce, winter radishes, cabbages and butter beans have declined in value during the past week. We quote: Cauliflower, $1 to $1.25 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 40c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 20 to 40c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz; 50 to 60c.; parsley, 10 to 20c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 10 to 20c. per doz.; Canadian butter beans, 75c. to $1 per bushel; beets, 10c. per peck; carrots, 10c. per peck; onions, Danvers, 75c. to $1 per bushel; green beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; vegetable marrow, 75c. to $1; butter squash, 75c. to $1; pumpkins, 75c. to $1; red cabbage, 40 to 60c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The delivery of dairy tub butter during the past week has been large, but so little of this has been strictly choice that an advance of 1c. is noted for the best quality. Creamery prints are being sent in rather too freely, and the market is rather weaker than last week, 20c. now being the prevalent figure. Creamery tubs and boxes are in good demand. We quote at outside points: Dairy tubs, 14 to  $14\frac{1}{2}$ c.; prints, 14 to 15c.; creamery prints,  $18\frac{1}{2}$  to 19c.; tubs and boxes, 17 to 18c.

CHEESE—The tone of the market may be judged from the fact that within the last month the prices ruling have advanced from  $7\frac{1}{4}$  to  $7\frac{3}{4}$ c. at country boards to as high as 9 to  $9\frac{1}{4}$ c., which is now being paid. The jobbing price quoted in Toronto is  $9\frac{1}{4}$  to  $9\frac{1}{2}$ c. for September makes. Some old cheese is offered  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. lower than these figures.

PROVISIONS.

A good steady trade is reported in all lines of provisions. The demand for smoked meats, both in the city and throughout the country, is excellent. From the lumber camps come a demand for heavy mess pork, which keeps business in this line good. The surplus stock of lard is well taken up, and now the feeling is firm. Packers will commence operations next week, if sufficient hogs are received.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The price of wheat is unchanged at 65c. on cars outside. A large amount of grain is being delivered on the street market. We quote as follows: Wheat, white, 70c.; red, 67 to 68c.; goose,  $61\frac{1}{2}$ c.; peas, 55 to 56c.; oats, new, 27 to  $27\frac{1}{2}$ c.; barley, 42 to 48c., rye, 45c. Old Manitoba No. 1 hard is quoted at 90c., and the new grain at 80c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—Manitoba flour is 20c. cheaper. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.40; Manitoba strong bakers', $4; Ontario patents, $4 to $4.15; straight roller, $3.25 to $3.40. Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Prices are unaltered. Business is brisk. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.60 in bags and $3.80 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

FISH.

Fresh pike and perch are off the market; fresh black bass, fresh herrings and ciscoes are scarce. We quote: Fresh salmon trout, 7c.; fresh whitefish, 7c. steak trout, 7c.;

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The market is steady, a good business being done. We now quote: No. 1, 8½c.; No. 2, 7½c.; No. 3, 6½c.; cured, 9¼c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Shearlings and lambskins continue firm at 60c.

WOOL—There is very little doing. Prices are unchanged at 10c. for unwashed and 16c. for fleece.

SEEDS.

There is practically no timothy being offered locally, supplies being received here from western markets. Some occasional machine-threshed lots have been offered. For these, from $1 to $1.25 has been paid. Alsike continues dull. Receipts are not quite so heavy. Quotations are unchanged at from $2.50 to $4, according to quality, with something more for better qualities. Few samples of Canadian red clover seed have been shown, and these have been rather disappointing. For the samples about $3 to $3.25 has been paid.

SALT.

The demand is good. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 54c.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Sept. 29, 1898.

GROCERIES.

A FAIRLY good business has been transacted in general groceries during the past week. The most notable feature lately has been the strength in canned tomatoes and corn, both of which are held very firm. Dried fruits, of all sorts, also are steady. In other staples, like tea and sugar, while business has not been extensive, a fair volume of trade is noted, while values generally are steadily held, without a single exception.

SUGAR.

While the local sugar market has not been noted for its activity, a fair amount of business has been done, and prices generally are steady, but granulated and yellows moving at former quotations. Abroad, the market adopted a firmer tone on beet in London at the opening of the present week, the distant position advancing  $\frac{3}{4}$ d. October delivery, now being quoted at 9s. 9d. Present month was unchanged, at 9s.

6d. Cane continues steady and unchanged in London, Java at 12s. and fair refining, 10s. 7  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. Raws in New York were quiet, fair refining 3  $\frac{3}{4}$ c. and centrifugal, '96 test, 4 5-16c. Refined ruled quiet there.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in syrup, which rules steady at 1  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 2  $\frac{1}{4}$ c., as to grade, under a quiet demand.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market is without new feature. Only a few round lots are moving, but the feeling in regard to values is quite firm, and it is doubtful if any choice Barbadoes in large quantities could be had for 29c., while, of course, the jobbing range is firmly held at 30 to 31c. for car lots and 31 to 32c. for broken lots.

CANNED GOODS.

Strength in tomatoes and corn is the leading feature of the canned goods market at present, and jobbers here who have tried to place orders for supplies this week, have, except in a few cases, found it impossible to do so. The canners explain that they are unable to quote either line for new business at present, because existing contracts in hand exceed their supplies. As a result of this, higher prices are asked this week on both lines.

COFFEE.

The market keeps quiet but steady, sales of Maracaibo being reported all the way from 9 to 13c., as to quality, and Santos and Rios at 10c.

SPICES.

Business quiet and prices steady as a rule.

TEAS.

Advices from Japan report a short third crop as a result of the dry, hot weather. On spot, trading in a wholesale way is limited this week, but this fact is due to the attitude of holders rather than the lack of demand. Values are held very firm, sales of Japans being reported at 17 to 19c., some 1,000 packages changing hands within the range. Advices on Ceylons note an advance in London, and business has been done between 14 to 16c. for mediums, while higher grades have brought 19 to 20c. The prices, of course, are for round lots between first and second hands. For ordinary jobbing parcels an advance is naturally demanded on the figures named.

DRIED FRUIT.

Valencia raisins are rather unsettled as to values, some buyers having the opinion that they will profit by holding off for the second steamer, but this is open to doubt. Values on the first steamer are held stiff, and there has been a fairly good demand for the goods to arrive, at the prices we quoted last week.

Nothing new is to report in regard to California raisins, except that values are steadily held for first deliveries, and new business is light, owing to the action of the Growers' Association regarding terms and deliveries.

Currants are about the same, though offers for forward delivery made this week have had a wide range, all the way from 12s. 9d. to 13s. 9d. being named on Provincials, and 13s. 3d. to 14s. 3d. on Filiatras.

Sultanas continue steady in tone, but little or nothing has been done in them for forward delivery.

California prunes continue as noted last week and the strength seems likely to be maintained if advices from the Coast are a fair criterion. Bosnia and French prunes have contributed no interesting features this week.

Figs are firmly held and dates are quite strong, buyers finding it difficult to obtain firm offers on the latter.

Evaporated California fruits are steady in tone.

NUTS.

This market remains much the same as last reported. Shelled walnuts are held firm to arrive at quotations, and the same can be said of Farragona almonds. New Grenoble walnuts have not yet been quoted.

GREEN FRUIT.

The fruit market continues firm and fairly active. Apples exhibit a stronger tendency, fall varieties having brought \$1.75 to \$2.10 this week. Canadian pears have met a better demand also, in the absence of California stock. Canadian plums are off the market, while peaches are steady. First arrivals of Jamaica oranges have been selling at \$9 to \$9.50 per bbl., and Valencia oranges have also arrived and are selling at \$3.50 to \$4 per box. Lemons have eased up a bit, but are still in fair enquiry. California fruits are in light supply and prices firm. Grapes have been plentiful, but meet a good demand at 1  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 1  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for red, and Niagara, 1  $\frac{3}{4}$ c. for Rogers, and 2  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for Delaware.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Candled eggs are firm. The demand was better, especially for new laid, and a fairly active trade was done. We quote: Strictly new laid at 17  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 18c.; No. 1 candled, 14c.; No. 2 do., 12 to 13c.; P. E. I., 12 to 13c., and culls, 9c. per doz. Receipts, 741 cases.

BEANS—Beans were quiet and prices show no change. We quote: Choice hand-picked at 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—In honey, trade was slow, and, as the offerings are liberal, prices rule easy. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to 7  $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; dark, 5  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 6  $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; white extracted, 6 to 6  $\frac{1}{2}$ c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—The demand for maple product is nil just now. We quote: Syrup in wood, 4  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 4  $\frac{3}{4}$ c. per lb.; in tins, 45 to 55c., according to size; sugar, 6 to 6  $\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

A fair amount of trade was done in provisions, and the market is moderately active and steady. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, in bbls., $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8¼ to 8½c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10½c. to 13c.; and bacon, 10 to 13c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

The demand from abroad is less active, and, as cables are lower, shippers here showed little disposition to do business. Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat, for prompt delivery, was quoted at 72c., and, for October, at 68 to 69c. afloat Fort William. Oats sold at 29 to 29¼c., and peas at 62c. afloat.

An active business was done in Manitoba grades of flour, there being a good demand from local buyers and sales aggregating 4,000 to 5,000 sacks transpired. In Ontario brands a fair trade is reported, but dealers state that sales are chiefly in small lots to fill actual wants. We quote as follows: Winter wheat patents, $4 to $4.25; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.75; in bags, $1.65 to $1.80; Manitoba patents, $4.80 to $4.90; strong bakers', best, $4.50 to $4.60.

There continues to be a good demand for all kinds of feed, and the market is fairly active, with no change in prices to note. We quote: Ontario winter wheat bran, $12, and shorts, $14.50 to $15 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $11 to $11.50; shorts, $15.

Business in meal was quiet, sales being chiefly in small lots to fill actual wants, and prices are easy at $3.50 per bbl., and at $1.70 per bag for rolled oats.

There was nothing new in the market for baled hay. The demand is fair and prices unchanged. We quote: No. 1 at $6.50; No 2 at $5 to $5.50, and clover mixed at $4 to $4.50, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese has advanced 1c. on the week, and is firm, with holders disposed to demand still higher prices, as a result of the prices paid in the country. We quote: Finest western, colored, 9¼ to 9½c.; finest western, white, 9 to 9½c.; finest eastern, colored, 9½ to 9¾c.; finest eastern, white, 8½ to 9c.; Liverpool cable, colored, 40s.

The butter market is fairly firm. For fresh made September creamery in boxes, 19½ to 20¼c. seems to be the outside, with most buyers unwilling to consider any quotation above 20c. Tubs from 19½ to 19¾c., and held boxes about the same. Dairy butter is quoted from 14 to 15c., as to size of lot and quality. We quote as follows: Extra finest creamery, boxes, 20 to 20¼c.; extra finest creamery, tubs, 19½ to 19¾c.; ordinary finest creamery, boxes, 19 to 19¼c.; ordinary finest creamery, tubs, 18½ to 18¾c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The firm tendency in dried fruits of all sorts is fully maintained.

The first arrivals of new Jamaica oranges came to hand this week, and have been selling freely.

Canners report that they are not in a position to quote either corn or tomatoes, as existing contracts will take all the have on hand.

Cheese has advanced 1c. per pound for business in an export way, while creamery butter is ¾ to 1c. higher than last week.

the city. Upward of 50,000 paid admission during the ten days the show was open, the largest number for some years. One day there were upward of 13,000 present. The weather was all that could be expected, although on one day the rain in the evening very much affected the attendance. In markets, the advance in salmon and cheese are the features of the week.

OIL—There is nothing new of particular interest. Prices at some Nova Scotia points have been shaded owing to competition from a grade of burning oil offered from Boston. Boston is an active competitor at a number of Nova Scotia points in almost all lines owing to very low water freights, and the fact that much produce from there finds its way to that city. This was but a local matter, and the effect even at these places is not likely to be permanent. In local market, prices hold as quoted for some weeks.

SALT—A cargo of coarse arrived by sailer this week, containing some seven thousand bags, and found ready sale. It was in splendid shape. Another cargo is about due. This is an active season, and stocks are light. Prices are firmly held, particularly for best stock. In fine salt, there is the regular steady sale at even prices. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—The advance in salmon was quite a surprise, as our dealers are always bears. The local market is quite well supplied, largely with goods carried over. The fact that packers have withheld prices has affected the sale. Some cohoes have been placed, and the advance will lead to larger sales of this class of goods. Corn is the highest line in vegetables, and, by some western packers, is quoted at the same price as tomatoes. Our market will be quite largely supplied with New Brunswick corn. Lobsters move a little more freely, but there is little change in price. Oysters are firmer. Haddies, bloaters and sardines, continue to move west at good figures.

GREEN FRUIT—Plums from Nova Scotia are the active line. Quite good prices were obtained the first of the week, but large arrivals later caused a falling off in price. Apples arrive freely, and Gravensteins are particularly fine, but the price rules low. In winter apples, the report is that the quality is extra, and speculators are rapidly buying it up at from $2 to $2.50 at the orchard. At this season many apples that are worthless are sent to market. Another line of Nova Scotia fruit freely received is pears. These come in half-barrels, and are chiefly Clapps' favorite and Bartletts. California pears are getting scarce. American Bartletts, in barrels, are firmly held. Canadian peaches are out of the market; in fact, few were received. The chief supply of the week was from Michigan. Some Californias are still offered. Canadian grapes have a large sale, and are low. But few Malagas and Californian are sold. Bananas move freely. In lemons, price is high and stock light. A few California oranges continue to sell. Sweet potatoes have but light sale.

DRIED FRUIT—The arrival of new Valencias is the feature of week. Being first shipments, they cost rather higher than later arrivals will, while holders get a little better profit. Very low prices from New York have been received, but not as low as some of our dealers here bought. California raisins, owing to price, have not been as freely bought as they otherwise would have been, but a number of cars have been placed. Though the California layers cost about the same this year as Malagas, the latter seem to take the market. California fruit will advance  $\frac{1}{4}$  next week. Currants rule high. Dates and prunes are hardly a feature as yet. In onions, the Montreal steamer brought quite a stock this week, and the local market is rather lower. Western shippers are firm.

SUGARS—There is an increased firmness in prices, but little change; nor are buyers taking hold particularly freely, though arrivals are of necessity quite large at this season, owing to fall business.

MOLASSES—While there is increased strength shown in this line, the price moves up slowly. Stocks are not large, and an advance in the near future is expected. The low price at which Barbadoes continues to be offered affects the market.

PRODUCE—Cheese is firmer, though the advance west has but slightly touched our trade. Our cheese is not marketed in a way to respond quickly to higher values, but it feels the effect of the opposite condition more quickly than elsewhere. Our factories hold quite large stocks, chiefly July and August makes. In butter we are also behind western figures, largely owing to the large quantity of poor butter offered. A turn in the tide is, however, noticed. In eggs, for best stock prices are firmer, but there is little change.

FISH—This is quite an active line. Pickled herring show a good demand, but the supply is light, and no cheap fish are offered. Dry cod hold their price, but the tendency points to rather lower values. Pollock show no change; season is rather early. Hake and haddock are firmly held. Smoked fish are easier, with quite a free sale. In alewives the market is getting quite cleaned up, while prices have ruled better than last year. Owing to the light catch, little money was made. Boneless fish have an active demand at firm figures. The sale is all to the west. Pickled shad have but fair demand. We quote: Large cod, \$3.50 to \$3.60; medium, \$3.40 to \$3.50; pollock, \$1.35 to \$1.40; Grand Manan pickled herring, \$1.60 to \$1.70  $\frac{1}{2}$ -bbl.; old smoked herring, 6 to 7c. per box; Canso, pickled \$5 per bbl.; boneless fish,  $3\frac{1}{2}$  to 5c.; cod, 7 to  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c.; finnan haddies,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to 5c.; rippling herring, \$1.90 to \$2; wolves do., \$2.25 to \$2.50; new smoked herring, 7 to 8c.; spring shad, \$4  $\frac{1}{2}$ -bbl.; fall do., \$5  $\frac{1}{2}$ -bbl.; alewives, \$3 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—There is little change in local values, but there is rather an improved demand. For heavy pork, the Canadian product is not a favorite here. It is not usually clear. In mess pork, local packed is used. American beef still has the large sale. The continued dullness in the lumber market points to a quiet season. In lard, there is a fair sale with quite a range in packers' prices.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—The flour market is still a falling one, although a few millers try to hold values up. Dealers buy lightly as they have little confidence. The demand is still for Ontario grades, though Manitoba millers say they are getting better prices for export than they get for the flour they ship to this market. Oatmeal and oats hold their own with rather increased sale. Cornmeal is again lower and continues to move freely. Barley and split peas are high and the price affects the sale. Dealers buy small quantities to come in mixed cars. Beans are dull for this season. Hay shows no improvement. Feed is high and scarce, with the demand fair.

We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, \$4.90 to \$5.00; best Ontario, \$4.00 to \$4.25; medium, \$3.75 to \$4.85; oatmeal, \$3.75 to \$3.80; cornmeal, \$2.00; middlings, \$2.00 to \$2.10; bran, \$1.70 to \$1.80; oats, 38 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, \$1 to \$1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, \$1.75; split peas, \$3.85 to \$3.90; round, \$3.25 to \$3.40; pot barley, \$3.80 to \$3.85; hay, \$8. to \$9; timothy seed, American, \$1.75 to \$2.15; do., Canadian, \$2 to \$2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c.; alsike,  $7\frac{3}{4}$  to  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Some turbot were offered for sale here this week. This is a fish we seldom see.

Samples of New Brunswick flour shown at the late Exhibition gave every satisfaction.

Speculators are busy buying winter fruit in the Annapolis Valley. It is said $2 is the price paid.

C. & E. Macmichael have this week added Baratara canned shrimps, and figs in heavy syrup to their regular grocery stock.

A plebiscite taken in Fredericton has resulted in the granting of a bonus of $10,000 and tax and water exemption to the shoe factory about to be established there.

Joseph Burgess, Pownal, was the fortunate one to win the gold medal given by the Windsor Salt Co. for the cheese taking the highest prize salted with Windsor salt.

The proceeds of the grocers' picnic were handed over to the Horticultural Association this week, the amount to go to the park fund. The proceeds amounted to $170.

The $25 in gold offered by R. & J. Ransford to the exhibitor whose butter scored the highest, provided it was salted with Coleman's salt, was won by E. B. Elderkin & Sons, Amherst.

One of the largest plum orchards in Nova Scotia is owned by Mrs. Andrew Johnson, Wolfville. This year she expects to ship 2,000 boxes. A paper read by her before the Fruit Growers Association this year was much appreciated.

One branch of business was very active this week, it being the occasion of the annual millinery openings of our large wholesale dealers. There was a large attendance from different parts of the Provinces.

Few were as fortunate as regards prizes at the late Exhibition as John Sealey, who, for dried, canned, boneless and pickled fish, took 23 first prizes, amounting to $88, and a diploma for the best exhibit of packed fish suitable for the West Indian and South American markets.

LARGE ORDER FOR WHISKEY VATS

Probably the most extensive order for vats ever given in the Scotch whiskey trade has recently been placed by Messrs. Pattisons, Limited, with a celebrated Leith firm of vat builders. The vats referred to are now being constructed in Messrs. Pattisons' bond and duty paid warehouse at Bonnington, Leith, and will comprise one of 14,000 gallons, two of 10,000, two of 4,500, fourteen of 1,000, three of 2,500, two of 500, and twelve of 120 gallons.

The vats throughout are to be of the very best well-seasoned English oak hooped with steel; and, for what can be seen of the work in its present stage, they will be a beautiful example of the vat builders' ancient craft.

The total additional vatting capacity available for blending and bottling purposes will thus be nearly 67,000 gallons, and will enable Messrs. Pattisons to cope with greater facility with their enormous output, which increases month by month.

It is interesting to note that the firm in question have owned, for some years, one of the largest—if not the largest—blending vat in the Queendom, the capacity of which is 14,000 gallons, and they are now tying their own record.

FIRE IN A SCALE FACTORY.

The scale factory of John Chatillon & Sons, Cliff street, New York, was badly damaged by fire on Friday last. The fire originated in the basement, burning through the first and second floors, only the upper storeys being fireproof.

The offices and salesrooms were completely gutted, and a valuable stock of scales and balances destroyed.

Six years ago, this firm suffered a much more disastrous fire than the present one.

Temporary offices are secured opposite, and work goes on in the factory on the third and fourth floors.

"OWNING" RETAILERS.

WHEN the cash system is broached the wiseacres who claim to know, assert that it will never come to pass, or at least until the jobbers get to be more careful about granting credit, because so many retailers are carried by the jobbers that they could not pull away to the extent of selling for cash, and, of course, buying for cash, also.

Few people have any idea of the extremely extensive credit which jobbers are nowadays compelled to grant. Lots of jobbers are virtually supporting retailers to-day, and this is a bad thing for both. It is bad for the jobber because it is expensive, and it is bad for the retailer, because it often renders him unable to buy goods of anybody but the jobber he owes. And this is apt to mean higher prices, as it should. Jobbers can't afford to carry accounts for three or four months for nothing.

Last week there came under our notice a circumstance which shows to what extent this "ownership" of retailers by jobbers has gone. This instance is a little outside of the grocery business, but in the present mad race of competition in all lines, there is no knowing how soon it may become general.

A Philadelphia dealer in wines and liquors also operates a brewery, and has an interest in a cigar manufactory. Both the brewery and the cigar establishment, however, are operated under different names, although it is pretty generally known that the three are branches of one.

Competition seems to have made it necessary for this house to adopt tactics like these: The wine and liquor end of the concern assists a man who wishes to enter the retail business, either by giving him a line of credit, or by actually putting up so much cash for the securing of license or running expenses.

When the retailer is tied hard and fast to the wine and liquor end, he is solicited to buy his beer of the brewery end, and is made to understand at once that he is too much indebted to the wine and liquor end to refuse the favor of buying of the beer end, as he knows very well he has to do.

When he is well tied up with the beer end, which means two hooks in him instead of one, he is "approached" on cigars. If he demurs, he is again made to understand that, as the capital to run his business is practically being furnished him, he has no alternative but to do as requested. So he buys his wines and liquors, beer and cigars of one concern, which, needless to say, does not cut prices on anything furnished.

Retailers in this position are simply vassals of the jobber. They have no independence; they must buy every cent's worth of goods of the wholesalers who own them, and they must probably pay much higher prices than they could buy for if they were to go where they wished to and where prices were lowest.

Of course, there is something to be said on the other side. The jobber is perfectly justified in getting all he can out of a retailer whom he starts in business. He is furnishing the capital or the goods, and to him belongs at least a part of the profits.

Still, rather than engage in business in this fashion, the preferable way would seem to be to stay out.—Grocery World.

THE DIFFERENCE IN TEA.

The Russian consumer eschews tea manufactured by the processes in use on English plantations. In his eyes, machinery for rolling the leaf and artificial heat applied to wither it, are abominations. A great Moscow merchant remarked lately, that the difference between hand-made, sun-dried tea, and that resulting from rolling and withering machines, is the difference between a waltz played by Strauss's orchestra, and the same tune mangled by a barrel-organ!

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, have in stock this week their large importations of Crosse & Blackwell, Gray's and Corsican peels. They are making very close prices on round lots of these peels.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES INSPECTION.

The Guelph Board of Trade, some time ago, communicated with other boards throughout Canada asking co-operation in petitioning the Dominion Government to make the inspection of weights and measures free.

The matter has been taken up by the Kingston, Ont., board, which has communicated with the Guelph board, expressing willingness to co-operate with it in the matter.

The Ottawa, British Columbia, Vancouver, Victoria, St. John, N.B., and Toronto boards, have promised to take the subject into consideration.

The present system is as crude as it is unjust, and, if the Government can be persuaded to give it proper consideration, there ought to be no difficulty in devising an improvement therein.

AUER LIGHT vs VICTOR LIGHT.

A judgment of interest to many merchants was given by Judge Morgan, in Toronto, the other day, when he decided that the Victor light was an infringement on the Auer patent, and that merchants purchasing the Victor light were liable for the infringement.

John H. Collings and thirty other users of the Victor light were sued by the Auer company. The Collings case was taken as a test, and Judge Morgan gave judgment for the Auer company, assessing the damage at $2 per light.

A MUSKMELON MONOPOLY.

Canada muskmelons are said to be the finest in the world; and the best muskmelons in Canada are grown by one particular producer. He cannot supply the demands of his trade at $10 per dozen. One rich American has a standing order with him for a dozen of the melons to be delivered daily, throughout the season, at this price. A New York State horticulturist made the journey to Canada this summer on purpose to get one of these famous melons—for the seed. He offered $2, $3, $4, $5 for one in the markets of Montreal and Quebec. He could not get one for love or money. They very seldom get into the open market, he was told. Finally, he heard of a gardener in Toronto who was growing melons from the seed of one of the particular producer's product. He went to Toronto, secured one of the melons, and, next year, New York State will have a chance to show what it can do in the way of breaking up that Canadian monopoly.—Sun, New York.

David Inglis is about commencing business as general merchant in Flatlands, B.C.

TRADE CHAT.

THE representatives of the Montreal tobacco manufacturers, Goldstein Bros., who recently made a tour of the tobacco growing districts of Essex and Kent counties, Ont., are now seeking a bonus from Windsor or Chatham, pursuant to establishing a tobacco factory in either of those places. They desire to have their factory in operation by December 1.

An evaporator will be started in Woodstock capable of using 200 to 300 bushels per day.

Armstrong Bros., grocers, Edmonton, N.W.T., were burned out Thursday night, last week.

W. E. Colwell, grocer, Sand Point, Carleton, N.B., has left for New York. He was heavily in debt.

Samuel Sloan, grain dealer, Goderich, Ont., has placed a grain elevator, run by gasoline, in his warehouse.

McMillan & Hamilton, wholesale fruit dealers, Vancouver, have taken possession of their new three-storey warehouse.

John Wilson, general merchant, and H. W. Shenton, fruit and confectionery dealer, Springhill, N.S., have had acetylene gas placed in their stores.

The evaporator at Grimsby, Ont., is expected to be soon completed. As soon as possible, both a night gang and a day gang will be put on evaporating apples.

Condensed eggs are prepared in Passau, Bavaria. First the eggs are dried, then reduced to a fine powder, which is placed in air-tight cans. Thus a most nutritious food is compressed into the smallest possible space.

The tea store, recently opened at 206½ Dundas street, London, Ont., is given credit for being one of the neatest and most complete business houses in that city. A feature of it is a parlor where ladies may test the tea (free) at any time.

R. F. Bicknell, a large dealer in cattle and hogs in Napanee, Ont., is endeavoring to establish in that town a pork packing house with a capacity of killing 1,000 hogs each day and curing their meat, besides cattle for beef packing. Such an establishment, it is estimated, would cost from $60,000 to $75,000, and would give employment to from 40 to 60 men. A bonus will likely be asked from the town.

The horse and rig of D. L. Mackay, grocer, Windsor, Ont., were seized by the Canadian Customs authorities on Saturday last. He brought a load of good from Detroit, and neglected to declare two bushels of peaches. Mr. Mackay's horse and rig were released upon his making a deposit of $100. He will appeal to Ottawa, as he declares the peaches were bought by another grocer, and he did not know they were in the rig.

On Thursday morning, last week, fire was discovered in the warehouse of The Davidson & Hay, Limited, 36 Yonge street, by the employe who opened up the warehouse. As there had been no fire in the warehouse for some months, it is considered the fire was started by a firebug or by a tramp dropping a match or cigar carelessly about the premises.

It is expected that the new elevator at Goderich, Ont., will be ready for the reception of grain within the next two weeks. It will be four storeys high, and, with the addition, will be 154 by 103 feet. It will have a receiving capacity of 12,000 bushels per hour. A despatch from Chicago states that five large cargoes are awaiting the completion of this elevator, which is likely to be filled with grain before the close of navigation.

"PLAY" SAWING WOOD.

THE CANADIAN GROCER thinks there is an opening for a "good" young man in Rat Portage, basing its opinion upon the following advertisement:

WANTED—A young man to look after general store on Rainy River. Must be sober, honest, and a practical book-keeper. Will be expected to distribute and make up mail three times a week in the summer, and to conduct prayer meeting (Presbyterian) on Wednesday evenings. Apply by letter, inclosing references and stating wages expected, to A. L., News office, Rat Portage.

As the farmer said to his son: "There's nothing to do to-day, so you may go out and play awhile." "And what can I play?" "Sawing wood, of course."—New England Grocer.

A SOUND DOCTRINE.

I believe that most people like to do business in a businesslike way, and like to be talked to in a businesslike way in advertisements. I believe that a man who issues an advertisement of a desirable thing, is doing a favor to the man to whom he presents it. A man, who is trying to sell a really good thing—something that will be useful to buyers—need not take the position of supplicant, he need not ask attention as a favor—he may demand it as a right and he will get it.—Charles Austin Bates.

HOW DISHES GOT THEIR NAMES.

The sandwich is called for the Earl of Sandwich.

Mulligatawny is from an East India word meaning pepper water.

Waffle is from wafel, a word of Teutonic origin, meaning honeycomb.

Hominy is from auhuminea, the North American Indian word for parched corn.

Gooseberry fool is a corruption of gooseberry foule, milled or pressed gooseberries.

Forcemeat is a corruption of farcemeat, from the French farce, stuffing i. e. meat for stuffing.

Charlotte is a corruption of the old English word charlyt, which means a dish of custard, and charlotte russe is Russian charlotte.

Gumbo is simply okra soup, gumbo being the name by which okra is often known in the South.

Macaroni is taken from a derivation, which means "the blessed dead," in allusion to the ancient custom of eating it at feasts of the dead.—Grocers' Monthly Review.

It Sometimes Happens

COW

when you are very busy a customer comes in for 5 or 10c. worth of soda. Well, it takes as much time to weigh and dig out of the keg as it does to sell a dollar's worth of something else. When you have "Cow Brand Soda" in stock all of this unnecessary trouble is done away with. It is packed in all saleable size packages.

JOHN DWIGHT & CO., Manufacturers.

For sale by all wholesale Grocers in Canada.

The natural hesitancy of retail grocers to increase their stock of package teas by the addition of Monsoon <sup>Indo Ceylon</sup> Tea when it was first being introduced, has been overcome almost entirely, everywhere. Dealers have found out that Monsoon Tea HOLDS A CUSTOMER'S FAVOR LONGER than any other tea in the market, and that, once started, Monsoon is the readiest seller of them all.

Monsoon Tea will suit your best trade.

At the Toronto Industrial Exhibition, 1898, there were three classes for creamery butter. In each of these the first prize was awarded to the Ayton Creamery, owned by Isaac Wenger. The butter was salted with Coleman's Butter Salt.

The Fergus Creamery, operated by Aaron Wenger, received two second prizes. This creamery also used Coleman's Butter Salt.

Our special prize of $25.00 also goes to Mr. Isaac Wenger as the winner of the highest award for creamery butter in large packages.

It Pays to Use Coleman's Salt

Every creamery—every farmers' dairy—should have a supply. It costs little more than the cheapest, commonest salt. Dealers should make a point of having it in stock. Write us for quotations and samples.

Carload Lots

Assorted with any of the finer grades to suit customers, and with common salt in barrels and sacks. Our stocks are large and we ship it clean and dry.

of Japan Tea, accurately prepared, embodies all the delicious, soothing, and refreshing properties which the experience of centuries has proven to exist pre-eminently in this "Nectar of the East."

Above all others, grade for grade and price for price, Japan Tea is noted for its distinctly marked superiority of flavor and aroma.

JAPAN TEA

possesses these characteristics, not only as the result of the natural advantages of Japanese soil and climate, but equally so, perhaps, because of the clean and careful methods by which it is uniformly prepared for market.

The recognition of these sterling qualities has led to largely increased consumption. Already two-thirds of all the tea used in America is grown in Japan.

How to Make Japan Tea. (Official Recipe).

FIRST : Use a small, dry and thoroughly clean porcelain or porcelain-lined teapot.

SECOND : Put in one teaspoonful of tea-leaves for each cup of tea desired.

THIRD : Pour on the required quantity of freshly-boiled water, and let it stand from two to three minutes with closed lid. Never boil the leaves. Tea-leaves should be kept in tight can or jar, free from moisture.

THE TEA STANDARD QUESTION.

HOW IT IS VIEWED IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

THE following is a further contribution of opinions of the importing trade in regard to the question of tea standards. The opinions in this issue are confined to importers in New Brunswick :

A WORD FOR THE BRITISH SYSTEM.

Geo. S. de Forest & Sons, 9 and 10 South wharf, St. John : " In the matter of tea, we are decidedly in favor of having a practical man to test all importations, and reject only what are unwholesome. This is the law in Great Britain, and works satisfactorily there. In our opinion, it is preferable to fixed standards."

PURITY OF TEAS IN ENGLAND.

Theodore H. Estabrooks, St. John, said : " I am opposed to the use of standards as a system of inspecting tea, as no competent judge requires a standard to determine if a tea is fit for consumption ; and, with a standard, the leaf is sure to receive some consideration, while the liquor alone should decide whether a tea is accepted or rejected.

" The question of tea inspection has, I think, received very much more attention than it deserves, if the quality of the whole imports of the Dominion are on a parity with the imports of the Maritime Provinces, for not one-tenth of one per cent. of the tea imported here for several years past was unfit for consumption.

" Since India and Ceylon have become such large tea-producing countries, all grades have declined to such a low price that there is no inducement for tea-growers or shippers to use any adulterants. No adulterant is as cheap as the tea itself. So true is this the case, that tea-growers are finding it unprofitable to pick the commoner sorts, as, in many instances, they have lost the tea entirely, the price obtained not covering the cost of packing and shipping. So, I think, only the simplest possible method of inspection is required. Why not follow the system used in Great Britain ? It is simple and thoroughly effective, inasmuch as it is satisfactory to the importers and protects the public health. The latter fact is proven by a statement of the food inspectors there, which appeared in The London Grocer a few months ago. They said that of all the samples collected from the retail stores, not one had been found which was adulterated, and that tea was one of the few articles of food which reached the consumer absolutely pure."

THE CUP TEST SUFFICIENT.

W. R. Miles, who represents, in St. John, Peek Bros. & Winch, said : " It seems unfortunate that the idea which the Government had in enforcing the measure for the inspection of teas at the ports of entry, viz., the protection of the consumer, is being obscured by the views of some members of the trade, who wish to adopt the United States method of high standards. I am still of the same opinion that I expressed at Ottawa in June before the Commissioner of Customs, viz., that I am opposed to standards, and believe that the proper way is a cup test by a competent tea man.

" The difficulty of the analysis, now suspended, was that it called for too high a test, and excluded a quantity of tea which was clean and sweet. It was the uncertainty brought about by it that caused a majority of the trade in Montreal, Ottawa, and Hamilton, to petition the Government to substitute United States standards. Any New York jobber will tell you that that system is worked by no means without friction. The view of some, that high standards would increase the profit, I cannot agree with, as I believe that the consumption would be largely curtailed, far counterbalancing any increase in profits. Very little unwholesome tea is, I think, imported; in these Provinces the parcels per year could be counted on the fingers of one hand. The mechanical methods of manufacture now being adapted preclude the possibility of any tea being unfit for food. I know, from personal experience, that the inspection in use in the United Kingdom is carried on without any friction between the importer and Customs authorities."

NO NEED OF AN INSPECTION LAW.

George E. Mills, of MacKenzie & Mills, St. John, said to your correspondent : " I cannot see the advantage of an inspection law at present. In this part of the country, at least, no really worthless tea is brought in for the best of reasons, dealers could not sell it if they had it.

" If the Government were about to impose a duty on tea, I could then see the wisdom of a board of inspection. I have no objection to inspection if it could be managed without delay, but I do not see how that is possible. It would be too expensive to have an examining board here, and the delay in sending to Ottawa would be very hard on merchants here. Besides, I doubt if even at Ottawa they are at all likely to get a man who is sufficiently expert to do justice to the inspection. Tea experts are very expensive men. I have no objection to inspection as inspection, but it does seem to me that the advantage to be gained is very small, compared to the outlay of money by the Government and the loss of time to importers."

ADMIT ALL SOUND TEAS.

A. F. Randolph & Sons, Fredericton, N.B. : " With respect to the question of tea standards, to regulate the importation of teas, we believe that the tea business, as well as every other business, should be left as free as possible, from Government interference. There are more or less hindrances and difficulties in all business, of an unavoidable nature, and the aim should be to simplify transactions, not to handicap them.

"We are, therefore, strongly opposed to standards being adopted to regulate the importation of teas, because we believe the system would cause a great deal of trouble and possible hardship to the importer, while it would not, in our opinion, accomplish the object intended in creating standards. We think all that is necessary is to exclude adulterated and unsound teas, admitting all teas if sound."

GROCERY CLERKS ENTERTAIN.

On September 28, the members of the Montreal Retail Grocery Clerks' Association held their fifth annual reception in the concert hall of the Monument National.

The evening's entertainment consisted of a clever melodrama entitled "Empoisonneur," presented by a good amateur company. The performance was interesting, and the young men who took part in it showed considerable ability, especially J. A. Toujas, Filion and Desrosiers.

The association generously donated the receipts to the Hospice Auclait.

During the evening, Mon. Auclait eloquently expressed his appreciation of their charitable action. A large number of prominent citizens were present.

QUICK WORK.

On Sept. 1, Slade & Co., Glasgow, wrote their agents, C. E. Colson & Son, that they had shipped them one ton of their butter-scotch. The goods arrived on Sept. 23, and, on Sept. 27, they had all been sold and remittances mailed, showing a good margin above cost and charges. Colson & Son have ordered another ton of these goods, which will be along by first steamer.

TRADE CHAT.

THAYWOOD, grocer, Orillia, Ont., has improved his delivering facilities by placing a handsome new wagon on the town route.

R. A. Climie, grocer, Listowel, Ont., has placed in his store a set of computing scales.

D. A. Bradley, butcher, Brockville, Ont., has gone into the confectionery business in that city.

The Dominion Government has granted a sum of money to erect at Chicoutimi, Que., a large shed for the storage of butter and cheese.

Miss Oldgirl (timidly)—I want some powder, please.

Clerk (briskly)—Yes, mum; face, gun or insect.—Ex.

The store of H. Smythe, grocer, London, Ont., was entered by thieves last week, and $64 in cash stolen. The thieves entered by forcing the front door.

There is a movement on foot in Westwood, Ont., for the establishment of a creamery in connection with the cheese factory at that place.

One of the kilns of the Ingersoll evaporator, owned by O. E. Robinson & Co., was recently destroyed by fire. The loss was covered by insurance.

A thoroughly modern cold storage warehouse is to be erected in London, Ont., in the near future. Local capitalists have formed a company who will erect, in that city, a building and plant to cost about $50,000.

The private post card used by Lucas, Steele & Bristol, wholesale grocers, Hamilton, in advertising their "Circle" brand tea is unique and striking. From the upper left hand corner a large portion of the card is printed in bright red ink. In the centre of this stands a reproduction of a sample package of the "Circle" brand four bar tea. Above the package stands the simple statement, "It stands alone."

R. M. Ballantyne is fitting up a creamery in Stratford, Ont. It is expected to be in operation by November 1, and will be operated all year. Butter and pasteurized milk will be the principal products. Pasteurized milk is produced by a system whereby all disease germs in the milk are destroyed without altering the flavor or appearance of the milk or cream.

NEW STORE IN RIDGEVILLE.

Frank C. Williams, Waterford, Ont., has purchased the business of J. E. Klager, general merchant, Ridgeville, Ont. Mr. Williams is an experienced business man. He was employed for some time with F. Kingsman, Fonthill, and more recently with S. L. Squire, Waterford. He intends enlarging the capacity of the business he has acquired by adding a further stock of groceries, dry goods, hardware, boots and shoes, wall paper, patent medicines, stationery, etc. The store is at present being remodeled and repainted. When this is finished it will be opened out as Ridgeville's new store, with a new stock and a new proprietor.

THE CANADIAN GROCER wishes Mr. Williams success in his undertaking.

AN IMPROVED GROCERY STORE.

M. Derepentigny, Wellington street, Montreal, has been improving his store. He has had the interior painted and papered. The moulding, pillars and base-boards, are painted a bright red, while the drawers, for keeping spices, etc., in, are done in mahogany. The ceiling is finished in a pretty terra cotta paper with a dull silver circle in it. At night, when the store is lit up, it gives it a most brilliant appearance. Mr. Derepentigny's business has increased to such an extent, that he has been forced to enlarge his premises by adding a warehouse in the rear, about 18 x 20 feet.

MANITOBA WHEAT SITUATION.

F. W. THOMPSON, manager of the Ogilvie Milling Co., returned, recently, from a tour through the Provinces to inspect the wheat districts. Mr. Thompson, when interviewed by your correspondent, said: "I am very agreeably surprised at the yield and the quality of the wheat. The continued wet weather, during the first of September, alarmed us for the color of the wheat. But, now that it is being stacked, the color is coming back, and, as that is a large factor in the grading, it is my opinion we will ship more No. 1 hard this year than we shipped wheat of all grades last year.

"The yield will be about 38,000,000 bushels for the Province and Territories. The threshing-machines are giving us new surprises every day. It is often the fate of the Manitoba farmer to find his wheat threshing out less than he anticipated, but the reverse is the case this year. On the Portage Plains, the average will be 30 bushels to the acre. On the Western Mennonite reserve, the yield is running as high as 40 bushels to the acre. I can tell you it did me good to see how even the women and children of the reserve had turned out and were giving their aid in the stacking, so that every moment of the fine weather would be made to tell. In my opinion, it would sometimes be better for our farmers to get more help for their wives in the kitchen, and let the wives help with some of the lighter branches outside. It would keep them more in the open air and they would have a warmer interest in the getting in of the harvest in good shape. This will be a banner year for Manitoba. I don't think she ever had a finer crop.

"The oat crop, also, is abundant, and we will not need to import corn this year, as we did last. My company last year imported 500 cars of corn. So you can see what a saving a good oat crop means."

S. P. Clarke, of The Northern Elevator Co., was also seen. His views are practically the same as those of Mr. Thompson. He emphasized the fact that this year more stacking has been done than ever before.

T. Bready, of Bready, Love & Tryon, one of the most experienced grain men in Manitoba, said: "I placed the crop at 35,000,000 bushels some weeks ago, and I think now that it will go over 40,000,000." Asked as to the effect of the wet, Mr. Bready said that stacking was, in a great measure, restoring the color, but he was not so sanguine as to the grade going so high. He did not think the amount of No. 1 hard would exceed last year. Mr. Bready also pointed out the fact that the crop would move very slowly, the recent drop in prices determining the farmers to do so. "In my opinion, not one-quarter of the crop will move before the close of navigation," he concluded

THE TILLSON CO., LIMITED, BUSY.

The Tilsonburg correspondent of The St. Thomas Journal writes: "Never in the history of The Tillson Milling Co. has their business boomed as it is doing this fall. A visit to the mills reveals a busy hive of industry. A new track has been laid, and, with cars loaded with grain coming in, and, with the finished product, going out, the mills present the appearance of a busy freight station. The stave and heading mills and cooper shops are working to their fullest capacity. The flour, oatmeal and pea mills are working at high pressure every hour in the day, and they can hardly keep within sight of orders. The bulk of the trade is to the eastern Provinces, but orders are also coming in for export. A large gang of men are at work replacing the old timber flumes and wheel pits in the oatmeal and pea mill with iron flumes and pits. Everything indicates a booming business."

WHEN COFFEE IS ROASTED WITH SUGAR.

MESSRS. A. JUCKENACK and A. Hikger have recently studied the alterations which take place when coffee is roasted with the addition of 8 or 9 per cent. of sugar, as practised in Germany. The chief results of their experiments are as follows:

First.—Caffeine: In the ordinary process of roasting, coffee loses about 21 per cent. of its caffeine, and about twice that quantity when roasted with sugar, owing to the higher temperature which is required to caramelize the sugar so as to glaze the coffee.

Second.—Fat: From 9 to 10 per cent. is lost during the ordinary process of roasting, and about 20 per cent. in the glazing process. As a rule, the different constants of the fat show an increase on roasting by either method.

Third.—Organic matter: In the authors' experiments, the loss on the average amounted to 11.375 per cent. in the ordinary roasting, while in the glazing process it was about 10 per cent., allowance being made for the amount of caramel. This was determined by Stutzer's method. Twenty grams of the glazed beans were shaken in a machine for five minutes with 500 grams of water at 20 degrees C. The liquid was filtered, and the residue in 250 c. c. of the filtrate, after deducting the ash, was taken as caramel. In this way, on coffee glazed with 9 per cent. of sugar, as against 1.25 per cent. of sugar, there was found 1.40 per cent. of caramel, as against 1.25 per cent. on a sample of Java coffee glazed with 8 per cent. of sugar.—London Grocer.

A COLD WELCOME ADVISABLE.

The following, from The Barrie Gazette, is worthy of attention of merchants generally: "A traveling sign writer, a few days ago, called upon several merchants and showed them a plan of an advertising card, which was to be framed and hung in the post office. Being ignorant of the fact that ornaments of this class are not allowed in Government buildings, about twenty of them gave him an advertisement, which was to be executed according to sample, and paid him all the way from 40c. to $2 for such. The work is completed and hangs in Charley's restaurant. It is positively the worst piece of botchwork that man could execute. It is high time that merchants and tradesmen gave these traveling fakirs the marble heart."

PORK-PACKING AT GUELPH.

There is a movement on foot among the business men of Guelph, Ont., to have a pork-packing factory started in that city. Messrs. Wallace, St. Thomas, and McAdo Guelph, who have for some time been interested in this industry, were the originators of the scheme. They propose that a company be formed capitalized at $100,000, and that a factory be erected with capacity for handling 3,000 hogs per week. A loan of $30,000 is to be asked from the Guelph city council.

The Guelph Board of Trade has recommended that the loan be granted, and a committee has been appointed to select a provisional directorate, and make arrangements for a public meeting.

BUSINESS MEN AND THANKSGIVING DAY.

THE Dominion Government have decreed that Thursday, November 24, shall be set apart as Thanksgiving Day, and it is quite possible that Canadians, as in former years, will be compelled to do their worshipping and holidaying amid much rain and mud.

The Ottawa correspondent of The Globe says that "a desire was expressed by some military men that Thanksgiving Day should be towards the end of October, so as to allow the militia the benefit of autumn weather for their annual manoeuvres. The Government," adds the correspondent, "would willingly have complied with this suggestion but for the representations made by business men last year against the proclamation of a holiday any earlier in the season than was absolutely necessary."

THE CANADIAN GROCER is surprised that the Government did not comply with the wishes of the military men. The men who carry arms usually have more power with Federal Governments than the men who carry on business.

But, the plea that the business men did not want the holiday held "earlier in the season than was absolutely necessary," is a specious one.

Of course, they do not want it held any sooner than is necessary.

But, it is necessary that it be held earlier than the fourth week in November—one month before Christmas.

The unpropitious weather proves it, to say nothing of the opinions of the business men, expressed in the columns of this paper.

WEST INDIA REFINED SUGARS.

A RECENT cable stated that a part of the plan of the Imperial Government for the relief of the sugar industry of the West Indies is the erection of a sugar refinery in Antigua.

Antigua is one of the Leeward group of islands. It has a population of 37,000, and an area of 108 square miles. Sugar and pineapples are its chief products.

It was represented at the recent conference of the West India sugar-producing colonies, held at Bridgetown, Barbadoes, when a resolution was adopted which, while recognizing the efforts of the Right Honorable the Secretary of the Colonies to afford relief to the West Indian colonies suffering from the serious depression of the sugar industry, regretted "that so far the attempts to arrange reciprocal relations between the United States and the West Indies, as well as to obtain the abolition of the bounty system, have met with no success."

At this same conference, a resolution was adopted as regards Barbadoes and Antigua, expressing approval of the decision of the Colonial Office to erect refineries on those islands, the opinion being that these refineries would "tend toward the more profitable production of sugar."

At present, no refined sugars are made in any of the West India islands.

The erection in the West Indies of factories for refining sugar is of much interest to Canada. Under the preferential tariff of the Dominion, sugars from these refineries will be admitted at a reduction of 25 per cent. of the duty. This would probably not be to the liking of Canadian refiners.

When the proposed refineries in the West Indies are in operation, we may, naturally, expect to see them competing for the Canadian market; but, with what result remains to be seen.

RAISINS AND CURRANTS LOWER FOR FUTURES.

CABLE advices from Denia to Montreal commission men quote a decline of 6d. to 1s. for fair to choice Valencia raisins.

This decline is due to the fact that freight space on the second steamer is obtainable at a lower rate.

This boat, the Bellona, is expected to sail from Denia about October 7, and she is expected to arrive in Montreal about November 15.

The first steamer, the Escalona, passed Gibraltar last week, and should be in Montreal about the middle of the present month.

A comparison of the quotations on the fruit she carries and those ex Bellona demonstrates that the later shipments will be much cheaper. The figures in detail are:

|                       | Ex 1st Steamer.  | Ex 2nd Steamer.  |
|-----------------------|------------------|------------------|
| Common off-stalk..... | 13s. to 14s.     | 12s. to 13s.     |
| Fine off-stalk.....   | 15s. to 15s. 6d. | 14s. to 14s. 6d. |
| Selected ..           | 19s. to 19s. 6d. | 18s. to 18s. 6d. |
| Layers.....           | 21s. to 21s. 6d. | 20s. to 21s.     |

These figures show that the second shipments are fully 1s. cheaper, and, since they have been quoted, the demand has been quite active, a number of large contracts having been closed for the second boat at the figures quoted above. Spot values to arrive are not yet altered from those quoted last week.

In currants, also, the quotations ex Bellona are more in the buyers' favor than on lots by the Escalona. The appended table makes this clear:

|                  | Ex Escalona.         | Ex Bellona.          |
|------------------|----------------------|----------------------|
| Provincials..... | 12s. 9d. to 13s. 9d. | 12s. 9d. to 13s. 3d. |
| Filiatras .....  | 13s. 3d. to 14s. 3d. | 13s. 3d. to 13s. 9d. |

Business has been quite active for importation at the new terms in currants, also, and spot quotations to arrive have been modified very materially this week on our prices current published elsewhere.

MALAGA RAISINS ADVANCE.

It is not unlikely that Canadians will have to pay slightly higher prices for their Malaga raisins than other people.

A cable received in Toronto this week states that prices have advanced 1s. 6d. per box.

As the shipments for Canada are not made until the middle of October, buyers in this country will have to pay this advance.

THE PRICE OF AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

THE present year, despite the fact that wheat is, and cheese has been, lower in price than during the two previous years, must not be classed as a lean year in Canada.

In fact, the production generally, and the prices now ruling, compel the admission, that, on the whole, the producing class, the farmer, should reap a greater harvest than usual from this season's operations.

The most important product of the farm is, undoubtedly, wheat. This year, the crop of this grain has been so great that the loss through low prices is largely made up by the increased quantity to be disposed of. During the past three years the price paid for wheat in Toronto, in October, ranged from 64 to 85c., averaging 75c. This year, 65c. is the market price. Coarser grains, for instance, peas and oats, have, on the other hand, ruled higher this year. Peas are worth 7 to 9c. more than last year, and 7 to 11c. more than the year before. Oats are worth 5c. more than last year, and 6c. more than in 1896. The crop of both these grains, as, indeed, all grains, has been up to the average.

Cheese is another big asset to the Canadian farmer. Last year, such a large quantity of this food was produced in, and exported from, Canada that, at the opening of this season, a large amount was left on the hands of dealers in Great Britain. The natural result of this was that the market for this season's make has been weak and unsteady, as compared with the two previous years. Within the last month, a firmer tone has been evidenced, and the price has recently advanced, until now it is locally within ½c. of previous high figures. Whether the consuming market, Great Britain, will advance to meet this rise is yet to be decided.

The exports of cheese from Montreal this season have been 1,177,095 boxes, against 1,403,962 boxes for the corresponding period last year, which shows a decrease of 226,867 boxes. It is interesting to note that, during the same period, shipments from New York fell from 450,141 boxes to 216,527, a decrease of 233,614 boxes, nearly 52 per cent.

The production of creamery butter is generally considered to be greater than in former years. As in the case of cheese, however, the export of butter from Montreal this year shows a decrease of 13,575 packages, or about 8 per cent., the figures being 161,853 packages last year, and 148,278 this year. During the same period, the shipments from New York fell from 164,013 packages to 38,624 packages, a decrease of 125,389 packages or 76 per cent. The small decrease from Montreal has been more than made up by increased consumption in Canada, and, as the price of butter has ruled about 1c. more than the average during the past three years, butter-making has been more than usually profitable this year.

The crop of potatoes this year has not been as large as usual, but the price is such that little complaint is likely to be heard. The price for car lots is now 60c., as compared with 50c. last year, 35c. in 1897, and 25c. in 1896.

While the crop of honey is estimated to be the greatest ever produced, a good outside enquiry has kept prices so firm that they are now ½ to 1c. more than the average of the last three years.

The production of eggs in Canada and the export from are greater than in either of the two previous years, though how much greater is difficult to estimate. The price has averaged throughout the season ½ to 1c. per doz. more than the average of the three preceding years.

Possibly, among the various industries in which the farmer is interested, the greatest development manifested has been in the pork-packing industry. Old factories have been enlarged or new ones built in nearly a dozen cities and towns throughout Ontario.

The demand in Great Britain for Canadian bacon is steadily growing, so that there is every prospect that the increased production of these factories, during the coming winter, will be readily absorbed. From the prices now ruling for long clear bacon and breakfast bacon, it is seen that, during the present year, the price has been fully up to the average.

All products being considered, there is no question but that the year 1898 has been satisfactory to the agriculturist, or the producing classes; and, as Canada is an agricultural or producing country, the effect of this happy state of affairs cannot fail to result in impetus to business and national life generally.

The following table will give a good insight into the relative value of farm products this year :

|                                      | Oct. 10,1895.Cents. | Oct. 9,1896.Cents. | Oct. 8,1897.Cents. | Oct. 7,1898.Cents. |

FIGS 25c. PER POUND.

THERE has been a still further appreciation in the price of Eleme figs, with the result that good quality fruit laid down in Canada to-day, would cost about 25c. per lb., which is, of course, a prohibitive figure.

It is the opinion among some that the extraordinary high cost of Eleme figs will prevent their being purchased, and that, in consequence, there will be shipments consigned to this country, later on, which will be sold at prices lower than those now ruling. This, however, remains to be seen.

Comadra figs have sold pretty freely on this market, this season, for importation, and they are likely to appreciate in value when they arrive on the spot, as offerings from the country of growth have stopped.

WILL MOLASSES ADVANCE ?

The intelligence of disastrous hurricanes in the West Indies has had the effect of imparting a firmer tone to the Barbadoes molasses market, which, already, was quite stiff.

In fact, if advices are reliable, the cane plantations have suffered severely, and the prediction is made quite confidently that there will be a short crop of molasses next season in these islands.

Buyers, accordingly, show more anxiety about purchasing, and, naturally, holders are not urging sales. In fact, bids of 28 to 28 ½c. have already been refused by some holders in Montreal, who now believe that their property is worth more money, and that they will get it as soon as the consumptive demand sets in in earnest, which it will do in the course of a week or so now.

A FALLING OFF IN FAILURES AND LIABILITIES.

A LIST of the failures in Canada during the nine months of the present year has just been issued by Bradstreet's—and a most interesting and satisfactory report it is.

The total number of failures was 1,091, against 1,501 last year, a decrease of 27 per cent.

The liabilities decreased over three million dollars, the totals for the two years being $7,592,510 and $10,653,212 respectively. This is a decrease of nearly 30 per cent.

But not only is the report favorable in regard to the number of failures and to liabilities, it shows that the proportion of assets to liabilities was more in favor of the creditors than it was a year ago.

The assets for the nine months of 1898 were $3,271,772, but while they were $870,088 less than in 1897, yet their proportion to liabilities was 43.09 against 38.8 a year ago.

The decrease in the number of failures was shared in by all the Provinces, except New Brunswick, while British Columbia and New Brunswick were the only Provinces which did not show a decrease in liabilities.

The improved character of the remittances to the wholesale houses, to say nothing of the general activity of trade, was proof that the commercial interests of the country were getting into a healthier condition; and Bradstreet's list of failures places it beyond all peradventure.

But whether times be good or times be bad there will always be failures.

Men will persist in going into business without practical knowledge thereof, or without sufficient capital, or in ill-adapted localities. And upon these the bankruptcy list can always rely for a source of supply.

There will always be a certain number of failures from causes which are beyond the control of insolvents, but the great majority of them are from causes over which the insolvent could have had control.

Disaster and failure of others are the only causes of failure over which business men can be said to have no control; and these in 1897 contributed less than 9 per cent. to the total failures for the year. Lack of capital, incompetence, inexperience, unwise credits, extravagance, neglect, competition, speculation and fraud, were the other contributory causes.

WILL U. S. TEA DUTY REMAIN?

THE tea situation is absorbing the interest and attention of the wholesale grocery trade, mainly because of the strenuous efforts being made by eastern buyers, or, rather, a New York house, to "bear" the market. Considering the exact facts, as to the tea situation, the action is that of a house whose stocks have been exhausted, and must be replaced as cheaply as possible. All the usual and some extraordinary tactics have been resorted to as a means of bearing the market, even to the circularizing of Washington interests, as to the advisability of removing the duty on teas this winter. The only effect, however, is to interfere with the outlook. Among the best houses handling tea the duty is looked on as the strongest possible backing to the tea inspection Act, and one of the best safeguards of the trade, even if the Government did not need the revenue thus produced. The safeguard lies in the fact of the exclusion of vast quantities of low-grade trash, with which the country was flooded before the present tax became operative.

One of the claims made by the bear interest on teas is that the duty will be removed by Congress soon, because the war is over, and has not cost what was expected. Ordinary revenues are ample; therefore, an unpopular "breakfast table tax" will be the politician's talk. As a matter of fact, it is extremely improbable if the duty will be removed for several years; such, at least, is the promise by "business" men who lead Congress, and who claim the country's finances must be run on business principles.

The "bears" claim the Treasury now holds for $317,000,000 to $318,000,000, which is alleged to be an unnecessarily large reserve. As a matter of fact, the Treasury balance shows a large increase, but the receipts are largely from the bond issue. The bonds must also be paid for later. The receipts for new bonds have fallen off materially. High tide of the available cash is on the decrease.

Another fallacious claim of the "bear" jobbers is that business is quiet and that importers will be forced to sell to meet their foreign drafts coming due. As a matter of fact, importers' finances were never in better shape. They have almost absolutely no old stock; the same was all converted into money, and profits on the duty boom were large. The talk of small demand, and allegations that retailers are well stocked, are equally untrue. The demand has improved considerably, and is increasing. A great many teas must have been consumed in the last quarter-year, since the boom in June. It is a fact that jobbers' stocks, in almost every instance, are exhausted, and they must buy, or lose their tea business to the few jobbers who do carry stocks and cater to the wants of their customers. A slight buying will send up prices.

There is, also, little ground on which to base the claim, frequently made, that shipments are about as large as last year. Statistics show the crop in Japan is over 12 per cent. (55,000 half chests) short of last year, and last year's crop was a light one. At the beginning of this season Canada was bare of teas, and has taken more than her usual share. Pingsuey importations are less than one-half of last year, and less than one-quarter of the year 1896. Oolong importations are short 40 per cent. (90,000 half chests).—Tribune, Chicago, Sept. 27.

COHOE SALMON SITUATION.

Very little information is coming to hand, these days, from the Coast, in regard to coho salmon, but the little that is might well be termed bullish.

The coho run, it appears, like that of the sockeye, is light, and, as noted last week, 20c. per fish is being paid by the canneries.

Last week, the representative of one firm of canners sold 3,000 cases in Toronto and the west at $3.75 f.o.b. the Coast, but $4 is now asked, although no transactions, at the latter figure, are reported. A bid of $3.50 was made last week for 4,000 cases of cohoes, but it was not entertained.

TARRAGONA ALMONDS DEARER.

Since the bulk of the Canadian orders for Tarragona almonds were filled prices have advanced $1 per bag, or 1c. per lb.

A cable received in Toronto on Monday stated there was no chance of a decline.

The Canadian market is bare, and the wholesalers are now awaiting new stock.

FIVE-CENT PORK AND BEANS.

Something unique in the way of canned pork and beans in tomato sauce has been put upon the market by W. Clark, Montreal. It is in the shape of a neat tin, handsomely labeled, which can be retailed at 5c. Although on the market but a short time the sales are already large. As the article is not only salable, but yields the retailer a fair profit, the latter will, no doubt, be encouraged to push it for all he is worth.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Oct. 6, 1898.

GROCERIES.

A SLIGHT lull in trade is to be noticed, but the wholesalers are by no means idle, for, while a great deal of new business is not coming forward, they are kept busy shipping foreign dried fruit, canned goods and other lines for which orders were booked some time ago. The canned goods situation is much about the same as a week ago, except it be that canned coho salmon is held at higher prices on the Coast. The continued warm weather has caused a slightly easier feeling in regard to canned tomatoes, but it has had no effect whatever on prices. Wholesalers are experiencing a good healthy tea trade, but the brokers are not doing a great deal in this line at the moment. Indian and Ceylon teas are firm, with an upward tendency. All kinds of Mediterranean dried fruits are firm.

CANNED GOODS.

Advices from the Coast state that the run of coho salmon is still light. In consequence of this, there is a firmer feeling. There were, towards the latter part of last week, sales of good round lots of cohoes at $3.75 f.o.b. the Coast, but these same packers are now asking $4, although we do not hear of any transactions at those figures. One packer sold 3,000 cases in Toronto and the west at $3.75 last week, and we hear of a bid of $3.50 for 4,000 cases, which was refused. The idea for Lowe Inlet fish is $1.35 per dozen, and for Fraser river fish $1.40 to $1.50 are the ruling figures. On account of the continued warm weather, there is rather an easier feeling in regard to canned tomatoes, but this feeling has not, so far, resulted in any change in prices, and those who do talk of anticipated lower figures do not seem to expect them to materialize until the spring. The ruling quotation with wholesalers is still 85c. per dozen, but some, who do not desire to do any business just now in canned tomatoes, are quoting 90c. There is no sign yet of any easing off in the firmness of canned corn; 80 to 85c. is the ruling wholesale quotation, and we hear of the sale by one jobbing house of 500 cases at 85c. Peas are quoted at from 70c. upward. It is now generally conceded that the pack of peas is larger than was at first estimated. The feeling in regard to peaches is decidedly strong, and there is some demand for these on this account. The idea for 2's is $1.65, and for 3's $2.50 to $2.65.

COFFEES.

The coffee market is fairly firm. The American visible supply of Rio coffee is steadily decreasing, and it is said that importers are indifferent about making sales. The crop movement is only moderate. According to the latest advices, the sterling rate of exchange at Rio is  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. higher.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There does not appear to be any syrups offering on the Toronto market, but we hear of transactions on Western Ontario account in fair medium grades at full prices. The local market for molasses is quiet. In New Orleans, offerings were reported to be limited and prices firm.

SUGARS.

The market, generally speaking, is in a somewhat unsettled condition. In New York, since our last report, there has been a

*See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

decline of  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 5-16c. per lb., and, while this has not caused any changes to be made in Canadian quotations, yet there is naturally an easier feeling, and wholesalers are not inclined to purchase anything more than is necessary for their immediate requirements. Raws declined 1-16th in New York, but the market has remained rather steady since then, as it was expected that the decline in this particular would have been greater than it was. The Trust, it appears, is not prepared to buy raws at the present figure ruling, but the independent refiners have taken small quantities. The sugar market in London has ruled quiet and steady.

RICE.

Business is only of a moderate character, with prices ruling firm in the outside markets. A great deal of damage has been done to the rice crop in the South American States by the recent severe storms.

TEAS.

The Japan tea market now appears to be steady. There has been little business doing on the local market from first hands during the week. This business has been chiefly in medium teas at from 16 to 16 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. On account of the demand there is for teas of this grade, the value they show is not as good as that of either the low or the high grades. It may be interesting to note that a line of last season's Japan tea, which has been held in Toronto, was sold a few days ago at 16c. This is 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. above the cost price of this tea last year.

The Indian and Ceylon tea market in London rules firm, with an upward tendency. The teas arriving by mail in Toronto continue to show improved quality, and a fairly good business is being done for this time of the year.

Further shipments of new season's Young Hyson teas are arriving this week. The quality of some of these teas is said to be the finest received here for a great many years. The supply, however, promises to be again limited this year, while the demand is good.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—The market is steady as to price, and a little business is being done for import. The direct steamer now due at Montreal has 905 tons gross on board. This is about 200 tons more than the first boat usually brings. The larger buying was induced by the very bare market in Canada, and the low price for fruit for importation. It is understood that about one-half the cargo was shipped by one house. Advices from Patras state that the crop has been damaged seriously by rain, and this accounts for the fact that there have been some offers at lower prices. Good sound fruit, the advices say, is scarce and firm. Local wholesalers are quoting fine Filiatras at 5 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 6c. in barrels, and 6 to 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. in half cases. Quotations for Patras range all the way from 5 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 7c. Amalias are quoted all the way from 5 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 6c.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The market is firm abroad, but there is less disposition on the part of wholesalers here to buy, owing to the fact that they are being sold by jobbers at little or nothing above the cost of importation. Off-stalk are being quoted on spot at 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c., fine off-stalk at 5 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 6c., and selected at 6 to 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. To arrive probably these figures could be shaded a-quarter of a cent.

MALAGA RAISINS—A cable received in Toronto this week states that the price of Malaga raisins has advanced 1s. 6d. per box, and, as shipments for Canada are not made until the middle of October, Canadian buyers will have to pay this advance.

SULTANA RAISINS—Prices are still very high. Average quality would now cost about 10c. per lb. to lay down, and there is not, at present, any prospect of quotations being any lower.

FIGS—The price of Eleme figs is still appreciating, and good fruit would now cost about 25c. per lb. to lay down. Comadra figs are being sold pretty freely, but, as shippers have stopped offering, the fruit is likely to appreciate in value after it arrives on the spot.

GREEN FRUITS.

The fruit market has shown signs of considerable activity during the past week. Grapes, pears, fall apples and sweet potatoes arrive in large quantities, and a good demand keeps the movement steady. Late Valencia oranges are offered, in limited quantities, at $4 per barrel. The demand is moderate. Verdilla lemons are about $1 per box cheaper than last week. Maoris continue steady at unchanged figures. There is a steady demand for bananas at unaltered prices. Sweet potatoes are plentiful and in good demand. A decline of 25c. is noted. Some Cape Cod cranberries are now coming forward at $7.50 per barrel, but, as yet, there is little demand. There are no more Crawford peaches offering, but later varieties are plentiful. They are selling at from 35c. to $1. Siberian crabapples are now selling freely on the market at $3 to $4 per barrel. Quinces are offered at 30 to 50c. per basket; egg plant, at 40 to 50c. per basket. Bartlett pears are done, but later varieties are selling well at $3.50 to $4 per barrel. Plums are about done, but are unchanged in value. Grapes continue to arrive freely at last week's quotations. Some poor qualities of tomatoes are offered at less than our quotations, but they still hold good for qualities fit for shipping.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The weather during the latter end of last week and the beginning of this week materially affected the market, a slight unsteadiness being manifested about the first of the week. It has, however, steadied considerably, and prices are perceptibly higher than last week. At country points 13c. is the ruling price for cases. Farmers' lots sell on the local market at 15 to 16c.

POTATOES—The feeling is rather weaker. Car lots have sold as low as 60c., but the general price is from 62 to 65c. From 65 to 70c. is paid off farmers' wagons.

HONEY—There seems a general strengthening in the tone of the market. Clover, in comb, is unchanged from last week. Extracted has advanced ½c. per lb. in 5 and 10-lb. tins, and is now quoted at from 6½ to 7½c., according to color and size of of package.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The indications point to a free movement of evaporated apples this season. The pack will, undoubtedly, be much larger than usual, but a good export demand is expected to keep the market from over-stocking. Prices are firm at 7c. f.o.b. at country points. The general jobbing price is 8 to 8½c. Dried apples are arriving freely and in good shape. The general jobbing price is 4½c.

BEANS—A good jobbing business is being done. From $1 to $1.10 is the ruling price for handpicked. Common beans are quoted at 90c.

VEGETABLES—The market is quiet, with no variation in prices from last week. We quote: Cauliflower, $1 to $1.25 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 40c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 20 to 40c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz; 50 to 60c.; parsley, 10 to 20c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 10 to 20c. per doz.; Canadian butter beans, 75c. to $1 per bushel; beets, 10c. per peck; carrots, 10c. per peck; onions, Danvers, 75c. to $1 per bag; green beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; vegetable marrow, 75c. to $1; butter squash, 75c. to $1; pumpkins, 50c. to 75c.; red cabbage, 40 to 60c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is a good, steady market for best grade dairy tubs, and receipts of this quality do not fully supply the demand. As a consequence, sales of second-class stock have been fairly active. Creamery prints are offered in such quantities that prices are easy though unchanged. Creamery tubs are in good demand at last week's figures. We quote at outside points: Dairy tubs, 14 to 14½c.; prints, 14 to 15c.; creamery prints, 18½ to 19c.; tubs and boxes, 17 to 18c.

CHEESE—The heavy advance noted last week has not yet been met in Great Britain.

The feeling here, however, continues steady, and prices are likely to remain firm. We quote locally at 8½ to 9c. for early makes; 9¼ to 9½c. for September makes.

PROVISIONS.

Business continues brisk, all lines showing a steady movement. Long clear has advanced ¼c. There is a brisk demand, and, as stocks are light, the feeling is firm. There is considerable difference of opinion as to the worth of barrel pork, especially short cut and clear shoulder mess. Some dealers quote an advance of 50c. over our prices, but in most cases supplies can be secured at these figures. Lard is steady. The surplus stocks are well cleared up, and the demand keeps about equal to the supply. A decline of 50c. is noted for dressed hogs.

FISH.

The receipts of fresh fish are decreasing. No black bass is coming in; whitefish and herring are scarce, and little steak trout is offered. Ciscoes have advanced 25c. Labrador herring have declined 50c. for barrels, and 25c. per half-barrel. We quote: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh whitefish, 6½c.; steak trout, 7c. lb.; fresh perch, 4c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½c. per lb.; boneless fish, 3¾c. per lb.; quail-on-toast, 5½c. per lb.; fresh-water herring, 60c. per basket; ciscoes, $1.25; haddies, 8c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 6c. per lb.; oysters, $1.35 to $1.40 per gallon.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

price, and that further decline is not probable. The street market is busy; wheat, peas, and oats are coming in freely. Barley is not offered in large quantities, as a panic seemed to manifest itself among the farmers last week previous to plebiscite day. On Wednesday, over 10,000 bushels of barley were received on the market. We quote as follows: Wheat, white, 66c.; red, 65c.; goose, 61 to 62c.; peas, 50 to 55c.; oats, new, 27 to 28c.; barley, 42 to 47c., rye, 45c. Old Manitoba No. 1 hard is steady at 90c., and the new grain at 80c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—Manitoba flour continues steady at unchanged figures. Ontario grades have declined 10 to 15c. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.40; Manitoba strong bakers', $4; Ontario patents, $3.90 to $4; straight roller, $3.15 to $3.25, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business continues brisk at last week's prices. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.60 in bags and $3.80 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Stocks are well cleared up, and as the demand continues good prices are steady. We now quote: No. 1, 8½c.; No. 2, 7½c.; No. 3, 6½c.; cured, 9¼c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Shearlings and lambskins have advanced 5c., and are now steady at 65c.

WOOL—There is little doing. A decline of 1c. is noted for fleece, which is now quoted at 15c. Unwashed wool is unchanged at 10c.

SEEDS.

The chief interest, during the past week, has centered in alsike. Receipts have not been heavy, and local competition, for what has arrived, has been so brisk that prices have advanced 25c., and export orders are scarce. We quote at $2.50 to $4.25. Occasional lots of red clover have been received. For these, from $3 to $3.50 has been paid. There is practically no timothy offering locally.

SALT.

Prices are unchanged. Business is good. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 54c.

MARKET NOTES.

Potatoes have declined 5c. per bag. Long clear bacon has advanced ¼c. Ontario flour has declined 10 to 15c. Alsike clover seed has advanced 25c.

Cream of tartar is cabled 2s. per cwt. dearer.

Cape Cod cranberries are on the market at $7.50 per bbl.

Refined sugar is lower in New York, but unchanged in Canada.

Eleme figs of average quality would now cost 25c. per lb. to lay down.

A cable to Watt & Scott quotes Malaga raisins 1s. 6d. per box dearer.

Shearlings and lambskins have advanced 5c. Fleece wool has declined 1c. per lb.

Ciscoe herring have advanced 25c.; Labrador herring have declined 50c. per bbl.

Packers are now asking as high as $4 per case f.o.b. the Coast for canned coho salmon, and there have been sales of good round lots at $3.75.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been a fair volume of trade in general groceries, the most interesting lines naturally being dried fruit and canned goods. In the former, cables note an easier feeling on Valencia raisins, but the fact has not yet affected spot prices, but shipments by the second steamer will cost less laid down than by the first boat. California raisins rule firm, and there is no change in the other sorts. Canned vegetables and salmon show a positive upward tendency, and much higher prices are predicted on them. Sugar, tea and the other staples rule much the same, with a fair volume of trade passing.

SUGAR.

There has been little change in the local sugar situation, prices being fairly well maintained, except in yellows, in some grades of which prices have been reduced a trifle. Demand is rather inactive at present. The raw market has ruled steady to firm, beet sugar for present month's delivery being quoted in London at 9s. 8¼d., while next month is held at 9s. 9d. Cane stock is steady, with but little doing. Java ruling at 12s. and fair refining at 10s. 7½d. Raws in New York did not record much change from last week, ruling dull and nominal; fair refining, 3¾c., and centrifugal, '96 test, 4¼c.

SYRUPS.

The market is bare of syrups, stocks being exhausted in jobbers' hands, while refiners are not offering any for delivery before the end of the current month. No quotations, therefore, are possible.

MOLASSES.

There has been little change in the molasses market as regards values, but prices are firmly held. Holders of round lots, in fact, are inclined to consider their Barbadoes very precious indeed, in view of reliable news of serious damage through the hurricane in all the West India Islands. No quotable change has been established, as the consumptive demand has not commenced in earnest yet, but holders of round lots are asking an advance of ½ to 1c. per gallon on what they named a fortnight ago.

CANNED GOODS.

Strength in tomatoes and corn continues to be the chief feature in this branch, and prices are firmly held as last quoted, in fact, 90c. has been refused, in some instances, for tomatoes, while 85c. represents holders' ideas on corn. Canned salmon are also scarce and firm on spot, and prices have scored an advance. Buyers have bid $5 per case freely for choice red fish brands laid down here, but holders are firm at $5.50.

RICE.

There has been a steady business in this material, and values are stiff. We quote: Standard B, $3.75 to $4; Indiana bright, $4 to $4.12½; Patnas, $4.75 to $5, and Japans, $5.50 to $5.75.

COFFEE.

There has been little change in this market, and business in invoice lots of unroasted has not been large, Maracaibo being the only goods moving, at a range of 10 to 13c., as to grade. Santos are offered at 8 to 10c., and Rio at the same range.

SPICES.

The market rules firm in all lines, with business of fair dimensions, especially in pepper.

TEAS.

There has been nothing new in tea since last week, and prices are firmly held on Japans, as a result of the strong advices from primary markets. Round lots of Japan stock have left first hands during the week at 16½ to 17c. for ordinary, and as high as 19c. for better grades, some 1,000 packages or so being turned over. In blacks, business has been transacted in Ceylons at ½ to 1d. per lb. in London, for delivery here, and enquiry has been quite brisk for low-grade gunpowders worth between 9½ and 10c.

DRIED FRUIT.

Valencia raisins have developed an easier feeling since last report, cables from Denia citing a decline of 6d. to 1s. for choice fruit. This is attributed to the lower rates of freight offered ex Bellona, the second steamer which will sail on October 7, and she is expected here by November 15. So far, the news has not affected spot quotations, a fair business being transacted at current prices.

California raisins are firmly held, and business in them is light for this season.

Currants, to arrive, are quoted rather easier on all grades, and demand has been fair.

California prunes have not exhibited any change, and business in both French and Austrian continues backward.

The first new figs arrived this week, and have met an active demand, 10-lb. boxes selling freely at 20c. per lb. Dates are not yet quotable. Evaporated California fruits rule very firm in tone.

NUTS.

Firmness continues the rule in these. Tarragona almonds are held 1c. firmer this week, at 11 to 12c., while Grenoble walnuts are offering at 11 to 12c. also. Sicily filberts are quoted at 8 to 8½c. and pecans 8 to 10c. Other descriptions are unchanged.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market has ruled fairly active, all the different auction sales being well attended and the offerings well cleaned up. Malaga lemons are offering this week at $12 per chest. Apples have a wider range at $1 to $3.25, according to grade. The only oranges available this week are California sorts, which sell at $3.50 to $4. Canadian and Californian fruits have sold well. The latter are unchanged, and the former also, with the exception of peaches, which are 25 to 50c. lower, at 50c. to $1 per basket.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was no change in the egg market. The demand from local buyers for strictly new laid was fair, and prices were fully maintained. We quote as follows: Strictly new laid at 17½ to 18c.; No. 1 candled, 14c.; No. 2 do., 12 to 13c.; P. E. I., 12 to 13c., and culls, 9c. per doz. Receipts, 872 cases.

BEANS—Beans were quiet and prices show no change. We quote: Choice hand-picked at 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—There was no improvement in the demand for honey, and prices were steady. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to 7½c.; dark, 5½ to 6½c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Business in maple product was dull. We quote: Syrup, in wood, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; in tins, 45 to 55c., according to size; sugar, 6 to 6¼c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

A fair trade was done in provisions, and the market, on the whole, was fairly active and without any new feature. We quote: Canadian pork, in bbls., $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8¼ to 8½c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10½c. to 13c.; and bacon, 10 to 13c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

A weak feeling developed in the grain market Monday, and prices generally show a sharp decline, which is due chiefly to the fact that deliveries of coarse grains at country points were heavy, and ocean freight rates for future shipment have advanced from 3 to 6d. all around. A feature of the trade is that notwithstanding the exceedingly light deliveries of wheat in Manitoba during the past few days on account of heavy rain almost throughout the country, prices for No. 1 hard have declined 2 to 3c. per bushel since last sale reported, the prices quoted to-day being on the basis of 66c. for No. 1 hard afloat Fort William, but no business was done at this figure as dealers were afraid to sell on account of the light receipts. Peas declined ½ to 1c. per bushel, and sales of 50,000 bushels were made at 61c. afloat. Oats ¼c. lower at 28¼c. afloat with a large business at this figure.

Although the demand for flour continues good, both from local and country buyers, the undertone to the market is easy, and prices for Manitoba grades were reduced 5 to 10c. per barrel Monday. A fairly active trade was done, including a sale of 1,000 sacks, made on Glasgow account. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.85 to $4.10; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $4.65 to $4.70; strong bakers', best, $4.35 to $4.40.

There continues to be a steady demand for feed, of which the offerings are not, large, and prices rule steady. We quote: Manitoba bran, $12; shorts, $14, and moullie, $16 per ton, including bags.

There was no material change in the meal market. The demand for small lots is fair and rolled oats are selling at $3.50 per barrel, and at $1.70 per bag. Carload lots can be bought at lower figures.

The hay market is dull and demoralized. We quote: No. 1 at $6.50; No. 2 at $5 to $5.50, and clover mixed at $4 to $4.50, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese is rather quiet at the moment, and buyers will certainly not concede the full prices demanded for September make. In fact, the demand runs more to August cheese, which are obtainable at a figure which permits a margin on current limits. But, as a matter of fact, the volume of new business is light, current daily trading being chiefly on account of contracts made some time ago. At the wharf Monday morning, 5,000 cheese were offered and sold at a range of 8¾ to 9¾c., the ruling price being 9c. We quote as follows: Finest western, colored, 9¾ to 9¾c.; finest eastern,

Butter rules rather inactive, buyers and sellers being apart as to prices. We quote: Extra finest creamery, boxes,  $19\frac{1}{2}$  to 20c.; extra finest creamery, tubs,  $19\frac{1}{4}$  to  $19\frac{1}{2}$ c.; ordinary finest creamery, boxes,  $18\frac{7}{8}$  to 19c.; ordinary finest creamery, tubs,  $18\frac{1}{2}$  to 19c.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 4, 1898.

THE week has been an active one, and the general feeling is good. Markets are such that, in most cases, wholesale dealers are making fair profits. The fact that the markets are strong has had the effect of checking the wholesaler in selling for future delivery, while the fact that no very low prices are being quoted on seasonable goods has tended to cause the retailer to buy in smaller quantities than is sometimes the case. Flour is more steady; prices would seem about bottom. In spice there is little change. Pepper, which has ruled low, has been caught in the tide, and is moving up. Cream of tartar is also quoted higher in primary markets.

OIL—Burning oil is one of the active lines, dealers being busy both filling orders previously taken and new business. Prices in the city for both American and Canadian grades have been somewhat shaded during the week by concessions of  $\frac{1}{4}$ c., but it is largely a local matter. There have been freer receipts of cod oil during the week, or, at least so called cod oil. Shippers used to be more careful of quality, if wishing best results. Market being quite bare, and a fair demand ruling, good prices have been obtained.

SALT—In Liverpool coarse salt, a further arrival of five thousand bags has somewhat eased the market, previous arrivals having largely met the present demand. Quite a quantity has been put in store. The fact, however, that no further arrivals are expected for some time prevents any fall in price. In this last cargo, there was also a small quantity of factory filled. In Canadian salt, there is a new house offering in this market, making three manufacturers now represented here. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—This line continues to be one of interest. Few new goods outside of teas are yet to hand. Those who have pushed sales almost regret it, as markets are very firm, some packers only filling 60 per cent. of their orders, while it is difficult to get orders, placed with other packers, confirmed. Corn is the highest line, though tomatoes are firm, and present outlook favors higher prices. String beans have been advanced. Salmon is firmly held at the advanced prices. Our market has but a fair stock. Peaches are also one of the lines the wholesale trade is interested in. Many packers are not quoting. Shrimps are finding quite a ready sale here. They are a new line, comparatively.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples are coming to the front, and a much more profitable business is expected than that for last year, when the high prices, early in the season, killed the demand. The quantity is not too large, particularly of winter fruit, so that prices are maintained and show a reasonable profit. Quality is good, which adds much to the satisfaction of handling them. New Brunswick stock is pretty well cleaned up, and market is supplied from Nova Scotia. The trashy stock is also about done. In Gravensteins, arrivals are particularly fine. Returns from first shipments of apples to England were satisfactory. Plums very plenty during the past week, and low prices ruled. There was, however, a good sale; season is now late. The sale of Canadian grapes is hardly as fast as last year, but a large quantity is handled. New Dominica oranges have but limited sale. Both native and Cape Cod cranberries are on the market. In keg grapes, little is doing. Pears are getting scarce. Some Ontario and Nova Scotia grades are still being received. Sweet potatoes are rather lower. In California fruits a few peaches and grapes are offered.

DRIED FRUIT—California raisins were one of the chief matters of interest in this line during the week. A number of merchants, who, because of the somewhat high opening price, and a thought that the association might not hold, or, at least, that there might be some fruit offered at lower prices by outside parties, found they would have to buy or pay the advance of one-eighth which the association will make early this month, were much surprised to find that packers would not, in many cases, confirm their orders, and it looks as if some would have to pay the advance. Valencias are arriving; quality good; quantity small, as yet. Prices will rule rather lower. New currants are daily expected; market is firm. California figs are offered; quality is the best yet shown here. New California prunes are also to hand; prices are rather higher than last year. There will be two grades of Coast pack seeded raisins here, besides some eastern packed goods. Onions, Canadian yellows, were freely received this week; prices are quite low, and little change expected. Evaporated apples, new fruit, begin to find some demand.

SUGAR—The market is still a firm one with good business reported, particularly in granulated, the second grade of which finds a large sale. There is very little being done in foreign sugars.

MOLASSES—The sale, particularly for Barbadoes molasses, has been quite active during the week, but the market shows little change. Values move up slowly. Stocks are light. If the present month shows a good demand, higher values will rule.

PRODUCE—In butter, while for good rather a higher price rules, the market is still overstocked with poor to fair; in fact, in dairy butter anything real good is hard to get. Cheese, in local market, has taken quite an advance, and it has caught the wholesale dealers with light stocks. Factories still have a good many on hand, and welcome the change; prices have ruled too low. This is now a most important industry in these Lower Provinces, as well as in the west. In eggs, business is dull and quality but fair. Demand this year, for some reason, is lighter than usual.

FISH—Dry fish are rather lower, and the sale hardly as active as a week ago, but prices are still quite high. Values of large and mediums are still about the same. Pollock, quiet at quotation. Slack salted fish find a good sale at full figures in Portland and Maine. Pickled herring is still high; arrivals are small. Rippling and wolves are still the best grades of new fish offered. Kipper herring and bloaters are more freely offered; prices are quite firm. Finnan haddies also move more freely. This is the active season for boneless fish, and large shipments, at fair prices, are being made. Canned fish, in herring, bloaters, haddies, sardines, etc., are also in active demand. As these goods become known they find much improved sale. Smoked herring is but fairly active. This market is too small for best results. Except in cod and haddock, little is being done in fresh fish. We quote: Large cod, dry, $3.50 to $3.60; mediums, $3.40 to $3.50; pollock, $1.35 to $1.40; Bay and Grand Manan herring, $1.60 to $1.65; rippings, $2; wolves, $2.25 to $2.50 per half-barrel; kippered herring, $1; bloaters, 60 to 75c.; new smoked herring, 7 to 8c.; old, 6 to 7c.

PROVISIONS—Prices rule higher, though there is but a light local demand. A large business in pork and beef is not expected. Local packers and curers are now active. They are getting some nice pigs. Lard still shows a range in price between packers, but there is little change in local market.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Prices show less change than for some time. It would seem flour had about reached bottom. There is a rather better demand noted for Manitobas, though Ontario grades still lead. Oatmeal is rather easier with improved sale.

Oats are quiet. Cornmeal is still low and moves freely. Feed has but limited movement, and is not freely offered. Hay is dull. Barley is high and firmly held. Local prices in particular, as old stocks are getting low, show higher value. Blue peas begin to have improved sale. Nice samples are shown. Beans are firmer, and outlook is for higher figures. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.90 to $5; best Ontario, $4 to $4.20; medium, $3.75 to $3.85; oatmeal, $3.70 to $3.80; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $20 to $21; bran, $17 to $18; oats, 38 to 40c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.65; hay, $8 to $9; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Wm. G. Colwell, Carleton, St. John, has assigned to J. B. M. Baxter; liabilities about $2,000.

Merritt Bros. & Co. have received the first new evaporated apples to come to this market. For new fruit the stock is particularly good.

The first car of American pickles to arrive here, at least for years, came in this week from Williams Bros. & Charbonneau, Detroit.

The first cargo of apples, from Nova Scotia to London, this season, realized splendid prices. It is said they will net the shipper from $4 to $4.50. The prospect for future is good.

C. H. Peters, of Baird & Peters, while in England, purchased three golden pheasants to present to the park. One of the hen birds died during the passage. The cock is a particularly handsome bird.

A large Customs seizure was made at Port Gilbert, Digby county, N.S., during the past week, the schooner Marie Delphine, from St. Pierre, Miquelon, being seized with a cargo of over $2,000 worth of liquor.

City retailers are being furnished free with moulds of jelly, made from "Pure Gold" jelly powder, to place on their counters, that consumers may both see and taste. The effect is already noticed in the demand for this class of goods.

The first steamer of the Beaver Line to make the regular direct trip from Charlottetown, P.E.I., to Liverpool, was the Lake Winnipeg. She took on board 5,000 boxes cheese, 500 boxes butter, 800 cases eggs, 100 head of cattle, 1,000 sheep, 100 tons of hay, and a large quantity of fruit, besides some smaller consignments.

The corn mill at Wolfville, N.S., is now running. From eighty to ninety barrels of meal per day are produced, but it is expected, when the machinery is adjusted more perfectly, that about 120 barrels per day will be produced.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 3, 1898.

THE continued wet weather of the past few days, which is general throughout the country, is having a damaging effect on wheat, both in stook and in stack, and considerably marring the prospect of our otherwise fine crop. Very little threshing has been done, and, as the farmers who have threshed are in almost every case holding for higher prices, scarcely any wheat is being actually sold. What little has been sold is from the eastern part of the Province. So far, nothing has been done in the western part or in the Territories. Only about one-third of the wheat threshed will grade No. 1 hard, and, if the wet continues, this proportion is likely to decrease rather than increase. Prices have been held far above export value, presumably on account of the scarcity of wheat, but, within the past few days, Ontario demand appears to be satisfied, and this is rapidly bringing prices in the country down to an export basis. All these things combine to make the farmers hold. The banks complain that money for wheat has not yet even begun to move out to country points.

Grocery business continues steady, but rather quiet. The volume of business is about the same as at this time last year. Owing to the slow movement of wheat there is not likely to be any great increase of activity for some little time. In produce, things are quiet and without much movement, though prices are well sustained.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—New evaporated apples have arrived and are selling at 9 to 9½c. New apricots are moving more freely. The price is high, at 15 to 15½c. per lb.

CANNED GOODS—Tomatoes, corn and peas are moving briskly; tomatoes, $2.10 to $2.25, according to brand, and corn and peas, $1.80 per case. Strawberries, $3 to $3.10; raspberries, $2.75; 3-lb. peaches, $5 to $5.25; 2-lb. do, $2.75 to $3.25. Canned meats are somewhat easier. Corned beef, $2.90 to $3; lunch tongue, $5.80 to $6; brawn, $2.75; pigs feet, $2.50. These are the lines of canned goods moving most freely at the present time.

DRIED FRUITS—New Valencia raisins are in. Early shipments are held at $2. per box. Later shipments $1.50 to $1.75, according to grade of fruit. Currants, new stock, have not arrived, and old stock are almost cleaned up.

TEAS—Japans continue to arrive, and the advance of fully 3c. per lb. on lower grades is still maintained.

COFFEE—No movement in this market. Rios (green) 8½ to 9½c.

FISH—There seems to be a shortage in Labrador herrings, and dealers here are experiencing difficulty in getting orders filled.

CEREALS—New rolled oats are quoted at $1.70 to $1.75. Millers complain that oats are not offering in sufficient quantities to keep their mills going at full capacity, and, they think that unless the supply increases rapidly that these figures will not be maintained.

EGGS—Eggs have advanced another cent per dozen and are now worth 16c. Winnipeg.

BUTTER—Is advancing slightly, owing, rather to the reluctance of creamery men to sell rather than any increase of values.

Sales were made this last week at 19½ to 20c. factories. Dairy butter 13 to 13½c.

CHEESE—Movement slow, 9c. for large, 9½c. for small.

GREEN FRUIT—Market well supplied. All later shipments of B.C. fruits are coming forward in good condition. Quinces are on the market, but the supply is short; price 75c. for 20 lb. basket. Ontario tomatoes, 50c. for 20 lb. basket; Ontario pears, 20 lb. basket, 50c.; 15 lb. basket 40c.; sickle or pickling pears, 35c.; grapes, Ont. Concords, 25c.; Niagara, 30c.; tokays, $2.50, and muscats, $2.50 per 20 lb. crate. Lemons, $7 per case; oranges $3.50 to $4, according to size and variety; apples, $2.75 to $3; snow apples, $3.50; Cape Cod cranberries, $8.50; sweet potatoes $5 per barrel.

AMONG THE RETAILERS.

Honey Displays.

The market reports state that there has been an unusual production of honey throughout Ontario this season, and that prices for comb honey will likely be about 2c. per section, and light color, in tins, about ½c. per lb. cheaper than last year. This being the case, it is reasonable to presume that a good demand can be created for honey by wise and energetic pushing. Michie & Co., Toronto, have in their window, this week, a display which may offer suggestions to any desiring to push the sale of this article. At the background of the window is built a wall of clover comb honey in sections. This wall is built with small square holes or windows in which are placed samples of clear clover honey in glasses. In the centre of the window a large stand has been constructed which gives an excellent display of the large variety of glasses in which the honey is put up. The make-up of this stand is simple. Four large glasses of equal size have been placed as pedestals on the top of which is placed a plate-glass shelf. Shelves such as this are placed one above the other, each one being slightly smaller than the one beneath it. On every part of the stand is arranged honey in large and small glass sealers, in glass tumblers, cups and jugs of all shapes and sizes. In front and to the side of this stand, strained honey in glasses and tins are arranged on the floor of the window. The effect of the whole display is to cause a desire to have some of this toothsome delicacy on the home table, and cannot fail to increase its sale. In cases where the demand cannot be as large as in this case, a smaller display would be just as effective if nicely arranged.

THE RAMBLER.

A PYRAMID OF POWDER.

The Snow Drift Baking Powder Company has again presented one of its unrivalled displays in Industrial Hall. This attractive exhibit is a demonstration of the power of little things, consisting, as it does, of a handsome pyramid, built up from box to apex, of boxes, cans, bottles and jugs, containing the various goods manufactured by this firm. The essence and extracts give a ruddy glow of color to the structure, and the spicy odors of cinnamon and clover, allspice and nutmeg, pepper and ginger, greet the nostrils from afar.

The world-famed "Snow Drift" baking powder naturally forms a major part of the exhibit. In other brands, the "Dominion" follows first, while the "Polar Star," "Empress," and "Crystal," are all standard makes in cheaper lines, having an immense sale and a reputation for unvarying excellence. Only last week the firm received an order for one and a half tons of "Snow Drift" powder for Cascade, B.C., which speaks loudly of the fame that has been gained by this particular brand. In mustard, there is sufficient to poultice all the pains of the populace, or, if so preferred, to season the sandwiches of the nation. The brands are the favorite "D.S.F." and the cheaper "Durham." One wonders why any importations in these lines should be found in our city, when we have so excellent a supply at our own door.

Coffee is another specialty that is largely handled by this firm, while birdseed and similar goods are also to be noticed in large quantities.

The exhibit is in charge of Mr. Roberts, of the company, who must find much gratification in the encomiums that are showered upon his artistic and elaborate display, by every passing visitor.—Brantford Expositor.

One of the largest apple shippers in Waterloo county, Ont., this year, is George Hasenpflug, of Waterloo. He has already shipped 1,500 barrels of eating apples, and expects, before the season is over, to increase this amount to 10,000 barrels. Besides this he will ship a similar amount, for evaporating purposes, to United States points.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

W H. GILLARD & CO. have now in stock Trenor's finest selected • Valencias, "Blue Eagle" brand, which are the finest quality, that firm state, they have seen for years. Also in store, fine Amalias currants, which show excellent value.

The Pure Gold Mfg. Co. is putting up a new fancy line of olives and capers.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are quoting C. & B. peels, in wood or tin boxes, to arrive.

Balfour & Co., Hamilton, are already receiving repeat orders for "Tartan" tea.

Quotations for Sultanas can be obtained now from Laporte, Martin & Cie, Montreal.

Dixon's "Carburet of Iron" stove polish is having a large sale with W. H. Gillard & Co.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have just received a shipment of Gray's orange and lemon peel.

The Pure Gold Mfg. Co. has been appointed agent for the Enterprise Coffee Mills.

Perkins, Ince & Co. have received into stock a shipment of "Cucuta" Maracaibo coffee.

Crushed Java coffee, in 10 and 25-lb. tins, is being offered by H. P. Eckardt & Co.

Warren Bros. & Co. are in receipt of a shipment of Gray's candied peels (orange, lemon and citron).

Perkins, Ince & Co., last week, received a shipment of China green teas, consisting of about 20 different lines.

As usual, Lucas, Steele & Bristol are to the fore with their Labrador herrings. They have got the genuine article.

Warren Bros. & Co. have a line of seeded muscatel raisins in stock which can be retailed at 10c. per lb.

An assortment of Seely's extracts is kept by Lucas, Steele & Bristol; leading city grocers report well of them.

The Pure Gold Mfg. Co. reports that its sales of jelly powder are creeping into thousands of dozens weekly.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol are delivering new scaled herrings this week. They also offer very fine codfish in quintals.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, state that, while they will be unable to supply the entire quantity of "Anchor" and "Horse-shoe" salmon ordered by their customers, they will complete delivery in each and every case with other brands, which, they claim, are equally well-known, of choice sockeye fish.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are quoting prices on new Filiatra and Patras currants, half-cases, for immediate delivery.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. are quoting nuts, prunes and figs to arrive in November. Price has been cut as low as possible.

The "Golden Tipped" Ceylon teas offering by Lucas, Steele & Bristol, were packed on the estate in Ceylon for them.

George Foster & Sons have now in stock full lines of Aylmer and Delhi canned vegetables, on which they are quoting close figures.

"Vin St. Lehon," a natural tonic wine, is now on the market. Laporte, Martin & Cie, Montreal, are the sole agents for the Dominion.

Northrup & Co., Esplanade west, Toronto, report that their raisin seeders are now working at full capacity and doing splendid work.

George Foster & Sons have on hand first consignments of Arguimbau's and Trenor's Valencias; also new currants, the latter being an exceptionally fine sample.

T. A. Lytle & Co. are making provision for a big season in their "Sterling" brand goods, which they report have met with decided success in every Province of the Dominion.

A late consignment of Gillard's new pickle and Gillard's new sauce has just been received by W. H. Gillard & Co., and they are now prepared to fill orders for that delicious relish.

T. Kinnear & Co. have to hand, this week, a shipment of their "Goat" brand Japan tea in half chests. Within a few days this lot will be sent out to stores—the firm's customers.

The sales of fragrant "Magnolia" Ceylon tea are reported by George Foster & Sons to be steadily increasing since it has been placed on the market, repeat orders being received continually.

As the season is now close at hand for molasses, when requiring don't forget to communicate with George Foster & Sons, or see samples in hands of their travelers. They offer, they report, extra value just at present.

With the advent of fall weather, The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, report an active demand for their crushed Java and Mocha coffee, Bensdorf's "Royal Dutch" cocoa, and "Kolona" pure Ceylon tea, sales of the latter especially being so heavy as to require working overtime of the staff to fill orders.

STILL THEY COME.

Another prominent British manufacturer has awoke to the fact that Canada has a market worth looking after. The firm referred to is the manufacturer of Hudson's soap. This soap has been before the British public for the past 50 years, and for many years the goods have been well known in every other British possession.

It is a soap powder, and is put up in new packages of six packets each, all to retail for 15c. It can be used for any washing purposes, and, it is claimed, that it does not have any smell, which is a great point over some powders.

Their Canadian office is at 34 Chaboillez Square, and J. Humphrey Parker, their representative, is busy calling upon the wholesale and retail trade in the city, after which it is their intention to sample all the cities in Canada.

A NEW TEA FIRM.

The Tower Tea, Limited, one of the largest packet tea firms in Great Britain, has opened a branch in Canada, under the management of H. B. Hungerford, an old and reliable teaman. The offices and ware-rooms are at 318 St. Paul street, Montreal.

The Misses Collins have opened out as grocers and dealers in glassware, chinaware, etc., in Mr. Boisbery's block, Oshawa, Ont.

QUALITY

It Sometimes Happens

COW
 BRAND

when you are very busy a customer comes in for 5 or 10c. worth of soda. Well, it takes as much time to weigh and dig out of the keg as it does to sell a dollar's worth of something else. When you have "Cow Brand Soda" in stock all of this unnecessary trouble is done away with. It is packed in all saleable size packages.

JOHN DWIGHT & CO., Manufacturers.

For sale by all wholesale Grocers in Canada.

The tea that will always pay the grocer the best, is the tea that best suits his customers. If Monsoon <sup>Indo Ceylon</sup> Tea is better than other package teas, it will pay grocers better than others to handle it—and the Monsoon Tea Company is in business to prove that Monsoon <sup>Indo Ceylon</sup> Tea is the purest and best tea in the market for the price.

combine the very essential points of reliable quality and fair prices. United to this is their standard guarantee which every grocer can make to his customers, "your money back if you want it."

But this offer does not apply to brooms alone—Boeckhs' Brushes bear the same warrant of fully satisfying a grocer's customers. Thus, every chance for dissatisfaction is eliminated—if you take no chances you will surely hold your trade.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU . . . .

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

How do you do?

Mr. Grocer, how's your business showing up this fall? Do you think a little stimulant would help it a bit? Just a little "trade-maker," as it were, a manufacture that famous brand of condensed Mince Meat called WETHEY'S. That's a great thing for business. Every one is delighted with it, both consumer and retailer. If you have not a stock on hand better apply to your jobber at once. Don't let him induce you to take a substitute though—that won't do. It's the only and original WETHEY'S you want.

CANADA'S SHORT ROUTE BETWEEN CONTINENTS.

Advantages of Situation Enjoyed by Canada — Her Sea Routes to Europe and Asia a Vital Feature of Her Expansion.

HAVE you ever considered what geography has done for Canada? By occupying the northern, instead of the middle or southern, zone of the North American continent, Canada owes to Nature certain priceless advantages — somewhat slowly utilized it is true—but becoming more and more evident as international trade by sea and land gets to be the determining factor in the modern relations of great countries.

It took generations to realize the real facts. The United States developed first, by reason of its being the oldest settled part of the continent by the English race. Population poured in there, and the resistless wave of emigration westward carried English civilization to the Pacific coast—but first in territory acquired by the United States. The first transcontinental railway was constructed across the plains and through the mountains to a harbor in the United States, whose outlook was Asia, Australia and the Islands of the Eastern Seas. Capital naturally poured in first to a country thus developed and thrown open to the world. By the year 1860 the United States had a long start. The native energy of its people did much; capital and settlers from abroad did more; the facilities already provided for expansion accomplished the rest.

Now, Canada began to wake up. From 1800 onward, at intervals, the thought had occurred to a few men here and there that a Britannic Union of the northern Provinces would result in a New Empire from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The obstacles were real and seemed unsurmountable. The great plains were the hunting grounds of the Hudson's Bay Company. It was not the duty or the interest of the company to tell the world that the region was more than the habitat of fur-bearing animals; that it had the soil, climate and resources which—by the labor of men—expand into a great country. The Rocky Mountains were (of course!) a natural impassable barrier. What could you do with Provinces separated by nature, supposed to have a somewhat forbidding climate and dwarfed in the eyes of Europe by the splendid development of the United States?

Still, the idea lingered in the minds of men. It found its way into politics, and was discussed as a sort of magnificent dream. As steam applied to transportation, and electricity to instant communication, came to the fore, Canadians were found to be foremost in utilizing these forces. Two Canadians, Samuel Cunard and Hugh Allan, were the pioneers of Atlantic steam navigation on a large scale. Gibsorne, another Canadian, projected and helped to lay the first Atlantic cable—the credit for which was afterwards claimed by the capitalists, who found the money. But the Canadian, Gibsorne, was the pioneer.

Finally, a plan of union forced its way into Canadian politics. It fell, curiously enough, to the lot of two Scotsmen, one with the shrewd sense and mental strength of the Lowlander, the other with the courage and the imagination of the Highlander, to join forces and re-create in America for the English Crown, which both men served so loyally, a new Empire, to replace that which George III., and Shelburne, and Charles Fox had, in 1783, so stupidly and senselessly thrown away. When history comes to be written, the uniting of two men of strongly antagonistic interests, like George Brown and John A. Macdonald, to carry the Canadian Dominion into existence in 1867 will be related as a crucial episode in the annals of the Colonial Empire.

Since 1867—the date of the real beginning of Canada—the Intercolonial railway has been built from the Atlantic Coast into Central Canada, and the Canadian Pacific railway now spans the continent—these two lines providing a route by rail entirely through British-Canadian territory and connecting at both coasts with British fast steamship lines to Europe, Asia, and Australia.

In this way, Canada has become a highway of commerce between three other continents. Its midway position in this respect is now clearly demonstrated. It is the natural, because the shortest route, for all quick freight, for passengers and for mails. While all-sea routes still give lower rates, owing to the cheapness of water carriage as compared with railways, and while this condition will continue for some time, the tendency is toward the short route. Time is, more and more, an object in modern commerce. No longer do staple products form to the producer the most profitable part of sea-borne freights. Perishable products are an important factor in foreign trade. Wherever agriculture is the chief occupation of a people, and the farmer is enough wideawake to seek markets abroad as well as at home for special lines, the geographical situation of the country is of vast import.

No one who consults a map of the world can fail to notice the Canadian advantage in point of situation—first, the Dominion's proximity to Europe; second, its nearer in-

The fact that low freights might draw traffic to ports south of Canada is met by two conditions which must soon come into play: The Canadian Atlantic fast line, when it is in operation, will give a quicker and shorter sea and land voyage for travelers between the two continents than any other; the deepening of the Canadian canals, to be finished next year, will enable vessels to penetrate up the St. Lawrence into the interior of the continent, at the head of Lake Superior, 2,400 miles from the ocean. In truth, Canada is on the verge of revolutionizing freight rates and quick routes between this continent and Europe.

The possession of Vancouver Island, with its rich stores of coal, and the coast line of British Columbia, estimated, with bays and inlets, to be 7,000 miles long, are of great 11,994 miles, while the distance from Liverpool to Hong Kong via New York and San Francisco is 12,879 miles. The difference in favor of the Canadian route is thus over 800 miles, and this is further distinguished by the fact that navigators prefer, on account of the prevailing winds, the direct line towards Vancouver, even when the ultimate destination of the vessel is San Francisco. In the carrying trade of China, Japan and the farther east, these points are of consequence where a through route, partly sea and partly land, is employed.

Victoria is 4,320 miles from Yokohama, Japan, and 5,949 from Hong Kong, China. San Francisco is 4,750 miles from Yokohama and 6,379 miles from Hong Kong. At present, the steamers from Canadian ports are the fastest, which still more prominently augments the difference in favor of Canada.

In spite of the advanced development of termediate position between Europe and Asia; thirdly, its natural connection with Australia, enhanced by the political tie that binds them together. Consider what this means now, and what it portends. The clear outline map of Canada and the Continents, which accompanies this article, indicates the central idea—Canada as a convenient producing centre and highway of commerce. The Atlantic ports of the Canadian coast furnish the shortest ocean routes to Europe—Halifax and St. John are nearer Liverpool by a day's journey than New York and Boston. Quebec and Montreal enjoy a similar advantage. The comparison is instructive and apt to be overlooked:

value to the Canadian Dominion. The Rockies, once thought to be impassable, are now crossed by the Canadian Pacific at an altitude of 5,300 feet above sea level, and the gradients are the easiest of all the trans-continental railways. The land connection with the Atlantic coast is, therefore, perfect and continuous by a well-constructed and equipped modern railway, the trains of which can, when advisable, break the record in flying across the continent. This was demonstrated when the Imperial authorities wished to test the Canadian route by land and sea between London and Hong Kong. The time of the journey via Canada beat that of the route through the Suez Canal.

Canada's Pacific Coast connections are, therefore, vital factors in the future of eastern trade. The distance from Liverpool to Hong Kong, via Halifax and Vancouver, is the United States and the existence of its thriving shipping ports on the Pacific many years before any Canadian ports were in existence; in spite of the fact that Pacific Ocean trade done by Canada in her own name is a thing of yesterday, the commercial growth of the past five or six years is reassuring. In 1891, the imports and exports of British Columbia were valued at $6,000,000 (£1,200,000). In 1897 the same trade had expanded to $14,000,000 (£2,800,000). It must be borne in mind that Canada on the Pacific is a rich country—rich in timber, in fish, in coal, in gold and other metals. Besides the through trade which shorter distances secure to her, there is a local trade obtained by the possession of apparently limitless resources. Perhaps the most curious of all the beneficent gifts of nature to the Pacific region is that the coal deposits are of better steam-producing power than the coal areas south of the Canadian territory.

There is also the connection with Australia. The possibility of making commerce and travel, between Canada and Australia, grow into proportions worthy of competing with other routes, was considered an idle dream not so many years ago. But, possessing the Canadian Pacific Railway and the shortest Atlantic route, Canada has been able to put in a plea both for through traffic and to set up a little trade of her own with the colonies under the Southern Cross. A small export trade, to Australia, of $500,000 (£100,000), in 1891, had grown to one of $1,500,000 (£300,000), in 1897, and if we had the results of the present year they would show the same health and expansion.

There is a monthly steamship service, for passengers, from Vancouver to Sydney, and the Englishman of to-day travels from London to Australia under his own flag, and in less time by taking the trip through Canada. From Halifax or St. John he must, of course, take the Intercolonial to do this, as the shortest line is through Maine.

The distance from Liverpool to Sydney, via Canada, is 12,800 miles so that whereas the traveler from Canada or the United States a few years ago would be apt to choose the Mediterranean voyage—longer and warmer—he has, to-day, first class lines of railways and steamships via Canada, and a shorter and cooler journey. These are a few of nature's gifts to the Dominion, only available since rivers have been spanned by bridges, mountains penetrated by railways and oceans provided with fast steamers. A short table of distances, at this point, is convenient :

|------------------------------------------|-------------|
| Liverpool to St. John, N.B....           | 2,721 miles |
| St. John, N.B to Vancouver, B.C (C.P.R.) | 3,387 "     |
| Vancouver, B.C., to Sydney, N.S.W.....   | 6,780 "     |
|                                          | 12,888 "    |

The community of interest thus set up, when joined to political affiliation, is a powerful lever in modern life. "It is true," as Dr. George Parkin, C.M.G., has eloquently written, "that we cannot shorten space, but we can shorten time, and in point of time oceans now separate much less than they did 50 years ago. We cross the Atlantic with steamships in as many days as it once took weeks by sailing vessels. Britain and Australia are less than 30 days apart. This is not all. The telegraph wire stretches under the sea as well as over the land, and puts remote parts of the world into almost instant touch with each other. You can send a message from England to Canada or Australia and get an answer in a few hours, or even in a few minutes. It is said that the sum of one thousand pounds is spent every day in paying for messages between Australia and Great Britain alone."

Here, again, Canada's midway position serves the union of Imperial forces and Imperial communications. At great cost land telegraph lines have been built from Nova Scotia to British Columbia, between 3,000 and 4,000 miles altogether on Canadian soil. The principal cable lines under the Atlantic land on Canadian soil.

It is now proposed that a Pacific cable from Vancouver to Australia shall be laid, thus completing the chain of all-British communication. The great importance of the cable was demonstrated during the recent Spanish-American war. Especially is this true of a Sea Empire with its naval forces and land possessions remotely separated by distance over the world from the central point. On the basis now being arranged, Canada would pay one-third the cost of the cable, Great Britain one-third, and the Australian colonies one-third.

The English poet pictured England as the weary Titan groaning under the yoke of empire. But Canada having built an ocean to ocean railway, having chartered fast steamships on three ocean routes—Europe to Canada, Asia to Canada, Australia to Canada—having shouldered all the cost of land telegraphs, and having agreed to pay one-third the cost of the last link in the globe-encircling British cable, may fairly claim to be sharing the burden.

Take another look at the outline map. The central position of Canada gives her the trade routes. The naval stations at Halifax and Victoria, each with adjacent coal fields, the land and cable communications constitute her an indispensable link in the British Empire. But there is more than that. Canada, with her timber, coal, and iron, is a shipbuilding country. Possessing rich fisheries on both oceans, she has a large population of seafaring men. In other words, she has the potentiality, as well as the partial position of a maritime power.

Its shipping is even now of consequence. The tonnage of Canadian vessels trading all over the world is 779,135, and the number of vessels 7,279. The tonnage of all sea-going shipping entered and cleared at Canadian ports is about 12,000,000 registered tonnage a year. Not merely, therefore, by reason of geographical situation, but by maritime strength, does the Dominion look forward with confidence to the next five years. C.

CHEERFULNESS AND LONGEVITY.

GOLDSMITH says that one of the happiest persons he ever saw was a slave in the fortifications at Flanders—a man with but one leg, deformed, and chained. He was condemned to slavery for life, and had to work from dawn till dark, yet he seemed to see only the bright side of everything. He laughed and sang, and appeared the happiest man in the garrison.

"It is from these enthusiastic fellows," says an admirer, "that you hear—what they fully believe, bless them!—that all countries are beautiful, all dinners grand, all pictures superb, all mountains high, all women beautiful. When such a one has come back from his country trip, after a hard year's work, he has always found the cosiest of nooks, the cheapest houses, the best of landladies, the finest views, and the best dinners. But with the other the case is indeed altered. He has always been robbed, he has positively seen nothing, his landlady was a harpy, his bedroom was unhealthy, and the mutton was so tough that he could not get his teeth through it.

A gentleman in Minneapolis owned a business block which was completely gutted by fire. The misfortune produced a melancholy that boded ill for his mind. In vain his friends tried to cheer him. Nothing could dispel the impenetrable gloom. He was away from home when the disaster occurred, and received the following letter from his little seven-year-old daughter :

Dear Papa,—I went down to see your store that was burned, and it looks very pretty all covered with ice. Love and kisses from LILIAN.

The father smiled as he read ; and the man who had contemplated jumping from the train laughed aloud. The spell that had overshadowed him was at last broken by this ray of sunshine.

A cheerful man is pre-eminently a useful man. He does not cramp his mind, nor take half views of men and things. He knows that there is much misery, but that misery need not be the rule of life. He sees that in every state people may be cheerful ; the lambs skip, birds sing and fly joyously, puppies play, kittens are full of joyance, the whole air full of careering and rejoicing insects ; that everywhere the good outbalances the bad, and that every evil has its compensating balm.

You must take joy with you, or you will not find it, even in heaven. He who hoards his joys to make them more is like the man who said : "I will keep my grain from mice and birds, and neither the ground nor the mill shall have it. What fools are they who throw away upon the earth whole handfuls."—Pushing to the Front.

MY FIRST EXPERIENCE AS A CLERK.

BY MARCUS.

SUPPOSE there have been in the experience of every business man episodes which have impressed themselves on his memory so vividly that time seems to deepen rather than deface the pictures they have resolved themselves into in the mind's eye.

One of the incidents in my life, which seems to have in such manner impregnated itself into my remembrance, was an epoch in my life. It was my first experience of business—of commercial life.

I was about fourteen years of age at the time, and lived in an eastern Ontario country town. My father had died some months before, leaving my mother with more children to bring up than means with which to do it. As I was the eldest of these children I considered myself the man of the house, and, beside doing the customary chores, was ever on the lookout for a chance to earn a little cash.

As there were not a few young fellows in the town just as eager as myself to earn a few cents, I felt as if I had struck a bonanza, one Friday evening in August, when a clerk from one of the large general stores in the town called at our house, and asked if I would like a job the following day. I "jumped" at the offer, and was told to be at the shop at 8 o'clock sharp.

To say I went to bed happy that night would be but to tell half the truth, for, before I went to sleep, I had pictured how I should work so well that I would secure a regular job, and had seen myself rise step by step till I owned the store, and also the fine house, carriage, horse, etc., which contributed so much to the splendor of the merchant for whom I was to work. I did not forget, either, to anticipate the pleasure of driving the aforesaid horse in the delivery of parcels the following day.

Alas! my fond hopes and anticipations were destined to be ruthlessly dashed to the ground, even more suddenly than is the usual lot of such, for the first information I received at the shop was given by one of the clerks somewhat as follows:

"I suppose you intend to have some fun driving our fine horse?"

"Well, rather; do you think—?"

"No, I don't think, but I know that the horse is going to take Mrs. A., (the merchant's wife), and the kids to the lake to-day, and you are to be the horse yourself."

I confess this was a shock to me, but I was slightly conceited about my powers of endurance in the walking line, so I succeeded pretty well in hiding my disappointment.

My first duties were to help sweep out; then, with another clerk, I was sent to the "back store" where we arranged boxes, butter tubs and crocks, egg-cases, baskets, etc., for the day.

We were then engaged in filling the sugar drawers when one of the older clerks called me, and sent me off with a couple of small parcels, which were wanted "in a hurry."

By the time I returned business was in full swing, and I got out the "push-cart" and commenced operations.

At each load I could carry orders for from six to a dozen families, and considerable care was taken in the arrangement of the loads to deliver all by the shortest, quickest routes.

Up till half-past eleven the orders came in thick and fast, and, as nearly all were wanted before dinner, I had to cover a good deal of ground on the run. The novelty of the work and the natural exuberance of my youth kept me in good spirits, and, when dinner-time arrived, I had a good appetite, and enjoyed my dinner immensely.

After dinner, there were only a few parcels until about three o'clock, and I, during that time, helped to fill orders, carry sugar, count eggs, etc., ad infinitum.

Shortly after three o'clock I had a good load ready, and resumed my tramp, keeping up a good, brisk walk until six o'clock, when I was allowed an hour for supper.

By this time, I was willing to confess myself tired, and, after a hasty supper, I went upstairs to my room to rest. That I was fatigued is attested by the fact that I fell asleep, and would likely have continued to sleep, had not my mother awakened me and told me that my time was up.

It was a mystery to me, when I got back, to find that there were two good loads awaiting me. Feeling somewhat freshened, I delivered these loads at a fast walk, returning with the empty cart at a run.

About nine o'clock, my feet began to get sore and raw, and my spirits were oozing out of my body almost as fast as the perspiration was oozing from my forehead. How I wished for ten o'clock, the hour I counted on as closing time!

About a quarter to ten the clerks were making preparations for closing, and I innocently asked:

"Are there any more parcels?"

"A few for the west ward," was my answer, but it was accompanied by a laugh from some of the clerks that caused my heart to sink very, very deep. When I returned from delivering this load the blinds were down, and I was silently rejoicing that my day's labors were over, when the proprietor and one of the clerks came out. The merchant was in a hurry, and turning to the clerk said: "Albert, give Marcus the parcels for Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Andrews; then you can lock up the store." This made me slightly blue, but I was all indigo when he proceeded: "Then you had better wait till he comes back, and help him load up for the east ward." Then, with a "good-night, boys," he was off.

The clerk asked me if I was tired, and on my replying with an emphatic affirmative, he quietly told me to never mind Mrs. Andrews' and Mrs. Brown's parcels; he would take them himself.

I have felt grateful at various times for kindnesses great and small; but I do not remember any time when a deeper, more passionate rush of gratitude flowed through my veins than did at that moment.

By this time it was half-past ten; streets were being rapidly deserted, and, looking over the list of houses I had to visit, I found the farthest were over a mile off. Each step was a burden and a pain, and I left thoroughly sick of the whole business.

I reached home as the town clock was striking the quarter hour after midnight.

My mother was on the front steps waiting for me, and, inside, was a nice little supper and a kettle of hot water. The former was tempting, but I made a rush for a lounge, and lay full length on it, in order to relieve my feet.

But, soon the use of the hot water in the kettle was manifested. My boots were taken off, and I was told to sit up and bathe my feet.

Do you know what such relief as I experienced means? If you don't, it would be useless for me to endeavor to describe it to you. Suffice it to say that in half an hour I had finished a good supper and was in bed and asleep.

I had made no arrangement about salary, but the merchant was respected by all as a good, prosperous and honest man. About ten o'clock Monday morning I found him and asked for my money. He went to the till, and taking therefrom a great, big, shiny 25 cent piece, he handed it to me, and turned to attend to a lady customer.

You will remember I said I did the work of the merchant's horse. A friend, to whom I mentioned the occurrence, boldly told me I did the work of an ass. But I must say, on behalf of the merchant, that in later dealings with him I never found him penurious or unkind to his employes or customers; this one incident I now ascribe to thoughtlessness, though my feelings were different that Monday morning.

TEA ADULTERATION AND ITS DETECTION.

THE teas of commerce are subject to three principal forms of adulteration, viz.: Facing or coloring with deleterious compounds in order to enhance their appearance, mixing with spurious and spent or once used leaves, with the object of increasing their bulk, and sanding or adulterating with mineral matter to add to their weight.

Of the various forms of adulteration practised in China and Japan, the facing or artificial coloring of low-grade green teas is perhaps the most prevalent and glaring, the material used for the purpose being usually composed of Prussian blue, China clay, gypsum, turmeric and indigo.

The process of coloring green teas, as outlined by Joseph M. Walsh, in his book, "Tea Blending as a Fine Art," is performed by placing a portion of the Prussian blue in a large bowl and crushing it into a fine powder. A small quantity of gypsum is then added, and the two substances ground and mixed together in the proportions of one part blue to four parts of the gypsum, both making in combination a light blue preparation, in which state it is applied to the leaves during the last process of firing. One ounce of this coloring matter will face or color from 15 to 20 pounds of tea leaves, imparting to them a dull leaden-blue color and a greasy appearance, readily detected in the hand.

When green or Japan teas are heavily coated in this manner it may be readily recognized by their heavy leaden-blue color and oily greasy appearance in the hand; or, better still, by placing a small sample of the leaves on a piece of glass and allowing them to rest there for some minutes, then, on removing them, the coloring matter, if any, will be found adhering to the glass, and its nature, whether Prussian blue, indigo or soapstone, detected by the aid of a small microscope. But, when only lightly colored, the best method is to put the leaves in a cup or glass and pour boiling water on them, stirring them up well meantime and then straining the infusion through a thin muslin cloth, and the coloring matter will be found deposited in the cloth or forming a sediment at the bottom or sides of the vessel into which they are strained.

What are known to the trade as "made teas," that is, teas artificially manufactured from leaves once used, or tea dust, and a preparation of gum or glue to hold them the vessel, pasty in nature, the coloring matter adhering to the bottom or sides of the cup or glass.

Another form of adulteration, practised principally in China, is the admixture of spurious or foreign leaves obtained from other plants, such as the willow, plum, ash and what is known in trade as Ankoï tea. Such spurious or foreign leaves in a tea are best detected by their botanical character.

When infused and unfolded, the true or genuine tea leaf is of a lighter green color, the looping of the principal veinings being also very characteristic, while the spurious leaves are of a dark greenish-yellow color and very irregular in form when examined under the same conditions.

Sand and other mineral substances, such as iron and steel filings, are also frequently introduced into tea with the object of adding to its weight, and are easiest detected by powdering a small quantity of leaves and spreading the powder out on a piece of glass and then applying an ordinary magnet to the dust, so that if a quantity of the particles gravitate and adhere to the magnet the tea is undoubtedly adulterated in this form.

All adulterations and fabrications in general may be best detected by the following simple but effectual method: By putting a small sample of the tea leaves in a wine-glass or thin goblet and pouring in clear, cold water on them, and then stirring up or shaking well for a few minutes so that the tea, if pure, will only slightly color the water, but, if adulterated in any form, a dark, muddy looking liquor is quickly yielded, which, if next boiled and allowed to stand until cold, will, if spurious leaves are contained, become very bitter to the taste and almost transparent as it cools, while, if the sample is composed of pure tea only, it will be dark in color and pleasing in flavor under the same conditions.

The different methods given above are all simple, and the tests can be made by any person without any expense whatever.

"THE QUEEN, GOD BLESS HER."

This is an interesting reminiscence of Her Majesty's Jubilee in London last year. When the royal procession marched up Ludgate Hill, and into St. Paul's Churchyard, stopping in front of the Great Cathedral for the open air service, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales advanced to address a word to the Queen. The kindly face of the Queen broke into a smile. At that instant a photographic snap shot reproduced the royal smile. The picture is probably the only one ever secured of the Queen smiling. THE GROCER produces it for the first time in this country.

together, and then colored and glazed to give them a pleasing appearance to the eye, are best detected by crushing the so-called leaves between the fingers or hands, upon which they leave a yellowish stain, greasy in nature if spurious leaves. Or again, by pulverizing a small quantity of the alleged tea leaves, and putting them in a cup or glass, and pouring on boiling water, they will immediately begin to disintegrate and form a thick, gluey deposit at the bottom of

❧ BUSINESS AND ITS MANAGEMENT. ❧

FOUNDATIONS OF SUCCESS.

BY M. O.

SUCCESS in business pre-supposes certain qualities in the merchant himself. Rules for conducting a business are practical and suggestive. But, unless the merchant applies the rules with some knowledge of the principles that ought to govern his general policy in trade matters, he is just as liable to make a mess of it as not. Systematic inspection of every branch of the business, or correct bookkeeping, important as these are, will not alone result in success. There must, in addition, be a comprehensive grasp of the proper methods, and what these are I wish, as briefly as possible, to outline from my experience as a merchant. Not that any one man, even during a long experience, masters perfectly the principles of sound business. But he possesses this advantage: He has tested the value of certain maxims and he knows which are most important.

I. First, I would put Integrity as the foundation stone of Business Management. This is not a sermon, and I merely deal with the matter from the business, not the moral standpoint. It pays every hour of the day to have a good reputation, to be trusted by the customer and employe alike, to become a sort of court of appeal whose decisions shall inspire confidence and be accepted as final. When there is a dispute about an account, or a promise made or any other detail, it is good for a business to be managed by a man whose word is taken, who is known not to be tricky, and whose good faith will not be questioned even should there be a misunderstanding on the subject involved. Then, in connection with the firm's credit, it is of great value to have a high reputation. In buying goods, in asking an extension (if necessary), in soliciting some privilege, reputation tells continually. The idea that other people will rob you if you are not ready to rob first, is not based on business experience. It is a diseased notion. The unfairness of competitors is a fruitful source of loss and trouble, but it is rather an exception than a rule to find a competitor breaking an understanding or violating some good rule to your injury. Supposing it proves impossible to maintain an understanding with the merchants of your own city or locality, proceed on honest lines yourself, regardless of their policy, and in the long run it will pay. This was true during the years I was in trade, and notwithstanding all one hears now, I believe the average honesty of merchants is just as high as it used to be. We must not judge by exceptional cases. In the office, therefore, as in the store, I would say fair play and square dealing every time. Even the least departure from this rule lands you in unexpected difficulties. You need not be taken in, because you are honest. That is weakness. Honesty does not involve hesitation, doubt, fear and lack of promptness. Honesty is strength, and its fruits are quick decisions, readiness for emergency and longheadedness.

II. Secondly, what may be called System in Management should be steadfastly maintained. Everyone professes to be systematic in these days, but I mean that the manager of a business should be both the master and the servant of his own system. He cannot expect employes, when his back is turned, to obey rules he openly violates. In the matter of punctuality, the hour of opening, either for office or store, should be fixed, and, unless the manager has his deputy to act for him, he should always be on hand promptly. Just last week I noticed a case in point. The head of a large Montreal house was spending Sunday at a summer resort, and rose at half-past four on Monday morning so as to catch the first train into town. He said the staff expected him to be there promptly at nine o'clock to give certain orders and to supervise the letters. A later train would have delayed him half an hour. The habit which prompted him to do this was part of a good system practised during a long career. Punctuality extends into many different parts of the business: Into the matter of notes due, appointments made, deliveries of goods, etc. If the merchant is known to be particular in fulfilling all his engagements, others who deal with him will recognize this and try and respond. Even customers will not complain of a rule affecting them, when they feel that others are also bound by it. The effect on employes is remarkable. A young clerk consciously models his conduct, while on duty, upon that of his employer. In this connection, it may be said briefly that as regards the use of liquor and tobacco the invariable practice should be: Total abstinence during business hours. Neatness in dress is indispensable. These, and a number of other details, are necessary parts in the make-up of a sound business manager.

Memory is almost a necessity in business. Where a man feels that he may forget, and his duties are many, he is apt to keep a note book. For young merchants, a better rule is to discipline the memory by doing one thing at a time, and by carefully fixing the thoughts in the mind beforehand. There is also the question of temper. An energetic and high spirited man will naturally develop irritability. But control of temper is always the wisest habit of business. Even when justly incensed, the head of a concern who keeps his temper is master of the situation. He will then not decide hastily, or perform some act which brings injurious consequences. Nearly half an individual's mistakes in business can be traced to decisions reached in agitation or ill-temper.

III. Then, there is the end in view. The manager who does not keep before him a fixed permanent object to be attained will not succeed. We are not in business for a week, but for a life's success, and every important matter should be decided with an eye to the consequences a year or two years hence. This is usually called building up a business. It is hardly worth a man's while to keep at work unless to make a permanency of it. This is where the personal qualities tell. No matter how large or how small the business is, the same rules apply: Civility, integrity, punctuality and so forth. Then, if at the end of a year you can only figure out your personal living expenses as the profit, you can still say that the volume of trade added, the number of new customers and the experience gained are all parts of capital. Special efforts may be necessary, often, to secure or hold a customer. These efforts pay. No system, however detailed, can provide beforehand for them. Each case must be dealt with, according to circumstances, as it arises. But this proves the value of the merchant's conduct and disposition. There is no reason why you should be on bad terms with anyone in your locality. Someone has tried to rob you, as you think. Be on your guard, but do not let him know what you think, and do not waste time saying disagreeable things to him.

IV. Without forestalling future articles in this series, a word or two must be said on the Financial side of the business. The tendency in many quarters is towards the cash basis, and, allowing for special cases in particular localities, that is the best basis.

Lack of capital is by far the most general cause of failures. If a merchant, intending to embark in business, or to double his business, lacks capital he had better not start. There are always contingencies ahead which you cannot exactly foresee. It may be national depression, or a failure of local crops, or the heavy embarrassment of some large corporation, or a disastrous fire. To meet this condition some reserve financial strength is required. When debts are good, but cannot be collected peremptorily without loss of custom, how can a merchant meet his payments? The cash system, therefore, tides him over difficulties of this kind. Besides that, the discount is a large item, and, as the volume of trade increases, it becomes more important. The cash merchant is appreciated by the firms he buys from. He can, if necessary, quote closer prices and clear out lines at cost without loss. But there are exceptions to any general rule. A merchant may be so placed that he deems it too radical a departure to change from credit to cash. Then, every merchant should shape, slowly, if necessary, his policy toward a cash basis. That should be the goal. The opportunity will come, if one is on the watch for it.

Akin to the financial basis of the business is what may be termed the Financial Policy of it. I was in trade for some time before fully comprehending the value of conducting the office routine satisfactorily to others besides myself. To meet paper due not only builds up credit; it does the merchant himself good. But, if a little time is required, correspondence of a frank and friendly kind, beforehand, is wise. Do not over-promise in financial matters. Better to perform more than you promise, and do this systematically until your reputation is established as a man whose word, as the saying goes, is as good as his bond. As little talk as possible about your financial moves, even when successful, is advisable. If the other person to the deal wants to talk, let him, but the merchant who keeps his own counsel is respected. The man who talks is distrusted. People do not believe boasters. By wearing a pleasant countenance to the world, neither revealing worries nor successes, the merchant shows himself a good business man. Assuming, then, that obligations are always met, or arrangements made respecting them beforehand, there is the question of insurance of stock against fire. Never neglect that. The precautions taken in one store do not provide for every accident. Many a successful business has been crippled or ruined by fire, which started, perhaps, a block away. The man whose stock is meagrely insured or not insured at all, is on the edge of a precipice. A fire may give him a ten years' set back. It is folly to be uninsured at any season of the year.

V. In handling the staff, so as to secure cooperation from every member of it, no pains should be spared. Their help is a factor, and their behavior has much to do with the success of a business. Many times, when the manager is not at hand to observe, they might offend a customer quite unconsciously, or omit some duty simply because its discharge had not been specially assigned to them. The system of management, therefore, should provide for each clerk knowing his or her duty and being told also the exact limits of his or her authority. Even in a small store, with a limited staff, provision should be made for the manager's absence. He cannot always be on hand. There should be no friction when he is not. A conflict of authority, in this case, ought to be avoided. Any clerk, down to the messenger boy, is entitled to polite treatment and consideration from the chief. If he does not deserve this much, then he should not be employed at all. I need not lay stress on the importance of harmony in any concern. Keeping one man who competes with another in energy and zeal—that is, playing off one employe against another—is a poor expedient. Better have two who work together. Never encourage tale-bearing or suspicion by as much as a look of enquiry. In the case of partners, separation is better than a quarrel. To maintain friendly relations, the principle of give and take is the only practicable method. This should be applied to every difficulty that turns up, as it is the most convenient and sensible rule by which to abide. One of the partners, or a trusted bookkeeper, should make the writing of all the business letters of the firm his special care and study. Time is not wasted in having this branch of the business well looked after. People often do business with a man they never see. He is judged by his letters to a considerable extent. In no particular is promptness more necessary than in replies to letters. If the circumstances make replying awkward, a brief, noncommittal answer is better than none.

VI. Successful management involves keeping an eye on the Future to a certain extent. A well-balanced mind will not regard future contingencies as possible calamities. In a courageous way he keeps looking forward to dealing with future possibilities which may not be all satisfactory or all unsatisfactory. But it is prudent to be prepared for whatever may happen, and the laying of plans which can be altered to suit the conditions as they actually arise is not time wasted. While awaiting future contingencies, the good business man will carefully regulate his domestic expenditure, in accordance with the activity or dulness of trade. Frugality, if not carried to extremes, is a safe course. By knowing each month how business is going, the merchant can decide how far he is justified in maintaining the existing scale of expenditure. Especially where it is the habit to charge purchases for the household to personal account, should a careful watch be kept, in order that the limit is not overstepped. If curtailment in personal expenses appears inevitable, let it be done thoroughly and without hesitation, and no domestic consideration should be allowed to intervene. A season of economy does no harm.

VII. The merchant may declare that much of what I say is so obvious, that he carries out all these rules now. Is that really so? The experience of most business men is exactly the reverse, and violation of some of these foundation principles of business is a common thing. It should be said, in conclusion, that Canadian business, during the past five years, up, indeed, to the beginning of the present year, has been carried on under exceptionally difficult circumstances. There has been a lack of expansion both in population and trade, and a severity of competition, which have tried the pluck and resources of the most experienced men. Better times have dawned. There is a spirit abroad which points to far more active trade. When a man is getting a good profit, and he finds the people around him in a more hopeful mood, he can more easily practise sound business principles, so, when he is struggling along with poor prospects ahead, it is hard to bear in mind all the sage advice that is poured into his ears.

MEETING DRAFTS.

BY K. B.

Scarcely anything is there that can so cast discredit upon the business management of a mercantile house as carelessness in regard to the meeting of drafts; and, yet, carelessness in this respect is by no means uncommon.

Times there are when financial circumstances make it impossible for the person on whom the draft is made to meet it. But circumstances are never such as to warrant the draft being ignored without explanation whatsoever being given to the drawer thereof. Yet, this is sometimes done. And not all the sinners in this respect are men financially unable to meet their obligation.

Time and again have complaints been heard regarding this bad species of business management of men of large capital.

There are, for instance, men who, notwithstanding they have plenty of money to

PROMPT DELIVERY OF GOODS.

BY LEW.

Prompt delivery of goods is inseparable from good business management, whether the business be wholesale or retail.

There are times when circumstances over which the merchant has no control are such that it is impossible for him to deliver goods with promptness; but, occasionally, even these circumstances would not have been in the way had he exercised ordinary foresight.

For instance, the particular goods wanted are not in stock, but they would have been had there been a proper method in vogue for keeping stock.

If goods are not in stock it is better to get them, if possible, from a fellow merchant, even if by so doing the profit is lost, for it is wiser at times to lose a profit than offend a customer.

Promptness in the delivery of goods demands system, whatever the size or nature of the business may be.

There are merchants in Canada who have reduced the delivery of goods to a science, with the result that their customers not only know they will get their order promptly filled, but they know even the hour the goods will be in their possession. And these merchants are doing a successful and increasing business.

Others there are who are noted more for their lack of promptness than their exercise of it. I know of retailers who repeatedly fail to deliver goods in time. Goods wanted for the noonday meal are not delivered until late in the afternoon, or, until so close to noon that they are too late for the purpose for which they were required.

A successful business can be no more built up on these lines than can a wall be erected while some one persists in removing the foundation stones. It is unnatural.

If you cannot deliver an order at the time it is wanted, say so. But be sure you cannot. Inconvenience should not be a sufficient excuse, but it is made to do duty for one, nevertheless.

While system is so necessary to the prompt delivery of goods, it is possible that system may be so overdone as to produce the very same effects that want of it does. For example: A merchant fixes certain hours during the day for the delivery of goods to his customers. One day an order comes in with the request that it be delivered at a certain hour, which is not the particular hour fixed for such purpose.

"I am sorry," says this merchant, "but I can't send the goods at the time you specify. Our delivery hour for your locality stationery a store uses is not the most important thing in business management; but it is important, nevertheless. And he is unwise who does not recognize it.

Bad stationery gives one, as a rule, a bad impression of the merchant who uses it. And some of the stationery used is bad indeed. Occasionally, an order is written and sent to the wholesale house on a piece of crumpled yellow wrapping paper. We have, at present, such an order, which was received by a well-known jobber, and trouble was not even taken to cut the piece of paper in question. It was torn off, and was triangular in shape.

No matter how small the business, its letter and note heads should have the name of the merchant or style of the firm printed thereon. The plea of expense cannot, with reason, be advanced for not having it done. The low price of printing dissipates any such plea.

Every store must have stationery, and stationery which is printed costs but a trifle more than that which is plain. To say nothing of the poor opinion that is avoided by having letter and note heads printed, there is the advertising property, which is no small thing, and is at least worth the difference between the cost of printed and plain paper. Get figures from your local printer and be convinced.

When getting your letter and note heads printed, see that they are put up in pads. Stationery prepared in this way is much more convenient and is certainly more tidy, to say nothing of being less wasteful.

Then, do not waste your stationery for memo.-making purposes. You can make memos on wrapping or any other kind of paper just as well as upon ordinary letter or note heads.

It is not necessary to have elaborate and expensive stationery unless you can afford it. The chief thing is to have it fair in quality and well printed, and everyone who is worthy of being called a merchant can afford this.

is 11 o'clock. Won't be around that way till to-morrow. Sorry; but couldn't you take them yourself."

Have system by all means. You cannot, in fact, succeed without it. But do not have a system which, like unto the laws of the Medes and Persians, is unalterable. Have it with elasticity enough that you can stretch it, at times, far enough to oblige a customer, even if in the obliging some inconvenience is caused to yourself.

RICE'S PURE SALT IS ALL SALT

Read what The American Journal of Health says about it in its issue, 15th July, 1898:

WISDOM IN FOOD SELECTION.

SCARCELY a day passes that the editorial department of this journal is not confronted with fresh proof that those responsible for the catering for the family table rely largely upon the guidance of the hygienic writer. The grave importance of the proper selection of food products is becoming deeply impressed upon the housekeeper. The labor, time and space in its columns which The American Journal of Health constantly devotes to the subject of food selection receives, we find, the fullest appreciation from its readers. * * * * Good health and pure food are almost synonymous terms—no man, woman or child ever was or ever will be healthy if they are careless about the food they eat. They need, too, a constant reminder of this truth.

And, as the public perpetually needs this reminder, we perpetually investigate on its behalf, and have just concluded our examination into the claims of "Rice's Pure Salt," offered by The North American Chemical Company, Limited, Goderich, Ont., Canada. As in every similar instance, our mode of ascertaining the facts about this product has included the tests which we have repeatedly referred to in previous articles. We have thus secured a result which leaves no uncertainty, and are able to report that this product is distinguished by the highest percentage of nutritive quality. That it is notably pure and can be used with entire satisfaction.

Such is the verdict we pronounce for the benefit of the readers of The American Journal of Health, whom we are so frequently obliged to warn against inferior food products of all kinds. "Rice's Pure Salt" is an article eminently desirable for the most careful and conscientious housekeeper's use; we have demonstrated this fact so unmistakably in the course of our examination that we desire to impress it on all who read this article. * * * * Purity which has been proved, wholesomeness that cannot be doubted, the nutrition that can be derived from its use, are all qualities found in a marked degree in "Rice's Pure Salt."

When we can say so much after a food product has undergone analysis in our test kitchens at the hands of scientific experts, and everything has been done to render its examination thorough, "Rice's Pure Salt" has received the strongest endorsement it is in the hygienist's or the physician's power to bestow.

PREFERENTIAL COUNTRIES AND THEIR TRADE.

A BRIEF reference to the situation, population, area and trade of the countries within the British Empire, to which Canada has recently accorded preferential tariff treatment, might not be uninteresting to some of the readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER. Of course, no one needs to be told anything about Great Britain. We are all more or less conversant with statistics relating to its area, population, etc. But while the other parts of the Empire, now enjoying the preferential tariff, are dealt with a reference to the United Kingdom can scarcely be avoided.

The area of Great Britain is 121,411 square miles, and the population 39,500,000. The public revenue is £103,950,000, and the expenditure £101,477,000. Public debt is £641,062,131. The imports in 1897 were £456,311,786, and the exports of home produce £234,081,429. The United Kingdom has 9,107 ships, with a gross tonnage of 12,403,400. Taking the whole Empire, the number of ships is 11,237, and the gross tonnage 13,482,876. Compared with the number of ships of all nations, the British Empire has nearly 40 per cent. of the whole, and, of the gross tonnage, 50 per cent. of the whole.

The Bermudas are a group of islands in the North Atlantic, twenty miles square, with a population of 17,500. Their chief products are early vegetables, bulbs, and arrowroot. On account of the smallness of this colony, foreigners are not allowed to be naturalized or possess land. The imports are £304,893, the exports £101,163 and the revenue £34,356. The Bermuda Islands were acquired by Great Britain in 1609.

The Bahamas are a chain of islands 600 miles in length, lying between the south-east corner of Cuba and the coast of Florida. Their area is 5,794 square miles. Twenty islands of the group are inhabited, but there are besides 3,000 islets and rocks. The chief island politically is New Providence, the capital of which is Nassau, 12,000 population, a favorite winter resort. The total population of the Bahama Islands is 51,000. Much valuable timber is produced, and a good many cattle are raised. The chief exports are sponges, turtles, pineapples, oranges, hemp, and cotton. The imports are £194,774 and exports £139,000. Revenue is £65,126. The Bahamas have been British since 1783.

Jamaica is the largest of the British West India Islands. It lies 90 miles south of Cuba, and is 144 miles long by 49 wide. The area is 4,200 square miles, and population, according to the census of 1894, 672,762. Kingston, with a population of 48,500, is the capital. The principal exports of the country are sugar, rum, pineapples and various fruits, coffee and dye-woods. The imports are valued at £2,315,680, and the exports at £1,894,793. The public revenue is £821,653, and the expenditure £844,060. The public debt is £2,174,029. Jamaica became British in 1655. Turks and Caicos Islands have been annexed to Jamaica, and Grand and Little Cayman are dependencies. Turks and Caicos Islands became British in 1783. With these two islands the population of Jamaica is 697,859 and the area 4,429 square miles.

Jamaica, aside from its importance to Canada as a customer, is of more than ordinary interest to the people of this country from the movements which have been made in that island to have it made a part of the Dominion of Canada politically. The last movement of the kind was inaugurated, it will be remembered, only a few weeks ago.

Antigua, meaning ancient, was given its name by Columbus. Its area is 108 square miles and its population is 37,000. The capital, St. John, has a population of 10,000. The island is productive in spite of the drought which it sometimes experiences. Its chief products are sugar and pineapples. St. Christopher has a population of 7,000. Nevis is 50 square miles with a population of 13,087, and its capital is Charlestown. The island is simply a cone-shaped mountain surrounded by a margin of low land.

Dominica is 291 square miles, with a population of 26,841. Roseau, the capital, has a population of 4,500. Sugar, cacao, lime juice, coffee, fruits and spices are the chief products of the island. The island has great possibilities, but, in spite of this, trade is gradually declining.

The area of Montserrat is 32 square miles, and the population, 11,762. Plymouth is the capital. The chief exports are sugar and limes.

The Virgin Islands are an archipelago in the West Indies lying immediately to the east of Puerto Rico. Some of the islands belong to Spain, some to Denmark, and those under the British flag are Tortola, Virgin, Gorda and Anegada.

The Leeward Islands were federated in 1871, and consist, all told, of 704 square miles, with a population of 129,760. The imports are £414,283, and the exports, £288,345. The revenue is £119,083, and the expenditure, £165,996.

Grenada, one of the Windward Islands, is the largest in the group, and is the residence of the Governor. Its area is 133 square miles. St. George, with a population of 4,919, is the capital. Sugar, rum, cacao, cotton, coffee, fruits, spices and turtles, are the chief products of the island.

St. Vincent, another of the Windward Islands, is 132 square miles, with a population of 42,000. Kingston, with 4,547 population, is the capital. Its chief products are sugar, molasses, rum and arrowroot, while its fisheries are abundantly productive.

St. Lucia is still another of the Windward Islands. It has an area of 240 square miles, and a population of 46,000. Castries, the capital, has one of the best harbors in the West Indies. The whites are mostly French creoles, and the law is based on French codes. The chief products are sugar, logwood, cocoa, tobacco and spices.

The combined area of the Windward Islands, is 528 square miles and the population 146,800. The imports are £395,449 and the exports £381,056. The revenue is £132,491 and the expenditure £150,164.

Barbados, geographically, is part of the Windward group, but politically it is not. Its area is 166 square miles and its population 225,000. Bridgetown is the capital. The island is of coral formation and rises in a succession of limestone and coral terraces to a height of 1,104 feet. The chief exports are sugar and its products. The island has been British since 1625. The imports of Barbados are valued at £1,048,887 and the exports at £758,228. The revenue is £177,032 and the expenditure £184,020.

Trinidad is separated from the mainland of Venezuela by the Gulf of Paria. The products are sugar, cacao, asphalt, coconuts and fibre. Trinidad became British in 1797, and Tobago, which politically became a part of the island in 1889, has been under the British flag since 1763. The population of Trinidad is 248,404, and of Tobago, 20,000, while the area of the respective countries is 1,754 and 114 miles. The joint imports of the two islands are £2,463,525, and the exports, £2,165,820. The revenue is £618,332, and the expenditure, £594,462.

British Guiana is the only possession of Great Britain on the South American mainland. The area is 109,000 square miles and the population 283,000. Exports, chiefly sugar, gums, molasses and gold. Imports, £1,443,543; exports, £1,769,500.

New South Wales, which became British in 1788, is 310,700 square miles and has a population of 1,277,870. The imports are £15,992,415, and the exports, £21,934,785. The staple export is wool to the amount of £10,000,000 per annum. Sydney, with a population of 361,240, is the capital.

WINDOW DRESSING HINTS FOR GROCERS.

NECESSITY OF WINDOW DISPLAYS.

BY W. L. E.

EVERY merchant should be more or less conversant with the art of window dressing. If he is not, he is about as much crippled as a man is who is minus a limb. Window dressing is no sinecure. It is as much the part of the business-doing paraphernalia of a retail store as buying and selling goods or keeping books.

There was a time when the displaying of goods was not necessary, because there were no windows in which to make displays. Neither was it necessary to keep day book or ledger, for a notched stick or a piece of chalk and a board sufficed to keep a record of the goods sold on credit.

But we have store windows now, just as we have elaborate systems of bookkeeping. And store windows to be filled with goods properly arranged.

The window display is one of two modern adjuncts to business without which men cannot successfully do business to-day. The other modern adjunct, it is almost needless to say, is advertising.

It may be possible that a merchant can keep in business without paying any attention whatsoever to the arrangement of goods in his window. So it is possible that a man, heavily weighted with clothing and boots, may safely swim a wide and swift river. But the odds are against both. And one thing is certain: The merchant who devotes proper attention to the displaying of his wares in his window will find it easier to resist the forces of nature with which every man who would succeed in life will have to contend.

When people buy, it is, as a rule, from either one or two reasons: They buy from necessity or because a desire has, in some way or other, been created for it. The chief end of the window display is to create that desire in people who pass the store.

The fact that the window is to create a desire for goods implies that the display should not be bewildering. Some merchants appear to think that the more they can get into their window the better. Never was greater mistake made. If everyone had the time and inclination to stand before the window, notebook in hand, and make a memo., there might be some reason for crowding the displays. But most people have neither the time nor the inclination for such things. The average man and woman merely glance at a window as they pass by. If there is anything striking, they stop. If there is not, they go on.

Often the most striking display is obtained from one line of goods. It seldom, if ever, is by a multitude of goods.

One of the first essentials to a well-dressed window is that the display shall be composed of seasonable goods. It is no use displaying Christmas goods in midsummer, or midsummer goods at Christmas. Next to the character of the goods is the manner of their arrangement. With the exercise of a little originality and artistic taste, the most common-place articles can be made the most uncommon of displays. No prescribed rule can be laid down for the guidance of window dressers. Indeed, if it were possible, and everyone followed it, there would be no uniqueness, and thus would be defeated one of the very objects of window dressing.

The more a man does his own designing, the more likely is the display to possess that oddness and attractiveness which is so much to be desired.

While it is much to be desired that there should be in every store a clerk who is specially fitted to arrange the window displays, yet, it is a good thing to induce all the clerks in the store to take an interest in the matter. In pursuance of this, let there be, in spare moments, conferences with the clerks, where the ideas of each member can be advanced and discussed. The results could not be any other than beneficial to the window display, and instructive to the clerks.

In displaying a Christmas window, do not forget the children. If anyone has a mortgage on the Christmas season it is the children, and he who dresses his window with that thought in mind is wise. If there are two windows in the store one might be reserved for the solid staples and the other for the luxuries and such little knick-knacks and devices as delight children and set their tongues going.

A few suggestions, which the trade can work out, may not be inappropriate.

In Canada, just now, an alliance between Great Britain and the United States, and the question of closer trade relations between Canada and the United States, are matters which are attracting a great deal of attention. They are, therefore, subjects which the storekeeper can draw upon for window dressing ideas.

For instance, over a nicely arranged display of any kind of goods, might be artistically hung the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes, while placed in a favorable position might be a card with appropriate wording, such as: "These two flags never floated over better goods. Try them and be convinced." A few price tickets scattered among the goods would help increase the value of the display.

Another idea which might be worked out is to dress up a couple of boys to represent John Bull and Uncle Sam respectively, the one being short and stout and the other tall and thin. Place them in the window now and then during the day, seated at a table sipping tea or partaking of some other commodity, to their evident satisfaction, which you may have in your store. Ticketing should here be done extolling the merits of your tea, or whatever it may be.

An archery target with an arrow in the bullseye can be turned to good account for drawing attention to your prices. You can have a display of canned goods or anything else for that matter, and, suspended to the arrow, there could be a card with some such device as this: "As this arrow hit the bullseye, so our prices (or goods) hit the mark. See for yourself."

Package goods, such as canned goods, soap, cereals, tea, etc., can be used for building up pretty designs representing castles, fortresses, etc. Tickets referring to the strength and quality of the goods should be placed in suitable positions. "Brownies," or any other figures, storming the walls would increase the attractiveness of the display. If a toy cannon of moderate proportions could be procured and utilized it would be a good thing. It will please the children, and the children will talk.

A mirror might occasionally be put in the window among the goods, and so arranged that it would catch the face of passers-by, while on a ticket, placed where it would not be overlooked, might be some words of invitation, such, for example, as "This mirror shows you your face. Come inside and we will show you our ooc. blank."

An attractive display in the summer camping season can be made by producing a camping scene in the window. A few yards of cheap cotton will make a tent, and a few sods of grass will make a neat little sward. A sheet of glass sunk below the surface of the grass and edged around with sand and gravel to form a shore, will improve the display. On the surface of the glass a boat or so might be placed. Completed in these particulars, the next thing is to bring into prominence the goods in stock which are suitable for the season.

For the deer-hunting season a miniature log house or, that not being procurable, a tent, set in forest surroundings, is attractive.

Metallic Roofing Co., Limited

1180 King St. West, TORONTO

Have the house or tent in the middle of the window. Lay a few sods of grass and sprinkle leaves and a few acorns about, while in the background a few pine trees irregularly set might be placed. It is well to have a few game bags and firearms in evidence, as well as hunters' food supplies.

The illustration shows a crockery window in an Ottawa dry goods store, and, while this display may be too extensive for a great many merchants, yet it is so pretty and striking that we reproduce, with the hope that it may serve as a guide to arranging a display less pretentious. The background is set out 3 feet from the wall and covered in white, with a border and trimmings of purple. There are 3 archways. Between the pillars, on each side of centre arch, are mirrors. One of them made taking the picture difficult by reflecting the girder in front of the window. In the centre archway hangs a basket of flowers, vines, etc., but the reflection from the street lamp was so strong that it is hardly noticeable.

In the side

archways are pillars, on top of which are rosebushes in jardinières, but the shadows are very heavy there and they do not show up. It was impossible to get a better picture under the circumstances. The color harmony, as everyone who saw the window says, was perfect, and, altogether, the display was a beauty and proved "a boom" in chinaware sales. The different lines were well ticketed, which is an important thing in a display of this kind.

This window, while not designed for a grocery or general store window, will, doubtless, assist grocers and general merchants in arranging a window which will be compatible with their possibilities.

SUMMER WINDOW DISPLAYS.

BY D. M.

The summer season is generally considered a poor season for displaying general groceries, and it is within the mark to say that during the past summer three out of four of the grocers of Toronto have had fruit displayed in their windows throughout the entire season. Many dealers who take pride in having a really bright window in the cooler weather do not take these pains in the summer time for the reason that flies can make the freshest, neatest display look old and shop-worn in a few days. It has been found, too, that enclosed window weekly a good display of general groceries. As the weather becomes cooler, and fruit is offered in smaller variety, it is especially advisable to have general groceries displayed.

A fine display can be made of flour bags. One method is to arrange them in centre of the window in a pile about five feet in circumference, with the titles of the bags all facing the outside; above this, make a similar pile three feet in circumference, and, on this, put three bags, with a cap-stone of the best flour that can be secured. At each side of the window might be arranged as large a variety of breakfast foods, etc., as is found advisable to carry. In front, and to the spaces, i.e., window spaces having a glass partition at the back dividing the window from the store, are too hot in the summer for many classes of goods. Some grocers replace during the hot months the glass partition with a mosquito netting, which, while keeping out the flies, allows a constant current of air to circulate through the window space. With this netting it is possible to keep a constant variety of displays in the window throughout the summer. Fruit is not the only article suitable. In fact, if a merchant is not prepared to go into the fruit business as extensively, if he is not prepared to meet the competition in fruit of his neighbor, it would be better to arrange right of the central pile, a table or stand, low enough not to hide the display behind it, might be arranged, with some flour spilled loose in a kneading trough, with the necessary adjuncts to flour for baking, such as sugar, butter, milk, extracts, etc., close by. To the left of the central pile, a display of bread, biscuits, etc., might be arranged. But don't arrange these latter goods unless they are really first-class. A neat card should be placed in a prominent place, stating that everything necessary to make the best goods in the country could be supplied within.

In connection with this, country merchants should remember that it would be hard to get a better advertisement than to have it known that the flour, etc., in the bread which took first prize at the county, or even township, fair, was supplied by them to the victorious housewife.

Another display which would attract much attention is provisions, if enough are carried in stock to make a good showing. A novel display of these goods can be made. Arrange a background of cheese or cheese boxes, with two cut cheese, one fresh and the other old, in the foreground. At either side of the window, a display of hams, bacon, canned meats, etc., should be made.

It is not difficult to make an attractive display of soap. Pyramids, arches, and buildings of various designs can be built by the aid of this article.

It is advisable, however, when staple goods, such as soaps, canned goods, etc., are displayed, that some novelty should be introduced, and that attention should be directed from this novelty to the goods displayed by means of a skilfully-worded card.

The fact should not be lost sight of that a store window has a money value. Its worth, however, depends entirely on the use made of it for advertising the wares sold therein. If it be dressed in a style that attracts little or no attention, its value is slight, but if it be decorated from week to week, so as to win more or less attention continually, its worth is difficult to estimate.

This being so, is it advisable to allow posters, dodgers, etc., of picnics, excursions, or concerts to absorb the interest of passers-by, by pasting or hanging them in the most prominent parts of the window? Surely not. If it be considered good policy to hang these posters, etc., up, they should be hung in a position where they will not detract from a display of your own wares.

HELP THE WINDOW DRESSER.

There ought to be, remarks an exchange, a general interest throughout the store, in the window dresser's work. All the ideas and helps which can possibly be furnished should be given him to digest and select from in finally deciding upon what the store shall be represented by in its display.

Never lose sight of the fact that newness in merchandise, and the new uses of merchandise, should always predominate in the display of goods.

A WINDOW FOR NEW GOODS.

One of the best purposes to which a window can be devoted, remarks an exchange, is that of using it to proclaim that you are in advance of your competitors in securing new lines for the various seasons. When you get a new stock of an attractive line—no matter what—see that a portion of it is made to form an exhibit.

CHAT WITH A WINDOW EXPERT.

BY W. A. R.

Montreal is not particularly noted for its window displays, but, for all that, there are men in the trade, in the city, who know how to dress a window, and for this reason such opinion is worth including here as having a bearing on the subject. One of the men I chatted with on the subject, was Alex. D. Fraser, of Fraser, Viger & Co., the big dealers on St. James street. Mr. Fraser has been in the business a long while and has some good, plain, common-sense ideas on this matter of window dressing. He considers it an important adjunct to the successful conduct of business, but, at the same time, holds that it has to be accompanied by other details. For instance, a window may furnish an attractive display, but, if the interior of the store presents the appearance of neglect, a great deal of its effect is nullified.

"The first essential to a proper grocery window," said Mr. Fraser, "is cleanliness. The contents may be attractively arranged, but, if the window is not clean, all the taste in the world devoted to the display of goods will not make an attractive window.

"On account of this all important essential, I consider that a window should be dressed according to the season. By this, I mean that goods applicable to a winter display are entirely unsuitable in summer or warm weeks of the fall. Naturally, flies are bound to be around a grocery store in the warm weather, all the fans or contrivances to the contrary, and, if there are goods in the window that draws them, my first essential, cleanliness, is impossible. For this reason, during the summer months, I select goods that can be shown in packages with an attractive label. Take my own window just now. I have a line of seasonable table delicacies such as preserved new crop plums, corn and other vegetables and fruit, put up in liquor, in glass jars specially for display purposes. With them a neat window can be arranged with the goods that I especially wish to push at this season.

"This is another point that should be borne in mind. Always dress your window with such goods as you want to sell at the time, and make your window correspond with your advertisements in the press. Then, don't fill your window with a whole lot of goods. Take one line and show it for a few days. If you have too many goods in the window, the chances are that no single line will attract notice, and so the whole intention of the window dressing will be lost.

"Three or four days is quite long enough to let a window stand. For a longer period the eternal sameness will be bound to strike the eye and create the impression that your stock is small, and a poorly assorted one.

"In the winter months, staples, such as tea and sugar, can be used to advantage, for then there are no flies to be thought of. If you are moving any special line of these, put them in the window, with some neat but plain signs calling attention to the prices at which they are sold, and your window will be a valuable help to your salesmen inside the store.

"In conclusion, I would again repeat the importance of preventing the slightest appearance of dirt, and also the complete alteration of your design at reasonably short intervals, say, every four or five days, or perhaps twice a week would not be too often."

WINDOW SHOW CARDS.

In all decorative work, such as window dressing and interior displays, there is not a more important accessory than the show card, says a writer in Dry Goods Economist. Your window may be trimmed in the most artistic manner, but if the cards used are poorly worded and crudely executed half the charm is destroyed.

Cardboard is cheap, and to use fresh, clean cards freely for all displays would add greatly to their appearance. They make a display more cheerful and more impressive.

The size and style of card to be used depend entirely on the article and the way it is displayed. While some believe in a conventional style, others resort to variety in shape, size and color.

The plain white card with black lettering is generally used, but the colored effects are becoming more popular every day.

One of the most popular styles at present is a gray coral, mounted on a white mat; a white lettering is usual, with black for shading, and a line of bright red drawn under any word needing emphasis. Black and brown cards make up handsomely in this style. All shades of cardboard are used, but pink, blue, green, buff and rich red are given the preference. For general use the mat idea is too expensive, but for an occasional exclusive trim they lend a catchy effect.

One of the latest novelties in cards for window exhibits is mounted on a wood frame. It has a narrow border of white paint about  $\frac{1}{4}$  inch wide, and parallel to this, at a distance of about two inches, runs a design of straight lines and scrollwork executed with white paint. Some parts of the scroll work around the corners are filled in with a darker shade of paint, which harmonizes with the shade of the cardboard. In the dark spaces a few irregular shaped chips of mother-of-pearl are glued, which produce an iridescent effect.

RETAIL ADVERTISING METHODS.

BY D. B.

GREAT deal has been written about the benefits of advertising, and, no doubt, this will continue as long as newspapers are printed. The fact still remains that a great many business men cannot see the advantage to be derived from using printer's ink.

Some storekeepers who advertise complain that they do not receive any benefit from doing so. If they would only look at the matter in the proper light they would see the injustice that they do the local papers.

A certain person sees some line of goods that is advertised in a local paper. He goes to that store and buys a certain quantity, but never says anything about having seen it advertised. The customer being satisfied with what he has purchased at the store becomes a regular customer of this merchant. This is the indirect benefit from that advertisement, but, in nine cases out of ten, the storekeeper does not credit the newspaper with any of this business.

Then, advertising is just the same as the travelers sent out by wholesale houses. If six travelers call on you in, say, the grocery line, every week, you give orders to some of them. After a while two of them drop out; there is a certainty that their houses won't get any of the orders, which will be divided up between the men who call on you. It is exactly the same as advertising.

Say there are six storekeepers advertising in the local paper. The custom will be divided between them. If two of them drop out, it is a thousand to one that the four who continue advertising are going to get by far the largest percentage of the trade that was formerly divided with the six stores.

A great deal of money is wasted in the style of advertising adopted by a great many stores. Pick up some of the local papers, and you will find enough matter crowded into a half column, which, if the advertiser wanted to get the full benefit thereof, should have placed it in at least a two column space. When you put an advertisement in the paper, don't mention everything you have in the store. Make a specialty of one or two lines, and you will be surprised at the demand there will be for these lines. This is the secret of successful advertising.

Then, change your advertisement every week. It will pay you to do so. Some storekeepers say: "Oh, that same thing will do for the next month; I haven't got time to write up another ad." He might just as well say: "Oh, I had my dinner yesterday, I don't need any more for another month." One would be just as reasonable as the other. If you want that advertisement to do its work, and do it properly, you have got to "feed" it, just the same as you do any other machine.

A great deal of money is spent in circulars, etc, and, while they may be the means of catching an odd customer, there is not the slightest doubt that the local paper is the proper medium for the merchant. When people come to town they know just about everything they intend buying; they don't take time to read the circular thrust into their hands. This is easily proved by the number you see lying around the street, not fifty yards from the spot where they are given out.

With newspaper advertising the result is different. After the day's work is over, the whole family, as a rule, peruse the columns of the local paper, and, if there are a few grown-up daughters in the house, the merchant who has advertised some "Special Bargains in Dress Goods" is sure to have a call from some members of the family.

In reading over the different advertisements they pick out the different places where such lines are offered as they want. So make it a point to have your ad. act as the "sign post," directing them to your store.

Storekeeper, stick to your local paper, just as the shoemaker is urged to stick to his last.

TRUTHFUL ADVERTISING.

Advertisements represent goods. The more accurately they represent them, the better advertisements they are. Advertising which misrepresents, either by exaggeration or by inadequacy, is bad advertising.

The nearer an advertisement can get to the plain, naked truth, the more likely it is to be profitable. Newspapermen understand that unreliability in the matter of news is worse than no news at all. Advertisers are learning the same lesson. They have been long in learning it, and the tuition has been very expensive.—Ad.-Writer.

WHEN AN "AD." IS MOST POTENT.

An ad. is not always the most potent in the selling season, when everybody is busy and trade is usually active, but rather between seasons and in dull times, when buyers are constantly looking about them for the very best that is obtainable for the money, when they buy, if at all, with extreme care, and when they are mapping out the business campaign for the coming season. They have the time at such periods as these, and they take it to consult business announcements in the expectation of receiving hints that will introduce them to a good stroke in the time of activity; that will enable them to buy to better advantage, or teach them how they may improve their product for the expected busy season.—Cycle Age.

LOCAL ADVERTISING.

A good local newspaper beats the world as an advertising medium. A hand bill attracts attention by accident. The newspaper carries your message to an eager, waiting audience, goes into the homes, takes a seat in the family circle and talks to every member, besides right to the hundreds of others who paid their money for that kind of entertainment. They love the old family newspaper and read it with implicit confidence. Nothing equals a good, live, local newspaper when it comes to reaching the intelligent class of people who are able to buy goods. The fence, tree and barn door advertisement is but a corpse that can only be looked upon by a few neighbors who chance to go near it. Such ads. as these are a disgrace to a good, live, legitimate business, and emblems of the old "moss-backer" who don't actually appreciate up-to-date principles. Whenever you find a town of this class, we will show you a first-class town for silent meditation and secret prayer. Since man is a part of nature, so is a good advertisement a part of good business.—Pilgrim's Progress.

INNOCENTLY FUNNY "ADS."

Curiously worded advertisements that are funny without intent are more common in the London papers, it would seem, than they are in New York publications. An English periodical offered a prize the other day for the best collection of such announcements, and the following is the result: "A lady wants to sell her piano, as she is going abroad in a strong iron frame." "Furnished apartments suitable for gentleman with folding doors." "Wanted, a room by two gentleman about 30 feet long and 20 feet broad." "Lost, a collie dog by a man on Saturday answering to Jim with a brass collar around his neck and muzzle." "A boy wanted who can open oysters with references." "Bulldog for sale; will eat anything, very fond of children." "Wanted, an organist and a boy to blow the same." "Wanted, a boy to be partly behind the counter." "Lost, near Highgate archway, an umbrella belonging to a gentleman with a bent rib and a bone hundle." "To be disposed of, a mail phaeton, the property of a gentleman with a movable headpiece as good as new."—New York World.

TEA, ITS VARIOUS DESCRIPTIONS AND PECULIARITIES.

BY W. G. A. LAMBE.

THE following articles on tea, were originally commenced to oblige a friend, who was anxious to learn something about tea. The editor of THE CANADIAN GROCER happening into my office whilst I was writing requested permission to publish them. I quite appreciate that in many ways they are incomplete, but, so far as they go, I believe them to be correct, and they may prove of interest to some.

CHINA BLACKS.

Are divided into two chief classes, viz., Black-leaf teas shipped from Hankow, and Red-leaf teas from Foochow. The former come from the Northern Districts and the latter from the Southern Districts.

The chief characteristic of Black-leaf teas is their generally good cup quality; whilst red leaf teas are usually of much better make than Black-leaves, but have not the quality.

Black-leaves comprise Ning-chows, Kintucks, Oopacks and Oonams. They usually grade in the above order as to quality. The bulk of the finer sorts go to Russia. Only a very insignificant quantity comes to this country. The make, i.e., the appearance, of the finer teas is often no better than that of the lower grades. In this country, all black leaves are commonly known as Monings.

Of late years, teas from the Oonfa District (Oonams), have been growing in popularity, especially in Russia. These teas draw a much stronger liquor than Ning-chows, and their popularity shows the gradual change in taste in Russia, from the thin Pekoe-flavored teas which used to be preferred, but which are now giving way to the stronger liquoring kinds.

Keemuns, the nearest approach to Ceylon tea of any grown in China, are now largely taken for Russia.

Hankow is now practically the market for northern China teas. Only the remains of the first crop, and a small portion of the second and third crops, find their way to Shanghai, which is the market for green teas. The port of Hankow is situated about 600 to 700 miles up the Yang-tse-Kiang river, and enjoys the privilege of being one of the hottest places on earth. It is a busy spot from early in May to the end of July, and there is, perhaps, more work got through there in these three months than in any other branch of commerce in other parts of the world.

To show the changes which have taken place in this same tea trade, whereas, ten years ago, the river at Hankow was occupied by a long line of British steamers, all to be filled "choke full" of tea for London, today, British interests are represented by one steamer, which has great difficulty in getting a full cargo. On the other hand, Russian buyers are able to fill six large steamers of the Russian volunteer fleet for Odessa.

Brick tea is now becoming a very important industry, the Russians having enormous manufactories at Hankow, the amount of tea sent away in this form being nearly equal to the quantity of whole leaf shipped.

In old days, the very finest of the Northern teas used to be sent to Russia by caravan, hence the idea that prevails, that caravan teas are still the best quality. Of late years, only the common grades are sent overland. It takes about one year for a tea to get from Hankow to, say, Moscow, by the overland route. The railway when built, will change all this. Some expect it to be finished in two years, but reliable authorities say the Great Siberian Railway lacks some 2,200 miles of completion, and 1905 is the date set for same.

The reason that China teas are unpopular in some parts of the world is, principally, because so many of them are tarry in flavor. This unpleasant flavor is acquired, as a rule, during firing.

China teas are fired in baskets, usually over charcoal fuel, which, if used at all damp, imparts a tarry, or smoky flavor to the teas. In some of the poorer districts of China the natives are unable to afford proper fuel, and have recourse to dried grass and general rubbish, which quite spoils the tea during the firing process.

Red-leaves are usually described as Kaisow sorts divided into the following kinds: Souchongs, Soomoos, Kaisows, Chingwoos, Paklums, Panyongs, Paklings, and a few minor districts.

Chingwoos and Panyongs, as a whole, are the best liquoring of the red leaves. Paklums and Paklings are the best style, or appearance, of all China blacks, but lack cup quality, Paklings especially being particularly insipid and wanting in character. The latter are invariably packed in caddies, whilst all other China blacks (with the exception of Cantons or New makes), are packed in half-chests.

Paklums, Panyongs and Paklings, are often described as Pekoe Congous.

Souchongs at one time used to be the best teas produced in Foochow, and were wont to fetch the highest price in London. Germany now takes the bulk of the Souchong crop, the finest teas still realizing very high prices.

During the last two years, a company has been formed in Foochow for the purpose of making China teas on the most approved Ceylon methods. They have built a good factory, fitted with latest machinery, with an experienced European in charge. The teas they have produced have been very well made as regards leaf only; the flavor has not improved at all.

CEYLONS AND INDIANS.

The above two kinds may, perhaps, be described in the same paper.

The essential difference between Ceylons and Indians, on the one hand, and China blacks on the other, is the greater pungency and higher flavor of the former over China teas. This may be attributed chiefly to the soil in which the plants are grown. Secondly, to the difference in preparation. Indians and Ceylons are higher fermented, which changes the chemical character and makes the liquor more astringent. In preparing China blacks, the leaf is rolled by hand. In Ceylons and Indians, the leaf is rolled by machinery.

The different methods of drying the leaf have also a good deal to do with the strength and flavor of the liquor. In China, the tea is dried by the sun, which, at the same time, robs the leaf of a good deal of its flavor. In Ceylon, the withering is always done in the factory, under cover, with the leaf spread out on long shelves, called "tats," with a good draught blowing through them, and the temperature kept as even as possible. After the teas have been fired, they are put into the machine sifter, which sorts them out into the following grades: Souchong and Congou, Pekoe Souchongs, Pekoes, Broken Pekoes, and Dust. The Flowery Pekoes, Orange Pekoes, and Broken Orange Pekoes are generally obtained by hand-sifting from the Pekoes and Broken Pekoes.

The name of the Gardens of Ceylons and Indians is legion. The most popular Ceylons come from the Newera Eliya district. It may be taken as a general principle that the higher the elevation at which Ceylon teas are grown, the better will be the flavor.

The Kipperred Herrings and Herrings in Tomato Sauce, put up by Moir, Wilson & Co., of Aberdeen, Scotland, are justly famous for their delicacy and flavor and “toothsomeness.” The Herring are rich, and have a depth of body that distinguishes them as Scotch Herring of the highest quality. “The family's thanks” come naturally to the grocer who sells . . . . .

Some of the gardens in Newera Eliya are at an altitude of over 5,000 feet. Perhaps the four most popular gardens in Ceylon are Pedro and Monkwood, sold in Colombo, and Norwood and St. Leonard's, sold in London. The best Indians come from the Darjeeling district. Roughly described, Indian teas are of thick, heavy astringent liquor, caused by the soil and high fermentation in curing. Ceylons are more delicate, as a class, than Indians. In the case of Indian teas, the late pickings, i.e., the leaf which is picked late in the season, are, as a

As a rule, the light, tippy teas (thin, and without much, sap) are obtained from the young shoots, after pruning. After a field has been pruned, the bushes produce very poor teas for some time. In order to obtain a big yield, it has been the fashion, of late years, to prune heavily—say, every two years, instead of every three or four, as previously. This produces a big yield, but the quality of the tea suffers in consequence. The best leaf is obtained from a bush that has not been pruned for some time.

Rain falling, after dry weather, brings on rollers, from which it is taken out in a moist and juicy condition, and spread out on trays for fermentation. Finally, the tea is fired, and put into large bins, until enough has been collected to make a "break."

CHINA GREENS.

Are known in this country as Young Hysons, Hysons, Gunpowders, Imperials, and Twankies; divided into two chief classes, viz., Country teas and Pingsuey sorts.

rule, the best liquoring teas of the season, and the finer qualities of these late-picked teas are called autumnal flavored teas. This is in striking contrast with teas grown in China and Japan, for, in the latter countries, teas of the first crop are invariably the best liquoring in their respective countries.

Unlike India, the Ceylon crop practically goes on all the year round, but, perhaps, the best tea comes down from about September to December, but the autumnal flavor is not apparent with Ceylons as with Indians, probably because the climate in Ceylon remains at a practically even temperature.

a very quick flush, and then planters have such a rush of leaf coming into their factories at once, and not having time or space to prepare it all properly, teas are often sent away carelessly rolled or sorted, and under-fired.

The method of preparation of a Ceylon tea is, roughly, as follows: When the leaf is brought into the factory by the coolies, it is first spread out on long canvas shelves, called tats. This is the withering process; one cannot give particulars as to the length of time this withering takes, as it depends on the weather, etc. It is then put into the Country teas comprise :

Moyunes, dark, toasty, liquor.

Tienkais, generally pale liquor.

Fychows, generally dark smoky liquor, and some other less important divisions.

On the London market, Moyunes bring the highest prices, but in Canada there is a preference given usually to Tienkais on account of the paleness of the liquor of latter. This preference for pale liquor has, no doubt, originated by buyers confounding the dark liquor of true Moyunes with the dark liquor of Fychow sorts,

Fychow teas have the poorest cup quality of Country teas, having usually what is best described as a smoky flavor; another objectionable character often found in Fychow sorts is a metallic taste termed "brassy."

Green teas kept in the original packages for a great length of time become what is called "boxy."

Pingsueys are generally highly colored, good style, but of very poor cup quality. Classed with Pingsueys are teas called Cantons, in error. In many cases, the liquor of Pingsueys has a disagreeable and oily flavor, owing to the coloring matter used. The Pingsueys from the Hoochow country are the better liquoring teas.

JAPANS.

Japan teas may be roughly divided into three classes: Yokohama leaf, Kobe leaf and Nagasakis, but Nagasakis form a very small part of the whole.

The chief district in the Yokohama teas is the Hacheoji district. These teas are very fine quality, and little or none of them ever reach this market, being practically all shipped to the United States. They are of small leaf, very similar to Kobe teas. The balance of the Yokohama leaf teas are generally of flat leaf. The finest teas from all Japan come from the Hacheoji district.

The chief district in Kobe teas is the Yamashiro district. Kobe teas, as a class, are of better style than Yokohama teas, but, the latter are, on the other hand, superior in cup quality, grade for grade.

Nagasaki teas are of very indifferent cup quality, dark liquor, and usually highly fired. Teas from this district are generally curly in the dry leaf, and about half the crop is made into Japan Gunpowders.

In Japan teas, as a whole, the earlier the leaf is picked in the season, the better the quality, and the early pickings are paler and more flavory in the liquor than second-crop teas. Second-crop teas have darker liquor, and are also thicker and have more body in the cup. They are usually of better style, the firers being able to produce better style from the second crop.

Amongst Japan teas may sometimes be found a spurious leaf, usually called "cabbage," not discernible in the dry leaf, but giving a rank and offensive flavor to the liquor whenever it occurs. This so-called "cabbage" is really the leaf of a Convolvulus, which climbs over and about the tea plants, and occasionally a leaf of it is accidentally picked and cured with the tea leaves proper. It occurs more frequently in some districts than in others.

The preparation of Japans differs from that practised in China, in so far that the Japanese farmers pick the leaf and only partially fire it, packing it in large china vases, in which it is brought down and sold, in its half-fired state, to the large tea-firing and shipping-houses at the coast, where the firing is completed by the European, American and Japanese shippers in their own premises, with Japanese labor. These Japanese are paid every night. The average pay for Japanese labor, in these tea-firing houses, is 15c., silver, per day, equal to about 8c. in Canadian currency.

OOLONGS.

In addition to the above kinds, we have to notice Formosa Oolongs, lightly fermented and slightly scented teas, grown on the island of that name; there is a large trade done in these in the United States. A smaller quantity of Oolongs are grown in China. Practically, the whole of the Oolong crop goes to the United States.

SCENTED ORANGE PEKOES AND CAPERS

Scented Orange Pekoes and Capers, from China, are a class of teas very little used in Canada to-day—poor stuff, as a rule, with nothing to recommend them except, like the dude, their perfume.

INDIAN GREENS.

In passing, we must notice Indian Greens, almost unknown to the consumer here, unfermented teas of dark color in the dry leaf, but drawing a pale liquor, usually of splendid quality, uncommonly like fine, astringent Japans in the cup.

UNITED STATES TEAS.

The growing of teas has been attempted in the United States, but the industry is not likely to amount to anything of consequence.

A BAKER'S DOZEN.

"A BAKER'S dozen" is an expression familiar enough, but the question of its origin has seldom been raised. There is a curious little story, says The Boston Traveler, which goes with the familiar expression, and it probably contains about as much truth as any legend. Yet, there must have been a source, and perhaps this is it.

Away back in the 17th century Albany, N.Y., was nothing but a Dutch settlement, and among its inhabitants was a baker with a long string of Dutch names ending with Van Amsterdam. He was a genius in his way, and many of our toothsome cakes, like those filled with caraway seeds, were original with him, and it was scarcely to be wondered that his fame as a baker increased from year to year, and his savings in the same proportion. He had one fault, however, for which he paid dearly—he was stingy.

One wild, stormy New Year's eve as he was following the good old custom of watching the New Year in, and incidentally considering his profits for the past 12 months, there was a sharp rapping at the door, and, when it was opened, in blew a little old woman who demanded a dozen New Year's cookies. Twelve were counted out to her, but she set up a howl of protest, demanding another, which the close-fisted Dutchman refused her. An altercation resulted in the expulsion of the old woman, who carried the baker's luck with her.

His misfortunes began the very next day. Nothing went exactly right. His yeast soured, his bakings burned, and all sorts of mysterious things happened, yet, he remained as stingy as ever. The little old woman paid him another visit, and went away in a rage because he refused to allow her 13 cakes for a dozen. Worse ills befell him, and it was only after his wife became deaf, his children fell ill, and his business died, that he became broken in spirit, that the little old woman took that time for a third and last visit.

Humbly he acceded to her request for 13 cakes, and immediately prosperity came back to him, and his competitors were obliged to adopt 13 for a dozen. And that is why 13 is the baker's lucky number to-day, however unlucky it may prove to others.

BOASTFUL ADVERTISING.

There are still many inaccuracies in advertisements, remarks an exchange. There is still much exaggeration. The frequent use of superlatives is a matter of habit, and it will take some time to get out of it. Each of a half a dozen stores in one town claims to be "the best and cheapest." This is preposterous on the face of it.

CROCKERY IN THE GROCERY STORE.

THESE days of heavy expenses and small profits make it necessary that business men should grasp every opportunity of increasing the aggregate amount of business transacted within their stores. This is an age of specialists. We see this on every hand, and not less in the commercial than in the professional world. This fact does not, however, narrow the limit of the successful grocer's trade to general groceries. It has been clearly manifested that he is the right person to sell fruit. In many instances a fish and meat department has been opened in conjunction with a grocery store, with results eminently satisfactory, thus proving that all which is used on the table should be sold by the grocer.

While not belonging to the same class, crockery and glassware are in a class so near akin to groceries that the opinion is, with good reason, gaining ground that crockery should be sold by the grocers.

Noting the development of this opinion, a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER called on Mr. John Gowans, of Gowans, Kent & Co., wholesale crockery and glassware dealers, Toronto, and asked him if he considered crockery and glassware suitable for the grocers to handle.

"That depends," replied Mr. Gowans, "on the size of the place in which the grocer does his business. In a large town or a small city, I believe the grocer has better facilities for selling these goods than either the general merchant or the straight crockery dealer. He has an advantage over the general merchant in that not having such a variety of goods to show he can display the crockery to the best advantage. His advantage over the straight crockery dealer lies in the fact that, while he can display his crockery fully as well as the crockery dealer, the large number of people continually coming in to buy groceries are brought into close contact with the crockery, and are easily made acquainted with any novelties or new designs introduced."

"Has the grocer who sells crockery, etc., any advantage over the grocer who does not?"

"Yes. Here again he has an advantage, and an important one. Crockery, as a rule, is attractive; groceries, as a rule, are not; consequently, crockery is of great use to the merchant in decorating his windows or his shelves. Again, groceries are, as a rule, costly compared with their bulk; crockery is more bulky than expensive, consequently there is much less expense in filling a store's shelving, etc., with crockery and groceries than there is in filling the same shelves with groceries alone. Then, as there is a good percentage of profit on crockery, etc., as there is small loss entailed in its sale, and as one line of goods helps to sell the other, the grocer who keeps crockery has an undoubted advantage over his competitors who do not."

"What is the best way to commence dealing in crockery? Should one start small and work up a trade, or should one commence with a full range of goods from the start?"

"Where the capital of the grocer permits the latter policy is the better. It is good policy to open up with a full range of staple goods, and a choice variety of novelties. It would also be advisable starting to make a special display, to advertise, and in every way make known that one was commencing to handle these goods. Crockery and glassware are possibly more susceptible to good advertising than any other class of goods."

"Is it good policy to stock up with the best quality of goods?"

"No, except in very few cases. In nearly every case the best plan is to secure goods of moderate price, yet attractively designed and decorated, especially of dinner sets, chamber sets, etc. In French and German novelties, glassware, lamps, etc., it might be advisable to carry some goods of high price and excellent quality, but the bulk of this stock should also be such as to meet the popular demand, to suit the average purse."

"How much would it cost to lay in a stock of crockery and glassware sufficient to meet the requirements of a grocery in a large town?"

"That would depend on the merchant's capital, his store, the possibilities of the trade that may be done, and on many other considerations. From $400 to $750 would be sufficient for almost any business in a good town."

"When is the best time of the year to commence carrying these goods?"

"The Fall is always a suitable season to open out, but, as the Christmas season is the time when most goods are sold, any time between now and December should prove a good time for such commencement."

From the foregoing it is at once seen that wholesale crockery dealers consider grocers the proper medium for the sale of crockery. To get the views of a retail grocer who for some years has handled crockery in connection with his business, a representative, while in Perth, Ont., called on R. E. Hicks, and asked if he was satisfied with the results from handling crockery.

Mr. Hicks has a moderately large corner store. One side of this is filled with groceries; the other is devoted to crockery and glassware. Two display tables, each containing a nice arrangement of these latter goods, conduce very much to the cheery brightness of the whole store.

In answer to THE GROCER'S query, Mr. Hicks expressed entire satisfaction with the results from carrying crockery with his groceries. The crockery business has developed so well that now it could hardly be thought of as an adjunct to his grocery business, because it is now in itself almost as important as the latter itself. The margin of profit in the grocery business is so narrow, and competition so keen that a source of profit such as he had found the crockery business to be, has been not only beneficial but he believed essential to his success. In the recital of his experience Mr. Hicks practically corroborated in detail the opinions expressed by Mr. Gowans.

COLONIAL POSSESSIONS OF EUROPEAN STATES.

The United States commercial agent at Weimar reported as to the extent of the German colonial possessions and protectorates, including the recently leased territory in Kyao-chau Bay, as being 2,600,000 square kilometers (1,615,577 square miles). The German Empire proper contains only 540,657 square kilometers (335,931 square miles), which is not much more than one-fifth of its colonial possessions. Togo, Kameruns, and German South-west Africa contain together 874,189 square miles. German East Africa is nearly two-thirds as large as the last-named, having 584,777 square miles. England's colonies and possessions embrace no less than 16,662,073 square miles, or more than 85 times as much as the Fatherland. A comparative table of the extent and number of inhabitants of the European colonial possessions shows:

MAKING CHINA TEAS LIKE INDIANS AND CEYLONS.

BY W. L. E.

HOW Indian and Ceylon teas have supplanted, in the British and Canadian markets, the Chinese product is known to everyone in the trade; but it is, perhaps, not so well-known that an effort is being made in China to regain, by imitating Ceylon and Indian methods of manufacture, at least part of the position which tea from the Celestial Empire formerly occupied in Great Britain and other countries. It is, nevertheless, a fact.

The prime movers, however, are not Chinese. They are British and American capitalists interested in the China Congou tea trade.

WHEN THE MOVEMENT BEGAN.

The movement began two seasons ago, and the idea that, by employing machinery and Indo-Ceylon methods, Congou teas could be made like unto the teas produced in India and Ceylon was the actuating motive.

A number of the British and American firms interested subscribed the amount of capital necessary to purchase land and erect thereon a tea-firing house and plant. They then imported mechanics, adepts in the art of preparing Indian and Ceylon teas, and treated small parcels of Congou leaf in exactly the same manner as do the Singalese tea merchants. The result was a product which at least some tea experts declare it is impossible to locate as China tea. I saw samples, the other day, in the office of a well-known Toronto teaman. Some of them were silver and gold tipped, and, as far as the appearance was concerned, looked for all the world like Ceylon silver and gold tipped pekoes. I cannot speak personally for their cup quality, but I was told that several teamen, who tested them by infusion, declared they were Ceylon teas.

THE TEAS SOLD IN LONDON.

It was, I was given to understand, late in the season when the promoters of this undertaking began operations, and they were only able to utilize fourth-crop Congou leaf. But, the following season, they made up first, second and third-crop leaf, all of which were sent to the London market, where they met with considerable favor, and realized prices far ahead of what these would have had they been made up by the ordinary Chinese methods. They sold as high as 13½d., while, it is estimated, they would only have realized about 7d., had the same leaf been made in the ordinary old-fashioned way which obtains in China. The output, even the second year, was small, but the success it met with on the London market was such as to enable the promoters to forthwith form a company, with large capital, for the prosecution of the enterprise. This season, as far as can be learned, their operations have not been much larger, as they were not in a position as far as buildings, in which to fire in large quantities, are concerned. But, I am told, they treated small quantities of northern China leaf, which they had not hitherto essayed to do, having confined their energies to southern China leaf. It is asserted, that the northern teas so treated turned out exceptionally fine, and they have been shipped to the London and Russian markets. The result of this shipment has yet to be ascertained.

NATIVE EXPERIMENTERS.

When this movement to make China teas after the manner of the Indian and Ceylon descriptions was initiated, the promoters extended an invitation to a large number of native tea-firers to visit the factory and see the new process, the purpose being to try and induce them to adopt this more modern method. After seeing the method in operation, some, at least, of the native tea-makers stated their intention of employing it, and a few of them did so. But their product was, as a rule, a sort of hybrid—half China and half Ceylon in character. And the reason advanced for their non-success was that the natives were so wedded to their old ways that they could only partially tear themselves from them, and the result was a sort of 'twixt and between tea.

Those who hold that it is possible to make China teas to compete with Indian and Ceylon descriptions, not only ground their belief upon the experience of the capitalists who promoted the undertaking, but they point to the fact that among the natives who assembled, upon invitation, at the factory, to see the process, was one who, subsequently, without machinery of any kind, produced a tea which, in every respect, was equal to that turned out by machinery at the factory of the British and American capitalists. I might say that I saw a sample of what was claimed to be this native's product.

IMPORTED MEN AND SEED.

If the attempt to make China teas like unto, and equal to, Ceylon teas fail, the fault is not likely to be due to any lack of effort on the part of the capitalists who are undertaking it, for, not only have they imported mechanics from India and Ceylon, but they have imported seed as well from these two countries, while, furthermore, they have sent several Chinese to India and Ceylon to secure positions in the tea factories there, in order that they may acquire the art of making tea as it is made there.

"Whether or no this movement will result in creating a revolution in the making of tea in China," said an old teaman to me, "rests entirely with the natives, as foreigners are precluded by the Chinese Government from holding real estate of any kind outside the treaty ports. When European capitalists buy land in China they do so in the name of a native, and if he chooses to be dishonest he can cheat the real owners out of the property. It has been done before, resulting in heavy losses to European capitalists, and it can be done again, as long as the law exists as it is at present. Then, aside from the property phase of the matter, the promoters have to rely upon the natives to carry out the instructions given them in the making of the tea. Why do they not make the tea inside the treaty ports? Simply because it is practically impossible. Labor is too high and land is too dear compared with the cheapness of both in the tea districts."

Even if all that the promoters of the scheme claim for it is true, it will be a good many years before China teas will be made like those of India and Ceylon, in sufficient quantities to prove anything like keen competitors, that is, of course, if the natives persist in their obstinate refusal to discard the old and conform to the new and more modern methods of making tea.

A KIND-HEARTED FRUIT MAN.

There seems to be a general feeling that the Italian fruit pedlars and dealers are greedy and penurious. This may be true of many of them, but there are exceptions, as was manifested recently in my presence.

The children from the Girls' Home, Toronto, were returning from a day's outing at the Island, and quietly marching, two by two, up Yonge to Front street, where they were to take the car. When they were opposite one of the fruit stands, the Italian proprietor, with a basket of peaches on his arm, quickly crossed the street and presented each of the 50 or more children with one of the luscious fruit, and gave the basket with what few remained to the teachers.

The whole affair was done quickly and quietly, and showed that Italians, like other people, have some soft spots in their nature.

HANDLING CANADIAN TOBACCO.

MERCHANTS in many parts of Canada are much interested in tobacco culture. Its success is now assured, but, to get the best results, it is necessary that the crop be properly handled. At present, there is, of course, a great deal of ignorance. Merchants who have customers among the numerous new growers should inform themselves so as to post the farmers, by keeping the following carefully-prepared instructions by them :

CUTTING.

When the tobacco becomes fully matured it becomes very thick and heavy ; it also changes its color from a green to a yellowish, mottled green appearance.

A very good test is to double a part of the leaf back with thumb and finger, and if it breaks or cracks it is considered in fairly good condition for cutting. The weather most favorable for ripening and thickening tobacco is moderately dry weather with cool nights and warm days.

To proceed to the cutting : The stick is placed in a slanting position by sticking one end of it in the ground at the root of a plant. The knife is then taken in the right hand and is started down the stalk, gauging it so as to miss the leaves as much as possible. Let the left hand follow in the split, and when the knife is within about six inches of the root of the plant, remove it from the split, slightly bend the stalk over with the left hand, and, with one stroke of the knife, cut the stalk off below the leaves. Take hold of the end of the stalk with the right hand, keep the left hand in the split, raise the plant, and, with a quick movement, bring it down astride the stick in such a manner as to leave the leaves straight and unbroken. Five or six large plants should be placed on each stick.

When the tobacco is on the stick in the field, if the sun is very hot, there is danger of sunburn, especially from 10 o'clock in the morning to 2 o'clock in the afternoon. It is the better plan, if there is danger of sunburn, to cut in the afternoon and haul to the barn in the morning before the sun has reached its full force. The most convenient way to haul to the barn is on hayracks or on some other platform contrivance. The tobacco is then hung in the barn, from the wagons, hanging from sixteen to eighteen sticks to a twelve-foot rail, when the process of curing commences by the saps gradually evaporating by the natural action of the atmosphere.

CURING.

The tobacco needs certain favorable conditions of the weather to aid it in curing properly, warm and moderately dry weather being the most favorable, as cool, windy weather causes it to cure with a greenish cast, while very hot, wet weather causes house-burn. House-burn may be prevented, to some extent, by giving it the advantage of all the dry air possible, and by keeping the doors shut against a hot, foggy atmosphere. The tobacco gradually goes through the process of curing, and, as soon as it is thoroughly cured, the crop is ready to strip.

STRIPPING.

The art of handling tobacco, for it may be called an art to handle it properly, is one of the most important parts of successful tobacco culture. The proper handling of an ordinary crop adds greatly to its appearance and value. While, on the other hand, an extra good crop may, by poor and improper handling, be made to fall below the ordinary. After the tobacco is thoroughly cured and it comes "in case," that is, when it has received sufficient moisture from the atmosphere to make it pliable and tough, the grower proceeds to strip the crop. Most growers provide themselves with a stripping-room, in order that they may continue their work in the cold, inclement weather without exposure. A room of this kind may be made by boarding up a 12-foot square in one corner of the barn that is free from the bright sunlight, as very strong sunlight makes it very hard to distinguish the different grades apart. A room of this kind, with windows properly arranged, and a stove in one corner, and benches placed along two sides of the room on which to place the tobacco while stripping, is good enough for all ordinary purposes.

When the tobacco comes "in case" it is taken down from the rails and the stalks taken from the sticks and piled up on the benches with the points of the leaves toward the wall, so that the butts of the stalks are to the inside of the room for the convenience of the operators.

The different classes of the white burley tobacco are : First, trash ; second, lugs ; third, bright leaf ; fourth, red leaf ; fifth, tips. The trash is taken off the stalk first, and consists of the ground leaves, which grow at the bottom of the stalk, and are inferior, flimsy and more or less damaged.

When taken off the stalk the trash can be tied immediately or dropped to the floor to be tied some other time. The lugs come next in order on the stalk and are taken off and tied into "hands". The lugs are made up of leaves which have damaged points, ragged edges, etc., and are not good enough for bright leaf and too good for trash. The bright leaf consists of the bright-colored leaves about the middle of the stalk, and is the best selling tobacco on the market. The red leaf is heavier in body and of a dark color, as the name implies. The tips are the undeveloped leaves found at the top of the stalk.

As the different classes are stripped from the stalk and tied into "hands" they are kept separate. The hands, which should not be made too large (from 16 to 20 leaves will make a fair sized hand), are placed astride a stick as they are tied, placing 10 hands on each stick. The different classes should be graded as to length, not only in the hands, but also on the sticks ; that is, the leaves of each hand should be as near as possible the same length, and the hands of the same length should be placed together upon the same stick. Otherwise, if no attention is paid to the sizing, the crop will have a ragged, uneven appearance. This to some may seem quite unnecessary, but the difference even in the appearance of the crop will amply repay for all pains taken.

As the crop is stripped, the stripped tobacco should either be hung very closely on the rails or cribbed down in the centre of the barn until the bulking season comes on, when it can be hung up or spread more loosely on the rails. This method of cribbing or crowding keeps the tobacco sweet and in good condition until warm weather. The proper way to crib down tobacco is by laying it down in large piles with the butts of the hands out, leaving the points of the leaves exposed as little as possible. When the crop has been stripped the barn should be cleaned of all dirt and rubbish and the bulking floors gotten in readiness for bulking the crop.

BULKING THE CROP IN GOOD CONDITION.

This should be done the first time the crop is found in good condition, for if it hangs in the barn through warm, wet weather there is danger of mildew. In case the crop has not been bulked, and it is liable to mildew, some dry straw spread on the ground under the tobacco will help very materially in keeping mildew off. It is not common that the crop is found in "keeping case" before warm weather, and even then it requires close watching. To be in proper condition for bulking it should be of uniform case ; that is, the points and the body of the hand being the same.

It is considered in fair case when, if pressed together, it will open out again and not stick together, and the stems should be so that they will break and not be tough and pliable. A "sweat-case" is considered the best and safest, and it is said by men who have had years of experience, and who are good authority, that a real sweat-case can not be too high for bulking in good condition. The sweat-case usually occurs on a warm, sultry morning when there are indications of a storm. This usually occurs from 7 to 10 o'clock in the morning, but under proper conditions the tobacco can be found in case almost any time during the day.

As much of the crop as possible should be taken down at once, as it is not often that the different grades of the entire crop can be found in condition at one time. When the tobacco comes in case it is cribbed down in a long pile parallel with the bulking floor, in order that it may be convenient for bulking. Some growers have it cribbed for some time before bulking, but we think the best plan is to bulk at once, or sometimes the dry, hot winds dry the tobacco when left thus, and it causes time and trouble to get it in good condition again.

The bulking is done by two or more men, one laying it on the bulking floor five hands at a time, which are taken off the stick and handed to him by an assistant. As he lays it on the floor he presses it down by passing over it on his knees, being careful to keep it straight, so that the points will not be crumpled or doubled up. The bulking is done by bulking along each side of the bulk in the regular order, with the butts of the hands to the right hand of the bulker, leaving the points of the hands in the centre, and if the middle of the bulk becomes low a centre course may be added if necessary.

The bulk should be from  $3\frac{1}{2}$  to 4 feet wide and as long as needed. Each course should be kept straight, so that each side of the bulk will be perpendicular. When the bulking is finished, see to it that the bulk settles straight, and it should be weighted heavily to get it as solid as possible and to hold the case. The more it is pressed the more convenient it will handle when hauling it to market. When the crop has been handled properly and is in good condition it is ready for the market.

A NEW SOAP.

Attention is drawn to Bond's soap advertisement on page 3. This soap is manufactured by The Bond's Soap Co., of Manchester, England, and H. B. Muir & Co., 1 St. Helen street, Montreal, are the sole selling agents for Canada. Grocers and general merchants will be supplied with samples on application. Bond's soap is not a laundry soap. The Bond's Soap Co. in their newspaper advertising say that "Bond's soap will cleanse everything but clothes, and polish everything except manners."

TEA MIXERS AND FRUIT CLEANERS.

WITH the ever increasing demand and supply of teas, the methods of manipulation, which, but a few years ago, were crude, have lately been brought to a high pitch of perfection, both in the machinery employed for plantation use, and for the sifting, milling and blending of the product, as imported in the chest. In this latter branch, the greatest possible strides have been made by Savage & Co., engineers, of London, Eng., who have perfected a machine which quite automatically, when a chest of tea is tipped into it, removes all nails, wire, wood, lead, paper and other refuse, sifts the dust and small leaves from the large ones, and mills or cuts the latter to any desired uniform size; then, the siftings and millings are discharged separately into receivers, or together upon conveyor bands, or direct into the blending cylinder. These blending cylinders are made of cold rolled steel sheets, and to mix from 50 lb. to 2,000 lb. of tea at one time.

Tea Mixer.

The working limit of blending capacity in these blending cylinders, has been found in the considerable experience of Messrs. Savage & Co., to be 2,000 lb., and such machines give excellent results, especially when, as this firm are now constructing them, they are driven by an electric motor, attached to the framework of the machine itself, thus entirely getting rid of all counter-shafting expenses and losses, which are often considerable when the engine is some distance from the mixer, and a large gain of space, owing to the absence of shafting and belting.

In addition to making machines which separate all refuse from teas, the same firm of engineers construct a machine which will effectually wash, stalk, and remove grit, sand and small stones from currants, sultanas, and other dried fruits; and, further, after thoroughly washing, will completely dry, so much so, as to allow of the fruit being kept for considerable periods.

By the use of this machine, the "Thorough" Patent Fruit Cleaner, of which Savage & Co. hold the patent rights, the fruit is made quite ready for domestic use. No further cleaning is required in the house, and the "bloom" on the fruit is not affected in any way.

The best proof of the excellent results yielded by this machine is that the steam-power size is used by such firms as Peek, Frean & Co., London, and a New York firm has imported three machines successively for its own use, notwithstanding the high duties.

Several sizes of the machine are made, so as to meet all requirements as to turn out, and the largest will machine  $2\frac{1}{2}$  tons of fruit per day.

SEND FOR ONE.

Walter Baker & Co., Montreal, have just got out a good advertisement, and, moreover, something that every merchant might well have in his shop. It is an educational cabinet of cocoa and chocolates. It is made in nicely polished oak. On the door is a brass plate which indicates that it is an "Educational Exhibit". Inside, attractively arranged, are four small bottles, one contains the cocoa bean; second, nibs; third, cocoa butter, and the last, breakfast cocoa. Inside the cabinet door and attached to it are the samples of the various other completed products.

The cabinet is quite worth having, and one will be sent, without charge, to any merchant writing for it. In the United States they are being distributed among the public schools.

WANTED TRADING STAMPS.

A grocer on Queen street west, Toronto, has no use for "trading stamps," but once in a while he encounters a customer who wants them.

One of these, a lady, entered his store, and, after looking over his display of candies, asked for 5c. worth. When the merchant had parceled her sweets, she handed over five coppers, hesitated and then asked:

"Do you keep trading stamps?"

"I? indeed no; my business is conducted on business principles."

"Well, I wish I had known that; I would have gone where I could get the stamps."

The merchant offered her back her coppers, remarking: "It's not too late yet, lady."

The lady, however, decided to forego the pleasure of collecting trading a stamp on her 5c. purchase.

THE organization of an army of soldiers under a general and his staff is an interesting subject for study, especially when that army is in battle. So the organization of a great body of industrial workers under one managing head forms also an interesting subject for investigation. Our forefathers of the eighteenth century knew nothing of industrial armies and factories, and huge manufacturing establishments. The steam engine and steam-driven machinery had just seen the light of day when that century closed, and its people never dreamed of the changes which the steam engine would work. Within a hundred years a factory system has been perfected which has revolutionized the production of articles on which labor is bestowed. "Division of labor" has been introduced and has worked wonders, multiplying the number of articles which may be used by man for his sustenance, his comfort, his pleasure and his advancement.

In the City of Hull, Que., just across the river from the capital of Canada, is one of the largest manufacturing establishments in the country; indeed, it has been said, by a leading English prelate and scientist, to be the largest of its kind and the most unique establishment under the British flag. An average of about 1,800 employees are daily ranged in ranks and squads and companies, all working under a central organization—a general of industry and his staff. The works and branches illustrated herewith, under the control of The E. B. Eddy Company, Limited, comprise about forty factories, and cover many acres of ground. The wages paid total over $1,200 a day, or nearly $400,000 annually. The average daily output is as follows: Matches, 35,000,000; indurated fibre ware, 800 articles; woodenware, 3,000 pails and tubs; washboards, 600; paper, 45 to 50 tons; sulphite fibre and wood pulp, 50 tons; paper bags, 500,000.

Every department of this great establishment would bear special description, but the space at our disposal is limited. In addition there is the electric lighting plant with its six dynamos, and a capacity of 60,000 candle power; the battery of huge boilers with their blazing furnaces, in which the refuse of the mill is burned; the system by which this great group of buildings is heated; the water-power of the famous Chaudiere Falls, and how it has been harnessed in order that these hundreds of machines may be driven; the system of wire rope transmission, which conveys the power from the water-wheels to the different factories; the quantities of raw material used every year, and the sources of supply—all these points are worthy of study. Then, there is the fire protection system, which is said to excel in efficiency even the City of Ottawa across the river. The system by which all the wares manufactured at Hull are distributed through the country is an admirable one. Apart from the vast quantities of goods that are sold direct to all the leading jobbers and wholesale dealers throughout Canada, other very large quantities are shipped to the Company's various branches or agencies in Montreal, Toronto, Quebec, Hamilton,

PEPSIN AND ITS PREPARATION.

Pepsin is a ferment, being the agent by which a portion of the food which is taken into the stomach is dissolved and fitted for assimilation, says an exchange. It is obtained from the lining or mucous membranes of the stomachs of various animals—that from the stomach of the hog being generally preferred.

The method of preparing pepsin is as follows: The fresh stomachs are deprived of their fat and divested of their outer coating, cut open, gently washed with cold water, and macerated for several days in a pickle. This pickle is composed of water, 30 parts, and hydrochloric acid, one part, and requires frequent stirring. The liquid is next strained and filtered clear through coarse paper, or allowed to stand 24 hours, and then poured off. Common salt is then added and thoroughly mixed with the liquid. The pepsin rises to the top, and after standing is skimmed off. After this it is strained in a strainer, then submitted to strong pressure, to force out all that is possible of the saline solution. Next it is carefully dried in warm air without other heat. The resultant constitutes the crude pepsin, which is used for making purified pepsin, etc.

"Purified pepsin" is prepared by dissolving the crude pepsin before drying in water acidulated with hydrochloric acid, then adding just sufficient salt to separate it from its solution. It is next washed gently with cold water and drained, pressed and dried rapidly on glass with gentle heat.

The fish is white below and green above, because white is the color of the light shining through the water, and hence protects him from his enemy below. His back being green makes him, on the other hand, appear from above as part of the green water, and is his safeguard from hawks and other enemies.

PRIVATE COST MARKS.

In marking goods it is usual with merchants to make use of a private mark, phrase or key-word, to designate the cost and selling price of their goods, the object being to conceal these points from all except their own salesmen. The following words and phrases present a choice from which to make a selection:

|             |              |
|-------------|--------------|
| GAS FIXTURE | SO FRIENDLY  |
| BLACK HORSE | GAINFUL JOB  |
| MISFORTUNE  | JOINERS TAX  |
| IMPORTANCE  | BROWN SUGAR  |
| BLACKSTONE  | NOW BE SHARP |
| FISH TACKLE | ELUCIDATOR   |
| CASH PROFIT | OF INDUSTRY  |

It will be noticed that each word or phrase contains ten letters, no two alike, the object being to use letters instead of figures in marking goods. For instance, take the phrase

G A S F I X T U R E
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0

In marking the cost and selling price on a ticket, we assume that the cost is \$3.25 and the selling price \$4.37; this would be expressed by the letters sai—1st. The cost price is generally placed uppermost on the tag, the selling price below it, thus  $\frac{825}{187}$ . An extra letter, styled a repeater, is used to obviate the repetition of a letter or figure, as well as to more perfectly conceal the private mark. For instance, instead of writing 366 by the key-word, which would be s x x, use as a repeater the letter o, and make it read s x o. Fractions may be written thus:  $456\frac{2}{3} = \text{fi} \times \frac{2}{3}$

BUYING, HANDLING AND SELLING BUTTER.

BY OMAR.

BUTTER, and how it should be handled and sold, will be a timely subject for discussion until perfection in quality, etc., is reached, and further improvement is no longer possible. During the last few years the quality of Canadian made butter has materially improved, thanks to the creameries, which sprung up all over the country. While, however, the creamery made article has improved in quality, as well as quantity, there is but small improvement in the make of the butter which comes to the store of the country merchant from the farmer's dairy.

"To my mind," said a commission merchant to me the other day, "the quality of the butter coming into Toronto is even worse than last year. The dry weather may have something to do with it. But, whatever the cause may be, I know the quality of a great deal of the butter is bad. The country merchants," he continued, "are a great deal to blame for this condition of affairs. They do not use enough discretion. They pay the farmer who brings in bad butter just as much per pound as they pay the farmer who brings in good butter. The natural tendency of this is not only to encourage the farmer who makes poor butter to continue doing so, but it discourages him who makes good butter from continuing to do so."

"What would you suggest?"

"I would suggest that the country merchants discriminate when purchasing. Let them allow every farmer for his butter just exactly what it is worth. Put the value of the poor stuff down to its proper figure and it will gradually result in more attention being paid to the making of dairy butter. It is ridiculous the way some country merchants now buy butter. I know there is danger of offending customers by insisting that what shall be allowed for butter shall be its value only. But, if the merchants in each town or village were to arrive at an understanding among themselves in regard to the matter there would be no difficulty. At anyrate the difficulty would only be short-lived, for the farmers would soon learn that butter, in order to realize a good price, must be good in quality.

"Then, another thing is in regard to the tubs. Farmers, in putting up butter, often pack it in old tubs which they get from the country merchants and other sources. Tubs, once used, can never be properly cleansed. Tubs only cost about 25c. new, and rather than they be used a second time for butter they should be burned. There is scarcely anything that smells worse than a butter tub after it has been emptied of its contents and allowed to stand in the open air for a short time. Then, to say nothing of the bad odor of an old butter tub, think of its bad appearance.

"One thing retailers should stop doing, and that is, making pound prints out of tub and large roll butter. In the first place, the very act of making pound prints out of tub butter takes the body out of the butter, and then it is often medium tub and large roll butter that is thus transformed. They should not expect to get good prices for such butter, but, do you know, they often do so expect?"

"If the country merchants would get their customers to make pound rolls, and these the merchants themselves would ship to the city, once or twice a week, in refrigerator boxes, it would not only ensure a better quality of butter, but more money for the shipper. And then, merchants, who would do this, would gradually make for themselves a reputation, with the result that they would, as a rule, obtain a better price for their butter than those who were without this reputation.

"If large rolls are being received when the weather is too warm to ship them, the merchant, after classifying them as to quality and color, should pack them in tubs. As soon as the tub is filled, a clean cloth should be put over the butter, and, on top of that, a paste of salt and water. This cloth and paste should be put on as soon as the tub is packed. Tub butter should be shipped to city at least once in two weeks, and large rolls and pound prints, once or twice a week. If country merchants were to pay attention to such details as these, they would make a great deal more out of their butter than they do now. Tubs, when packed, should be kept in a dry, cool cellar until shipped."

"What suggestions have you for the city retailer, in regard to the handling and selling of butter?"

"Oh, I don't know. However, to those who have glass-fronted refrigerators, I would say: Don't put your tub butter, tub and all, into the refrigerator. It does not look well. The butter should be turned out of the tub, and a nice ticket, with the price, placed thereon. Then, do not confine yourself to one grade of butter. Have three or four. The poor will always help sell the good quality. Have the price ticketed to each grade."

"In regard to pound prints what would you say?"

"Large rolls it is difficult to make attractive in a refrigerator. They are never uniform in size. With pound prints it is different; you can make them attractive by exercising a little ingenuity and taste."

"On their counters grocers should keep nice marble slabs for turning out butter upon for the inspection of customers. Half the time some merchants do not turn out the tubs at all; and if they do it is on the counter or on a piece of paper.

"Then, as to cutting tub butter. Always use a wire. After the tub has been turned out, cut the butter horizontally about the middle. Then cut perpendicularly the upper half into two equal parts and place these halves on top of each other with the cut parts facing outward. This makes the butter more attractive, and helps to sell it. I know this from experience. And instead of cutting a pound or two of butter for a customer from the pieces on top I would cut them from the bottom half," concluded my informant.

THE MERCHANT WON.

A London merchant, who had a rather ruddy complexion, after "doing" Glasgow, had some time to wait for his train at St. Enoch station, and bethought himself of a little joke, says Answers.

"What is the name of this station, my good fellow?" he asked of a porter.

"St. Enoch station, sir."

A few minutes later, he met the same porter and said:

"What did you call this station, porter?"

"St. Enoch's? Dae ye no see the name abune the hotel there?"

Just then, the train was shunted in, and our English friend got comfortably seated in a third-class smoker, along with a few more passengers of the male persuasion.

"These railway officials are about the worst; they can't be civil," remarked the Londoner.

"That's a confounded lee!" said a Scotch farmer.

"Well," said the Londoner, "I'll bet five bob I don't get a civil answer from the first porter I ask a question of."

"Done!" replied the old farmer.

Looking out, he spied his "green" friend, and, beckoning him over, asked in his most polite tone:

"Would you kindly tell me the name of this station, porter?"

"Gang awa', ye bacon-faced buffer. Pit yer daft heid in!" was the answer.

"This new, soft and yet brilliant light has passed the experimental stage, and it is now a necessity of modern life. At Toronto the London company illuminated the Press Bureau, main association offices and other buildings, to the entire satisfaction of all concerned. Here the Main Building is lighted by the same safe, simple and effective method, and by the same company, and the directors of 'The Western' are negotiating with them for the permanent lighting of all fair structures. Here the electric lights look dim in contrast with the natural sunlight (for such it is) of the London Acetylene Company's burners. Certainly no exhibit has created a deeper interest than this, for its success (now assured) means a revolution in this great necessity of home and business life. ## HINTS ON BUYING, KEEPING AND CUTTING CHEESE.

BY HENRY WRIGHT, OF A. F. MACLAREN & CO.

AS I have been asked repeatedly the best way to keep and cut the different brands of cheese, I have decided, at the request of THE CANADIAN GROCER, to put same in print, and hope it may be of some benefit to the grocery trade in general. It is a well-known fact that all kinds of cheese are of a more or less perishable nature, some to such an extent that their importation during the hot season is not deemed advisable.

As the quality of cheese does not, as a rule, improve with age after it has once attained its proper ripeness, dealers will do well to avoid carrying more stock of the more perishable kinds than is necessary to supply their customers without interruption, and to have shipments, even of the kinds ordinarily called hard cheese, always made by fast freight, while those that are usually called soft cheese, such as Neufchatel, Camembert, Brie, etc., should invariably be forwarded by express.

PURCHASING CHEESE.

In purchasing cheese, care should be taken in its selection, as in many cases merchants simply ask for a box of cheese. The difference of quality does not seem to be of much account. Consequently, the bulk of cheese offered for sale in Canada are the culls, the finest goods being forwarded to the British market, where the value is regulated by the quality of the cheese. Therefore, the first step in purchasing cheese is to buy the proper stock; afterwards to care properly for same, as in many cases where the cheese leaves the manufacturers' hands in perfect condition it often turns out bad from careless and improper handling.

HANDLING CHEESE.

In handling all kinds of cheese, the first and most important matter is cleanliness. See that nothing impure is around your warehouse; keep everything fresh, clean and pure in the building. In cutting cheese on a retail counter, see that the counter, knives and all utensils are thoroughly clean; also, in wrapping use the best wrapping paper. Vegetable paper is much superior for placing around a cut of cheese than any other paper.

SWISS CHEESE.

Swiss cheese can be shipped all the year round, although exposure to the extreme heat or cold should be avoided. It should be kept in a cool cellar, not exposed to draught. Never let a loaf stand on its edge, as it is apt to break or crack on the inside. Do not allow more than two cheese together, as there is danger of injuring the one underneath. Cut loaves should be covered with a cloth damp with salt water. This will prevent the cheese from cracking or getting dry, and will preserve its good appearance. In fly time, vinegar is better than salt water. Never use a knife; always cut with a wire.

ROQUEFORT AND GORGONZOLA,

although not properly soft cheese, should be treated as such on account of their rather perishable nature. It is a well-known fact that these cheese are very brittle and easily broken, and great care must be taken in handling them. They keep best if left in the ordinary packing until wanted for use, and should be stored in a cool, dry place where they are free from flies. Care must be used in removing them from packages, and, when once removed, do not place them more than two high, as the weight of the upper ones crack those underneath. It is very important to keep these cheese, as well as the others mentioned, free from draught and as cool as possible, not allowing them to freeze.

In cutting Roquefort cheese, use a thin-bladed, sharp knife, and do not saw, but make a clean cut. In cutting, as with a saw, it will likely break the cheese and it will not be nearly so salable. Gorgonzola should be cut with wire.

ENGLISH STILTONS.

English stiltons, when ripe, should be kept in a cool damp cellar, and, never under any circumstance, be left in a draught, as the cheese is very liable to crack and get dry. A good way is to put a damp cloth over the cheese, if it is noticed that they are becoming too dry. They should never be cut with a knife. Use the wire, and in this way you will have no breaking or crumbling, and the consumer will appreciate the piece cut much better if cut with a wire, as the appearance goes a long way in English stilton.

POTTED CHEESE.

Potted cheese should be kept in a cool dry place. If placed in a moist temperature it will soon mould and give the cheese a bad appearance. It is much better if left in the case as ordered; and, never under any circumstances, place the cheese on the shelves during the summer months, as the heat will cause it to run and affect its flavor and practically render it unsalable.

SAPSAGO AND PARMESAN CHEESE.

Sapsago and Parmesan cheese are good one year, and sometimes longer, if a little care is taken to keep them cool and not expose them to insects, light or draught. It is a good plan to wrap Sapsago cheese in tin foil when exposed for sale, but the best plan is to place it under a glass cover. If neither of these is done, it will crack and be worthless in a short time. It is much the same with Parmesan cheese.

EDAM CHEESE.

Edams are better to foil. This prevents, to a great extent, drying out, but when in foil it is well to grease them. I have known them and pineapples to keep all summer by being well oiled and wrapped in brown paper.

LIMBERGER CHEESE.

Limberger cheese, when made in summer, should be used before Jan. 1; but September and October cheese will keep all winter. Keep in a cool cellar; turn the boxes over every two or three weeks. It is better to wrap in parchment paper, as the foil is apt to turn the cheese black in two or three weeks' time. If the cheese is inclined to get too soft, put sticks between the boxes to keep them from heating. Cheese exposed for sale should be kept under a glass cover.

NEUFCHATEL AND CREAM CHEESE

keep best exposed to the air. Do not cover them, as they are apt to mould. Do not get more than one week's supply, as they are better fresh.

FROMAGE DE BRIE AND CAMEMBERT

keep well in the original boxes. If they should get soft, they will harden by being exposed to the air, by removing the cover from the box and putting them in a cool place. If too hard, they can be made soft by putting them under a glass cover. If the wrappers become soiled, re-wrap them.

CANADIAN CHEESE.

Ordinary Canadian factory, or cheddar cheese, should be always kept in a cool place, and, if new, should be turned, to begin with, twice a week. Afterwards, once a fortnight until cut. Sometimes, a little butter spread on the side of the cheese not used keeps the same from wasting and drying. In cutting factory cheese, the wire should always be used.

BUSINESS-LIKE PUBLIC MEN WANTED.

THINKING men in Canada are becoming sceptical as to the success of the representative system of government, for the possession of which our fathers wrestled long and hard. And it is no wonder, for there is much to discourage those who are desirous of securing government, for the country, based on business principles.

Instead of that, however, it is too often, in both Federal and Provincial matters, government for the politicians, based on the principles of the ward politician.

The fault, however, does not lie in the representative system. Anything else than the representative system would not be compatible with Canadian temperament. The trouble is with the people, not with the system.

The source of good government, wherever a liberal franchise is to be found, is in those who exercise the franchise. A Government, therefore, is a reflex of the people, whether that Government be good or bad.

The Spanish Government is undoubtedly the most corrupt in Europe, no matter what party happens to be in power. but the nature of the Spaniard is such that he never gets up sufficient energy to "kick the rascals out." He pays his taxes and groans; but groans do not create steam; at any rate, steam enough to set Spanish intelligence revolving in the right direction.

In Canada, the prevailing sin of the party in power, be it Conservative or Liberal, is not corruption, although we cannot boast of being sinless in this respect; it is in unbusinesslike methods that the public men in this country mostly err.

With the average Administration the voice of the ward politician with an axe to grind is more potent than the voice of the business man with a suggestion for the good of the country.

The leaders of a party when they take office are, no doubt, as a rule, actuated by the best of intentions, but their best intentions usually have to flee before the onslaught of the professional politician, with the result that those things they would do they do not, and those things they would not do they do.

The one thing needful in the political affairs of Canada is that the influence which is now paramount shall be overthrown, and its place taken by men of business common-sense; by business men instead of by ward heelers; by men whose concern is the country and not office emoluments for themselves or their friends.

It does not require an Act of Parliament to do this. If the business men exert themselves at the party caucus, and, on polling day, vote as their conscience tells them they ought to vote, politics would soon become purer and Governments more conformable to the will of the business interests of the country.

But, as long as party bosses can persuade the rank and file to follow them, whithersoever they may choose to lead, good government there cannot be, and sceptical as to the efficacy of representative government will a good many continue to be.

Dishonesty is a bad subsoil for business to propagate upon.

A HINT TO CLERKS.

Clerks who keep in mind the fact that better profits are, as a rule, obtained from moderate-priced than from low-priced goods, and govern themselves accordingly, when selling goods, will earn reputations for themselves as well as money for their employers.

CHIEF ESSENTIAL TO SUCCESS.

GENIUS is by no means the most essential quality for success in mercantile or any other pursuit.

If there is one quality above all others which is essential, it is industrious continuity of purpose: The persistent plodding that says "It shall be done," when the force of nature and a combination of circumstances seem to say "It shall not be done."

Genius, combined with continuity, never fails; but, without it, there is no other alternative. Valuable and perfect as a piece of machinery may be, it is inert and useless until steam or electricity stirs it into action.

And industrious continuity is the force without which no man can attain success, be he endowed with genius or blessed with ordinary intelligence.

Start two young men out into the world, the one a genius without industrious continuity, and the other an ordinary mortal with industrious continuity, and you can safely wager on the latter every time. He may not promise as well at the start, but the race is a long one, and at the finish he will be an easy winner.

No young man of ordinary intelligence need fear success, if, after adopting a calling he feels to be the most suited for, he takes off his coat and, in evil and good report, persistently plods along, keeping always in view the goal of his ambition.

He only need fear success who fears work.

MUST PAY THEIR DEBTS.

The E. B. Eddy Co., Hull, Que., have posted notices in their shops stating that all employes having their wages seized for debt will be dismissed from the company's service.

This report of the action of the E. B. Eddy Co. will be interesting reading to the merchants interested in the attempt made at the last session of the Dominion Parliament to have the salaries of civil servants made garnisheeable. It shows that among employers of labor the feeling is growing that employes who do not pay their debts are not the best class of servants.

It would be good policy for merchants throughout the country to endeavor to extract from the member for their riding a promise to support the garnishee bill, which is to come up again next session.

WILL FREE CANALS PAY CANADA?

FOR some weeks past, the St. Lawrence canal system has been receiving a great deal of attention in the United States from newspapers, grain exporters and growers, and transportation companies.

This is a subject which has received more or less attention from those quarters for a great many years, but what has given it the particular interest which it now enjoys is a petition of the Lake Carriers' Association, endorsed by the Chicago Board of Trade, to the United States Commissioners at Quebec, asking that an effort be made to secure the abolishment of the canal tolls on the Welland and St. Lawrence river canals.

The idea by no means, however, meets with unanimous favor in the United States.

As we have already pointed out, Chicago, the members of the Lake Carriers' Association and the grain producers of the great Northwest are hand-in-glove for free canals. But Buffalo is unequivocally opposed to the proposition, and New York looks decidedly askance at it. Oswego and Ogdensburg would gain by free canals. Therefore, they can be counted with the pros.

Buffalo last year received 199,400,603 bushels of grain, by lake, for shipment out again by rail and canal. Anything which would tend to curtail these receipts can scarcely be expected to be taken to its breast by that city and warmed.

But not only is the handling of grain at Buffalo a large industry, but it is a growing one. The receipts last year, which were the largest on record, were over 100,000,000 bushels larger than in 1889, and 170 per cent. in excess of those of ten years ago.

New York looks askance at the proposition of free tolls because of the possibility that Montreal would gain thereby at the expense of New York.

One of the arguments used by those who at least are not strongly opposed to free tolls on the Welland and St. Lawrence river canals, is that it is possible that while the shipment of grain via the Erie canal to New York would fall off, it is equally possible that what was lost in this particular would be made up by increased shipments thereto by way of Oswego and Erie canals.

However, New York probably thinks that even should there be two birds in the bush it is better to hold the one in the hand. And most men will probably conclude that what would tend to divert shipments down the Welland and St. Lawrence river canals would certainly tend to divert trade from New York.

At present, the bulk of the grain which arrives at Buffalo goes to Europe via New York, and last year, while both the receipts of grain there and the exports of grain therefrom were the largest at least in 20 years, yet, the exports from the port of New York are not proportionately as large compared with the total exports of the United States from all ports as they were. Boston, Philadelphia, Newport News and New Orleans are becoming competitors more and more keen, which naturally makes the Gothamites somewhat jealous of their interests, which this movement for free tolls on the Canadian canals by no means tends to lessen.

The receipts of grain at New York last year via the Erie canal were the smallest, with one exception, since 1878, which is the most remote year for which we have any data. And, while what is lost in receipts by way of the canal is more than made up by receipts by rail, yet New Yorkers realize that the falling off in the former is not a good sign. The following table, showing the receipts of grain in bushels at New York by canal and rail are at this point interesting:

|            | By canal.Bush. | By rail.Bush. |
|------------|--------------------|-------------------|

As far as Canada is concerned, it is the duty of the Commissioners representing the Dominion to look at the matter from a business standpoint. Will it pay to make the canals free?

Up to the end of June, 1897, the Dominion had invested nearly $84,000,000 in its canal system. Last year, the amount of revenue collected from all the canals, except the Sault Ste. Marie (which is free) was $350,061, which means that the revenue is less than 2-5 of 1 per cent. on the total amount expended in building and maintenance.

Of this amount, $195,083 was derived from the Welland canal and $88,865 from the St. Lawrence canals, a total of $283,948, or 81 per cent. of the whole. Practically, therefore, to make the Welland and St. Lawrence river canals free would be to wipe out the revenue received from the canal system of the country.

Last year, the exports of grain from Montreal were 26,376,800 bushels, while from New York they were 117,721,143 bushels, or over 78 per cent. larger. And it must be remembered that the New York figures are swelled by Canadian grain, something like five-sixths of the grain exported by Manitoba and the Northwest going by the Buffalo-New York route.

With the Welland and the St. Lawrence canals free, they would then be on the same footing as the Erie canal. This would be to the advantage of Montreal. But it would also be to the undoubted advantage of Oswego, and possibly more so than to the Canadian port.

But what is of more importance to Canada than free canals is deeper canals.

As the Canadian Deep Waterway Commissioners, in their report of 1897, stated, "More than half the best steamships of the United States are imprisoned above Niagara." And they are imprisoned there because the Welland canal is not large enough to admit of their passage to Lake Ontario. Could these large steamers reach the latter lake, Montreal would undoubtedly benefit thereby, as well as Oswego, even provided they had to transfer their cargoes to barges at Kingston. But it is obvious that if Canadian shipping upon the upper lakes is not to wax leaner even than it now is, that craft more approximate in size to those of the United States plying there will have to be provided. As long, however, as the Welland canal particularly remains an obstacle to the passage of modern lake steamers, so long will there be an obstacle to the development of the Canadian shipping on the upper lakes.

NEW METHOD OF SELLING SUGAR.

A RADICAL change has been decided upon in regard to the method of selling sugar.

The practice, heretofore, as the trade is well aware, has been to quote so much Toronto, London, Hamilton, Montreal, etc., the purchaser paying the freight.

All this has now been discarded and, hereafter, prices will be quoted at so much delivered, the figures being based on values in Montreal plus the freight rate to the delivery point.

Prices will also, hereafter, be quoted decimally.

Wholesalers, it might be noted, now buy their sugar delivered as well as sell it delivered.

Another innovation is that the traveler, when making a sale of sugar, must make a note of the time of day at which the sale is made. The object of this is to try and prevent any favoritism or misunderstanding in event of changes in prices. Under this regulation, if Jones, for instance, places an order for sugar at $4.40 at 3 p.m., and, at 3.30 p.m., the traveler is notified, by telegraph, of a change, the retailer has to pay the figure he contracted for, no matter whether there be a decline or an advance, while merchants who purchase after 3.30 o'clock, of course, pay the new price.

Accounts for sugar will now be made out on separate invoices.

No change has been made in the terms, they still being 10 days or 1 per cent. cash.

A change has been made, not only in the method of selling sugar, but in the price as well, the refineries having reduced the price of granulated ten cents per hundred pounds. The price of standard granulated is now $4.58 Toronto, and $4.40 Montreal.

A SUCCESSFUL GROCERY SPECIALIST.

In these days, when competition is so keen in every line, the storekeeper, in order to make a success of his business, has to study ways and means a great deal more closely than he did twenty years ago.

The successful grocer is the specialist. In every town and village there is room for the man who makes a specialty of such lines as tea, coffee, baking powder, etc. Take baking powder, for example. You get a brand that you can sell with this guarantee:

If it does not suit, money will be refunded. We have in mind a merchant who increased his business largely in this way.

He took hold of a certain line of baking powder that he had never sold before, got his wife to try it, and, as it gave such satisfactory results, he recommended it to all his customers, telling them that if it was not satisfactory he would willingly refund the money. In a short time he was selling two large cases of this powder every week.

But it is not on the baking powder alone that the increase in business is apparent. Customers think that if he can sell good baking powder his other goods will be equally satisfactory.

In this way, this particular merchant increased his sales over 15 per cent. one year. Any storekeeper knows what addition this means to his income.

Another article he made a specialty of was coffee. He blended the coffee himself, and actually had families come to that store to buy coffee who bought all their other supplies from other grocers.

CANNED SALMON SITUATION.

IF mail advices can be relied upon, the coho pack on the Coast is about as great a failure as the sockeye pack.

On account of the smallness of the run, as well as the high price of the raw fish, some of the canneries have closed down, while others have not packed at all. The price being paid to the fishermen is still 20c. per fish, and, at this rate, the lowest estimate of cost of putting up a case of coho salmon is placed at $3.75.

The ruling price f.o.b. the Coast is now $4, but no transactions are reported at that figure. A few transactions are reported between wholesale houses in Toronto at $4 to $4.25.

Private advices from the Coast state that a good many orders booked subject to catch are not likely to be filled.

It is reported in London, England, that the quota of British Columbia salmon for that market will be only 60,000 cases, and as a consequence prices there are firmer.

How comparatively small the expected shipment is may be gathered from the fact that the quantity shipped last year to London direct was 325,966 cases, and to England, all told, 777,034 cases.

There have been some transactions this week in Fraser river sockeye salmon on Toronto account at $5 per case f.o.b. the Coast, which is about equal to $1.40 per dozen delivered.

Wholesalers' quotations range much as before, namely, $1.40 to $1.50 for Fraser river salmon, and $1.35 to $1.40 for Lowe Inlet.

Advertising in judicious doses will put life into dead goods.

LUMBER AND NICKEL IN ONTARIO.

INDUSTRIAL conditions in northern Ontario are of a rather promising nature.

Lumbering operations, for one thing, are likely to be more extensive than might have been a few months ago anticipated.

Some of the Canadian lumbering firms sent gangs into the woods in August last, a month earlier than usual, and the United States firms who have timber limits in Ontario are making preparations to carry on operations on an extensive scale.

Whether the announcement of the Crown Lands Department, to the effect that to export logs cut this winter will be contrary to the regulations adopted at last spring's session of the Ontario Legislature, will cause the lumber firms from the other side to alter their plans and curtail their cut remains to be seen. In the meantime, however, at least some of them have placed large orders with wholesale firms in Canada for the necessary camp supplies.

Not only, however, are the lumbering operations promising, but there is more activity to be noted in the nickel mines in the neighborhood of Sudbury. In four or five of the mines, work is being actively prosecuted. Around the property worked by the Copper Cliff Company something like three hundred new cottages have been erected during the last six or eight weeks, to accommodate the workmen engaged in the mines.

The report of the Ontario Bureau of Mines, issued in August last, gave the output of nickel for the first six months of the year at 225,763 tons, or 133,888 tons less than the twelve months' output of 1897.

The more knowledge a man has the more perfect a man is he.

THE MANIA FOR CHEAP GOODS.

IF there is one mania more than any other which permeates the body politic, it is the mania for cheap goods.

The great majority of people from the manufacturer to the consumer, from the poor man to the rich man, are consumed with a desire for cheap goods.

Many manufacturers devote a great deal of energy to devising cheap lines, which will look just as good, or taste just as good, as standard articles or commodities of meritorious quality.

The idea is to produce the minimum, instead of the maximum, of quality; not to continue to make the article as near perfection as possible, but as near imperfection as is possible without making it unsalable.

The average wholesaler and retailer are not one whit better in this respect; they appear more solicitous for developing a business in poor quality than in good quality merchandise.

It is two-penny-half-penny this, and two-penny-half-penny that, which advertisements are teeming with day after day and week after week.

A great many commercial travelers are also affected with the mania, and, instead of waxing eloquent over the quality of an article, their inspiration is its cheapness.

True, since the return of better times, there has been a demand on the part of customers for a better class of goods. But, the mania for cheap goods on the part of both buyer and seller is still rampant.

It is a wise thing for at least most merchants to keep cheap as well as high-class goods in stock. Cheap goods, as a rule, help sell the better class of goods. In a word, they are useful for the purpose of making comparisons.

Where the merchant makes the mistake is in keeping them to the front and singing loudly their praises.

As a rule, there is better value in moderate or high-priced articles than in low-priced articles. This is what the merchant, in his advertisements and in his conversation with his customers, should never cease to point out.

Let low-priced goods paddle their own canoe, but push with might and main goods of quality.

A high-priced article will, nine times out of ten, give better satisfaction than that which is low-priced. It is, therefore, safer for the merchant to handle, aside altogether from the fact that it, as a rule, costs less to handle, and yields a better profit.

Every merchant should be in a position to recommend his goods, if he can not he is not in a position to succeed.

IS THE WHOLESALE DAY DONE?

AN idea obtains in the minds of some people, that the days of the wholesaler are numbered.

It is possible that it may be so, but, whatever the auguries may be which are supposed to indicate this, one thing is certain: signs of a contrary character are not wanting.

The wholesale merchant is the creation of an economic condition. He was gradually evolved as the result of a need for a distributing centre.

The wholesaler will exist just as long as that need exists, and no longer. The question therefore, is, does this need remain? Unquestionably it does. And one thing that proves it is the fact that the practice of the retail merchant is to bring in small lots and often, instead of in large lots, and every three, six or twelve months as before.

The fluctuating nature of the markets, the keenness of competition, and the necessity for fresh and well assorted stocks, have contributed to bring about these conditions.

One of the essentials to success in business to-day is the quick turning over of goods. In the first place, goods must be turned over quickly in order that possibilities of loss from fluctuation of the market may be minimized, and, in the second place, in order that the goods may be kept up-to-date in quality or fashion.

Now, then, with the necessity of frequent buying so apparent, is it not evident that the wholesaler has not yet become a sinecure, no matter what he may be in the dim and distant future?

If anyone has any doubt about the matter, let him imagine what the conditions would be were there no wholesale house to which he could go and purchase the variety of goods which he keeps in stock. We think the conditions would be decidedly inconvenient, to say nothing else.

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Keeness for business cuts a swath in many difficulties.

If a man have not energy neither shall he have prosperity.

Bad debts are the result of a bad system of doing business.

Prosperity comes to those who with perseverance pay for it.

Laziness may save your muscle, but it will not save your money.

A politician may get along without brains, but a business man, never.

You will be what you make yourself, not what your father's dollars make you.

The grocery trade is not on a push cart, but it needs to be pushed, nevertheless.

Every man's will is the wheel upon which he either climbs to success or rolls to ruin.

An ounce of well-directed energy is more powerful than a pound of promiscuous effort.

An ounce of originality will go further as a business lubricant than a pound of imitation.

The more sound planks you have in a business, like unto a boat, the stronger will it be.

If you are not above board in your dealings it is only a matter of time before your business will be overboard.

He who thinks he can corner all the business in his town is himself cornered by the narrowness of his own judgment.

Do not as a merchant tangle yourself up in politics; but vote right in order that the country be not tangled up by the politicians.

It is the man who pulls when the tide is against him, not he who only rows when the tide is in his favor, that anchors in the Harbor of Success.

Because a man cannot recover the golden moments wasted it is no reason he should waste others. The more time a man wastes the harder it is for him to succeed.

CANADIAN TOBACCO.

A GROWING INDUSTRY WHICH OWES ITS DEVELOPMENT LARGELY TO "THE GROCER."

THE CANADIAN GROCER has often been indebted to its patrons for many wise suggestions, the ultimate success of which have been a source of pride to us. Among the many industries in the development of which THE GROCER has been a helping factor, and which have assumed large and ever increasing dimensions, is the growth and manufacture of Canadian tobacco.

Not many years ago, the home-grown leaf was used entirely in the raw state, and for smoking purposes only. True, some of it was made in cut tobaccos, and plugs, but the use of it was small compared to the total consumption, and the sale confined entirely to the Province of Quebec.

A few years ago, H. Laporte, Esq., of Laporte, Martin & Cie., with his usual foresight, saw, that with proper legislation, this could be made one of our staple industries. He, recognizing the direct influence of THE GROCER with business men all over Canada—and the indirect, because its leading articles are copied by the best general newspapers—suggested that we take this matter up in our columns.

This was done, the trade were educated and, three years ago, at a meeting of The Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Association, a resolution was unanimously adopted, urging the Government to afford such special protection as would develop this industry. Other bodies followed this example, and eventually amendments were made in the Inland Revenue and Customs tariff by which the desired end is being attained.

There was more or less of a feeling among the tobacco manufacturers against this policy. Those who controlled, and very effectually, the market seemed to think that the manufacture of Canadian leaf would encourage more competition. It was often urged that our leaf was only fit for the poorest people to smoke and chew. Now they are all going into it.

It is to The Empire Tobacco Co., now of Granby, that we are indebted for first bringing this once generally despised article up to its present standard. During the war of prices in 1893, the Messrs. Archibald, then in Montreal, saw, that if they were to enjoy the fruits of their labor in peace and quietness, they had to go outside of beaten tracks, and they at once turned their attention to Canadian leaf. After long study and many disappointments, they came to the conclusion that domestic-grown tobacco had a future before it. They at first commenced the manufacture of plug chewing only, as they found the leaf at that time was not suitable for making good smoking tobacco. In 1896 they moved to Granby, where they had erected their large factory, which was built especially for handling large quantities of Canadian leaf and for the manufacture of tobacco. Their factory is equipped with every modern convenience, and special attention is paid to the proper curing of the leaf.

When the change of tariff took place about two years ago, the company decided that there was also a future for Canadian smoking tobacco, if properly blended with foreign leaf, and, a short time ago, converted one of their buildings into a combination factory, thus giving them the desired means of making a first-class plug of smoking tobacco.

Besides attending to a large amount of work necessary in running so large a business, they have also devoted a large part of their time and capital in educating the farmers as to the best kinds of leaf to grow, as well as to the proper methods of curing it. They not only distributed seed among the farmers, but they have, during the past season, started a model farm at Granby, where they have a large acreage of land under cultivation, all of which will be properly cured under their personal supervision.

It is only a few years since our efforts were crowned with success, and, to-day, the amount of money that annually reaches the pockets of farmers, though small to what it eventually will be, is nevertheless a large and staple revenue to certain sections of our country. But we do not intend to let this matter rest here. We want to see, as far as possible, every pound of tobacco used in Canada home-grown, and there is no reason why this article should not form one of our staple exports.

Whilst we give all praise to the Government for their fostering care, we think they should go further and pass a law, better regulating the sale of leaf and roll tobaccos. As it now is, farmers and others are allowed to sell unlimited quantities of leaf and home-made rolls in the retail markets. This should be stopped. The Government is a loser by thousands of dollars in revenue on leaf, and much more by the illegal sale of rolls and cuts. There are thousands of pounds of tobaccos sold to-day that do not pay one cent of duty. In the United States farmers are not allowed to sell leaf without a license.

Abolish the indiscriminate manufacture and sale of loose tobacco, and hundreds more men will be employed in our factories. Both the Government and those manufacturers who have large interests at stake will be benefited. The farmers will get more for their leaf, and the general quality of the goods will be greatly enhanced. Already, the farmers of Quebec and Ontario are agitating in this matter, and one of the Quebec members has promised THE GROCER to take this up on the first favorable opportunity.

The reports from tobacco-growing centres are most encouraging, both as to quality and quantity, and THE GROCER is pleased to learn that another large manufacturer is erecting a factory in which to make tobacco from Canadian leaf. Besides this, several smaller factories are being started for the sole manufacture of Canadian tobaccos.

In wishing them all success, we must also remind them that this is an industry which requires expert knowledge. If they have not got it, they should go slow, feeling their way. Putting an inferior quality of tobacco on the market would seriously injure the reputation of Canadian leaf.

SUITABLE FOR WEIGHING MEAT AS WELL AS GROCERIES.

Butchers everywhere are adopting the money-weight system of weighing and selling meats.

This proves a fact which we have long been endeavoring to make our friends, the grocery trade journals, understand, that butchers were just as quick to adopt profit-saving and money-making devices as the grocers.

In talks with many of our subscribers who use the "Money-Weight Scales" made by The Computing Scale Co., Dayton, Ohio, we learn that their system of weighing in money is the secret of their great profit-saving and their money-making powers.

Place a cut of meat on a "Money-Weight Scale" and it instantly shows just so many cents' worth. It has a patented controller that instantly stops the dial at the right place and you don't have to wait a second for it to settle. It is the quickest spring balance we ever saw. In addition, these scales are an ornament to any market.—Butchers' Advocate, New York City.

The walking-advertisement, known as a "sandwich man," is by no means a modern idea. In 1346 a procession of men, dressed to represent straw-covered wine bottles, used to parade the streets of Florence, Italy, being hired by the wine merchants there.

“Pan-Dried”

For More Business

The grocers who sell Tillson's Pan-Dried (registered) Rolled Oats are among the most progressive business men in all Canada. It goes without saying that they are the most successful ones too—leaders in their line. It often happens that the grocer who is undecided about ordering them decides to follow the leader and order—because the leader does! Why not be the leader in your city or town—the leader always gains “the most business.”

Tillson's Pan-Dried (registered) Rolled Oats are absolutely free from dirt and insects' eggs. They have the true, rich, nutty flavor of ripe Oats, that Pan-Drying alone can yield. Because Pan-Drying bursts the starch cells of the Oat they are easily digested. We pack them in Sacks for the smaller grocer or in Barrels for the larger grocer, but small orders will receive just as prompt and careful attention as the large ones—we promise you that. Have you ever had samples? We should be glad to send them to you.

WESTWARD OUTPUT FOR CANADIAN WHEAT AND FLOUR

BY W. L. E.

IN THE discussions ad infinitum in the press and on the platform regarding the transportation of the products of the Canadian great Northwest, the exits by the east—Montreal, St. John, Halifax—have only been in mind, unless we include the periodical discussions in regard to the route to Europe via Hudson Bay.

These discussions are all timely, and the questions they affect are of vital importance. But, while Europe is, and will be, the market for many years to come for the wheat and flour, the product of the Canadian Northwest—and I mean Manitoba as well as the Territories—yet it does not follow that it will always be at least relatively as important as it is now, to say nothing of the possibility of its being not even the Dominion's chief market in this respect.

I do not mean that we shall send less wheat and flour to Europe. On the contrary, I firmly believe that we are only supplying the consuming countries of the Old World with a fraction of what, in a few years hence, we shall be in wheat and flour.

What I desire to point out is that, whatever the market in Great Britain and on the European continent may be, there is also the probability of a by no means unimportant market being found in China, Japan, and even parts of Australia, for the wheat and wheat products of the Canadian Northwest, and which would result in the export flow of these west, toward the Pacific, as well as east, toward the Atlantic.

At present, China is not much of a wheat or flour consuming country. The little flour its people do use is of a very poor quality, being but roughly cleaned. In May last, one of the secretaries of the British Embassy, in Washington, in a report to the home Government regarding the trade between the United States and China, referred to their increasing trade in wheat flour, and added that the "Chinese show a full recognition of the superiority of the American flour over their own roughly cleaned product."

But, while the Chinese are a small flour-using people, there are the possibilities of their becoming large consumers thereof in the years to come.

The population of China, according to recent statistics, is 386,000,000. Then, there is the adjacent empire of Japan, with its population of about 42,000,000. Here is a joint population of over 425,000,000, whose consumption of flour is at present insignificant, when compared with the civilized nations of Europe and America.

But, while the consumptive requirements of the Chinese and the Japanese are smaller by far than those of the people of Europe, it must be remembered that the population of the European wheat-consuming countries combined is not half as large as that of the two countries which are now attracting so much attention from the commercial nations of the world.

The United States is doing quite a nice trade in flour with China and Japan, and especially with the latter country. Its exports of flour to China in 1897 were 18,270 barrels, valued at $72,100, and to Japan 237,126 barrels, valued at $819,620.

Canada's share in this trade has, so far, been small and of a fluctuating nature. The Dominion Trade and Navigation Returns for the six years ending with June 30, 1897, gives the following figures:

| EXPORTS OF FLOUR TO CHINA. |          |          |
|----------------------------|----------|----------|
|                            | Barrels. | Value.   |
| 1892.....                  | 1,760    | $ 7,865 |
| 1893.....                  | 4,914    | 21,270   |
| 1894.....                  | .....    | .....    |
| 1895.....                  | .....    | 1        |
| 1896.....                  | .....    | .....    |
| 1897.....                  | 2,420    | 9,692    |

In addition to the above, we exported the following to Hong Kong, a portion of which doubtless found its way into China proper:

| EXPORTS OF FLOUR TO HONG KONG. |          |          |
|--------------------------------|----------|----------|
|                                | Barrels. | Value.   |
| 1895.....                      | 4,500    | $ 9,901 |
| 1896.....                      | 1,275    | 3,506    |
| 1897.....                      | 3,000    | 9,000    |

No flour was exported to Hong Kong from Canada in 1894.

During the two fiscal years of 1896 and 1897, Canada exported no flour to Japan. But for the six years from 1890 to 1895 inclusive, the exports were:

| EXPORTS OF FLOUR TO JAPAN. |          |        |
|----------------------------|----------|--------|
|                            | Barrels. | Value. |
| 1890.....                  | 3        | $ 15  |
| 1891.....                  | 1        | 6      |
| 1892.....                  | 690      | 3,102  |
| 1893.....                  | 1        | 4      |
| 1894.....                  | 128      | 372    |
| 1895.....                  | 1,000    | 2,500  |

As already pointed out, Japan is quite an importer of flour, and Canada ought to get a larger share of the business.

Mr. George Anderson, the Canadian trade commissioner to Japan, in that part of his report dealing with flour, says:

The quantity imported into Japan during 1896 was upwards of 150,000 barrels, and nearly all from the State of California, and the Territories of Oregon and Washington, U.S. It is shipped in forty-nine pound bags, four being equal to a barrel. * * * The increase during the first six months of 1897 has been enormous, and probably the imports this year will reach 225,000 barrels. There is no reason why Canadian millers should not secure a fair share of our flour trade, unless it be that the long inland railway freight may, in some measure, handicap them. To properly introduce, I would advise the distribution of samples in half-pound bags to actual consumers, as well as advertising in the English and Japanese press.

Now, in regard to Australasia: In view of the fact that Australasia is a wheat exporting country, it would seem that sending wheat and flour to that part of the world would be like unto sending coals to Newcastle. But, whatever it may seem like unto, it is a fact, nevertheless, that, during the last couple of years, a great deal of wheat and flour has been imported by some of the colonies in that part of the British Empire. It is true that the drought has been the chief cause for the importation. But, whatever may have been the cause of the importation, it is not at all improbable that there will now always be a demand for hard wheat, such as Canada and the United States produce in their northwest lands. The people in Australasia have used hard wheat, imported from Canada and the United States, with their soft wheat, with the result that they will always want to do so. One of the evidences of this is found in the fact that Manitoba wheat has been sown in the high lands of New South Wales, with a view to ascertaining the possibility of cultivating that description of wheat at home, thus obviating the necessity of importing it. The wheat thus sown turned out well, as far as its growing qualities are concerned. Samples were submitted for milling and chemical analysis, but with what result I have not learned. In a letter, written a little over a year ago, the Canadian commercial agent in Australasia said that, owing to the drought there, "it is probable that the work done in introducing Canadian flour into this market will lead to a small permanent business, with irregular large increases."

The United States is the chief contributor to the wants of Australasia in this respect. During the fiscal year 1896-97, it exported to that part of the British Empire 318,073 barrels of flour, valued at $1,310,175, and 1,829,591 bushels of wheat, valued at $1,538,846. Here is a total of nearly $3,000,000 of wheat and flour, all told.

Canada, during the same period, sent 91,641 barrels, valued at $402,776, and 100,805 bushels of wheat valued at $42,637, or less than half a million dollars all told. But this is a large increase over previous years, for all of which let us be truly thankful.

The following table shows the course of the flour exports from Canada to Australasia during the past six years, ending June 30, 1897 :

| EXPORTS OF FLOUR TO AUSTRALASIA. |          |         |
|----------------------------------|----------|---------|
|                                  | Barrels, | Value.  |
| 1892.....                        | 1        | $ 7    |
| 1893.....                        | 1        | 7       |
| 1894.....                        | .....    | .....   |
| 1895.....                        | .....    | .....   |
| 1896.....                        | 1,193    | 4,755   |
| 1897.....                        | 91,641   | 402,776 |

The figures for the fiscal year, 1898, have not yet been issued, and will not likely be for some months. When they are issued they will probably show a further development in this particular line of merchandise with Australasia.

In 1897, New South Wales, according to the trade returns of that country, imported £624,208 worth of flour, of which £119,858 is credited to Canada.

The Canadian commissioner, writing from Sydney, N.S.W., under date of June 6, 1898, said : "There is a demand for flour, but not in as large quantities as last year. Nearly all coming is brought by the Canadian-Australian steamers, which have their cargo space filled for some time to come." In the same letter he also said the wheat crop in Victoria is sufficient for little more than its own bread.

Western Australia, last year, imported £197,519 worth of flour, none of which appears to come from Canada.

The westward trade in wheat and wheat flour has evidently begun. In wheat and flour the United States last year shipped a total of about $3,800,000 worth to Australia, China and Japan. Canada sent nothing in this line to Japan, and, although the value of the wheat and flour she exported to China and Australasia was slightly under $500,000, yet it shows that she is sharing in this westward trade, which, while at present small, promises in the years to come to be so important.

In the development of this westward wheat and wheat product trade, hope is largely built upon the expected requirements of China, with her 380,000,000 of people who are about as far behind in regard to bread as they are in civilization.

Canada is at present a small competitor in the race for the market, but, with the great wheat possibilities of the Northwest, there is no reason why the lion's share of this trade should not be hers. The prairie lands in the United States suitable for wheat growing are about exhausted, and it promises to be only a question of time before that country will need all its wheat for its home requirements.

Then, as to Russia, its excess of wheat, as Sir William Crookes puts it, "is merely provisional and precarious," while Siberia, whose cultivable lands adapted to grain bearing neither equal in extent nor in potential productive powers those of Iowa, Minnesota, and Nebraska, was declared in 1896 by the Russian Minister of Ways and Communications to never have "produced and never would produce wheat and rye enough to feed the Siberian population." Last year, Prince Kropatkin corroborated this statement.

The peculiar advantage which Canada and the United States occupy is that the wheat grown in the Northwest Territories of the two countries is the hard variety, which has become now so desirable for blending with the soft wheats for milling purposes. Even if Australasia has no droughts in the years to come, she will use a certain quantity of hard wheat. Hard wheat has certain bread-making qualities which soft wheat does not possess, and, like some quack medicines advertised, "once used, always used". In Ontario, to-day, where nothing but soft is grown, it is estimated that 90 per cent. of the farmers stipulate that a certain portion of Manitoba hard wheat shall be mixed with the soft wheat they take to the mill and ground into flour for their own use.

In the meantime, the aggressive work in building up this westward trade is being done by the people of the United States. President J. J. Hill, of the Great Northern railway, who, by the way, is a Canadian by birth, having been born near Guelph, has agents in China and Japan working up a trade in hard wheat flour in order to secure freight for his railway and the steamboats which it has on the Pacific.

I have been told that there are also some English capitalists in Vancouver who have their eyes on this westward wheat and flour trade, and are likely, ere long, to take aggressive steps to assist in building it up.

The prospects are certainly such as to warrant Canadians trying to get a share, and a large share, of the across-the-Pacific trade in wheat and flour.

ADVERTISING FLOUR.

Some English millers are utilizing the idea, in a fashion not unfamiliar in America, of employing women to sell flour, says an exchange. The saleswoman's duties are not a sinecure by any means, nor are they finished when she has made a sale to a flour dealer. Indeed, this is the smaller part of her work ; for, having ascertained what grocers are handling flour and secured so much of their patronage as she can, the real work begins. The women generally work in twos ; and the town in which they are working is then divided into districts, each woman taking her section, which she proceeds to canvass, house to house, in the interest of the flour she represents.

RETAILERS AND THE FLOUR TRADE.

I had a chat, the other day, with a few Toronto retail grocers regarding flour. Robert Barron, Yonge street, was the first merchant I conversed with, and, in reply to a question as to whether flour was a profitable article for a grocer to handle : "Why, yes, I consider the general public expects and demands that we keep flour and so I keep it. There is no special reason why it should be kept, for, it is, I consider, a staple grocery."

David Bell, Yonge street, keeps flour, and gives, for so doing, much the same reason as Mr. Barron. "Flour is as necessary to the grocery business in Toronto as tea or sugar. If a customer asked for flour and we replied we did not keep it, she would want to know why, and I don't know what reason we could give. There is a good average profit on it, and, although its market value rises and falls, this market can easily be watched, and, on the whole, a watchful grocer gains by these fluctuations. So, there are two good reasons why I keep flour : The public expect me to, and it pays me.

Peter Macdonald, Church street, has a unique method of handling his flour. He sells it under his own name. He has various sizes of bags printed (the design used being a pretty one). He furnishes the bags to a miller, who fills them with four grades of flour, namely, good family, fine family, good pastry, and extra pastry. The grade of flour is distinguished by making X stand for good family, XX for fine family, XXX for good pastry, and XXXX for extra pastry. By this method Mr. Macdonald takes the responsibility of the uniform quality of the flour on his own shoulders.

Henry Swan, of Swan Bros., King street east, would like to hear a good reason why a grocer should not handle flour. "We handle eight brands or grades, and they all sell well. Each customer soon knows just what she wants, and then it is an easy matter satisfying her, as far as flour is concerned. We keep three sizes, half bags, quarter bags, and one-eighth bags." Remembering Mr. Macdonald's system, the representative asked Mr. Swan if he sold any flour under his own name. He answered, "No, sir ; we take the responsibility for the manufacture of no goods made by other people, and don't intend to. We have the name of the manufacturer on the bag, and, if there are any defects, the housekeeper knows who to blame. We, of course, take the responsibility of keeping it, while in our store, free from damp, which has a bad effect on any flour. We keep, at all times, a display of the various brands we handle in our window, and find that this undoubtedly brings business."

CANADA'S MILLING INDUSTRY.

OF all the manufacturing industries in Canada none are probably as of much importance as the milling industry.

When the last census was taken there were in the Dominion 2,550 flour and grist mills. These were distributed among the different Provinces as follows: British Columbia, 24; Manitoba, 50; New Brunswick, 188; Nova Scotia, 209; Ontario, 1,078; Prince Edward Island, 112; Quebec, 871; Territories, 18.

The exports in 1897 of the products of the Canadian mills were as follows: Wheat flour, 421,758 bbls., valued at $1,540,851; Indian meal, 822 bbls., valued at $1,708; oatmeal, 152,019 bbls., valued at $462,949; all other meals, 4,208 bbls., valued at $10,593.

The flour was exported to the following countries:

The total value of the total exports of flour, oatmeal, etc., last year was $2,016,101. It is obvious that the export trade should be a great deal larger than it is even with the mill capacity we now have, to say nothing of the possibilities of the country in this respect.

Great Britain imports nearly $45,000,000 of wheat flour, but Canada only supplies about $800,000, a mere "flea in the tar barrel."

According to the returns for 1896, Bermuda imported 20,886 packages of flour, and Canada only supplied 29 packages. St. Kitts imports over 24,000 barrels, but Canada contributes nothing, but why enumerate further?

The trouble is not with Canadian flour. The trouble is outside the commodity. For one thing, the freight rates are often against us. Then, we are not as aggressive as we might be, while proper attention is not always given to the matter of package. In 1896 our exports of flour sank to less than $1,000,000 in value, and even up to 1897 they were not as large as four or five years previously. But we are waking up in the matter. There is a more aggressive feeling abroad.

Although we at present send such a small quantity of flour to the West Indies, the market there is a good one if we will but adopt the right means to secure it. Not long since, a Barbadoes firm, writing to general freight agent Sutherland, of the Canadian Pacific railway, said: "We have not the least doubt that Canadian millers, will be sure to have their full share of the trade if they stick to it."

Nothing but apathy, and bad legislation on the part of Canadians, can prevent this country from being one of the chief flour exporting countries in the world. We have the soil, we have the climate, and we've got the natural facilities, too. The outlook for the flour industry of the Dominion was never better than it is to-day. Indeed, it was probably never so good. But, we must be careful what we do, or do not do. One thing that should not be done, at any rate at this stage of the history of the industry, that is, change the fiscal policy of the country regarding it.

The wheat acreage in Canada, like unto the population, is small.

Sir William Van Horne, in an interview the other day, declared there were 100,000,000 acres of unoccupied wheat lands in the Canadian Northwest, but, while the energetic president of the C.P.R. is given to talking largely in matters appertaining to the Northwest, there is no question that there are limitless acres in that part of the Dominion exceedingly well adapted to wheat producing. On account of altitude there are extensive wheat lands even within the Arctic circle. Wheat produced in the Mackenzie basin carried off first prize at the World's Fair.

Sir William Crookes, in his address before the British Association at Bristol, a few weeks ago, gave some interesting statistics in regard to the number of bread-eaters in the world. He showed that the number in 1871 was 371,000,000; in 1881 it was 416,000,000; in 1891 it was 472,600,000, and at the present time 516,500,000, and computed that, at the present rate of increase, the shortage would eventually be so great as to cause a catastrophe.

In regard to the United States, he points out that there practically remains no uncultivated prairie land in that country, and adds: "It is almost certain that within a generation the ever-increasing population of the United States will consume all the wheat grown in its borders and will be driven to import."

Whatever may be the correctness of Sir William Crookes' premises in other respects, there is probably no one in Canada who will agree with him in his conclusions regarding the wheat-producing possibilities of the Dominion. He seems, for instance, to take it for granted that because the wheat lands of Canada have, since 1884, increased less than 500,000 acres, that not much is to be expected from this country in the way of increased acreage. But, because the development of the country, in this respect, has been slow in the past, it is no reason that it should be in the future. Indeed, there is every sign that it will not be. Indeed, he himself acknowledges the exceptional fertility of the soil, and, as we have already pointed out, the area of land in the Northwest suitable for the production of wheat is practically limitless. And, if Canada has the possibilities of a great wheat-producing country, what is to prevent her from being a great flour-producing country as well? Nothing—except lack of enterprise and much mismanagement on our part.

A FAIR OFFER.

The manufacturers of Victorine are making a fair offer in this issue of THE GROCER. We refer to their ad. in another column, in which they invite any retailer to send them a post card and they will at once send him samples of Victorine for his own use. In this way retailers can test the article before buying. Victorine is a new departure in washing preparations. It has gained a good foothold in Montreal and Eastern Ontario, and the manufacturers are now open to the whole of Canada. Any one giving this a fair test will be convinced of its usefulness. It does not do away with soap, and it will not wash clothes by setting the two side by side, but it does lessen the labor 50 per cent.

possess all the invigorating qualities of coffee, yet one pound of the former will go further than twelve pounds of the latter. These teas are grown in soils and climates peculiarly adapted to producing the tenderest leaves, of which all superior teas are made.

Every pound is inspected by Government officials before being exported. Two-thirds of all the teas consumed in the United States and Canada are grown in Japan and Formosa. Sold by all Grocers.

How to Make Japan and Formosa Tea. (OFFICIAL RECIPE.)

Use a small, dry, and thoroughly clean porcelain or porcelain-lined tea-pot. Put in one teaspoonful of tea-leaves for each cup desired. Pour on required quantity of freshly boiled water, and let stand from two to three minutes with closed lid. Never boil the leaves. Tea-leaves should be kept in tight can or jar, free from moisture.

McEwan's Peerless Salt . . .

our reputation is established. Much has been said, and much has been written concerning salt, and, like every other article of food, the more it is studied, the more there is to learn, and, as makers of an article so universally used, but perhaps not so universally understood, we think that our Long Experience in its manufacture is of some value to the General Public.

For many years we have stood the Brunt of a Terrific Competition, and to-day, McEwan's Salt is still at the front, and PERFECT in its line. Experience has made it so. Our Brand is known throughout the Length and Breadth of Canada.

A Glance at our Label, a fac-simile of which appears above, will enable anyone to recognize a grade of Salt which can be relied on at all times.

Our Salt is put up in Every Style of Package, for every purpose, and being prepared from the PURE DIAMOND CRYSTAL ROCK SALT, its quality is assured. Years of Experience have PROVED that our Works have fortunately been placed to such advantage that they stand immediately above one of the Brightest Spots in this great Canadian Salt Deposit, and the impurities and Earthy matter defiling a great deal of the Salt Strata in Canada and elsewhere are to us almost unknown, but, instead, the Rock Salt used by us, a thousand feet below the surface, is as clear and pure as the Diamond, hence our facilities are complete for producing an article Perfect in Purity, Strength, Color and the other requisites necessary to a Superior Brand.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF WINNIPEG'S GROCERY TRADE.

BY E. C. H.

It is the habit of a great many people to speak of trade in Winnipeg as if it began with the boom. But, in reality, trade—grocery and otherwise—was opened at what is now

Winnipeg 161 years ago, when Montreal was a village and the sites of the great cities of Ontario were almost unbroken forest.

As early as 1737, Le Verandrye visited Red river, and built a trading post at the junction of the Red and Assiniboine, and thus the foundation of all the great trade of the western plains was begun.

Le Verandrye, by the way, was an ancestor of the late Venerable Archbishop Larkey, who did so much in after years to shape the destiny of the new colony.

History of the work of the French traders is meagre, but their post seems still to have been in existence when, in 1793, The Hudson's Bay Company arrived, and built a fort at the junction of the two great rivers, the strategic possibilities of this position seeming to have been recognized on sight.

SUPPLIES IN YORK BOATS.

All supplies came up the river from Hudson bay and York Factory in York boats, and groceries were luxuries in those days. The articles brought in were flour, salt, sugar, tea, currants, raisins and tobacco. Flour and tobacco were the two articles most used in barter with the Indians, a taste for tea being a later development, while sugar, currants and raisins were luxuries reserved for the officers of the company.

The Hudson's Bay Company held the ground as general purveyors, doing an ever-increasing trade in staple groceries, until about 1850.

In 1848, there had come to Fort Garry, in the employ of The Hudson's Bay Co., a young clerk—A. G. B. Bannatyne. At the end of his apprenticeship he left the company, and, having a shrewd mind and seeing the great possibilities of the situation, resolved to go into business for himself. The only means of getting goods was through The Hudson's Bay Co.'s ships.

Bannatyne ordered his first stock, and, after many difficulties and much delay, got it through. Subsequently, The Hudson's Bay

Co. brought suit against him for infringement of their chartered rights. The case was decided in young Bannatyne's favor. The great chartered company bowed to the decision then given, and the day of Hudson's Bay Co. monopoly in the great west was at an end.

Bannatyne was speedily followed by Andrew McDermott, John Higgins, W. H. Lyon, — Guipas, Dr. Schultz, W. G. Fonseca, H. S. Donaldson and others.

TRADE VIA ST. PAUL.

For a few years longer all goods came by way of Hudson Bay, but about 1856 trade was opened up with St. Paul, via Moorhead and St. Cloud. The Hudson's Bay Co. soon had a steamer on the river running from Fort Garry to Georgetown, but always refused to carry any but their own freight—all other traders had to bring theirs in carts across the prairie from Moorhead. It was a terrible journey, not to be lightly undertaken, and was generally performed only once, or at most twice, a year. The carts took out the furs and brought back goods of all kinds. For it must be remembered that at that time men were general traders and did not confine themselves to one line of goods.

Some idea may be gathered of the extent of the trade done from the fact that as early as 1868 A. G. B. Bannatyne had to send 800 carts for his supplies. Each cart brought in from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds.

Many a time has the "Neighing of the iron horse" been used as the signal sound of advancing civilization, think of what future commerce these carts were the heralds, as they screamed and groaned their way over the long miles of bare prairie! For those who have never enjoyed the delights of a ride between the great wooden wheels of a Red river cart, it may be well to explain that it sounds as though the wheels in motion suffered from a perpetual nightmare.

OPENING OF TRADE WITH EASTERN CANADA.

Up to the year 1867, no trade had been done with Eastern Canada; the bulk of the supplies came from England, via the United States. Kew, of London, whose name is almost as well-known in the Northwest, as in London itself, handled all the furs for the free traders, the spring sales of furs sometimes reaching thirty thousand pounds sterling. Freeman acted as Kew's agent, and the firm afterwards opened here as Kew & Stobart, doing a general jobbing trade. They were succeeded by Stobart, Eden & Co., who went into wholesale dry goods; the firm is now Stobart, Sons & Co., general dry goods. From the early forties, this house has been identified with all the interests of Winnipeg.

In 1867, Mr. Alex. Begg, afterwards the Hon. Alex. Begg, landed in Winnipeg. Almost at once he recognized two things. In the first place, Eastern Canada was the natural source of supply for Winnipeg and the west; and, in the second place, here was a first-class market for eastern manufacturers and importers. Being a Hamiltonian, Mr. Begg at once proceeded to capture the market for the wholesalers of the "Ambitious City." It was no easy task. Winnipeg dealers were very conservative, and had no particular liking for "long-haired Canadians," as they termed arrivals from Eastern Canada. By diligence, Mr. Begg succeeded in getting orders for $20,000 worth of goods. With these, he returned to Hamilton and laid the matter before the wholesale merchants, and they at once drew up an agreement appointing Mr. Alex. Begg as their agent. The houses that entered into this agreement were: James Turner & Co., grocers; Sandford & McGinnis, clothing; McGinnis & Calder, D. McGinnis & Co., dry goods; D. Galbraith & Co., hats and caps; Hamilton Powder Co.; Wm. McGiverin, hardware; D. Moore & Co., stoves; John McPherson & Co., boots; J. A. Skinner & Co., crockery; John Winer, drugs; J. G. Beckell & Co., machinery; Jacques & Hayes, furniture. Armed with this agreement, and accompanied by Andrew Strang, as assistant, Mr. Begg returned to Winnipeg, in 1868.

TRADE WITH EASTERN CANADA.

Very shortly after his return, Mr. Begg accepted a partnership with Bannatyne, and Mr. Robert Strang came up from Hamilton to represent the various firms. For some years, the business was carried on by holding a warehouse stock of staples, and forwarding orders for smaller lines. All accounts were cleared up once a year. Trade with eastern Canada, once opened, grew rapidly. By the June of 1872, the importation of goods from the east had grown to the handsome sum of $412,104.

From 1872 onward, trade in Winnipeg became less and less an Indian trade, and this demanded a choicer line of groceries, which were not slow to appear.

The trade in California fruit opened early, as, in January, 1874, a small house on runners, heated by a stove, and filled with fresh California fruit, was driven over the prairie from Moorhead, and peddled on the streets of Winnipeg.

In 1876, James Turner & Co., Hamilton, opened the first wholesale grocery in Winni-

EFFECTS OF THE BOOM.

When, in 1880, the great land boom struck Winnipeg, many of the men, already mentioned, who had made comfortable fortunes, and in some cases even large fortunes, rushed wildly into speculation, and the majority of them lost all they had made.

From that time on, new names began to appear among the business houses of Winnipeg. Some of the old houses are with us, however, under changed names, W. H. Lynn & Co. were succeeded by Lynn, McKenzie & Powis, who in turn gave place to McKenzie & Powis, and are now K. McKenzie & Co. Another firm that has stood the test of time is A. Strang & Co. successors to Bannatyne & Begg.

Among the firms that came in the later seventies and early eighties are G. F. & J. Galt, Thompson, Codville & Co., and Sutherland & Campbell. These houses, although not so historic as those already mentioned, have done much to build up a large, healthy and lucrative trade in Manitoba and the west.

During the boom, everything in the line of supplies was at high pressure and scores of men went into the retail grocery trade that had neither a knowledge of the business nor aptitude for it. Credit was given recklessly, and when the reaction came wholesale houses found that they had large numbers of unprofitable customers on their books.

TO DAY'S COMMODIOUS PREMISES.

All the houses in this trade now occupy commodious premises, erected and owned by the individual firms. Of all the firms operating here in the sixties and seventies, The Hudson's Bay Co. is the sole survivor under the original name.

The wholesale trade of the company is now chiefly confined to its own posts, though, there are many in the country with whom it is a matter of faith to buy from, "The Company," as they still call it. Next in order of seniority, come K. McKenzie & Co., A. Strang & Co. and Alexander (better known as Sandy) Macdonald. As already mentioned, Galt Bros., Sutherland & Campbell, The Codville Co., MacKenzie & Mills, came in just about the boom time.

This is a rough and necessarily imperfect sketch of the grocery trade, but it is, in the main points, correct. I am indebted to R. McFarlane and Wm. Clark, of The Hudson's Bay Co.; Andrew and Robert Strang, and Mr. James Turner, for much of the information herein contained. These gentlemen most kindly turned up old ledgers and letter-books to confirm dates.

Andrew Strang has in his possession the original agreement between the Hamilton merchants and Alex. Begg. It is a queer document, with a regiment of green seals.

THE SLAVES IN THE SHOPS.

The following paragraph, together with the accompanying facsimile of a poster, was sent to THE CANADIAN GROCER by its London, England, representative, J. Meredith McKim:

UNDER THE SHADOW OF OUR CHURCHES

There is a slavery as real as any which our forefathers abolished.

Pent up in the often stifling atmosphere of shops are hundreds of toilers to whom life is one everlasting round of bed and work.

LATE SHOPPERS SIN NO MORE.

"When I was wending my way through the delightful district called Battersea a few days ago I noticed a sign posted up on an old disused church. This was nothing unusual, because the churches here are usually adorned pretty liberally with election notices, appeals for votes, voters' lists, notices of vacancies in the parish poorhouse, and placards with similar announcements. But this particular notice was almost alone, on a grimy black wall, that was originally built of white brick, and once its flaring red heading caught my eye I had to stop and read it.

"I am sending a copy of it, because I think it will interest you. Have you seen anything similar in Canada? It was posted up by one of the early-closing associations here, and I think it is worthy of note. Clerks have horribly long hours here. Many of the shops outside what is known as 'the city' are open six nights a week till 9 or 10 o'clock. And, as the notice says, it must be a continual round of 'bed and work' for the poor clerks.

"This early closing movement has my heartiest sympathy, and, judging from the number of associations over here connected with it, progress is being made."

THE STIMPSON COMPUTING SCALE.

There is a growing feeling among merchants that the small fractional losses in weighing staple and other groceries are of such importance that it does not pay to be without a computing scale.

With a view to acquiring a share of the Canadian trade, The Stimpson Computing Scale Co., Elkhart, Indiana, recently established an agency at 70 Yonge street arcade, Toronto.

Though the construction of the Stimpson computing scale is thorough in all details, its mechanism is so simple that any clerk can easily understand the principle of computation. A good feature with this scale is that the computing beam shows the customer, as well as the clerk, the exact value of his purchase.

These scales are constructed in various styles. For staple goods the Stimpson Computing Grocers' Scale, will be found the best. For lighter goods or small amounts the even-balance or trip computing scale will be more convenient. A computing beam market scale with a capacity of 50 lb. is particularly suitable for those selling meats, etc.

Persons desiring more definite information concerning these scales should write to the Stimpson Computing Scale Co., 70 Yonge street arcade, Toronto.

FIFTEEN KINDS OF REFRIGERATORS.

Evidences of the popularity of Aubin's patent refrigerator, manufactured by C. P. Fabien, Notre Dame street, Montreal, is given by the fact that their sale now extends throughout the Dominion, from ocean to ocean.

As 15 kinds of these refrigerators, in all sizes, from 4 to 10 feet in length, are manufactured by this firm, merchants desiring one should be able to make a suitable selection from their stock.

AN INTERESTING BUSINESS MAN.

BY H.F.P.

FEW travelers have spent forty years in active service, and fewer still have represented the same firm during their whole business life. It has fallen to C. E. Colson's lot to do so, however, and to him belongs the distinction of being the oldest commercial traveler—in point of service—in Canada.

Coming to this country in 1858, he took a position with Alex. Urquhart & Co., wholesale grocers, Montreal, who controlled Crosse & Blackwell's sauces, and Epps's cocoa, as well as other British goods, for Canada.

He remained with the Urquharts until they retired from business, in 1876. He then formed a new firm under the style of Converse, Colson & Lamb, to take over some of their agencies, including the two mentioned above. Subsequently, his partners retired, and Mr. Colson carried the business on alone until his son joined him a few months ago.

"When I first came to Montreal," said Mr. Colson, in conversation one day, "things were not as we see them now. The city didn't extend much west of Guy street, nor north of St. Catherine, and its revenue was not much more than $300,000 a year. Why, the exports and imports for the whole country were only about $66,000,000!

"I came here at a time when great changes were taking place, and Canada was going ahead by leaps and bounds. The decimal currency had just come into use, and the first Atlantic cable was being laid. They had completed the Great Western Railway—looked upon as a marvelous achievement then—a short time before."

"Have business conditions changed much since then?" I asked.

"Oh, yes," he replied, with a smile. "In my early days, the wholesale men had to import such things as sugar, tea and rice direct from the country of production. The retail merchant bought—and paid—but twice a year, so that the jobber had to purchase enormous stocks—whole cargoes, in fact. 'Drummers,' as we know them, were unheard of then. Each house sent out a representative twice a year, but we were always particular not to call upon a rival's customers. There was plenty for us all, and competition in getting orders was unknown. We handled big accounts in those days. Why, I have known one firm owe us as much as $10,000, and, when settling day came, we were often lucky if we got 50 per cent. in cash. Our profits were large, but when we met with a loss it was generally a heavy one."

It is the railroad and the telegraph that have wrought the wonderful change in our methods of doing business. In the old days, Mr. Colson told me, it was no uncommon thing for a merchant to drive from Toronto to Montreal, in the dead of winter, to buy goods. Then, it took 14 days; now, the same journey occupies about 10 hours. Rapid transit has removed the need for huge stocks. Merchants buy lightly and buy oftener. As an instance of the prices that ruled, Mr. Colson mentioned Cox's gelatine. "We paid 20 per cent. duty," he explained, "and we got $1.10 per dozen for it. If we couldn't get our own price, no sale was made. Now, we pay 15 per cent., but we can only get 96c. for it. It is the same with a dozen other lines. Competition has lowered the price on them all."

Mr. Colson related some interesting reminiscences of the trade. Formerly, tea came to Montreal by the shipload. Often one firm would receive a consignment worth a fabulous amount. India and Ceylon had not become the important factors in the market that they are to-day; in fact, almost nothing but China tea was imported. The profits on tea were large, and in one year Mr. Colson made no less than $63,000.

Everything considered, Mr. Colson says, the merchant of to-day should be able to do as profitable a business as his predecessors. Profits are smaller, perhaps, but far more goods are sold and the terms of credit are shorter.

Mr. Colson's firm represent Crosse & Blackwell, Cox's gelatine, Epps's cocoa and Slade's butter-scotch. The three first named have been in his hands for 40 years, while Crosse & Blackwell's agency has been carried on by the Urquharts and Mr. Colson for more than 60 years.

C. E. Colson was one of the 300 volunteers who guarded Victoria bridge during the Fenian raids. The same men (Mr. Colson amongst them), formed a body guard for Lord Monck during his stay in Montreal.

It is a pleasant thing for a man who has left his youth behind to be able to look back on a busy life and feel that he has accomplished something.

Mr. Colson has built up an important business, established an honorable name, and made more friends than most men. He is still an active business man and looks as though he were good for twenty years to come.

"UNCLE" JOHN BULL.

Whatever jealous nations may say about John Bull's ambition to boss the better part of the globe, they must admit that he can always be relied upon to be a friend in need. Nothing proves this more forcibly than the fact that England is surety for vast sums borrowed by some of her colonies, and even by Turkey and Greece.

At the present time, we are surety for a loan of £358,000 raised by the West Indies, at the moderate interest of 4 per cent. With the aid of the British taxpayer, Egypt raised an immense loan some time back, and still owes £8,270,000 of it.

We have also enabled the Mauritius to borrow £600,000 for the relief of distress caused by a terrible hurricane some years ago. Then we have backed a bill of Canada's for the big amount of £6,900,000, which that country usefully spent on railways and canals.

And lately we have become surety for nearly £1,500,000 of Greece's loan.

Altogether, the English taxpayer is surety for the payment of £69,600,000.—Answers.

THE LATE J. J. COLMAN.

THE accompanying photo. is of the late Jeremiah James Colman, head of the famous mustard firm of J. and J. Colman, Carrow, Norwich.

Mr. Colman's death took place on Sept. 18. Comparatively recently he lost his wife and son Alan. And from then until the time of his death he had been unwell. On the Monday preceding his death, he had been yachting, on Tuesday and Wednesday driving. On Thursday, he was unwell, but it was not until the following day that alarming symptoms began to manifest themselves. Medical consultations were held; but all to no purpose. On Saturday he became unconscious and on Sunday he died.

Mr. Colman was born in 1830, at Stoke Holy Cross, near Norwich, and was, consequently, 68 years of age at his death. He married, in 1856, Caroline, daughter of Mr. Hardy Cozens-Hardy, of Letheringsett Hall, Norfolk. It is largely due to the influence of this able, energetic and affectionate companion that Mr. Colman took and maintained a most useful and prominent place in the public life of Norwich and East Anglia. He inherited the business capacity of his father and uncles, and the Carrow works under his direction have had the greatest share in the prosperity of the city of Norwich. He became sheriff of Norwich in 1862, and mayor in 1867, when his hospitality made the year a marked one in the municipal history of the city. Ever since, Mr. Colman's position in the city of Norwich has been undoubted. Technically its first citizen only during his mayoral year, he remained always its first citizen in the sense of being the man to whom all his fellow citizens looked up as their natural leader. At different times he entertained distinguished guests—the Prince of Wales, Mr. Gladstone and General Booth among their number; while, whenever distinguished public bodies, like the British Association, visited Norwich, Mr. Colman was invariably to the fore to entertain them. He and his wife and family took a leading part in religious and philanthropic movements, and there has not been a public improvement in the city for many years with which his name has not been associated in the public mind. When Mr. Tillett was unseated in 1871, Mr. Colman was asked to stand in the Liberal interest, and was returned by a majority, which astonished both friends and foes. Mr. Colman was, all through his Parliamentary life, a supporter of Mr. Gladstone's policy, and an active member of the Nonconformist section of the Liberal party. He was always ready for any call of charity, and was interested in everything which tended to raise the tone of politics, or to apply Christian principles to political affairs. The measure of his giving was dictated by the merits of the object for which help was sought, and not by the creed of those who were to be helped. While he in no wise restricted himself to the town in which he was so prominent a figure as regards the exercise of his benevolence, it need not be added that nearly every charity or philanthropic movement in that town found in him a warm and munificent supporter. He had built a delightful seaside home at Corton, near Lowestoft, where he died, the grounds of which were laid out under the direction of his wife, and in which the natural features of the district had been remarkably harmonized with the order and beauty of the park and garden. Mr. Colman was justifiably proud of the great and unique works which he had established. The long rows upon rows of great warehouses and factories rise themselves and their chimney stacks from amidst a countryside that is surpassing fair, and the din and roar of the great machinery break on the quiet sylvan scene in a manner indescribably affecting. The River Wensum, which winds past the huge works and timber yards, appears like a silver streak against the heavy flank of the many-storeyed buildings which, for nearly a mile of its length, represents the river frontage of Carrow Works. Upon its surface lie the barges, wherries and steamers, which bring from and carry to the sea the almost boundless stores of this great manufactory. With hill and dale and lovely bush and greenery on every side, the buildings of this great industry form one of the most remarkable pictures the world can show. It was here, and about here, that the late Mr. Colman lived his great life, worked out his great work, and died.

His eldest son and successor, Mr. Russell J. Colman, is a worthy descendant of such a sire, and the world-wide interests of the firm of J. & J. Colman, Limited, are not likely to undergo any material change in continuity, or in the policy which has made it the largest and most important business of the kind in the world, under his auspices and those of his co-directors.

The remains of Mr. Colman were interred in Norwich, on September 23, the windows of nearly all the shops in the city being shaded, and thousands of people of all classes of the community gathering round the grave.

During the past three years, death has been a frequent visitor to the Colman home, having, within that short time, taken away grandmother, father, mother and brother.

Although, probably but very few merchants in Canada had seen Mr. Colman, yet, their familiarity with his goods has doubtless made a good many of them feel as if they were acquainted with him. For this reason the number of sympathizers in the Dominion, with the bereaved family is many.

GROWTH OF A TEA PACKAGE HOUSE.

TEN years ago the package tea trade in Canada was nil. Five years ago it was of insignificant proportions. Now it is a feature of the grocery trade, and nearly every retailer handles it, and nearly every retailer has on his window the white enamel sign of one or more of the several package tea companies.

Every line of trade as well as every country has its pioneer. The pioneer of the package tea trade in Canada is the Salada Tea Co., of which Mr. P. C. Larkin is the founder.

It is about six years since this firm started on its career in package teas at 25 Front street east, Toronto. At that time it only occupied part of the building, but eventually it had not only absorbed the whole of the three-storey building, but had taken in a flat in the adjoining building. Then the fire of last winter came and compelled the firm to seek new quarters. The warehouse at 32 Yonge street was at the time vacant, and Mr. Larkin moved into it, the intention being to occupy it until his old premises were again ready for him. But, being offered the building at a moderate sum, he eventually bought it.

The building is 40 feet wide, 113 deep, five storeys high, and is constructed of sandstone.

Immediately on purchasing the building Mr. Larkin began its renovation on an extensive scale, both exteriorly and interiorly.

The hall, which is 15 feet wide, by 40 feet deep, is particularly handsome. The floor is tiled in blue, white and red. A portion of the walls is decorated with Japanese paper, and what is not papered is filled with plate glass windows, which expose the private and business offices and the sample-room. The paneling is done in bas relief, the design of which is decidedly pretty. The ceiling is covered with Lincrusta-Walton. The woodwork in the hall is of polished oak. At the end of the hall, and dividing it from the warehouse behind, is a sliding door, which is as handsome as it is striking. The door itself is of oak, but the upper panels are of cathedral glass in various colors, with the face of a handsome woman, life size, as the central piece, while the effect of all is greatly heightened by an electric reflector, which is stationed behind and moves with the door.

Immediately on the right hand side of the main entrance is the sample-room, where all the teas purchased are tested and where all the blends for "Salada" are made up. This room is finished in oak, is papered with a nicely green-tinted paper, and appropriate and nicely framed pictures hang on the walls.

The private office of Mr. Larkin is immediately in the rear of the sample-room, from which it is divided by a partition of oak and chipped glass. It is a luxurious, cozy little office with its liberal furnishings of couch, easy chairs, pictures, etc.

The business office is on the opposite side of the hall from the sample-room and private office, and is about 40 feet long.

After having inspected the offices and come along, pick them up, shove them through a little door, a couple of feet above the floor, and away they slide through a chute to the next flat, where the labeling machine is stationed. This machine is driven by electricity and is operated by about a dozen boys. One boy stands at the head of the machine and rapidly feeds it with brown, green, blue, red or gold colored labels or stickers, as the case may be. These labels are conveyed along a canvas carrier some twenty feet in length and are quickly picked up by the boys who are stationed at either side of the carrier and attached to the packages of tea piled up at their side. From the labeling machine the packages are conveyed to another part of the same floor, where they are piled, pyramid shape, on large tables to dry.

"What induced you to go into the tea package business?" I asked Mr. Larkin, after I had comfortably settled myself in a nice easy chair in his private office.

"Because," replied Mr. Larkin with much earnestness, "I believed the tea trade was not being done right; that the consumer was not being served as well as he might be; that the retailer was always burdened with about twenty times as much tea as he should have; that nine stores out of ten were buying tea which they had to carry in stock for years after they had paid for it, it all the time, as I need not tell you, deteriorating in quality.

"Then, another thing which induced me to go into the tea package business was this: The departmental stores were seriously cutting into the tea trade, because they were turning over their stock quickly and, of course, while it was fresh. So I believed a large trade could be done by putting tea up in lead packages and selling to the grocers in small quantities, and advertising it at least as much as the departmental stores, hoping thereby to keep the tea trade in the grocers' hands, for we decided to refuse to supply either pedlars or departmental stores.

We commenced with a very small staff, but to-day, including our staff in the United States, we employ 109 persons. And, let me tell you this, large as our trade in Canada is, we expect that in the United States to become still larger. We already have our own stores in Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Detroit. In the two last-named places we have recently had to take larger premises."

"Salada," Flanked by the Banks of Montreal and Hamilton.

sample-room, the other day, I climbed to the fifth storey, where all the tea is stored as it comes in. Over in one corner is an arrangement much after the fashion of the hoppers we sometimes see in the old-time flour mills. Into this hopper the tea is poured, finding its exit in a ponderous mixer of 3,000 pounds capacity on the floor below. This mixer is driven by electricity. After the tea is mixed it is delivered into large trays and conveyed to the tea packing machines stationed on the same floor, where it is packed into pound, half-pound, quarter-pound and sample packages.

"Those young men at that machine," explained Mr. Larkin, as I stood before one group of operators, watching the packing process, "can turn out 20,000 half-pound packages per week."

As the trays at the side of each machine become filled with packages of tea, boys

RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE regular monthly meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held on Monday evening, in the rooms of the association, St. George's Hall, Elm street. The president, W. H. Marmion, was in the chair, and a good representation of the members was present.

A communication was received from John A. Kirkpatrick, Nelson, B.C., asking for a copy of the constitution and by-laws of the association, as a number of merchants in that town are desirous of forming an association similar to that in Toronto. The secretary, Ed. Hawes, was instructed to send a copy of the new constitution as soon as printed.

The report of the monthly entertainment committee was received. The expenses of the social evening, two weeks ago, were $10.90. This was considered, by those present, money well spent.

The following grocers were proposed for membership in the association: Geo. Burfoot, 548 Bloor street west; E. P. Roberts, 101 Dovercourt road; W. T. Gibbons, corner Yonge street and Davenport road, and Bannerman Bros., Spadina avenue.

The matter of peddlers' licenses was brought up, and, from the discussion created by the consideration of the matter, it is evident that a determined effort will be made to elect aldermen who will meet the wishes of the association in the matter.

The president, W. H. Marmion, the vice-president, F. W. Johnson and the treasurer, W. J. Sykes, were appointed a committee to visit The Toronto Retail Merchants' Association, and ask that body to cooperate with them, in having a circular printed and sent to the various merchants interested, containing a pledge to be submitted to aldermanic candidates promising to take the action desired by the merchants. The committee were empowered to bear a share of the expense of sending out these circulars.

The draft of the proposed constitution and by-laws was read the third time, and, after various alterations and additions, was, on the motion of D. J. Kelly and A. G. Booth, adopted. The constitution committee were instructed to have as many copies printed as they thought advisable.

It was moved by R. B. Snow and Robt. Davies, that another social evening be spent two weeks from Monday, and that each member invite a grocer, either wholesaler or retailer.

In speaking to this motion, Abraham White suggested that the programme be altered this month so that those who did not enjoy smoking and card playing might be invited.

This suggestion led up to a discussion of ways and means, the upshot of which was that the matter was left in the hands of the committee, the feeling of the meeting being that Mr. White's suggestion should be carried out.

GILLARD'S PICKLES AND SAUCES.

On another page will be seen the advertisement of Gillard & Co., London, Eng., manufacturers of Gillard's new pickles and new sauces, two articles of world-wide reputation, and which have carried off the highest awards at all the pure food shows in England, now having twelve gold medals to their credit, besides being in use in over 6,000 of the leading hotels and restaurants throughout Great Britain. These goods possess a piquancy and flavor distinctively their own, and to which they owe their immense popularity. They have been before the Canadian public for some years, and have already a strong foothold here. The wholesale trade is pushing them on account of their intrinsic merits, and comparatively low price, considering the quality of the goods.

"AURORA" CEYLON TEA.

"Aurora" Ceylon Tea, packed by W. H. Gillard & Co., although on the market but a short time, has won for itself many friends among Canadian tea drinkers. Every line used in this blend is thoroughly tested in the cup by experts, and, as nothing but the highest grades from the best known gardens in Ceylon are used, the packers should have a large out-turn for this article, as undoubtedly they will, if merit counts for anything with the consumer. The packages are something out of the ordinary, very attractive shelf goods, and air-tight. In addition to its other characteristics, the package containing "Aurora" makes a very useful receptacle for household purposes.

ALUMINUM FOR GROCERS' MEASURES.

The many uses to which aluminum can be put is apparently limited by man's requirements alone. In a visit to the aluminum works of C. T. Christie & Co., I was surprised to find that almost anything was being made from this material.

What seemed to me the most useful, from a grocer's point of view, was his line of grocers' measures and other specialties. These are made specially for measuring vinegars and acids, which have no effect on this metal. They are light, always retain their brightness, and this, taken together with their durability, makes them very much cheaper and better than either tin or wood.

PURE MALT VINEGAR.

Purnell's pure malt vinegar, manufactured by Purnell, Webb & Co., Bristol, Eng., which has made such headway on the Canadian market during the last few years, has been sold in England for a century, but was not introduced into Canada until 10 years ago, when Purnell, Webb & Co. had one agent. The reduction in duty, through the preferential tariff, enabled them to increase their sales to such an extent that agencies were opened in six of the principal cities of the Dominion. The further rebate in the duty this year has brought up the total sales to the end of July, 1898, about equal to the aggregate sale during 1897, and has necessitated the establishment of additional agencies. Purnell's pure malt vinegar has a reputation in Great Britain for purity and quality, and, from the reception it is now meeting in Canada, it seems it is worthy of its reputation.

SALT AND PRIZE-WINNING CHEESE.

The Windsor Salt Co., Limited, offered three gold medals to be awarded for the best selection of cheese exhibited at the Industrial Fair, Toronto, the Western Fair, London, and the International Exhibition, St. John, N.B., no restriction being made as to what salt should be used in the manufacture of the cheese to which the medal was awarded. The medals were awarded as below: Industrial Fair, Toronto, A. F. Clark, Poole; Western Fair, London, Murdoch Morrison, Harriston; International Exhibition, St. John, N.B., Alberton Dairying Association, Alberton, P.E.I. In the three instances, the parties who received the medals used Windsor salt. Two of the medals can be seen in Ryrie Bros.' store, Yonge street, Toronto.

STANDARD LAMPS FOR MERCHANTS.

The season is now at hand when merchants who deal in lamps will make preparation for the fall and winter trade. The Rochester Lamp Co., with Canadian headquarters at 24 Front street west, Toronto, show a large assortment of its widely-known "New Rochester" lamps. The firm's lamps are recognized as the standard in Canada and the United States, and they have styles and grades to suit any conditions.

WEIGH YOUR MONEY.

The grocers of Canada are realizing the fact that it pays better to get the Wilson money weight scales, which tell the price per pound and value of the purchase in cash, and, at the same time, give the weight in pounds and ounces. This is a great convenience, and makes mistakes in calculations impossible.

IDENTITY IN THE SAMPLE-ROOM.

SOME of the country retail dealers imagine they are well known to all the wholesale houses when they visit the city. They walk into the sample-room and ask to see a certain line of goods, without acquainting the salesman with their names. When questioned as to who they are or their place of business, some of them think you are too inquisitive.

"Well, I have been dealing here for nearly 20 years and you don't know me? I am surprised!"

Such are the remarks made by visiting country dealers who suppose you keep an album with their photographs in, and every salesman in the house should know them. It is, no doubt, very disagreeable to question a good customer as to his business, etc., but, in order to obtain the best prices and terms, he is forced, you may say, to disgorge his name and address.

I have been induced to make these remarks by a conversation which I recently overheard in the sample-room of Boeckh Bros. & Company, between a salesman and a country merchant.

HIGH-GRADE WINTER WHEAT FLOURS.

In order to the manufacture of modern high quality flour there must be a modernly equipped mill. N. Wenger & Bros., proprietors of the Ayton Mills, Ayton, Ont., make a specialty of high grade winter wheat flours, and, in order to do this, their mill has been equipped with modern machinery. Fire destroyed the old mill in 1893. Three years later a new building was put up. It is three storeys high and has a basement. The capacity of the mill is 100 barrels per day, with prospects of being increased. The brands of flour made by the Ayton Mills are: "Edelweiss," a high patent, and "May Blossom," a family flour.

ACETYLENE GAS MACHINE.

On page 63, of this issue, will be found the advertisement of the Acetylene Lighting Co., Limited, London, Ont. This machine attracted a great deal of attention at the Industrial and Western Fairs, on account of the excellent character of the light it produced. Acetylene gas has now passed the experimental stage, and its character is such, that its use for lighting factories and stores is certain to gradually extend. The Acetylene Lighting Co. does not claim that its machine, "The Sun," is the best in the world, but, it asserts, with emphasis, that it is not afraid to guarantee that its machine will do all that is claimed for it.

SWEET AND SOUR PICKLES.

Famous among the American brands of pickles, are those manufactured by Williams Bros. & Charbonneau, of Detroit, Mich. This firm manufactures an immense line of high-class goods, including fancy sweet and sour pickles, catsups, mustards, soups, baked beans, jams, etc. The style of their packages is unique and elegant, and the quality of their goods is beyond question. Their vegetables and fruits are raised on immense farms, which are models of modern agricultural development, and, from the planting of the seed to the selling of the product, constant care and vigilance place Williams Bros. & Charbonneau in an enviable position among the pickle manufacturers of the world. Although they now have three large factories, besides immense salting works, etc., they find their capacity inadequate for the demand for their goods, and are now arranging to build another large factory. A. E. Richards & Co., Hamilton, are selling agents for these goods in Canada, and they report large sales, with the demand increasing.

THE CANADIAN PORK PRODUCT INDUSTRY.

WHEN the opening of the Northwest demonstrated that we had one of the cheapest and greatest wheat-producing territories in the world, "the wise men of the east" realized that the farmers of eastern Canada had to turn their attention to other sources of revenue, or they would be ruined by the competition of the cheap wheat of the west.

It was then that Mr. J. W. Flavelle, then of Dundas, Flavelle & Co., saw that, if eastern Canada could not raise wheat profitably, there were other things she could, and that, well. He suggested to THE CANADIAN GROCER that in pork and pork products Canada had an opening, the development of which, besides giving employment to thousands of laborers and being a paying investment for capitalists, would give to the farmers an easy and profitable means of using the coarser grains, for which their farms were so suitably adapted.

Acting on his suggestion, we began agitating for more attention to this industry, and, by procuring definite knowledge as to the requirements of the different markets, we were soon rewarded by seeing the farmers and merchants earnestly turning their attention to this unlimited source of revenue, with the result that to-day this one industry stands as a monument of Canadian national development.

Not many years ago, in certain sections of Canada, the total quantity of hog products used, for at least six months of the year, was imported. In the large lumbering districts, the entire quantity of this staple article was American. To-day, not only is the home market supplied, but our exports of bacon alone bring millions to to enrich our farmers.

It is not only in money value that we have been benefited. Canadian bacon, among other products, has been the means of drawing the attention of the overcrowded countries of Europe to Canada, as a field for settlement, and also as a profitable investment for their surplus capital.

We have heard lately of several British capitalists sending out agents to look over the field. In many cases they have met with encouragement, and several prospective factories are the result. But, in others, we are sorry to report, they have not been so successful. We think farmers and merchants should not hastily let such an opportunity pass them by.

THE GROCER is pleased with the success that has already been attained. But our people must not rest content. There are several places where a packing establishment would be a paying investment. The market for first-class goods is almost unlimited, and with proper care in the selection and feeding of stock, as well as curing of the meats, we can, and ought to, at least, soon double our output.

The Maritime Provinces, especially New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, should be a good field for this business. They have a temperate climate, rich soil, and splendid water and rail facilities, and we are sorry to see that they have not sooner and more energetically taken hold of this matter. We think the Government, instead of spending thousands in trying to raise wheat, would do better to spend the money, or part of it, in the encouragement of this industry. There are signs, however, of an awakening, and we predict that once they take hold of this matter, it will be the means of bringing thousands of settlers to fill their unoccupied lands, and make the present farms far more valuable.

We are pleased to learn that a Maritime firm has been successful in putting up canned bacon, and is making preparation for greatly enlarging its output, not only of bacon, but sausages. With the rapid development of our northern gold fields, and the general favor and usefulness of canned goods in particular, this ought to prove a profitable investment.

TO ENCOURAGE BETTER TEA.

The Salada Tea Co. is placing with the trade a neat and attractive box for the counter containing 10 lb. of its 40c. tea done up in two-ounce packages for retailing at 5c. each. As the demand of late years has been largely running on 25c. tea, this scheme should encourage the use of a better class article. The Salada Tea Co. is to be congratulated upon its enterprise.

MONTREAL GROCERS ELECT OFFICERS.

About fifty members of the Montreal Grocers' Association were present at the regular monthly meeting, held in the Monument Nationale on Oct. 6.

The principal business of the evening was the election of officers for 1898-99.

Other candidates having withdrawn their nomination, President John Scanlan was re-elected by acclamation. Mr. V. Raby was nominated for vice-president by A. D. Fraser, with ex-President Vallieres as seconder, and was also elected by acclamation. Ald. Turner was elected as second-vice-president, N. Lapointe as secretary, and J. D. Dixon as treasurer (re-elected), all by acclamation.

The balloting for directors resulted as follows: L. D. Vallieres, S. Demers, Jas. Pepin, A. D. Fraser, J. E. Manning and John Johnston.

THE "IMPERIAL'S" EXPORT TRADE.

IN order to develop an export trade two essentials are chiefly necessary. The one is quality of goods and the other is enterprise on the part of the manufacturers or handlers of the goods.

It is folly to try and build up an export trade unless the quality is present, and it is equally foolish to expect that because the quality is commendable the goods will sell themselves.

The manufacturers of MacLaren's "Imperial" cheese recognized this. This cheese carried off the highest prize at the World's Fair in Chicago, scoring one hundred points. This established its quality. But A. F. MacLaren & Co. knew that this alone was not going to create a market for it, either at home or abroad.

They knew that energy, enterprise and judicious advertising must be brought in vogue. What they knew they practised. And the result is a rapidly expanding trade, abroad as well as at home.

To-day, large quantities of "Imperial" go to Great Britain, and quite respectable lots to Australia, China and Japan. Germany takes it. So does South Africa, Fiji Islands, Cuba, Jamaica, Bahamas, etc. To the Klondyke a great deal of it goes. Recently, a small lot went to Calcutta for a private gentleman, and a merchant out there who tasted it wrote MacLaren & Co., offering to handle "Imperial" in India.

What MacLaren & Co. have done with cheese, other people can do with other lines.

AN ENGLISH BISCUIT MAN.

Mr. Edward Pether, agent for Peek, Frean & Co., biscuit manufacturers, London, Eng., has been in Montreal the past week on his annual business trip to Canada. He spent the week with Chas. Gyde, their Canadian agent, calling on the trade in the city, and speaks encouragingly of their success so far. He leaves this week for Toronto and the west, stopping at all the principal centres from Montreal to the Coast. Mr. Pether has been in the employ of this firm for the past forty years, and for the last ten years has traveled in every part of the globe. He also, for this trip, specially represents Rowntree & Co., cocoa manufacturers, York, Eng., and Goodall, Backhouse & Co., Yorkshire Relish, Leeds, Eng.

NEW SEASON'S FIGS DELIVERED.

SOME small deliveries of the first shipment of new season's Smyrna figs were made during the past week.

The quality of the fruit is good, but it is said that the average quality this year will be poor, while in quantity the crop is now estimated at 25 per cent., instead of 33 per cent., as it a short time ago promised to be.

The price for layers will be from 25 to 30c. per lb., figures without precedent.

Comadra figs, in taps, have been imported largely, in consequence of the high price of the Eleme description, but the supply of these is now exhausted, and it is probable their price will steadily increase throughout the season.

WOODEN BUTTER PLATES DEARER.

A sharp advance has taken place in the price of wooden butter plates. The advance is from 12½ to 20 per cent., and is the second within the last three or four months.

Present figures per thousand, compared with those previously ruling, are as follows:

|                         | New Price. | Old Price. |
|-------------------------|------------|------------|
| Half-pound plates ..... | $1.55     | $1.20     |
| One-pound " .....       | 1.65       | 1.30       |
| Two-pound " .....       | 1.95       | 1.70       |
| Three-pound " .....     | 2.25       | 2.00       |
| Five-pound " .....      | 3.00       | 2.50       |

DRIED APPLES,

Balfour & Co., Hamilton, are among the largest buyers and exporters of dried and evaporated apples in Canada. As they are in constant touch with the best foreign markets they are always in a position to pay the highest prices. It would be to the interests of retail merchants to communicate with this firm before selling their stocks.

ADVANCE IN ROQUEFORT CHEESE.

In consequence of abnormally hot and dry weather in France during the past summer, the yield of milk in the Roquefort district was light, with the result that the production of cheese is far behind that of former years. This has led to an advance of about 25 francs per 100 kilos in Roquefort cheese. Canadian importers have had to pay an advance of 1½c. per lb.

SEEDING RAISINS BY MACHINE.

The raisin seeder, recently installed by W. Northrop in his fruit-cleaning establishment, Esplanade street west, Toronto, is doing excellent work. Its capacity is already taxed to the utmost to fill orders. The feature of this machine is its power to seed Valencia raisins. Previous to the invention of this machine, for which Mr. Northrop has the patent rights in Canada, all attempts to clean this variety of raisin had proved unsuccessful.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Oct. 13, 1898.
GROCERIES.

THE chief features of the wholesale grocery trade are the new regulations for the sale of sugar and the reduction in prices. The wholesale grocery trade is not quite as brisk as it was a week or two ago, but a fair business is being done nevertheless. Canned vegetables continue firm, but there is not much business being done. The position of canned salmon is rather firmer than a week ago, owing to unfavorable reports from the Coast, regarding the coho pack. Coffees are steady in price, but they are attracting little or no attention. Syrups and molasses continue quiet. Spices are without change. Wholesalers report a fairly good trade in teas, but there is not much being done by shippers' agents. The tea market, generally, rules firm. Both Bosnia and French prunes are cabled a little easier. New season's California prunes are on the Toronto market this week. The few new season's layer figs there are on the market are selling at from 25 to 30c. per lb.

CANNED GOODS.

Advices from the Coast state that the coho pack is practically a failure. The ruling price f.o.b. the Coast is now $4, but there is no business doing, as far as can be learned, at this figure. A quotation of $3.75 would probably secure buyers, but even this figure a good many consider too high. We hear of transactions in Fraser river sockeye canned salmon, at $5 f.o.b. the Coast, but this is rather below the combination price ruling in England. Wholesalers report very few sales of sockeye, but there is more enquiry for cohoes than for them. Quite a few canned fruits, such as peaches, plums, strawberries and raspberries, are being shipped by wholesalers to the Northwest. The demand in Ontario is almost nil. A good business is being done in canned corn and beans in tomato sauce. A steady and increasing trade is being done in canned finnan haddie. The leading wholesale quotations are: Tomatoes, 85 to 90c.; corn, 85 to 90c.; peas, 70c. up; Fraser river sockeye, in tall tins, $1.40 to $1.50; Lowe inlet, $1.35 to $1.40; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.15; peaches, $1.65 to $1.75 for 2's, and $2.65 to $2.75 for 3's; plums, $1.35; strawberries, $1.50; raspberries, $1.65. For peaches, $1.40 to $1.50 is being asked by the packers.

COFFEES.

Coffees, both locally and in the outside markets, are dull, with prices steady and unchanged.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

This is supposed to be the beginning of the syrup season, but there is very little business being done in them, from the fact that the refineries have nothing to offer. There have been some importations of syrup from the United States within the past few days, but the high duty precludes much of this being done. Molasses is quiet and unchanged.

SUGARS.

The refineries have reduced prices 10c. per 100 pounds, but the most interesting feature of the market is the new regulations agreed upon by the wholesalers in regard to quoting sugar. By this agreement prices will hereafter be for delivery, the quotations being based upon the Montreal figures, plus the freight. The terms are as before. The price of standard granulated sugar in now

*See pages 137 and 138 for
Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

$4.58 per 100 lb. There is not much demand for sugar.

The European markets are firmer than they were. On Monday cane was cabled 1½d. dearer, while beet was firm. Giesicker estimates the deficiency in the European beet crop at 400,000 tons and Licht's estimate places the deficiency at 250,000 tons. These estimates have contributed to making the market firmer. A firmer tone also prevails on the New York market.

RICE.

The market keeps firm, but unmarked by any special features.

NUTS.

Shipments of walnuts will be late and buyers will only have a few days before Christmas in which to distribute their goods. Prices are 30 to 50 per cent. higher than last year. Early shipments of Tarragona almonds will cost about 11c. laid down, but purchases at to-day's figures would cost one cent per lb. more. Some business from London, England, has been done during the week, in Brazil nuts.

TEAS.

The market for both Indian and Ceylon growths of tea continues firm. The higher prices are deterring local importers to do business at the moment, they holding off with the hope that the market may take an easier turn. Wholesalers have, however, been picking up spot lots offered. The revised estimate of the Indian tea crop places the yield at 154,000,000 lb. against an original estimate of 158,750,000 lb.

The first shipments of new season's green teas—Young Hysons and gunpowders—arrived this week. They show good values. It is expected that not more than 50 per cent. of the orders for China green teas will be filled this year.

Japan teas of high grade are firm, but poor teas are easy. Third crop teas are showing poor style, being very ragged. These third crop teas are expected here in about 10 days.

There have been some transactions in medium grade China black teas, and enquiries are being received for low grades, but these cannot be obtained at the prices which merchants are willing to pay.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—The market has been a little unsettled, owing to the low quotations which are being offered by certain shippers, but it is noteworthy that the well-known houses in Patras are still firm in their figures and a cable received in Toronto on Wednesday noted an advance of 1s. per cwt. in Patras.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Buying for import has practically stopped, in consequence of the price on the spot having been established at the cost of importation, consequently showing importers no profit. It is reported that the Escalona has a quantity of fruit on board branded "Selected," which is really only well-cleaned fine off-stalk. This has had the effect of establishing a price for selected on too low a level for high-class brands.

FIGS—Small lots of new season's Eleme figs were delivered last week. Prices still keep very high, from 25 to 30c. per lb. being the idea for layers. Stocks of Comadra tap figs have been about exhausted, and prices are tending upwards in consequence.

PRUNES—Bosnia prunes for November shipment, which means January delivery, are quoted 1s. per cwt. lower than first shipments, which are expected to arrive by the overland route the end of this month. French prunes are also quoted about 1s. per cwt. lower for October shipment. The first shipment of new season's California prunes reached the Toronto market this week. There have been a few transactions in California prunes, of second grade, during the past week.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS—Shippers will not quote. The reason is that the shippers have already booked such a large number of orders that they cannot deliver any more before the expected advance takes place.

CANDIED PEELS—Wholesalers' stocks of candied peels are now pretty well supplied but there is not much business yet being done. We quote: Orange, 11 to 13c.; lemon, 10 to 12½c.; citron, 16 to 19c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The latest things on the market are chestnuts. These are now offering freely at $4 per bushel. Late Valencia oranges are on sale at $3.50 to $4. A few chests of Malaga lemons have arrived lately. They are selling at $13. The demand for both lemons and oranges is light. There is a steady trade of bananas at $1 to $1.65. Plums are done. The receipts of fruits, generally, are so small that it is expected that the market will be closed at the end of this week. The demand for peaches, pears, red peppers and tomatoes, has decreased greatly, causing a drop from 5 to 25c. for peaches, 15c. for pears, 25 to 30c. for red peppers, and 5 to 10c. for tomatoes. The price of fall apples has advanced 25 to 50c. Late varieties of pears are selling at $2 to $2.25, as compared with $3.50 to $4 paid earlier for Bartletts. There is nothing yet doing in cranberries.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand is good. Prices are firm, with an advance of ½c. noted by some houses. At country points, 13 to 13½c. is the ruling price for cases. Farmers' lots sell at from 15 to 16c. on the local market.

POTATOES—The market is steady at unchanged figures. Car lots are worth from 60 to 65c. Off farmers' wagons, 65 to 70c. is paid.

HONEY—There is little local trade being done, the demand being largely cut up by farmers peddling their honey themselves in the city. The demand throughout the Province is brisk, and keeps prices firm. There is not a great deal of honey being exported yet, though it is likely a good deal will be ultimately disposed of thus. Clear extracted honey is quoted at 6½ to 7½c., according to color and size of package.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—Evaporated apples are quiet. A few cars have been picked up for export trade, but the majority of holders are holding at a little over the export limit price. Prices continue steady at 7c. f.o.b. at country points. There is a fair jobbing trade being done at about 8 to 8½c. Not many dried apples are coming in now, but it is considered the pack is much above the average. Jobbers' prices continue steady at 4½c. Some car-load lots have changed hands, it is reported, at 3½c.

BEANS—The jobbing trade keeps active, with prices steady at $1 to $1.10 for hand-picked, and 90c. for common stock.

VEGETABLES—A fair business is being done. Cauliflower has declined 25c. and celery 10 to 15c. Vegetable marrow has advanced 25c. We quote as follows: Cauliflower, 75c. to $1 per doz.; celery, 40 to 60c. per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 40c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 20 to 40c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz; 50 to 60c.; parsley, 10 to 20c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 10 to 20c. per doz.; Canadian butter beans, 75c. to $1 per bushel; beets, 10c. per peck; carrots, 10c. per peck; onions, Danvers, 75c. to $1 per bag; green beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; vegetable marrow, 50 to 75c.; butter squash, 75c. to $1; pumpkins, 50c. to 75c.; red cabbage, 40 to 60c.; egg plant, 75 to $1.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Creamery, especially pound prints, has been offered in such quantities that a weak feeling is manifesting itself, and a decline of ½c. is noted. The demand for dairy prints, especially the best grades, is brisk, with prices firm. Tubs are easier, with a decline of ½c. quoted at outside points. A good quantity of large rolls is now offered. We quote at outside points: Dairy tubs, 14c.; prints, 14 to 15c.; large rolls, 14c.; creamery prints, 18½c.; tubs and boxes, 17 to 18c.

CHEESE—The feeling is easier, export buyers not fully responding to the remarkable advance of a couple of weeks ago. We quote 8½ to 9c. for early makes and 9 to 9¼c. for September make.

PROVISIONS.

There has been a steady demand, with slightly easier feeling, though stocks are not large. No change is noted except ½c. decline in compound, and an advance of 25c. for dressed hogs. Packers are waiting the advent of favorable weather to commence packing operations.

FISH.

There is no change noted in price. Oysters are in brisk demand, and a fair movement is noted in ciscoes, herring and fresh water fish. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh whitefish, 6½c.; steak trout, 7c. lb.; fresh perch, 4c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½c. per lb.; boneless fish, 3¾c. per lb.; quail-on-toast, 5½c. per lb.; fresh-water herring, 60c. per basket; ciscoes, $1.25; haddies, 8c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 6c. per lb.; oysters, $1.35 to $1.40 per gallon.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is brisk. No change in prices to note. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.60 in bags and $3.80 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Wheat is steady with an advance of 1c. noted. On cars outside, 64c. is now the ruling figure for both red and white. The local market is fairly brisk. We quote as follows: Wheat, white, 66 to 67c.; red, 65c.; goose, 62 to 63c.; peas, 57c.; oats, new, 27 to 28c.; barley, 44 to 49c., rye, 45c. Old Manitoba No. 1 hard has declined 3c., now being quoted at 80c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—Manitoba flour has declined 10c. per bbl. We quote as follows: Manitoba patents, $4.30; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.90; Ontario patents, $3.90 to $4; straight roller, $3.15 to $3.25, Toronto freights.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—As the demand is good and the market is well clear of stocks, prices are steady. We quote: No. 1, 8½c.; No. 2, 7½c.; No. 3, 6½c.; cured, 9¼c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Shearlings and lambskins are in good demand, and firm at 65c.

WOOL—There is little doing. Prices are steady at 15c. for fleece, and 10c. for unwashed.

SEEDS.

Alsike still retains the bulk of attention. Local competition has caused an advance of 25c., lifting prices considerably above an export basis. We quote at $2.75 to $4.50. A few lots of red clover are offered, and bring from $3.25 to $3.75, about 25c. more than last week. In timothy, there is practically nothing doing.

SALT.

Prices are unchanged. Business is good. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 54c.

MARKET NOTES.

Dressed hogs have advanced 25c. Compound has declined ½c.

New season's California prunes are on the market.

Malaga lemons are on the market at $13 per chest.

The Dawson Commission Co., Limited, have already bought up over 15,000 barrels of winter apples.

Cheese has declined ¼c., and is easy at 9 to 9¼c.

Alsike and red clover seed have advanced 25c. per bushel.

The refiners have reduced the price of sugar 10c. per 100 lb.

New walnuts will be here barely in time for Christmas trade distribution.

Both Bosnia and French prunes for later shipment are about 1s. per cwt. lower.

A cable to J. L. Watt & Scott, Toronto, on Wednesday, quoted currants 1s. per cwt. dearer in Patras.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 13, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THERE has not been any marked activity in the general grocery market during the past week. The most important development has been a decline of 10c. per 100 lb. in the price of all refined sugars, and it cannot be said that the fact has led to any activity in the demand, which continues light. Syrups are motionless, and molasses is firmly held, with business light, as yet. The strong disposition of canned goods is more marked if anything, and there has been a rather active enquiry on future account for peas, corn, tomatoes and salmon, all ruling strong. Coffee, rice and spices are without change, and teas have not contributed anything special. Valencia raisins are somewhat unsettled regarding futures, owing to the wide range of prices named, but spot values for prompt delivery are unchanged. Other dried fruits are without change.

SUGAR.

A weaker feeling has developed in the market for refined sugar, and prices for extra standard granulated have declined 10c. per 100 lb. This is due to sympathy with the demoralized condition of the market in New York. The new arrangements now made are for sales per 100 lb., and freight rates on sugar in Ontario and Quebec will now be equalized, by taking Montreal as the starting point. Local prices at the refinery now are as follows: Extra standard granulated, $4.50; yellows, "Phoenix" brand, $4.15; extra bright coffee, $4.05; bright, $3.85; No. 3, $3.75, and No. 2, $2.65 per 100 lb. Demand at the decline has not been active, the market, on the whole, ruling quiet. Cables on raw this week came higher for cane, fair refining going up 1½d. to 10s. 9d., but Java was unchanged at 12s. Beet was steady, with prices unchanged in London at 9s. 9d. for both present and next month's delivery. In New York, prices are 1-16c. lower than they were last on raw cane sugar, fair refining being quoted at 3 11-16c., and centrifugal, 96 test, 4 3-16c., with molasses sugar, 3 7-16c.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups continues almost nil, as refiners are not offering for future delivery as yet. In fact, they assert that they have not made a single sale in weeks, so that it is impossible to quote any range of prices.

MOLASSES.

There has been no material change in the molasses market, but speculation among the trade is still lively as to the effect of the great hurricane on the plantations in Barbadoes, reports received stating that they have been levelled to the ground in many instances. If the damage is anything like as serious as it is reported to be, the crop next year is bound to be injured. In the local market business in round lots has been noted all the way from 28½ to 29c., but lately bids of the inside figure have been refused. Very naturally, as a result of these high prices for first cost, jobbers are very firm in their views for ordinary jobbing business, though no quotable change has yet been named.

CANNED GOODS.

The firm disposition of the market is quite pronounced, and it will not surprise anyone if values move still higher before very long. This applies more especially to corn and tomatoes and to salmon. Enquiry is brisk for corn, peas, and tomatoes, but, with light offerings, business is small. Tomatoes are held firm at 90c. in straight lots and corn at 85 to 90c., with none obtainable, while peas are scarce at 80c. Naturally, with the goods costing them these figures, jobbers are firm as regards the values they are asking. Salmon on spot rules quite strong, and $5.25 is now the inside figure that would be accepted for choice brands, while, in many cases, holders ask $5.50.

RICE.

Demand for rice has been somewhat limited, but values rule steady, as last quoted: Standard B, $3.75 to $4; Indiana bright, $4 to $4.12½; Patnas, $4.75 to $5, and Japans, $5.50 to $5.75.

COFFEE.

This market rules steady, but very quiet, only a few lots of Maracaibo at 10 to 13c. and Rio and Santos at 8 to 10c. changing hands, the figure being for straight invoice lots of unroasted bean.

SPICES.

There has been a quiet business in spices, and prices are unchanged all round.

TEAS.

The tea market has continued quiet, on the whole, during the past week, and few large lots have changed from first to second hands. Japans have been moved at a range of 16½ to 19½c., and Japan dust at 7c. In blacks, a few Congous have sold from 11 to 11½c., while, in greens, pingsueys were turned over at 11½c. The enquiry for these is more brisk than for the others, and holders are asking pretty firm prices.

DRIED FRUIT.

The Valencia raisin market is in a rather unsatisfactory condition at present, owing to the wide variation in the offers that have been made lately, particularly to traders in Ontario, and the fact has had the result of creating a disinclination on the part of buyers to operate, and so unsettling the market. Advices from Patras, on the other hand, are firm in their tenor, and it is reported that a lot of shipments of rain damaged fruit are being made from there. If this is correct, importers would do well to exercise care regarding the numerous offers that they are receiving at present, all of which offer very tempting prices. There has been no change in spot quotations here, but the Escalona's fruit is now being delivered, that vessel having arrived.

California raisins have also arrived here, but the fact has not led to any change in quotations.

New currants are now on the market, ex Escalona, and prices still remain as they were last quoted.

California prunes rule firm, and there is nothing new to report in relation to either Austrian or French.

New figs are moving well, as quoted last week, and California evaporated fruits contribute no change.

NUTS.

All kinds of nuts are firm, as a rule, a fair trade being noted for forward account in Tarragona almonds, Grenoble walnuts and Sicily filberts, all ruling firm in tone.

GREEN FRUIT.

The weather lately has not been favorable to a good trade in green fruit, but still a fair volume of business was put through. Apples are not arriving very freely, and are steadily held at a range of $1 to $3 per bbl. Receipts of Canadian pears have been very heavy and prices range from $2 to $5 per bbl., and 40 to 60c. per basket. Peaches have been only a small offering at 75c. to $1.25 per basket. Grapes are quite plentiful and prices are rather easier as a result, Niagaras selling at 17c., Delawares, 20 to 30c. and Rogers 17c. California Tokay grapes have been selling freely at $2 to $3.50 per crate, according to grade. Bananas are in over supply at 40 to 50c.

FISH, ETC.

Owing to more liberal receipts of fish during the past week, and the recent spell of warm weather, an easier feeling has prevailed in most lines, and more especially so in sea and lake fish. The demand has also been retarded considerably on account of the weather and trade in consequence has not been as active. In salt fish, Labrador herrings and green cod are lower, while British Columbia salmon to arrive are firmer. We quote: No. 1 Labrador herrings, $4.60 to $5 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S. do., $4.50; N.B. in half-bbbls., $2.25; No. 1 B.C. salmon, to arrive, $13 per bbl.; No. 2 Labrador, $14; No. 3 mackerel, $11 to $12, and No. 1 green cod, $4.

A fair trade has been done in preserved fish, and as supplies of such are somewhat limited yet, prices are fairly well maintained. We quote: Pure boneless codfish, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; dressed or skinless codfish, 4¼c.; dried, $4 per 100 lb.; boneless fish, 3½c.

The demand for fresh fish has only been fair, and as receipts of such are larger, prices show a decline, especially for haddock, which are selling at 3½ to 4c. per lb.; Manitoba dore, white fish and trout, 6½c., and B.C. salmon, 13 to 14c.

There has been no change in smoked fish for which there continues to be a steady demand. We quote: Haddies, 6½ to 7c.; kippered herrings, $1.35 to $1.50 per box; smoked herrings, 10 to 12c., and Yarmouth bloaters, $1.25.

Shell oysters are moving slowly and they suffered considerably during the recent warm spell. We quote: Hand-picked malpeques, $4.50; fair to good, $3.50; Buctouche, $5, and stall stock, $1 to $2 per barrel.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—For strictly new laid eggs there was a good demand to-day, and, as supplies of such are somewhat limited, prices are firmly held. Other lines were only fairly enquired for, but, on the whole, a good trade was done. We quote as follows: Strictly new laid, 18 to 18½c.; No. 1 candled, 14c.; No. 2 do., 12 to 13c.; P. E. I., 12 to 13c., and culls, 9c. per doz. Receipts, 718 cases.

BEANS—The demand for beans was better to-day, and from now on a steady improvement is looked for. We quote: Choice hand-picked at 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—Business in honey was slow, and prices were unchanged. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to 7½c.; dark, 5½ to 6½c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Maple product continues neglected and dull. We quote: Syrup, in wood, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; in tins, 45 to 55c., according to size; sugar, 6 to 6¼c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was without any special feature. The demand for all lines continues fair, and a good trade is doing for the season, with no change in prices to note. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, in barrels, \$16 to \$16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at  $8\frac{1}{4}$  to  $8\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to  $5\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb. Hams,  $10\frac{1}{2}$  c. to 13c.; and bacon, 10 to 13c. per lb.

G.F. & J. GALT PACKERS OF THE BLUE RIBBON TEAS
42 SCOTT ST. TORONTO. CELEBRATED

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

In sympathy with strong and higher American and foreign markets, coupled with a fair demand from the latter for most lines of grain, the undertone to the market here was firm and the recent advance in prices fully maintained. There was nothing done in Manitoba wheat, private despatches received reporting steady rain throughout the country, and deliveries light. In regard to Ontario wheat, dealers state that prices at country points are getting down to export basis; in fact, some business was reported in white, and several bids were received from abroad for red, consequently, the indications are, that trade in this line will become more active in the near future. In coarse grain, oats were firmer again, and  $\frac{1}{4}$  c. per bushel higher, with sales of round lots afloat at  $28\frac{1}{2}$  c. Peas were in demand, and firm, at  $61\frac{1}{2}$  to 62c. afloat, and rye sold at 51c. afloat.

There was a good demand for Manitoba grades of flour and a more active business was done, but the feeling in regard to values is unsettled and they are somewhat irregular. Ontario brands also met with a fair sale in small lots. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.85 to $4.10; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $4.50 to $4.70; strong bakers', best, $4.20 to $4.40.

There was no change in the feed market. The demand is fair, and business moderately active. We quote: Manitoba bran, $12; shorts, $14, and moullie, $16 per ton, including bags.

The demand for rolled oats continues good, and prices are fully sustained at $3.50 per barrel and $1.70 per bag.

In baled hay, business continues quiet, demand being only for small lots to fill actual wants, even at the present low prices. We quote: No. 1 at $6.50; No 2 at $5 to $5.50, and clover mixed at $4 to $4.50, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese continues easy in tone, and, if demand holds off as it does, and sellers continue to consent to decline, the bottom may not yet be in sight, by any means. The chief business lately consisted of the 8,000 Quebec cheese offered at the wharf, and, as an evidence that the market is lower, they sold at  $8\frac{3}{4}$  c., which is a decline of  $\frac{1}{8}$  to  $\frac{1}{4}$  c. on prices paid for similar cheese a week ago. We quote: Finest western Septembers 9 to  $9\frac{1}{2}$  c.; finest eastern Septembers,  $8\frac{3}{4}$  to  $8\frac{7}{8}$  c.; finest western Augusts,  $8\frac{3}{4}$  c.; finest eastern Augusts,  $8\frac{3}{8}$  c.; Liverpool cable, 42s. 6d.

Butter ruled dull and easy, and with demand further decline seems inevitable, unless the enquiry for home wants is of such a character as to offset this influence. Prices are not quotably changed, but our outside prices are difficult to obtain. We quote: Extra finest creamery, boxes,  $19\frac{1}{4}$  to  $19\frac{1}{2}$  c.; extra finest creamery, tubs,  $18\frac{7}{8}$  to 19c.; ordinary finest creamery, boxes,  $18\frac{1}{2}$  to  $18\frac{3}{4}$  c.; ordinary finest creamery, tubs, 18 to  $18\frac{1}{4}$  c.; western dairy, tubs, 15c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cheese and butter continue easy, with a downward tendency.

There has been a decline of 10c. per 100 lb. in the price of sugar at the refineries.

The ss. Escalona arrived this week, and new raisins and currants are now in stock.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 11, 1898.

THE week has been a busy one, and bills are being fairly well met. The increased firmness in the cheese market is a feature, as most dealers had light stocks. Our factorymen are much in need of better facilities to market their cheese, as, until there is some concerted action, they must of necessity fail to get best results. There is also some inquiry for canned fruits, particularly peaches, caused by a somewhat unexpected advance. Teas are beginning to come to hand freely. Some ten cars of China tea, via Vancouver, were received one day this week, including about 2,807 packages. The withdrawals from the savings bank continue large, amounting to, in September, $97,428.30, while the deposits were but $59,798.65.

OIL—Burning oil is still a very busy line. Values, as reported last week, are somewhat easier. The wholesale men have had trouble in getting their tank cars promptly, which has somewhat delayed shipment. In cod oil there continues to be small arrivals. There is, however, but a limited market.

SALT—There is a fair stock of Liverpool coarse salt still held here. A vessel with a cargo of salt, overdue for some time, has put into Halifax in distress. Cargo will likely be, if not a total loss, very much out of condition. This will somewhat effect the tone of the market; but no change in price is expected. There is a fair sale. Other grades are quiet. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—New goods continue to come forward, quite a quantity arriving during the past week. About all lines are now to hand. Corn continues to be the high line, though in peas, beans, and tomatoes packers are backward in many cases, being sold out. Peaches are much higher and very firm. They are about the only large seller in fruits here, though strawberries have quite a good demand. No line seems to be so pushed by packers as baked beans, particularly those in tomato sauce. There is a wide range in prices. Salmon is dearer. American packers are quoting new oysters for forward shipment. Meats are quiet.

GREEN FRUIT—On account of the attention given to Canadian grapes during the past week or two other lines have been somewhat quiet. The quantity of grapes arriving has been large, the retail price during the past week being 25c. per basket. Oranges have a small sale. Dominicas and Jamacias are chiefly offered. Lemons are quiet and in light sale. Bananas are about done for this season, at least, as far as large business goes. Apples are rather firmer. Prices in Nova Scotia would seem to rule higher than in Ontario. Gravensteins are the chief grade now to hand, and the quality is splendid. Peaches, pears, and plums are about done. In a retail way quite a quantity of Tokay grapes are being received. In cranberries, prices will rule high. The crop east is a small one. Quinces are quite free sellers; prices low. Sweet potatoes are also low. Demand here for these goods is not large.

DRIED FRUIT—Stocks of new goods continue to arrive, chiefly Valencia raisins, and currants. Currants are firmly held. The cleaned have large sale. They are cleaned here. It is strange the difference in the demand for California raisins in Halifax and St. John. The former city takes hardly any, while all the dealers here sell them freely. The sale for seeded in cartons is much ahead of last year, which was about their first appearance. In fancy fruit, Malagas hold the market, though quite a few Californias have been sold this year. A few California figs are to hand. The Smyrna fig still, however, holds the trade. New goods will not be here for some time. California prunes have also been received, but it looks as if the Bosnia prune would have the large sale this year on account of its lower price. Figs will rule high. Nuts begin to have increased sale. The appearance of the chestnut shows the near approach of Halloween. Nuts will rule high, particularly almonds and walnuts. In onions, the sale continues large, with prices a little lower. But the market is firm. The red onion is not sold here at all. Evaporated apples, as yet, have light sale. Dealers look for lower prices, but packers are firm.

SUGAR—The market is easy, and there is a good sale reported. The foreign sugars are growing in favor.

MOLASSES—While the market is firmer, there is, as yet, little change in price, but the stocks are not large, and even the little lots received from time to time fail to relieve the position, which grows in strength. The fall sale may not, on account of a dull lumber market, be as large as usual, and this is likely to lessen the chance for high figures. Syrups are not large sellers. New Orleans molasses is quiet.

PRODUCE—Cheese has first place, and shows quite an advance, particularly for late makes. There is quite a range in price, between these and those made earlier. This advance in values, at the end of the season, is a great thing for those interested in cheesemaking, and will much affect the extent of next year's business. The factories have quite large stocks on hand, so they will reap the benefit, though not to its full extent, as they might if they had a better way to market their output. Butter shows a better sale and rather better values, though there is yet little change. Good stock is scarce. Eggs move slowly at even prices.

FISH—The chief demand is for pickled herring, and the stock is not to hand. Prices are, therefore, firm at the high figures of last week. This is the season for this grade. There are, as yet, no Canso and Shelburne herring being received. Ripplings and wolves are best grades offering. In dry fish, large and medium cod are quoted a little lower, but not much change is expected. Pollock is quiet. Smoked herring is dull. There is a good demand for kippered herring and bloaters, and finnan haddies have increased sale. The latter are among our nicest fish. Pickled shad is in light supply. We quote: Large cod, $3.40 to $3.50; medium, $3.40 to $3.50; pollock, $1.35 to $1.40; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.60 to $1.90 ½-bbl.; old smoked herring, 5 to 6c. per box; Canso, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4½ to 5c.; rippling herring, $1.90 to $2; wolves do., $2.25 to $2.50; new smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $4 ½-bbl.; fall do., $5; ½-bbl.; alewives, $3 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1; bloaters, 60c.

PROVISIONS—There is an improved sale at somewhat easier figures. Boston continues to get a large share of the heavy business, though many will have the western packed goods. In mess pork local packers will soon largely supply the trade. In beef, considerable quantity is now being received from Philadelphia. In smoked meats the retail trade is supplied by local curers, and wholesale grocers give less attention to this line each year. Lard still shows quite a range in price, but the tendency seems lower.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour does not seem to have held its late small advance. There is a good demand, largely for Ontario grades. In oatmeal, the price is a little lower. Oats are also easier. Ontario is chiefly supplying the market, although through some sections of our Province New Brunswick oats are used. Crop is quite large and of fair quality. Cornmeal is low and moves freely. Feed is easier, and more freely offered. Beans are firm. Barley and split peas keep high. Hay dull and low. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.90 to $5; best Ontario, $3.90 to $4.10; medium, $3.75 to $3.85; oatmeal, $3.70 to $3.80; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $18 to $19; bran, $16 to $17; oats, 36 to 38c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.65; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Camp & Bell's annual fish fair will be held on Oct. 18, 19 and 20.

Boneless fish is unpopular with some, owing to the quality of some goods offered.

D. J. McLaughlin is the representative of the St. John Board of Trade on the council of the Maritime board.

The Prince Edward Island people much appreciate the direct steamer to Liverpool furnished by the Beaver Line. The value of the first cargo supplied is put at $35,000. It is expected a full cargo will be furnished the next trip.

T. J. Vipond, of T. S. Vipond & Co., Montreal, with the firm's local representative, Hunter White, called on the wholesale trade last week. They found a good demand for onions. From here Mr. Vipond went to Halifax.

Lobster packers in Halifax were much displeased to find they had no representation on the commission appointed by the Government to enquire into the conditions of the fisheries on these coasts. There is large Halifax capital in this industry. This year, up to the present time, shipments of canned lobsters from Halifax have amounted to over $1,000,000. It is said that, upon pressing their claim upon the Government, satisfactory arrangements were made.

The Hoegg Canning Co. is packing a large quantity of goods this season, chiefly corn. Five carloads were shipped this week, and the company has five more to ship. Many orders from the west as well as local orders are, however, being refused.

Halifax had quite a surprise this week, when it became known that two of their largest and best known wholesale dry goods houses are about going out of business, namely, Murdoch's Nephews and Kenny & Co. The former is a branch of an English house.

TEA AND TEA PACKERS AND MIXERS.

It is now about a year since A. H. Canning & Co., Toronto, launched into the package tea trade with their "Armeda" brand. Then, the firm invented the "Armeda" tea packer and "Simplex" tea mixer. These machines have found rapid sale, and are now in use in all the principal cities in Canada. They are most ingenious inventions, and marvels of simplicity. To prove that they are all that is claimed for them, the firm states that it has never yet received a complaint or had a breakage of any kind among its numerous customers. Every machine sold brings another letter of commendation. Mr. Canning, the inventor, is to be congratulated. "I saw," he said, "the need of good, cheap machines, and eventually made them in such a manner that they are within the reach of every grocer."

"Armeda" tea has found its way into a great many homes, and is considered a lively competitor by other tea houses. One reads, "Armeda has the flavor," on the bill boards at every turn.

Mr. Canning is a strong supporter of THE CANADIAN GROCER, and asserts that it has been the means of turning many a dollar his way. He is considering a trip through the United States, where he also holds patents, for the purpose of introducing his packing and mixing machines.

GROCERS TO THE RESCUE.

The wholesale grocers of Toronto and Hamilton, recently, jointly donated the sum of $500 to the sufferers by the late disastrous fire at New Westminster. On Tuesday, a telegram was received from the mayor of New Westminster, thanking the wholesale grocers of these two cities for their substantial expression of sympathy.

All Classes

For each class of customers you have there is the especial sort of Salt they want in Windsor Salt, but each sort is the best of its kind for the purpose the customer wants it.

The only difference lies in suiting the Salt to the purpose, whether it is wanted for the

Table==Creameries==Packers Cheese Factories.

It is always Salt, and nothing but Salt—you can depend on that. There is absolutely no variation from this standard, that whatever is sold as "Windsor Salt" shall be unequalled in its cleanliness. Its purity is proverbial—you hear this everywhere "as pure as Windsor Salt."

Highest Quality !

So little are the words "Highest Quality" understood, that they have lost their true value—especially as relating to Cocoa. Purity, flavor, richness, healthfulness—these four vital points unite to prove the right of the Messrs. Fry to use the words "highest quality." And because Fry's Cocoa is concentrated, the words "economy in the household" prove their sterling value—in increased sales for you.

Fry's Cocoa.

"Signs show which way the wind blows." Have you got that sign up in the store yet, "Maypole Soap Dyes sold here"? It shows to economical women that are sold by you to help them economize.

Brilliant, fast, quick, safe, sure. They wash and dye at one operation. All colors—they dye to any shade.

It's a good thing to have the women "on your side"—especially when you sell them something to bake with. They hate to lose a "baking." The has 98<sup>50</sup>/<sub>100</sub> of pure Bi-Carbonate of Soda in it. It is VERY STRONG—runs evenly in the grade—and won't disappoint your women customers.

"Hand-in-Hand" Brand Bi-Carb. Soda

Help a woman to save time and yet get satisfactory results and you win her favor. Lazenby's Jelly Tablets will do just this—for quick deserts.

Lazenby's Jelly Tablets

are of the very highest quality. There are thirteen different flavors. They are handy to have in stock to help a woman out of a dilemma.

Sold by leading wholesalers everywhere.

JAPAN TEAS

are not only the finest teas grown, but are handled in the cleanest and most systematic way in every stage of their course.

Your customers are aware of this and are going to trade where they can get these teas. They want the rich, pungent flavor which nature and art combine to make in a cup of Japan Tea.

Two-thirds of the tea consumed in United States and Canada last year came from Japan. This year the proportion will be even greater.

WE ARE not offering free trips abroad with our goods. All the value is put into the QUALITY. That is why the sale of our CROWN EXTRACTS is growing so much.

in Sacks, but although the retailer can sell his empty sacks to better advantage than he can his barrels (except in certain seasons), we yet advise him to buy in barrels. The barrels protect the Oats from mice and insects. The sacks do not. Even if nothing happens to the contents of a sack while it is on its way to you mice will get in perhaps while it's in your store. The barrel prevents the breaking up of the Oats, while sacks are thrown about of course in transit. However—Sacks or Barrels, as you prefer.

THE QUESTION OF TEA STANDARDS.

A FURTHER DISCUSSION THEREOF.

SUBJOINED is a further discussion of the tea standard question from the standpoint of wholesale importers.

J. W. Gorham & Co., the Jerusalem warehouse, Halifax, N.S., write:

1st. We are in favor of tea standards.

2nd. For the reason that every consumer will, if the Government adopts the correct method in the selection of capable experts, be guaranteed against purchasing impure teas. The

from the fact of adulterated teas having been detected during importation in recent years. In so far as Nova Scotia is concerned, I am of the opinion that very few, if any, spurious qualities have been, or are being, used, but very low grades of a suspicious character have occasionally come under my notice, which would be of small commercial value to any dealer, and certainly of no benefit to the consumer, being void of strength, and, therefore, incapable of having any exhilarating effect.

Since it is recognized that tea is a powerful and harmless tonic, if taken between meals and without much food, consumers should be encouraged to use only and my conviction is, that where Indian, Ceylon, and China teas are concerned (very little of other countries being used in the lower Provinces), standards should be fixed at not less than a cost of 12c. per lb. laid down.

3rd. An inspector for each commercial centre should be appointed, who is well qualified by experience in tea tasting and with the different growths of teas, and who would be assisted, no doubt, willingly, by all well interested in the trade and having in view the welfare of the consumer. To submit samples to Ottawa would be unnecessary and cause too much delay.

Lastly. A duty of 5c. per lb. on tea would do more to encourage the importation of pure, wholesome teas than any inspection Act, and would be generally acceptable to the trade.

Mr. Percy Wollaston, jr., manager for Wilson Bros., importers and wholesale grocers, Victoria, B.C.: I am decidedly in favor of tea standards for several reasons, the principal one being that as tea standards are in force in the United States, there undoubtedly will be parcels of tea rejected in that country which will be thrown on this market to the great detriment of our trade, unless some means are taken to exclude them. I think that it is highly desirable both and as a business proposition, to raise the quality of tea which is consumed, and it will be a good thing for the retailer and for the consumer when the entry of teas selling at, say, under 15c. per lb. is prohibited.

There will doubtless be many different opinions as to the nature of the standards which it will be advisable to establish, but my own views are that, in determining this, little or no regard should be paid to style, and that the basis upon which the standards are selected should be a test by infusion.

As to the appointment of tea inspectors, I think that an inspector should be appointed at every port of entry, or, at least, in every seaport town, as it would be

A GREAT HARDSHIP TO IMPORTERS, especially in the case of the Pacific Coast merchants, were it necessary to submit tea samples to Ottawa before the entry could be made. Importers should have the right of appeal to Ottawa, on the payment of certain fees, against the decision of any sub-inspector.

It would not make any material difference to the Government how many inspectors were appointed, as they could remunerate by a fee, payable by the importer, for each package inspected, and not by a fixed salary.

H. N. Bate & Sons, wholesale grocers, Ottawa: 1st. We are decidedly in favor of tea standards.

2nd. Standards would keep out poor teas, and would prevent Canada from becoming the dumping-ground for teas rejected in the United States.

3rd. If it were practicable we would suggest the appointment of three or four to be stationed at various points in the Dominion, but it would most likely lead to unfair discrimination and would be very expensive. One inspector means uniformity and economy all over the Dominion. The United States, we understand, has three, which illustrates that that Government realized the danger of promiscuous inspection. Teas, unlike most foods, require expert inspection, and the experience required can only be gained by years of careful study and not at all after a man passes a certain age. Consequently such men are not only high-priced but hard to get. The one-inspector system may mean slight delays at distant points, but in our opinion is worth trying for at least a year.

Mr. J. Alex. Gordon, of J. A. Gordon & Co., Montreal, discussing the matter the other day, remarked that it would be difficult to find a tea man or grocer, either wholesale or retail, who, in his heart of hearts, was opposed to the idea of tea standards. No one wanted to handle the that had been sold in Canada under the old system, but, while it was allowed to enter the country, they were compelled by force of circumstances to do so.

THE RISING SUN STOVE POLISH AND THE SUN PASTE STOVE POLISH

There was little or no profit in selling this low-grade stock, but a fair standard, say around 14c. and 15c. ought to be satisfactory to everyone.

Another Montreal merchant believed that there would be a

DUTY ON TEA

as well as a standard. His reason for this belief was ingenious. At present, owing to the duty imposed in the United States, the temptation to smuggle was great, and it was being done largely from Canada, so that the United States revenue lost a lot of money. It was his opinion that this point of the imposition of a duty on tea would be one of the

CONCESSIONS ASKED

for by the United States Commissioners now conferring with the Canadian and British Commissioners. It will be interesting to see if this theory is correct when the findings of the Commission are made public.

"There is no money for the wholesaler in a lot of the cheap rubbish that is sold," said Mr. Hebert, "and it is quite natural that they should be in favor of a

REASONABLY HIGH STANDARD.

I myself consider that if the basis was made at about 15c. it would prove generally acceptable."

Mr. L. E. Geoffrion, of L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., spoke to the same effect. He was decidedly in favor of the adoption of a reasonable standard, and he did not think that there would be a man in the trade who would oppose its adoption. He considered teas worth about 15c., as the market was at present,

A FAIR BASIS TO WORK ON.

Mr. James Rutherford, of Rutherford, Durand & Co., expressed the conviction that it would be a difficult matter to find a tea broker, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, who was opposed to the adoption of a standard. He considered that dealers in Quebec should be more in favor of it than those of any other section, for the very good reason that they had more trouble with handling cheap low-grade tea in this Province than in other sections. His idea of a fair standard was to

of any teas costing under 14 to 15c.

Mr. S. Ewing, jr., of S. H. Ewing & Sons., was strongly in favor of a standard, and he believed that the committee which had been appointed would select one that was acceptable to the Dominion as a whole. The Maritime Provinces, Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton—in fact, every important distributing centre was represented on the committee, so that the demands of each section would receive reasonable consideration.

EVAPORATING FACTORY WANTED

Editor GROCER,—I noticed in a recent issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER that there were a number of new canning and evaporating factories being started, and additions being made to others. I think there is a very good chance for some such industry here in this section. We raise large quantities of plums and apples, and thousands of bushels of the latter annually go to waste or are fed to cattle which might be used up in evaporating or canning. There is good water-power to be had very cheap.

Could you not in some way bring this chance to the notice of some party or parties who would be willing to start such an industry? I think every encouragement would be given them by the people here. If anyone will write to C. W. Hartman, banker, here, he will give them full particulars.

J. M. STEEL.

CANADIAN BUTTER IN ENGLAND.

Canada last year exported to Great Britain 10,413,131 lb. of butter, valued at $1,912,389.

This is about 3 per cent. of Great Britain's total importation in this line, the quantity brought in being, according to the latest returns to hand, 324,257,696 lb.

With Canada's possibilities in butter producing, there is plenty of room for expansion. We may not be able to supply 60 per cent. of the butter imported by Great Britain, as we now do of cheese, but we can obviously supply a much larger percentage than we do now.

And, thanks largely to the indefatigable efforts of Prof. Robertson, the prospects for securing the desideratum are bright.

BUTTER FOR THE KLONDYKE.

A. Q. Bobier, butter dealer, etc., Exeter, Ont., has entered into a contract to deliver at Dawson city 30,000 lb. of butter, for which he is to receive $10,100. The butter is to be packed in 1, 2, and 5-lb. tins, and specially sealed. The process of sealing alone will entail a cost of over $300, as Mr. Bobier will have to invest in a machine particularly adapted for the purpose.

A STRIKING WINDOW DISPLAY.

Gravel Freres, Montreal, had a neat and striking window last week. The whole window is devoted to "Bovril" fluid beef in bottles. Inside the window a platform is built about two feet high, with steps leading up, and covered with light blue tissue paper. On each step is a row of bottles, varying in size. In the centre of the steps is a pretty card, got out by the "Bovril" people, the word "Bovril" on it in large dark wine colored letters. On the top of the platform, the bottles form pyramids, with thin strips of board running from one pyramid to another, to strengthen them. The pyramids are made to represent the dome of a church.

WON OVER THE CHILDREN.

A PARTNER of a leading commission firm on Front street east, Toronto, was, a number of years ago, a general merchant in the county town of one of the counties on Lake Erie.

It is on record that his career in that town was marked with the same success that is now building up his present business, but the records give no information concerning the factors in his success.

THE CANADIAN GROCER's young man learned of one of the principal of these factors the other evening. Knowing that a young lady lived in C—— at the time the commission man carried on his general business in that town, she was asked if she remembered Mr. R——.

The young lady seemed quite pleased to hear his name mentioned, and laughingly replied: "I guess I do. I was only a little girl then, but I remember that every time we went for a parcel to his store he used to give us our choice of five or six kinds of sugar sticks. Why, we used to almost quarrel about who would run any messages to his store. And we never went anywhere else, either, when we could get it at his store. He used to give us a sugar stick whether we only went for a box of matches or a little pepper just the same as when we took him a big order. We thought he was just real nice."

"Why?"

"Oh, because he gave us the sugar sticks, I guess, but he was always friendly to us."

A DEBT COLLECTING WRINKLE.

"Speaking of collecting bills," said the man from the west, "we have a most effective method in Chicago. There, instead of young men they employ young women. I tried it myself and it worked like magic. A fellow by the name of Green owed me a small bill, a matter, I think, of $17 or so. It seemed impossible to make him pay it, so I engaged the services of a pretty and stylish girl. I sent her around to his office. He was out. She called again. He was still out, but nothing daunted she made the third and the fourth call. The fourth time he was in, but he firmly refused to pay the bill.

"'Look here, Mr. Green,' said the girl, 'I will make a proposition to you. If you will pay 5c. a day on this bill I will call each day and collect that amount until you have paid it in full.'

"But Green was a hard party. He again refused, and the girl left the office apparently crestfallen. The next day she did not call at his office, but she did call at his house. The door was opened by the servant.

"'Is Mr. Green in?' asked the young woman.

"'No, ma'am.'

"The girl left, but it seems that the servant duly reported the call, of the pretty and stylish young woman who was so anxious to see Mr. Green, to his wife. The next day, when the young woman again called, the wife hung over the banisters, taking a peep at the caller on her own account. The young woman asked if Mr. Green was in.

"'No, ma'am,' answered the servant, 'but his wife is.' The wife had told her to say this, of course.

"'His wife!' stammered the girl, 'why, has Mr. Green a wife?'

"The wife, hanging over the banisters, heard this. She turned pale and gasped for air, while the girl, seemingly very much confused and distressed at her discovery, went on down the steps and into the street. It is impossible to say just what happened at that house. But one thing I do know—the next day Green promptly paid the $17. And the girl didn't call at his office for it either. He came around and handed me the money himself, and he seemed to think he was getting off pretty easy at that."—The Sun.

LARGE SHIPMENTS OF APPLES.

Week before last, there was an exceptional movement of fall apples from Montreal and Halifax. Over 65,000 barrels were shipped from these ports for British markets. About 10,000 barrels of Canadian apples were exported from other ports.

Though these figures do not come up to the record of some weeks two years ago, they show a much greater movement than was expected in any one week this year.

Returns from shipments throughout this season have varied greatly, good prices alternating with low figures from the commencement. On the average, however, exporters have realized a little better than usual.

There is no movement in winter apples as yet, except on speculation. It is considered that prices are likely to be good this year.

CANADIAN BUTTER IN ENGLAND.

Quite a large amount of butter is held in cold store in Canada on English account, and will be coming forward now that the market has shown such firmness. There has been a great increase in our imports this year already from the Dominion, and when they have done shipping for the season it will be found that Canadian creameries have become an appreciable factor in the sum total of our supplies.—Grocers' Journal.

FIRMS COMMENCING BUSINESS.

Charles H. J. Marson is starting business as grocer in Montreal.

D. A. Larson is starting up as general merchant in Dymont, Ont.

R. Wallace is opening out as general merchant in Langenburg, Man.

E. C. Brochie, general merchant, is opening a branch in St. Elzear, Que.

Duncan McIntyre, jr., is opening out as general merchant at McIntyre's Lake, Man.

Hiram Haggarty, grocer, Summerstown, Ont., has opened a branch store at Lunenburg, Ont.

Graham Bros. are commencing business as bakers and confectioners in Owen Sound, Ont.

Thomas Logan has opened out as a grocer, flour and feed dealer, in Carberry, Man.

A CORRECTION.

In our interview with Mr. C. E. Colson, published in last week's issue, a few errors were made, which, in justice to Mr. Colson, should be corrected. Mr. Colson came to Montreal in 1858 and took a position with the firm of Alex. Urquhart & Co., where he remained till 1862, when he retired and formed the firm of Converse, Colson & Lamb, which was dissolved about 1870. In 1876 Messrs. Urquhart retired, and handed over Crosse & Blackwell's agency to Mr. Colson, since which he has added the following agencies, viz: Epps's cocoa, Cox's gelatine, Eben. Robert's jellies, Slade's butter scotch, D. P. McDonald & Co. and A. G. Thompson & Co. Since 1870 Mr. Colson has been in business alone until last May when he took in his son as a partner, the firm now being C. E. Colson & Son. Mr. Colson and his father-in-law, the late Alex. Urquhart, have continuously represented Crosse & Blackwell for over sixty years.

John A. Grant, of Ottawa, has started in the grocery and provision business at 73 Bank street. The premises were formerly occupied by E. Hutching.

A FORTUNE IN GOOD MANNERS.

WHY the doose do 'e 'old 'is 'ead down like that? " asked a Cockney sergeant-major angrily, when a worthy fellow-soldier wished to be reinstated in a position from which he had been dismissed. "Has 'e's been han hofficer, 'e hought to know 'ow to be've 'isself better. What huse 'ud 'e be has ha non-commissioned hofficer, hif 'e didn't dare look 'is men hin the face? Hif ha man wants to be ha soldier, Hi say, let 'm cock 's chin hup, switch 'is stick habout ha bit, han' give ha crack hover the 'ead to hanybody who comes foolin' round 'im, helse 'e might just has well be ha Methodist parson."

This English is somewhat rude, but it expresses pretty forcibly the fact that a good bearing is indispensable to success as a soldier. Mien and manner have much to do with our influence and reputation in any walk of life.

"Don't you wish you had the power?" asked the East Wind of the Zephyr. "Why, when I start they hail me by storm signals all along the coast. I can twist off a ship's mast as easily as you can waft thistle-down. With one sweep of my wing I strew the coast from Labrador to Cape Horn with shattered ship-timber. I can lift and have often lifted the Atlantic. I am the terror of all invalids, and to keep me from piercing to the very marrow of their bones, men cut down forests for their fires and explore the mines of continents for coal to feed their furnaces. Under my breath the nations crouch in sepulchres. Don't you wish you had my power?"

Zephyr made no reply, but floated from out the bowers of the sky, and all the rivers and lakes and seas, all the forests and fields, all the beasts and birds and men smiled at its coming. Gardens bloomed, orchards ripened, silver wheatfields turned to gold, fleecy clouds went sailing in the lofty heaven, the pinions of birds and the sails of vessels were gently wafted onward, and health and happiness were everywhere. The foliage and flowers and fruits and harvests, the warmth and sparkle and gladness and beauty and life were the only answer Zephyr gave to the insolent question of the proud but pitiless East Wind.

The story goes that Queen Victoria once expressed herself to her husband in rather a despotic tone, and Prince Albert, whose manly self-respect was smarting at her words, sought the seclusion of his own apartment, closing and locking the door. In about five minutes someone knocked.

"Who is it?" inquired the Prince.

"It is I. Open to the Queen of England?" haughtily responded Her Majesty. There was no reply. After a long interval there came a gentle tapping and the low-spoken words: "It is I, Victoria, your wife." Is it necessary to add that the door was opened, or that the disagreement was at an end? It is said that civility is to a man what beauty is to a woman: It creates an instantaneous impression in his behalf.

The monk Basle, according to a quaint old legend, died while under the ban of excommunication by the Pope, and was sent, in charge of an angel, to find his proper place in the nether world. But his genial disposition, and his great conversational powers, won friends wherever he went. The fallen angels adopted his manner, and even the good angels went a long way to see him and live with him. He was removed to the lowest depths of Hades, but with the same result. His inborn politeness and kindness of heart were irresistible and he seemed to change the hell into a heaven. At length the angel returned with the monk, saying that no place could be found in which to punish him. He still remained the same Basle. So his sentence was revoked, and he was sent to Heaven and canonized as a saint.

"Bishop Fenelon is a delicious man," said Lord Peterborough; "I had to run away from him to prevent his making me a Christian."—Pushing to the Front.

CONCENTRATED GRAPE VINEGAR.

It is now about a year since concentrated grape vinegar was introduced into Canada by W. H. Seyler & Co., and the success with which it has met is most gratifying to that firm. The demand is steadily increasing, orders now being received from all parts of the Dominion. Not only is it convenient and cheap to carry, on account of its concentrated character, but in has, in addition, its excellence to recommend it, and, before being introduced into this country, took three gold medals and received the order of the star and green ribbon of the Royal Academy of Science, Florence.

THE MAN WHO PUSHES CEYLON TEA.

Mr. W. Mackenzie, the Tea Commissioner of the Ceylon Government, visited both Montreal and Toronto last week.

Mr. Mackenzie is as enthusiastic as ever over the merits and prospects for Ceylon tea, and the efforts he has made in pushing this tea in Canada and the United States are meeting with their reward, as the trade statistics amply prove.

Last week saw the largest output of "Salada" since that tea was put upon the market in June, 1892.

T. A. Lytle & Co. have received many compliments upon their neat package for jams, jellies, etc., and a steady stream of orders from all over Canada is proof of the sincerity of the remarks.

Some handsome cards have recently been issued by the Colman mustard people, and the Toronto agent, R. S. McIndoe, will, either personally or through the wholesale trade, supply any retailer who desires a copy. The designs are new and strikingly handsome.

This week's tea arrivals with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, comprise three lines of new season's Young Hyson, two new season's uncolored Japans, two Assams and a shipment of Orient, the perfect English breakfast tea, all showing the firm's well-known values.

TRADE CHAT.

THE nineteen creameries which were run during the past summer, in Manitoba and the Northwest, under the auspices of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, have had a successful season. Their product was consumed in the Territories, British Columbia and Japan. Three of these creameries will run all winter, and one other part of the winter.

E. A. Nellis, grocer, Beachville, Ont., is endeavoring to sell out for $1,500.

The new grocery store for H. Astley, grocer, Edmonton, N.W.T., is almost completed.

The Edwardsburg Starch Co., Limited, Cardinal, Ont., has increased its capital from $200,000 to $300,000.

There is an agitation in Carnarvon, Ont., for the establishment of a creamery in the neighborhood of that town.

The Walkerton Telescope states that, in the neighborhood of that town, the potato crop is the poorest grown for years.

Alderman Musgrave and John McInnes, of Halifax, are advocating the construction of floating elevators for Halifax harbor.

J. Biette & Co., have decided to remove from Chesley to Tara, Ont., where they will manufacture cheese boxes, apple barrels, butter firkins, etc.

Bee colonies in the neighborhood of Brantford, Ont., have averaged 100 lb. of honey each—considerably more than the average.

The International Ice and Cold Storage Co., Vancouver, has installed a plant for hermetically sealing butter in tins for shipment to China and Japan.

Ed. Bourget, general merchant and fish dealer, E. P. Savage, general merchant, and T. C. Savage, general merchant and fish dealer and hotelkeeper, have retired from business in Cape Cove, Que. Daniel Ahern, general merchant, of the same place is dead.

At the annual meeting of the Lakefield, Ont., Butter Co., held recently, it was reported that 8,100 pounds of butter had been manufactured and sold at 18c. per lb. during last winter's operations. A dividend of 5 per cent. was declared on the company's stock. Operations will likely be resumed by Nov. 7.

It is generally understood that apples cannot be grown in the Rainy River district, but The Rat Portage News states that apples have been grown near Fort Francis, Ont., by R. J. R. Pither. The trees took eight years to mature; then produced a variety somewhat similar to the snow apple but larger and firmer.

McMillan & Hamilton, wholesale grocers and provision merchants, Vancouver, are moving into larger and better premises at the corner of Alexander street and Columbia avenue.

VANCOUVER BOARD OF TRADE.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has received, from the Vancouver Board of Trade, a copy of the report of the annual meeting of that body. The report will be useful as a work of reference to all wishing information concerning the mining, lumbering, fishing and other industries of the great Province by the Pacific. In addition to the many useful tables, a map of British Columbia and the Klondyke country, showing the various routes to the latter district from British Columbia and other points, is printed in colors.

New figs—Eleme, Turkish and natural, and new Malaga and Sultana raisins, despite the higher prices of last season, are commencing to move out freely with The Eby Blain Co., Limited.

WILL IT AFFECT CANADA'S FLOUR TRADE?

A CABLE of a few day's ago stated that at a congress of mill owners in Odessa, it was decided to petition the Government of Russia to allow export bounties on flour "similar to those granted in the United States, France and Germany."

The United States, it is almost unnecessary to say, does not give an export bounty on flour. France and Germany, however, do.

The primary object of the innovation is, no doubt, to secure for the Russian miller a share of the British flour trade, which, at present, he has not.

The proposition is not without interest to Canada. The bounty-fed flour of France already threatens to injure the flour trade of the Dominion with Great Britain, for the French millers are beginning to import hard wheat from the American continent to be ground into flour for export, retaining their own soft wheat for home consumption. And the prospect of another bounty-fed competitor is not encouraging.

The imports of flour into Great Britain during the calendar year 1897, according to British trade returns, were 10,461,174 barrels, valued at $46,718,326. Of this quantity, 857,186 barrels, valued at $3,911,993, were from Canada. How material this increase is may be gathered from the following figures, gleaned from the Dominion trade returns during the past five fiscal years:

|           | Quantityin barrels. | Value.    |
|-----------|-------------------------|-----------|
| 1893..... | 206,218                 | $853,144 |
| 1894..... | 203,467                 | 812,338   |
| 1895..... | 111,588                 | 448,503   |
| 1896..... | 89,428                  | 347,685   |
| 1897..... | 248,441                 | 814,527   |

It is evident from the above table, that over $3,000,000 worth of Canadian flour must have been taken by the Mother Country between the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1897, and the end of the calendar year.

From a table recently published in The N.Y. Journal of Commerce, it is learned that the imports of Canadian flour into Great Britain from January 1 to August 31 were valued at $899,100. The United States sent $11,541,900 worth; Austro-Hungary, $388,490; France, $256,990; and Germany, $69,790 worth. All told, $13,392,376 worth were imported by Great Britain from January 1 to August 31, against $12,103,465 for the same period in 1897.

In ordinary life it is well not to condemn a man until he is proved guilty, but in business it is well not to trust a man until he is proved to be honest.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS DEARER.

AS it was anticipated it would do, the California Raisin Association, the new organization which controls 95 per cent. of the output, has advanced prices  $\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb.

It was expected that the advance would be  $\frac{1}{4}$  of a cent per lb., but the minimum advance was only applied to the three-crown grade, the two and four-crown grades being marked up  $\frac{1}{2}$  a cent per lb.

Advices received in Toronto state that very few four-crown fruit will reach the Canadian market, on account of damage to the growing crop by rain. In fact, fear is expressed that none will reach here.

At the figures now ruling, three-crown loose muscatel raisins would cost something like  $7\frac{1}{4}$  c. per lb. to lay down on this market, while four-crown would cost about  $8\frac{1}{4}$  c. per lb.

NOVA SCOTIA CRANBERRIES.

THE first shipment of cranberries arrived on the Toronto market the other day. They were from Cape Cod, Massachusetts, which district has, for some time, held first place among cranberry-growing areas. Jersey cranberries have, for some time, also, been considered especially good berries.

While, in the past, cranberries have been produced in many parts of Canada, notably the French River district in Ontario, and in various parts of Nova Scotia, the Canadian product has never attained the reputation of the Cape Cod or Jersey berries.

There has been, during the past summer, a movement to increase the area in Nova Scotia devoted to the cultivation of this berry.

It is pointed out that one grower, Henry Shaw, Waterville, Kings county, N.S., produced, from two acres of bog, 185 barrels of cranberries. Of these, he sent 174 barrels to Montreal, where they sold for $1,139, leaving Mr. Shaw, after expenses were paid, $720, which is $360 an acre. Mr. Shaw has now two acres in full bearing, four just coming into bearing, and four acres recently set out. He estimated that each acre should yield about 100 barrels.

As there are thousands of acres of bog similar to that upon which these results have been produced, it is argued that there are fortunes in the bogs of Nova Scotia.

That there is much truth in this deduction is, doubtlessly, correct, for fruit dealers in Toronto freely express the opinion that Nova Scotia cranberries are fully equal in quality to (though they have not yet the reputation of) the Cape Cod or Jersey berries. Yet there is not, in Canada, a market for unlimited quantities of this fruit.

During 1897, the value of cranberries imported into Canada amounted to $19,718; in 1896, $32,296; in 1895, $9,979. Thus, the product of 100 acres of bog, such as Mr. Shaw's, would be about sufficient to make Canada independent of United States supplies. It is likely, however, that a market will be found in Great Britain or the United States for as many cranberries as Nova Scotia may produce for some time to come.

Low-priced articles, like low-priced men are often most unprofitable.

CEYLON TEA SHIPMENTS.

MAIL ADVICES from Colombo, Ceylon, under date of September 6, show a gratifying increase in the exportation of tea this year up to that date, the total being 85,120,303 pounds, compared with 83,675,216 pounds the same period last year.

The exports were distributed among the following :

|                     | Quantity in pounds. |            |
|---------------------|---------------------|------------|
|                     | 1897.               | 1898.      |
| United Kingdom..... | 72,040,772          | 68,557,820 |
| Germany.....        | 189,503             | 249,474    |
| Russia.....         | 324,612             | 1,634,865  |
| Australia.....      | 9,011,120           | 10,579,973 |
| America.....        | 556,807             | 1,743,257  |
| Other ports.....    | 1,552,402           | 2,354,934  |
| Total pounds....    | 83,675,216          | 85,120,303 |

An item, reproduced from an exchange, recently appeared in the columns of THE CANADIAN GROCER, to the effect that the Russians preferred hand-made to machine-made tea. Whatever they may have done in the past, it is evident from the above table that Russia is becoming a lover of the machine-made tea of Ceylon. An increase of 1,310,258 pounds, or over 400 per cent., is astonishing.

The figures appertaining to the exports to America are also marked, showing, as they do, an increase of 1,186,430 pounds, an increase of nearly 216 per cent. But these figures do not show the total exports of Ceylon tea to the American continent. Canada, for instance, gets most of her supply of Ceylon tea from London.

The quantity of Ceylon tea exported from London to the North American continent from January 1 to the end of August was 1,459,046 pounds, of which 591,881 pounds went to the United States, and 866,165 pounds to Canada. The total quantity which came to Canada and the United States for the same period in 1897 was 1,391,083 pounds.

A GOOD TRADE INDICATION.

Bank clearings in Canada continue to be of a satisfactory nature, the increase of September being 16.6 per cent. over August, and of the nine months 23 per cent., compared with the same period in 1897.

The total clearings for the nine months were $1,014,245,062, compared with $825,679,099 last year.

Montreal shows the largest increase, with 27.1 per cent. Then comes Toronto, with 24.5, Winnipeg with 23.7, and Hamilton with 6.7. * Halifax and St. John show slight decreases of 1.1 and 1.6 per cent. respectively. Poor trade conditions, largely due to the late Spanish-American war, and to the over-stocking of the British lumber market, explain the decrease in the Maritime Provinces.

The returns of the clearing houses in the United States are not as favorable as those relating to the Canadian concerns. For September, the returns were 1.3 per cent. less than for August, compared with Canada's 16.6 per cent. increase. The returns for the nine months, while not, however, showing as large an increase as those appertaining to Canada, still show the substantial gain of 21.7 per cent.

YUKON GOLD AND WOE.

SOME of those who are returning from the Klondyke are bringing back gold, but a great many are bringing back tales of woe.

But nothing has yet transpired which should lessen one's belief in the richness of that part of the Dominion.

The people who "strike it rich" in gold-fields are few, while those who fail are many. And it would be strange if the experience of the Klondyke goldfield was different from that in other famous goldfields of the world.

That there is gold, in enormous quantities, in the Yukon country is established by what the eye has seen and by what the reports of such men as Ogilvie record.

To get into a country within the Arctic circle, which is penetrated by neither railroads nor wagon roads, is no easy task, and to those used to riding in street cars, if they had to travel a mile, or had never endured hardship, the way has, no doubt, proved sufficiently discouraging to cause many of them to damn the country, gold and all, before they had really tested it as to its yellow-metal producing qualities.

Men who face dangers, seen and unseen, and endure hardships severe, in traversing many hundreds of miles of unsettled and uninviting country, in search of gold, certainly deserve to secure the desideratum, but, because the blanks are many, it does not follow that the value of the prizes has been exaggerated.

A TEA DUTY MYSTERY.

MINDS of tea men in the United States are much exercised these days in regard to the duty on tea.

The war is over, and there are a great many who are of opinion that the time is also over when it is necessary for the continuance of the duty of 10c. per lb.

But there is no knowing what the mind of the members of Congress is in the matter. And the consequence is a hesitancy on the part of importers and dealers of all kinds to do business.

If the circumstances were untrammelled by political influences, the future would, doubtless, be less uncertain than it now is. It is true, the war is over, but the bill of expenses is not, by any means. As long as that is so, there will be necessity for the war tax, and also the necessity for tea bearing its share of that tax.

But the ways of the politicians in the United States, as in Canada, are past finding out. Their actions will largely be determined by the results such actions will have upon their political welfare. And, until what will pay them best is determined, the future of the duty on tea will continue to be a mystery.

What the action of Congress may be is not without interest to Canada, for the continuance or discontinuance of the duty, would exert more or less influence upon the tea market in this country.

ARE THEY SELECTED RAISINS ?

It is charged that a good many Valencia raisins have been bought and shipped to Canada branded as finest selected which are said to be in reality only similar to fine off-stalk, as put up under the best brands.

This is not likely to be conducive to the best interests of the Canadian trade, for THE CANADIAN GROCER has been assured that some at least of the first-class shipping-houses in Spain have instructed their agents here to report as to how this fruit is received by buyers in Canada, as they (the shippers) claim it is useless for them to maintain, in the face of this competition, the high standard of selected raisins they have hitherto done, if a lower and inferior grade answers the purpose just as well.

AS USUAL, COULD NOT GIVE THE INFORMATION.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has frequently urged the appointment of a successful Canadian business man to look after our commercial interests in Great Britain. Canadians who have had dealings with the Government offices in London know that the High Commissioner's staff are grossly ignorant of Canada and things Canadian. They have no knowledge of the extent and resources of the country and cannot give intelligent answers to inquiries.

The following, from the manager of the MacLean Publishing Co.'s London, Eng., office, shows the work that could be done by a shrewd business man who knew the country :

I have been doing quite a bit of work lately with people seeking information about Canada. A gentleman from Dunstable, a ribbon manufacturer with a good knowledge of the straw and felt hat industry, has been thinking of going to Canada to start a factory. A few days ago he came up to London and went to our Government offices to see what the chances of success were, but found out that they could not tell him half what he wanted to know. He saw THE DRV GOODS REVIEW there, and came down to see if we could give him any information. I answered what questions I could, and suggested that he had better take a trip over himself. He came in again a few days later, and it then occurred to me that Mr. S. F. McKinnon, whom I had seen on the street a few days before, might be able to help him in his inquiries, so I went to his office in Milk street, explained the situation and enlisted his interest. He was very kind to Mr. Ware, and, though he was very chary in what he said, he did not discourage the scheme. This serves again to show the need of a business man over here, acting in Canada's interests. There was a funny look on Mr. McKinnon's face when he asked Mr. Ware how much he found out at the Government offices. This gentleman will likely start for Canada next month.

Canada's paid representatives were not able to give an investor the information he wanted. If two Canadians had not intervened, it is possible that the gentleman in question would have turned his attention to some more enterprising colony, and the benefits of his energy and capital would have been lost to this country.

COMADRA AND ELEME FIGS.

QUITE a little excitement has developed in regard to Comadra tap figs. The crop of Comadra figs, it is alleged, is 50 per cent. short, owing to damage by rain.

At any rate, whether the crop is long or short, stocks in first hands in the primary market are exhausted, and the market has a decidedly bullish feeling as a result.

During the past week several cables have been sent out from Toronto, with a view to buying, but they failed of their purpose.

As a result of the strength of the market, wholesalers in Toronto have advanced their quotations on tapnet figs, their figures now being  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to 5c. per lb.

It is said that the United States has bought large quantities of Comadra figs this season, and this has naturally helped to strengthen the market.

Natural figs are also firmer, wholesalers now asking  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.

There is no sign of any decline in the price of Eleme figs. Advices received in Toronto this week from Smyrna state that equivalent to 120 to 130s. f.o.b. is being paid for finest Elemes, 90 to 100s. for choice, and 65 to 70s. for any figs of average quality, while the lowest naturals are selling at 18 to 26s. f.o.b.

The advices asserted that it was expected that by the middle or end of October all the crop of Eleme figs would be exported.

The untruthful advertisement deceives the merchant as well as the people.

MOLASSES ADVANCING.

HOLDERS of Barbadoes molasses, who have carried their goods until now, stand a good chance of making a handsome profit on their property, for the market certainly has an advancing tendency.

For instance, on Monday last, a round lot sold at 29c., which is an advance of over 1c. on what was bid for the same goods a fortnight ago. Now, holders contend that their property is worth even more than the figure named, and have refused to accept it in some instances.

Stocks in first hands were probably never as low as they are at present, at this particular time of the year, just when the fall consumptive demand is beginning to be felt in earnest. In a word, all the conditions favor a material rise in values, and it will surprise many people if it does not come.

Advices from the Islands state that the weather is extremely hot, and that some heavy rains have fallen in the country districts.

With regard to the damage done the cane crops, by the recent hurricane, it is too early yet to form any reliable estimate, but the general opinion is that the loss will be about 10 per cent.

Passiveness may do for the slave, but not for the salesman.

THE COHOE PACK.

ADVICES from the Coast make it clear that the pack of coho salmon is light.

The run on the Fraser river is particularly poor, one cannery there having less than 1,000 cases.

Canneries at other points in British Columbia appear to have done a little better, although two of the largest canneries in the Province have only about 7,000 to 8,000 cases between them, one having 2,000 and the other 5,000 to 6,000.

A telegram received in Toronto on Friday stated that the run of cohoes on the Fraser was still poor. Other advices stated that the fishermen were still being paid 20c. per fish, but even at this figure they could not make wages, so light was the catch.

A week ago, some of the packers were still willing to accept orders at $3.75 f.o.b. the Coast, but they have since telegraphed their agents to take nothing less than $4 per case.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Oct. 20, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery trade this week does not present any new or striking features. Shipments of foreign dried fruits, such as raisins and currants, are being taken into store in large quantities, and shipped out again to retail customers. In canned corn, the tone of the market is strong, with values held rather higher. Tomatoes and peas are steady and unchanged. There is no change in regard to canned salmon, the situation still being strong. The demand for canned goods is light. Wholesalers report a good business in teas, particularly in Indians, Ceylons and Young Hysons. Coffees are quiet.

CANNED GOODS.

Advices from the Coast, both telegraphic and mail, still report a light run of coho salmon, and the few packers who at the close of last week were willing to accept $3.75 f.o.b. the Coast, are now refusing to accept less than $4. Two of the largest packers have only put up about 8,000 cases between them, while we hear of other large canners who have less than 1,000 cases. Very little business is being done at the moment. At least one house is quoting Lowe Inlet sockeye salmon at $1.25 per doz., but $1.30 to $1.35 is asked by most houses. Fraser river fish is still quoted at $1.40 to $1.50 in tall tins. Cahoes run from $1.15 to $1.20.

There are enquiries for canned corn, and, while sales are reported between packers and wholesalers at 85c., yet, as a rule, buyers complain that they cannot get supplies. Wholesalers are, this week, quoting 85 to 90c. There is a feeling, however, in the trade that the price of corn is being unduly appreciated. No new information is forthcoming in regard to the pack of tomatoes, and there is a decided willing-to-wait feeling before doing new business. Prices continue steady, however. Gallon apples are beginning to come upon the market, and wholesalers are booking orders at $2 to $2.25. Not many peaches are going out; $1.60 to $1.65 is the ruling quotation for 2's and $2.40 to $2.75 for 3's.

COFFEES.

The market is still without much interest. Deliveries of Rio coffee in the primary market are light, but business is dull and prices are given to fluctuating.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Wholesalers are experiencing a little demand for syrups. A few bright syrups are being offered by one refinery, but no transactions are reported. Molasses is scarce and firm. A New Orleans molasses in 3-lb. tins, to sell to retailers at $3.60 per case of two dozen, is being put upon the market.

SUGARS.

For this time of the year, a fair trade is being done, but a fair trade just now does not, of course, mean a large one. Prices in Canada are unchanged at last week's decline.

In New York, there was a fractional decline in raw sugars last week, and certain grades of soft sugars can be shaded. As the Doscher, another independent refinery, opens in November, the fight between the independent refineries and the Trust promises to have renewed interest. Early

*See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

cables this week noted a decline of  $\frac{3}{4}$ d. in beet sugar in Europe, with cane quiet and steady.

RICE.

The foreign market has recovered a little from the decline of a month ago. Locally, there is a little business being done for import.

NUTS.

Latest cable quotations are to the effect that Grenoble walnuts will cost even more than at first estimated. According to present information, they will now cost  $12\frac{1}{2}$ c. laid down here.

TEAS.

Wholesalers report a fairly active trade in all teas, particularly in Indians, Ceylons and Young Hysons.

Brokers report a good demand for China green teas, but there are few transactions, simply because the teas cannot be obtained. A few China black teas are offering, but we hear of no transactions.

The Japan tea market is still steady for high and medium grades, and a little business is being done. Low-grade Japans are practically unsalable owing to the inferior quality of the leaf, reference to which was made in former issues. Advices from Japan state that the shippers there are trying to fill orders for the Canadian market.

A little more enquiry is being experienced for Ceylon tea for importation. Prices are firm. Mail advices from London, under date of Oct. 7, stated that no material change had taken place in the market for Indian teas, although here and there a slight weakness was apparent. In regard to Ceylon teas, the report said that offerings were somewhat smaller, and the market for all grades strong. The deliveries of Indian tea in London increased over 1,000,000 pounds compared with the same month last year, and 5,000,000 pounds from the commencement of the season. At the same time, however, the stock of this tea in London had for the first time fallen below the corresponding period of 1897. The average price of both Indian and Ceylon tea at the auction in London, during September, was one farthing higher than during the same period a year ago.

SPICES.

Pepper is still holding firm, with the prospect of higher prices, according to latest advices from the primary markets. The same applies to cloves. Ginger is slow, but prices are stiffening a little.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—The advance in the primary market noted last week has somewhat checked business for importation. At the same time, however, some good sales have been made. A cable received in Toronto on Friday from Patras reported the market strong at the advance.

VALENCIA RAISINS—There is a difference in quotations, in Toronto, on Valencia raisins, which is claimed to be due to a difference in the quality of the fruit offered. Most wholesale houses agree on  $4\frac{3}{4}$ c. for offstalk, but, for other grades, the range is as follows; Fine offstalk,  $4\frac{3}{4}$  to  $5\frac{1}{2}$ c.; selected,  $5\frac{3}{4}$  to 6c.; layers,  $5\frac{3}{4}$  to 7. Valencia raisins, of well-known brands, are cabled firm, but the rate of exchange is favorable for exportation.

MALAGA RAISINS—The bulk shipment for this market was effected the latter part of last week according to the cables. The Bellona is the steamer, and she is due to arrive in about three weeks.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS—Telegraphic advices from the Coast announce an all round advance of  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. in the price of California loose muscatel raisins. The Association has, however, given shippers a special dispensation to allow them to sell to the Canadian trade, for a few days at the old prices.

PRUNES—The market in Trieste has advanced 9d. per cwt. This advance has had the effect of putting a stop to import orders for the time being. Wholesalers are quoting California prunes as follows: 40's, 11c. per lb.; 60's, 8c.; 90's, 6½c.

FIGS—Quite a demand has sprung up for Comadra tap figs, and the market is stronger, with quotations higher. The fig market generally is strong. Wholesalers are quoting Eleme figs as follows: 10-lb. boxes, 5-rowed, 19c. per lb.; do., 4-rowed, 25c. per lb.; 19-oz. boxes, 25c. each. Some inferior quality Turkish figs in 25-lb. boxes can be had at 12c. per lb. Natural figs are quoted at 7½c. per lb. The idea for Comadra taps is 4½ to 5c. per lb. It is doubtful whether there will be any Eleme figs on this market by Christmas.

SULTANA RAISINS—The demand is light indeed, and the price almost prohibitive. We quote: No. 1 grade, 11c. per lb.; No. 2, 12½c.; No. 3, 15c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The receipt of and demand for all native fruits, except apples, has so decreased that the Yonge street fruit market has been closed up for the season. A few barrels of winter apples are now coming in, and the price of good stock has advanced 50c. this week. A considerable quantity of common stock is still offering, keeping the price for the poorest stock unchanged at $1. Sweet potatoes have declined another 25c. this week. Malaga lemons have declined $1 per chest. They are in fair demand, as are also Verdillas, at unchanged prices. Some Jamaica oranges have arrived. They are worth $7.50 to $8 per bbl. The demand is quiet. The demand for bananas is improving, but is not exceptionally brisk yet.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Good dairy butter is in active demand. Tubs, prints and large rolls of first quality are all wanted. Creamery is not in much demand, but prices are steady at unchanged figures. We quote at outside points: Dairy tubs, 14c.; prints, 14 to 15c.; large rolls, 14c.; creamery prints, 18½c.; tubs and boxes, 17 to 18c.

CHEESE—The feeling at country board sales continues easy, few bids reaching above 8¾c. The jobbing price is 8½ to 9c. for early makes, and 9¼ to 9¾c. for September makes.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The feeling is decidedly strong. An advance of 1c. is noted for farmers' lots, and ½ to 1c. for cases. We quote at country points, 13½ to 14½c. for cases, and 16 to 17c. for farmers' lots.

POTATOES—The market shows a weakening tendency, and a decline of 8 to 10c. is noted. Car lots are worth from 52 to 57c., and small lots on the local market 55 to 60c.

POULTRY—The demand has opened up nicely, and, as geese, ducks and fowl are arriving freely, a fair business is being done. Turkeys are not offering so freely, but are in good demand. Wild ducks are coming in, and are selling well at prices ranging from 20 to 25c. for teals and widgeons to 60 to 75c. for black duck and for mallards.

HONEY—The situation is much the same as reported last week. The feeling is steady, with prices unchanged at 6½ to 7½c. for clear extracted honey, according to color and the size package. Clover comb is firm at $1.25 to $1.50.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES — There is a quiet jobbing business being done in evaporated at 8 to 8½c., but no large transactions are reported. Car lots are worth about 7c. f.o.b. at country points. Not many dried apples are offering. They are selling at 4½ to 5c. in a jobbing way.

BEANS—Business keeps good, with prices steady at $1 to $1.10 for hand-picked, and 90c. for common stock.

VEGETABLES — Cucumbers and butter beans are done. Hubbard squashes are on sale. Cauliflower has advanced 25c. per doz.; vegetable marrow, 50c.; butter squash, 75c. to $1; pumpkins, 15 to 25c. Celery has also advanced 10 to 15c.; but the stuff now arriving is of such quality to counter-balance the advance in figures. Lettuce and winter radish are 5 to 15c. cheaper this week. We quote as follows: Cauliflower, $1 to $1.25 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 15 to 30c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz; 50 to 75c.; parsley, 15 to 20c. doz.

PROVISIONS.

Stocks of all goods are light, and as usual under such circumstances, prices are firm throughout. Packers have begun operations for the winter, but, owing to the unfavorable weather, receipts of hogs so far have been light.

FISH.

Whitefish are scarce, causing an advance of 1½c. Ciscoes are also scarce, but are unchanged in price. Perch have declined ½c. Oysters and fresh fish generally are in good demand. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh whitefish, 8c.; steak trout, 7c. lb.; fresh perch, 3½c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½c. per lb.; boneless fish, 3¾c. per lb.; quail-on-toast, 5½c. per lb.; fresh-water herring, 60c. per basket; ciscoes, $1.25; haddies, 8c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 6c. per lb.; oysters, $1.35 to $1.40 per gallon.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—As anticipated, in these columns, the price of wheat reported two weeks ago was rock-bottom, and advances, aggregating 4c., have been noted since that date.

PRICE RIGHT.

QUALITY A 1.

On cars outside, 67c. is the ruling price for both white and red. On the street market an advance of 3c. has taken place, during the past week, for white, and 5c. for red. Goose wheat, which is in great demand for export to Southern Europe, has advanced 7c., and is now equal in value to either red or white. Rye has advanced 5c., and oats 1 to 2c. We quote as follows: Wheat, white, 70c.; red, 70c.; goose, 70c.; peas, 57c.; oats, new, 29c.; barley, 47c.; rye, 50c. Old Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat has advanced 2c., now being quoted at 82c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—An all-round advance of 10c. is noted this week. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.40; Manitoba strong bakers', $4; Ontario patents, $4 to $4.10; straight roller, $3.25 to $3.35, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is brisk. No change in prices is noted, but an advance is anticipated in standard oatmeal, rolled oats and rolled wheat, in sympathy with the recent advance in wheat and oats. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.60 in bags and $3.80 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The market is well cleaned up and there is a good demand, with prices firm. We quote: No. 1, 8½c.; No. 2, 7½c.; No. 3, 6½c.; cured, 9¼c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Shearlings and lambskins continue to manifest a decided firmness. An advance of 5 to 10c. brings the price up to 70 to 75c.

WOOL—Market is quiet. Prices are steady at 15c. for fleece, and 10c. for unwashed.

SEEDS.

The export demand keeps steady at a basis of $2.75 to $4.50 in a jobbing way in Toronto, but local competition is so keen that frequently better prices are paid for choice lots. Red clover is beginning to offer more freely. For last year's stock $3 to $3.50 is paid. This year's crop is worth $3.50 to $3.75, with slightly more for exceptionally fancy stock. There is still no movement in timothy.

SALT.

Prices are unchanged. Business is good. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 54c.

MARKET NOTES.

Malaga lemons are $1 cheaper.
Sweet potatoes have declined 25c.
Bosnia prunes are 9d. per cwt. dearer.

Sarnia water white coal oil has declined ½c.

Shearlings and lambskins have advanced 5 to 10c.

Manitoba and Ontario flours have both advanced 10c.

Paraffine candles have been advanced 1c. per lb. in price.

Eggs have advanced 1c., and are likely to advance further.

Whitefish is scarce, and has advanced 1½c. Perch has declined ½c.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. state that the outlook for fall trade in provisions, etc., was never more encouraging than at present.

Grenoble walnuts will cost more than at first estimated. According to the cable they will now cost equal to 12½c. per lb. laid down.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co. report a good demand for poultry, and also for large roll dairy butter. They state that holders of dairy tub butter should ship at once.

Mr. J. H. Higginson has been appointed agent in Toronto for Silverine Mfg. Co., where he will carry a full line of their goods. His office is on Adelaide street.

The Griffin & Skelly Co. advise their Toronto agents that California raisins are ½c. per lb. dearer in the primary market, although the association has allowed shippers to quote the Canadian market the old figures for a few days.

There should be no scarcity of pumpkin pies in Toronto for some time. The Dawson Commission Co., Ltd., Toronto, have received a carload of pumpkins from Lynden, Ont. The shipment, which included over 2,000 plants, comprise all sizes, from some not much larger than a cocoanut to some that would not go into an ordinary barrel. This is the first car lot of pumpkins to arrive in Toronto.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 20, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has not, as a whole, furnished any great change during the week, but, in certain departments, more activity is noticeable. This is the case in tea, and staple lines of canned vegetables, which have furnished more business, while values are firm. Sugar has, on the other hand, ruled quiet since the decline in price. Dried fruits are unsettled, as to values, and there are no other special facts to mention.

SUGAR.

There has been no further change in sugar since last report and business continues quiet on the whole. There has not been any great change in the raw article, both beet and cane ruling very much the same as they were last week. Private cables from London quoted beet dull at 9s. 8¼d. for October and November. The situation of the New York market is unchanged also, values there being very unsettled, owing to the fight between the "Trust" and the Arbuckles. Locally, trading is light, as traders have ample supplies on hand for the time being, and little activity is, therefore, expected. Prices remain as they were quoted a week ago.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market remains without change, and prices are nominal, as the refiners are out of stock, and there is nothing to make a market on.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market rules very strong, and stocks in first hands at present are probably the smallest for years past, and it is claimed that those in second hands are also comparatively small, as compared with former seasons. Demand from the country has improved considerably within the past week, and a more active distributive business is doing, and, as it increases, an advance in prices is predicted. In a jobbing way, values are firmly held at 31c. for small lots, and it is doubtful if a car lot could be had for 30c.

DRIED FRUIT.

The Escalona, which arrived last week, had only 2,000 boxes of Valencia raisins on consignment, so that buyers who held off, expecting large offers of stock, were disappointed. The market is still an unsatisfactory one, owing to the fact low offers have been made by some agents in Ontario. Cables from Denia on the other hand quote the market very firm.

California raisins are firmly held on the Coast, and the same is the case here.

Prunes remain as last reported, the only business, so far, done of any importance being in California and French. New crop of the former are now on the market, and some French, also ex Escalona.

Figs are without new feature, there being no new arrivals since those reported some time ago. Values are firm.

NUTS.

Arrivals of nearly all nuts, it appears, will be rather late this fall, and in most lines firmness is the rule, particularly walnuts and almonds, the latter costing fully ½ to 1c. more now than they did some time ago.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no change in the situation of the canned goods market. Enquiry for all lines of vegetables is good, while offerings are exceedingly light, and prices in consequence are very firmly held. Tomatoes sold firm at 90c., and corn at the same money, while peas have brought 80c. Canned salmon continue strong for spot goods, prices ruling at $5.25 to $5.50 per case for choice brands.

RICE.

There has been no change in the rice market. Demand is slow, but prices are steadily held.

TEA.

Tea has displayed more activity and a better feeling, though the volume of business has not as yet been enlarged very materially. Buyers show more disposition to pay the prices asked, and the indications point to a brisk trade in this staple in the near future. Some sales of Japans are reported at 17 to 20c. and Gunpowders at 16c. A private cable received here from Yokohama reports the market active and strong, with little desirable grades now left, and advises buyers to cover wants.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been little or no change in the green fruit market since last report. Apples are now coming in with more freedom, but general demand is light, though values show no change. Lemons are scarce and in good demand at unchanged prices, while apples and all other fruits are exceedingly light for the fall season, and values correspondingly firm.

FISH, ETC.

Although the weather has not been altogether favorable for handling fish, yet there has been a decided improvement in the demand during the past week from both local and country, consequently the market is more active, and considerable business is reported in a small way. The arrivals of most lines have been larger, but, as the demand has been sufficient to absorb all offerings, the undertone to the market is steady, and prices show no material change. We quote: No. 1 Labrador herrings, $4 60 to $5 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S. do., $4.50; N.B. in half-bbls., $2.25; No. 1 B.C. salmon, to arrive, $13 per bbl.; No. 2 Labrador, $14; No. 3 mackerel, $11 to $12, and No. 1 green cod, $4.

The demand for preserved fish continues good, and the market is kept well cleaned up of stock. We quote: Pure boneless codfish, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; dressed or skinless codfish, 4¼c.; dried, $4 per 100 lb.; boneless fish, 3½c.

Supplies of fresh fish have been just about equal to the demand, and prices are steady. Haddock are selling at 3½ to 4c. per lb.; Manitoba dore, whitefish and trout, 6½c., and B.C. salmon, 13 to 14c.

Smoked fish continue to move freely, receipts being well cleaned up daily. We quote as follows: Haddies, 6½ to 7c.; kippered herrings, $1.35 to $1.50 per box; smoked herrings, 10 to 12c., and Yarmouth bloaters, $1.25.

The demand for shell oysters continues slow, on account of the mild weather; but, as receipts have fallen off some, prices rule about steady. We quote: Hand-picked malpeques, $4.50; fair to good, $3.50; Buctouche, $5.

PROVISIONS.

There was no change in the local provision market. The demand for most lines is fair for the season, and a moderately active trade is doing. We quote: Canadian pork, in barrels, $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8¼ to 8½c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10½c. to 13c.; and bacon, 10 to 13c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Owing to the continued light receipts of new laid eggs, the undertone of the market for such has ruled stronger and prices are marked up another ½c. per doz., and the prospects are they will go still higher in the near future. The demand at present is principally for new laid, and buyers in many cases find it difficult to fill their wants. The market for other grades is also firmer, but no change in prices has taken place. We quote: Strictly new laid, 18½ to 19c.; No. 1 candled, 14c.; No. 2 do., 12 to 13c.; P.E.I., 12 to 13c., and culls, 9c. per doz.

BEANS — The demand for beans in small lots was fair, and prices ruled steady. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—Business in honey is exceedingly quiet, as buyers generally have laid in supplies. We quote as follows: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to 7½c.; dark, 5½ to 6½c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—There is little or nothing doing in maple product. We quote: Syrup, in wood, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; in tins, 45 to 55c., according to size; sugar, 6 to 6¼c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

The grain market was rather quiet to-day, but the undertone was firm, and the recent advance in prices fully maintained. There was a fair enquiry for peas and oats, but the offerings of such were small, consequently the volume of business was light. Peas were firmly held at 63c. and oats at 29c.

afloat. In Manitoba and Ontario wheat business was quiet.

There was no change in the flour market. The demand continues good for Manitoba grades, and a large volume of business was done, including sales of 1,200 sacks on local account. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.35 to $4.10; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $4.50 to $4.70; strong bakers', best, $4.20 to $4.40.

A fairly active trade was done in feed, and, as the offerings continue light, prices are firmly held. We quote: Manitoba bran, $12; shorts, $14, and moullie, $16 per ton, including bags.

There was a steady demand for rolled oats, and, as supplies are not large, prices rule steady at $3.50 per barrel and at $1.70 per bag.

The receipts of hay have only been fair of late, for which the demand is ample, and the market is kept well cleaned up, consequently a better feeling prevails, but prices show no advance as yet. We quote: No. 1 at $6.50; No. 2 at $5 to $5.50, and clover mixed at $4 to $4.50, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese continues easy, late made goods leaving first hands this week at a decline of ¼c. from the price realized last. This was the result of the dealings, where 3,000 boxes of Quebec cheese, the make of the first half of October, sold at a range of 8⅜ to 8½c. Between traders there were some transactions at 8⅝c., and that price is now the ruling for finest eastern Septembers. Western cheese continues nominal, in the absence of transactions, but if a holder wanted to realize on these at present, all he could obtain is 9c. We quote as follows: Finest western Septembers, 9c.; finest western Augusts, 8¾c.; finest eastern Septembers, 8⅝c.; finest eastern Augusts, 8⅜c.; Liverpool cables, 42s. 6d.

Butter ruled much the same as reported on Saturday, and demand continues rather indifferent in its character. In the Townships, however, reports again state that fuller prices have been paid than are obtainable on spot. We quote: Extra finest creamery, boxes, 18⅞ to 19c.; extra finest creamery, tubs, 18½ to 18¾c.; ordinary finest creamery, boxes, 18¼ to 18⅜c.; ordinary finest creamery, tubs, 18⅝c.; western dairy, tubs, 15c.

Mr. J. H. Moore, representing Boeckh, Bros. & Co., Toronto, sailed on Saturday from Montreal for Great Britain for the purpose of introducing the adjustable show and display tables.

COFFEES ✦ SPICES

We have just received new importations of Java, Mocha, Maracaibo, Ceylon, Costa Rica, Rio and Santos Coffees. Will be pleased to send samples and quotations, Green or Roasted. Our Roasted Coffees are more in favor than ever, as they are straight and honest goods, imported direct from the land of growth and production. Now is the time for PICKLING SPICE—one of our many strong points.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 18, 1898.

BUSINESS during the week has been good, and, though payments have been slow, there have been but very few bad debts, and dealers are well satisfied with the prospects for fall business. Markets are firmly held, and nearly all lines show good margins. The fall number of THE GROCER is to hand, and the trade speaks very highly of it from every standpoint. In fact, it is generally considered the finest number of a trade paper ever received here. The attractiveness of the advertisements is particularly commented on, and advertisers should feel every satisfaction, as there is no doubt each "ad." is seen and read. Our people are much pleased at the bright outlook for winter export business via St. John. With the largely increased facilities and the knowledge that many more steamers than ever before are booked to come here, the people feel that they are being repaid for the large amount of money they have spent in providing facilities.

OIL—There is little of interest. Prices hold as quoted last week. There are large shipments of burning oil being made at the low prices quoted. In cod oil the feeling is rather easier. Arrivals have been more free, and there is but a limited demand.

SALT—The sale has been somewhat curtailed, because of the very light catch of herring, but, with better reports from the fishing grounds, increased activity is looked for. In Liverpool coarse there is quite a stock on hand, and in factory filled there is ample for all needs. In this latter, from the fact that the regular dairy interests now use the Canadian almost altogether, the sale is much less than formerly. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1 per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—The fact that some packers offered to fill their orders for tomatoes where they had before said they would fill but 60 per cent., led to the opinion that on this line the market was easier, but this does not prove that this line is easier, and, from the best information, the firm feeling is fully maintained. Corn is firmer, and peas also show advanced figures. The stock is not moving as freely as is usual at this season, as retailers think prices high, and holders are not inclined to shade figures. Salmon is firm, and dealers regret they missed the chance of buying earlier in the season. Stocks are light, with quite a range in quality. The bringing of the cheaper grades into the market hurts the trade. Peaches are high. This fruit has the best demand here of any. In gallon apples, the price is also higher. Packers have shown quite a range in quoting this line. Salmon are still too high to be an active line. In sardines, haddies and other locally-packed fish, there is a large sale.

GREEN FRUITS—Apples now have the chief attention. Prices, at least for local consumption, seem rather easier. Schooners from Nova Scotia bring apples and act as warehouses, selling their cargoes direct to the retail trade and the consumer, which takes this business largely away from the fruit and commission men. A leading wholesale fruit dealer said to THE GROCER there was no money in handling any local stuff. In oranges and lemons the season is too early. Prices are quite high, with but fair demand. Canadian grapes have sold low during the week, but the season is about over. Tokays are freely received, and have the demand for best trade. In Malagas, little is being done. In cranberries, the local berry looks well, but it is not equal to the Cape Cod in appearance. The crop is a short one. The Cape Cod berry is lower than last season. A few Canadian pears are still being received. Bananas are in light demand. Sweet potatoes and quinces are in good supply.

DRIED FRUIT—Dealers are anxiously awaiting the arrival of new goods, particularly California raisins; also currants, figs and the later shipments of Valencia raisins. The market in California raisins is firm, and the advance promised by the association is larger than was expected, particularly on 4-crown loose. Malaga raisins, in primary markets, are also higher. The first arrivals of Valencias moved off, but quietly. In prunes, a few California are offered, but the trade in general have ordered the Bosnia goods. There is not much demand for prunes till the holidays. The quantity of figs to arrive is smaller than usual, and prices will rule high. Onions are rather firmer. This is a large trade here. In evaporated apples there is an increased sale, but stocks are yet light, as the later fruit is preferred to keep. In nuts arrivals of new will be late this season, and prices will rule high.

SUGAR—The fall has shown a large business, chiefly in granulated. There is a smaller demand each season for dark yellows. While there is quite a sale for the Dutch granulated, the trade still demand the standard for their regular business. The Dutch is being used as a leader where low prices are desired.

MOLASSES—The past few weeks have shown large sales of Barbadoes, and values have been advanced. Porto Rico is firmer. Stocks in all lines are low for this time of the year. The outlook is very strong, but the absence of the large lumbering demand affects the market.

PRODUCE—Cheese is the firmest feature, but there is but fairly active business. Late-made goods demand full figures. Our factories are inclined to stop making too early. Factories are now largely selling for export. In eggs, good stock is hard to get, but there is little change in price. Butter moves but slowly. Best stock has fair sale at steady prices.

FISH—In dry cod prices are still firm, while the demand is not particularly large receipts are not, and there is plenty moving to keep price up. Pollock show no change. At this season the fishermen slack salt their pollock and ship direct to the United States market, where they get much better returns than here. Pickled herring is still high. Dealers cannot get enough to fill orders, this being the active season. Rather better catches are, however, reported, and larger receipts are expected. In the larger fish, as Eastern Shelborne and Yarmouth, there have been no receipts as yet. Pickled shad is easy; the large supply of spring shad on the market tends to keep prices down. In smoked herrings there is fair movement, but prices are low. New alewives are about cleaned up. A few old are still on hand. In kippered herring and bloaters, and also in finnan haddies, there is a good business. We quote as follows: Large cod $3.40 to $3.50; medium, $3.40 to $3.50; pollock, $1.35 to $1.40; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.60 to $1.90 ½-bbl.; old smoked herring, 5 to 6c. per box; Canso, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4½ to 5c.; rippling herring, $1.90 to $2; wolves do., $2.25 to $2.50; new smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $4 ½-bbl.; fall do., $5; ½-bbl.; alewives, $3 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1; bloaters, 60c.

PROVISIONS—In beef, the somewhat lower prices have aided the demand. Barreled pork also moves more freely, but the season does not promise to be a large one. Smoked meats are confined largely to local cured. Lard has active sale at last week's figures.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Particularly in Ontario grades, values seem higher. Stocks here are not large, which tends to a more active enquiry. Oatmeal and oats are both rather firmer, with fair business reported. Feed is lower and much more freely offered than for some time past. This is particularly true of middlings. In beans, there is but fair business. The market is higher. Cornmeal is still active at quotations. The high price of barley affects sales. Hay is a large supply, but prices are very low. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.90 to $5; best Ontario, $3.90 to $4.10; medium, $3.75 to $3.85; oatmeal, $3.70 to $3.80; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $18 to $19; bran, $16 to $17; oats, 36 to 38c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.65; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Quite a large shipment of cheese went forward from Summerside this past week to Liverpool, via ss. City of Ghent.

Reports from Charlottetown quote round hogs at 4 to 4¼c. Geese and lamb shipments are beginning, 1,350 of the former and 1,200 of the latter being shipped last week.

The cranberry crop in Nova Scotia is reported very light. At Auburn, in Kings county, where last season there were upward of 1,800 barrels, it is said there will be about 200. This is said to be owing to late frosts last spring. Many places are not as bad as this. Some, in fact, report from 35 to 40 barrels per acre, but other seasons they have had as high as 60 barrels. Shippers to England are advised to put them up in boxes not too large.

Cold storage shipment for apples is not giving the satisfaction expected, the trouble being, that while the fruit arrives in good condition, it will not stand up for any length of time.

Allen Randolph, of A. F. Randolph & Sons, wholesale grocers, Fredericton, called on THE GROCER this week. They have a large and growing trade, largely in the St. John river counties.

It is pleasant news that Woodstock is about to do away with commercial travelers' license. It has been a surprise to many how such a live town has remained so long so far behind the times in this matter.

Large shipments of apples are being made from Halifax. The ss. Halifax City is taking 12,904 barrels and the Damara 7,000, both cargoes for London. There were also 2,700 barrels forwarded from Wolfville to Boston, for shipment to England from there.

The outlook for export business from here this winter is brighter than ever. Very many more steamers than last year are expected. Already, the Dominion, the Allan, the Donaldson, the Beaver, and a Manchester line have decided to send their boats here.

IT IS FAVORING BRITISH TRADE.

Customs officers in the city report that the preferential tariff has stimulated trade with Great Britain on the part of Northwest merchants. Large stocks from Germany were laid in before last August, when the treaty was discontinued; but, since then, this trade has been directed towards England, and indications point to a considerable increase in volume.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

SINCE the installation of our Spring Water System our trade has increased fifty per cent.

WHY?

Because Whiter or Purer Starch has never been seen in Canada.

TO SHOW IT IS TO SELL IT.

CUBAN VS. EUROPEAN SUGAR.

THE close attention which German sugar producers are giving to the situation of Spain's late West Indian colonies, particularly Cuba, is shown by a translation of an article in The Brunswick Landeszeitung, forwarded to the State Department of the United States by Consul Albert, whose district is the centre of the sugar-beet industry of Germany. The article says that whether Cuba is annexed or not is unimportant from an economic standpoint. "The application of the American Customs to Cuba means the free import of Cuban products into the United States.

The American sugar interests possess extensive estates in Cuba, and, as the need for money has not grown less in Cuba during the insurrection and the war, it will not be difficult to acquire still greater possessions there. The United States has a demand for sugar of 2,000,000 tons, of which Louisiana supplies 200,000 tons, while 100,000 tons come from beet, sorghum, maple, and other domestic sugar productions. Before the last revolution, the Cuban sugar production amounted to over 1,000,000 tons. It is believed in well-informed sugar circles that Cuba will supply the entire demand of the United States for this article in the course of two or three years. This means, in the first place, the yearly deficiency for the American nation of a round $45,000,000, which the duty on imported sugar has hitherto produced. It means, at the same time, the destruction of the sugar production of Louisiana, which cannot exist without the protection of the duty.

The sugar cane can stand no frost; in Cuba there is no frost, but in Louisiana the sugar cane is visited with frost from time to time. We calculate Louisiana sugar to be worth only $80 a ton, so that the omission of the Louisiana production represents a yearly loss of $20,000,000. The Cuban planters and the sugar trust will share the profit which will arise when Cuban sugar has no duty to pay, and is made cheaper for the United States than the sugar of other countries. In addition to this, cane sugar is already worth one mark more than beet sugar. In the degree in which Cuba supplies the demand, the United States will cease to buy other cane sugar and beet sugar. Of the latter it has imported 300,000 tons, the rest of the import being cane sugar. The English market has hitherto been the chief customer for beet sugar, England having during the last year consumed over 2,500,000 tons of sugar, of which about 300,000 tons came from Cuba and Porto Rico.

When the United States ceases to buy foreign sugar the whole English demand can be supplied with cane products. Then Europe can realize nothing from her export premiums. It is expected that by the next harvest the changed circumstances of Cuba will count for much, as sufficient cane sugar stands in the field to supply 500,000 tons—about double as much as the last harvest supplied. The writer ends by stating that he believes that under the influence of American enterprise the production of sugar in Cuba and Porto Rico will be enormous and will cripple the sugar industries of the bounty-paying countries of Europe.

BENEFITS OF UNTRUTHFUL "ADS."

I have frequently heard merchants complain that they could not make their advertising pay because their wicked competitors made so many exaggerated statements. There never was a greater mistake made. A competitor can work for your success in no better way than by lying in his own advertising. It does not take people long to find out which one is telling the truth. It does not do any harm to tell them occasionally that you adhere strictly to the letter of your advertisements, and that they can depend absolutely on every printed word. This need not be done in a pharisaical manner, and care should be taken that it does not have this appearance. — Charles Austin Bates.

HIRING CLERKS.

There is a large store on Congress street, says The Portland Express, that adopts a novel plan of hiring its clerks. All the affable gentlemen that appear behind the counter are from out of town. None of the employes were original residents of Portland. This plan is in such contradistinction to that usually followed by most stores, that it has excited some little attention. Stores usually go on the principle that the more home people there are in its employ the greater number of their respective friends will become patrons. The store in question argues that the less affiliations a clerk has in the city where he is employed the more attention he can give to business, and for that reason strangers can practically devote all the time to the interests of the store. And the fact that the firm is eminently successful in business, would seem to carry out his theory, antagonistic as it seems.

TRAVELER HICKEY MARRIES.

Mr. Hugh Hickey, one of Lucas, Steele & Bristol's best known representatives, was, on Wednesday, married in St. Mary's cathedral to Miss McKinty. The young people were looked after by the bride's sister and Tommy Edwards, a fellow traveler of the groom's. Mrs. Hickey was the recipient of useful reminders from the staff of Lucas, Steele & Bristol as well as from the firm. Mr. Hickey is one of the most popular men on the road, and THE CANADIAN GROCER extends its congratulations to him and his bride.

MATCH FACTORY FOR WINNIPEG.

Erick Sedvall is asking a bonus of $15,000 from Winnipeg, for which consideration he offers to establish a first-class match factory at a cost of $50,000, and to employ, from the start, 50 hands. This number would be increased to 150 by the end of three years.

AMONG TORONTO RETAILERS.

Store
Fixtures.

One frequently hears the statement that it is useless to lay down any hard and fast rules about store fixtures, as what attracts in one district repels in another. In one section it is advisable to have the price attached to all goods, and a feature should be made of bargains, while in another portion of the city it has been found advisable to make quality the feature, and keep price in the background. Nevertheless, it is true that there are general principles which contribute to success in every section of the city. One of the principles is, that it pays to have the appearance of a large and well-assorted stock. Two of the oldest grocery firms in the city, Peter Macdonald, who has been in business in Toronto about 40 years, and Swan Bros., who have recently completed their 35th year, told me that their experience has satisfied them that the buying public are influenced by having a large stock to choose from. Mr. Macdonald stated that, besides helping to attract custom, the habit of keeping one's store well filled is advisable, inasmuch as he had found it pays better to buy in large quantities, rather than to buy from hand to mouth in fear of a fall in market values. That Swan Bros. concur in this belief is manifested by the fact that they have now in stock over 20 tons of canned goods. I found this opinion general among those dealers who are admittedly successful in reaching the public. One of the cleanest stocks in Toronto is that in the store of David Bell, Yonge street. Besides keeping his shelves full, Mr. Bell keeps red mosquito netting between the goods and the flies during the summer months. Before the goods are placed on the shelves, all bottles, tins, cans, etc., are brushed clean, and, as they are protected from the flies by the netting, the effect is, that the goods have an appearance that is bound to attract customers of the right stamp.

"Toronto is all Right!"

This remark was uttered with considerable emphasis in my presence by a veteran King street grocer on Monday. As the speaker is somewhat chary in the use of enthusiastic phrases, I sought the reason for this outburst. "Why," said he, in reply, "I have been around the city considerably of late, and it is astonishing the number of improvements being made on every hand. These changes are numerous and costly, but I suppose the large majority of our citizens take these things as a matter of course, not realizing the benefits they derive directly and indirectly from such activity in building circles. I realize how it affects me, for I think money has been more plentiful and is easier reached this year than any time since the better years of the boom days."

I wonder how many grocers realize the present activity in building in Toronto. Truly, there is reason for hopefulness concerning the trade outlook. Yonge street, from the new warehouse, near Front street, for the "Salada" tea people, to the new bank building at the corner of Bloor, shows changes for the better in almost every block. The business portion of Queen street east has also been much improved during the past summer. But the greatest activity has been in the construction of, and alterations to dwellings, warehouses and factories. During the nine months ending with September, this year, permits have been issued for the construction of residences to the value of $436,900, as compared with $363,650 during the whole of 1897; for new factories and alterations to old ones, to the value of $272,620, over three times the total of last, $80,770; warehouses and additions, to the value of $221,765, as compared with $71,700 throughout the whole of 1897.

It is a hopeful sign unquestionably when our manufacturers and jobbers are compelled to spend in nine months three times as much for the improvement and enlargement of their premises as they did in either of the three previous years. It means that more men are to be employed—that there will be a much larger circulation of money in Toronto during the coming winter than in the past.

What has this to do with the grocery trade? A great deal. I question whether there is any community or class of persons more affected by tightness or easiness in the money market. Now is the time to change one's business from a credit to a cash basis. And it would be good policy to make a special effort to collect bad or doubtful accounts.

THE WOOL MARKET.

The dullness in the wool market, which has been manifest all year, is likely to continue until there is a radical advance in prices in Great Britain and the United States.

The cause of this dullness was that wool consumers and dealers, in the United States, bought up over 20,000,000 lb. of fleece wool previous to the advance in duty on wool going into that country. This has left a surplus on the market there, which has made it possible to keep prices, both in that market and in Great Britain, in their present low condition.

The surplus is being steadily cleared up, and the prospects are that an advance will ensue before New Year's Day.

DAINTY DINNER SETS.

Gowans, Kent & Co. have just received two lines of dinner sets which are likely to meet with much favor from the general trade. One of these sets, made by Johnson Bros., Limited, England, is a cobalt print, and is filled in in cobalt and illuminated in gold, a combination giving a rich, handsome appearance to all the dishes. The vegetable dishes, etc., are unique. They are shaped after the newest style of French chinaware. The other set is more delicate in coloring. The ornamentation on it consists of wreaths of small flowers in festoon, in soft pink and green with embossed portions traced in gold. The dainty colorings of this set are identical with the new lines of Haviland French chinaware. Both of these sets have a thin, light, semi-porcelain body which shows off the decorations to good advantage. They are carried in stock by Gowans, Kent & Co., in a number of sizes.

WHEN FRUIT MEN WERE IDLE.

One day last week, the rainy weather limited the demand for fruit to such an extent that, in the absence of something else to sell, a bicycle was put up, and 75 tickets were speedily sold.

The holder of the ticket which won the wheel was a prominent grocer and fruiter on Yonge street. He soothed the feelings of those who got the wrong number by "lighting up all round."

STARCH

Some merchants have the idea that their starch department is not of much account ; that their customers don't care what brand of starch they get as long as it is starch. Now, this is a mistake, and one should give this line as close attention as any other. House-keepers and laundresses have their favorites in starch, as well as in other goods and in nine cases out of ten you'll find one of our brands is the favorite—either Edwardsburg Silver Gloss, Benson's Satin, Benson's Enamel, or one of the others. They are all good starches though, so you need have no misapprehension in recommending any of them to your best customers.

It Sometimes Happens

COW
BRAND

when you are very busy a customer comes in for 5 or 10c. worth of soda. Well, it takes as much time to weigh and dig out of the keg as it does to sell a dollar's worth of something else. When you have "Cow Brand Soda" in stock all of this unnecessary trouble is done away with. It is packed in all saleable size packages.

JOHN DWIGHT & CO., Manufacturers.

For sale by all wholesale Grocers in Canada.

Direct from the Growers
To Consumers—through the Grocer.

Repeat Orders for Monsoon <sup>Indo Ceylon</sup> Tea during the first half of October from nearly 800 grocers—and, with these, we have letters from over 300 dealers who felt that they should say something special about Monsoon Tea. The "repeats" prove that Monsoon is a good seller—but many dealers add, that Monsoon just pleases their trade to perfection.

MONSOON <sup>Indo Ceylon</sup> TEA Has the quality to please your best trade.

Your Good Will

is the foundation stone of this business. We build upon it—we rely upon it. Without it we could never reach success.

We strive to please you by giving you better value in our Brooms and Brushes than you can get elsewhere for the same amount of money. We look to quality and workmanship first of all.

And—without questioning, or arguing—we give you "your money back if you want it," and tell you to say the same thing to your customers.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU . . . .

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

DYEING with Pleasure.

Ask any woman who dyes at home how much pleasure she gets out of the operation with the old-fashioned Powder Dyes. Her answer is plain and to the point, "it's all mess and worry and clutter."

Then it's your turn to speak, "here's something that washes and dyes at the same time. Easy to use—brilliant colors—they won't fade, streak or crock. Silk, satin, cotton or woollen, dye equally as well with them."

Will that woman try Maypole Soap Dyes, that make Dyeing a pleasure? You won't have to guess much what her answer will be.

A TALK ON POLITICS

THAT SHOULD BE TAKEN TO HEART BY READERS WHO ARE STRONG PARTIZANS.

"THE word 'politics' surprises by himself," wrote Count Smorltork, and, whether he meant it or not, the remark was a most valuable and true one, for politics are nothing less than a constant series of surprise parties. The derivation of the word is popularly supposed to be polis, a state, and politics to mean matters pertaining to the state, but this is an entire error: The real derivation is "polloi," "many" and "tics," a parasite which affects sheep and other animals, many ticks, and the idea was suggested by the way in which those devoted to politics as a pursuit, get into the wool of the taxpayer and fleece him. Politics is the one blessed thing on this changing scene in which there is always money; it has various aspects, and appears under various forms; patriotism, public spirit, enterprise, etc., but you can always tell it by that characteristic. If there is no money in it, it's not politics. As a late, lamented friend of mine, who was first a Conservative, then a Liberal, then Premier of the Province and a Nationalist, and finally became a patriot, once remarked, je n'aime que la politique qui paie. That is the only kind of politics which is real; any other is hollow sham. If you don't believe me, ask the first contractor you come across.

It is necessary that this great principle should be first laid down in order to understand why opposing parties call each other such uncomplimentary names as rogue, thief, liar, etc., while insisting, at the same time, on their own purity and honesty, without eliciting the faintest sign of feeling from the person so attacked. When once you admit that true and good politics consists in the extraction of money for your own, and incidentally, your friends' benefit, from the public purse, it is easy to perceive how nothing will make those in power believe they are doing anything but what is right, and that their opponents are false to the very nature of the thing they profess to be; and how those opponents, feeling themselves as capable of the employing of the public purse for their own benefit, should conceive that they are deterred from doing so by illegal means. But they are "all honorable men," and to bribe, or get fat contracts, or any other corrupt mode of proceeding, does not detract from their honor, for the more money a man makes out of politics the more thoroughly is he doing his duty to himself; that is, to his country, or that section of it which is represented by him.

There are two classes of politicians: Those who sit still and make all the money, and those who go about the country and make all the speeches. The former are called the supporters, and the latter are termed the leaders of the party. The supporters are so named because they maintain the other fellows, pay for the bouquets that are presented them, and the dinners that are tendered them; also for election expenses, such as surreptitious whiskey, valuable old horses, and rubber rings for interesting babies, etc. The leaders get their name from heading the pack, and running the game, i.e., the public purse, down, when the rest of the hounds (I don't mean anything personal) come up and devour it. There is also a small subsection of the supporters, called the organizers. These act as the huntsmen; they mark out the country over which the run is to be made, whip the pack into line, and keep the leaders from devouring the quarry when it is run down. They get the antlers and haunches; the pack gets the body, and the leaders the leavings. "Only poor pickings," you will say. Perfectly correct; and that is why a Cabinet Minister, generally speaking, has very little to leave behind him when he dies. There remains one more element in "the party"; the little terriers and mongrels that run about fussily, and do all the yelping. These are called "the rank and file." They are not much good, except for show, and get mighty few crumbs; a couple of dollars for a vote, when it is doubtful, is a fair market price.

All these together constitute "the party"; but it is only the men that make the money, the contractors, the promoters of railroads and canals and shipping lines, the combines, that are really the politicians. It is true that the others get a little; a very little; but that does not entitle them to be classed as politicians, any more than the employes can be looked upon as the members of a firm because they get paid their wages out of the profits. Now, it is from want of a proper appreciation of this fact that the outside public falls into a grievous error, and when it finds its pockets rapidly being depleted, or stumbles suddenly on some good fat job, blames the unfortunate Government for it. It is not the fault of the Government at all, but of the men who cry. "Simon says, 'Wiggle-Waggle'" to it, and who proceed to turn it out, or attempt to do so, if it does not Wiggle-Waggle as per order. Ezekiel Snooks votes for the ministerial candidate; he is supporting the Government only incidentally; in reality he is voting for a railway company, a graving-dock contractor, a cotton or sugar combine; and when he casts his ballot for an opposition candidate, he is supporting men who either belong to one of these classes, or want to belong to them. It all comes to the same thing in the end, my son. "Here" said the showman describing his panorama of the Battle of Waterloo; "here you sees Bonyparty on his white horse cheering on the last charge; and there you sees the Dook of Vellinton, on his white horse, a shouting 'Up Guards, and at 'em'.' 'Vich is Bonyparity, and vich is the Dook of Vellinton?' squeaked a small voice in the audience. 'Vichever you likes, my little dear; you pays your money, and you takes your choice.' That's what the elector does. The one material thing is the paying of the money; the choice is quite immaterial. It does not much matter, so far as the expenditure of the public money is concerned, whether the Government is Conservative or Liberal; the same class of men is behind it, and manipulates the purse strings. Does that seem a sweeping assertion? I recollect, and I dare say others are yet alive to recollect also, how a great railway corporation turned round on a Government and ejected it from power, because it was on the point of establishing another great railway company, whose rivalry was feared. There was a great deal of fuss about the "scandal," as it was then called, at the time, and it was made to do duty for years after; but the simple matter was that one set of "supporters" offered more pecuniary support to have a charter granted than the other set either would or could give to have it refused, and the latter turned over its support to the enemy. The public interest had nothing to do with the affair; in fact, the public got the worst of it, as it generally does in these disputes, for it wasted five precious years in the contemplation of a line to consist of alternate stretches of land and waterways; as if anybody in his senses could expect a line to pay that involved half a dozen transshipments, more or less, and a lot of steel rails dumped down to rust by the honest and capable Government that succeeded the corrupt one which was turned out. If you look upon those wasted years as you would a sum of money, according to the old adage, "Time is money," and calculate the interest on them up to the present date, how much do you think the advancement of the country was delayed? And whose fault was it?

WASTE IN SAMPLING.

IT looks as if more money were wasted in sampling than in any other kind of advertising, for sampling is one of the most costly ways of reaching the consumer, and none is more uncertain. In the food shows the exhibitors seem to get little good from their display unless they distribute samples pretty freely, but their success is perhaps due to the fact that many people go to the shows for the purpose of procuring samples and testing them. However that may be, there is no room for doubt as to the uselessness of house-to-house sampling, as carried on by many manufacturers in Greater New York. In the residence of the writer a sample or two can always be found, some being left almost every week, but although sampling has been in vogue for years in that neighborhood, not a single purchase by the writer's household could ever be traced to the practice.

When a brand is advertised in news and trade papers, the grocer as well as the public is posted, and very soon puts it in stock, but sampling is entirely outside of his ken, and he cannot know that consumers have been influenced in any way, because he has been kept in the dark himself. When they call and ask for an article of which they have received a sample, which they seldom do, as there are so many rival brands in the market, each being pressed upon the public by grocers as well as newspaper advertising, he truthfully says there is not sufficient demand to warrant him keeping it in stock.

Sometimes the samplers take pains to load up the nearby grocers beforehand, on the strength of the expected demand from the sampling practice, but rarely is a grocer satisfied to take more than a single case, or box, or dozen, and when he has got rid of the stuff by dint of his own personal energy, he thanks his stars he is quit of it and buys no more.

Perhaps an entirely new product would pay for sampling from house to house, because unless you can get it into the consumer's hands he may never clearly understand what the new article really is, but in that case the sampling must be supplementary to more customary forms of advertising, in order to have the desired effects.

In fine, the cost of sampling is such that the advertiser is inclined to put more faith in it than it deserves, and to leave other means untried, in which case he might as well have thrown his money into the ocean. —Merchants' Review.

CAKE FOR THE GROCER'S WIFE.

The following, from The British and Foreign Confectioner and Baker, may interest some grocer's wife when, about Christmas time, she desires to make a rich plum cake: "Three pounds of fine-flavored Brittany butter, 3 pounds of pulverized sugar, 3¼ pounds of eggs, 4½ pounds of fine-colored soft flour, 4 pounds of fine fruity currants thoroughly well washed and picked, 3 pounds of fine Sultanas, machined and washed and well picked, 1½ pounds of good drained citron, ½ ounce of that queen of all spices, ground cinnamon, a fair sprinkling of essence of lemon, a pinch of carbonate of soda, double cream of tartar, and a teacupful of new milk."

CLEAN PACKAGES.

Some grocers seem to think it does not matter whether they get their goods on the inside or outside of the paper, and frequently I have seen about as much lard or butter or other greasy substance on the outside of the package as there was on the inside. Not long ago the grocer's boy left a small pail of lard at our house. The weather was warm and in a short time my wife noticed a large puddle of melted lard on the table around the bottom of the can. After wiping up the puddle she carefully examined the can and found it did not leak. The grocer must have left considerable lard on the outside of his pail in order to make such a nuisance as there was on the kitchen table.—Portland Tradesman.

CALIFORNIAN CITRUS FRUIT CROP

From information gathered by the Los Angeles Fruit World it gives nearly completed figures as to the citrus fruit crop for 1898. According to reports at hand they place the October shipment at 42 to 48 carloads, the November lemon shipments at 100 to 125 carloads and the December shipments from 170 to 180 carloads, depending largely upon the condition of Eastern markets whether they will be shipped or stored and cured. In oranges, the reports show a general fear of shortage over last year, but if early rains prevail no such danger is expected, and there is a growing impression that there will be about as much fruit to ship from California as last year.

AMONG TORONTO RETAILERS.

Good Time To Clean Up.

This week, while in the store of a Yonge-street grocer, I noticed the fittings, display cards and premium pictures had a brighter, and more attractive look than they had during the summer. On inquiry for the reason of this, I learned that the clerks had spent their spare time during the day in washing off the fly specks which had accumulated on many of these articles during the summer months. I believe some grocers make a practice of applying the cleansing sponge to their fittings frequently during the summer. Other grocers, I am afraid, however, have not yet commenced their fall shop-cleaning. Now is surely a splendid time. In the average grocery store two sponges in the hands of a couple of energetic clerks would in a few hours brighten every piece of shop fixture which is visible to the customer. And, while this is being done, it might be advisable to get out of some of the shelves the dust which has been accumulating there since last stock-taking. It is unquestioned that the brightening up of a store's fixtures is always a good move, and it is even more true that any rearrangement of the goods in the shelves is attended by results most satisfactory. These suggestions, if carried out, would entail the expenditure of nothing but time, but a grocer who desires to be admitted in the first rank of those in the trade will find it a good move to spend some money on whitewashing and painting every fall.

How he Keeps his Customers.

I had an interesting conversation with a King street east merchant the other day. My peregrinations led me into his store for the first time in my experience. The first glance led me to think he was about ten years behind the times. His fixtures, though admittedly well planned, showed, in many ways, signs of having seen better days, and, in many ways, there was a difference in this store and those of the many modern structures which did not convey the impression that the merchant was up-to-date. Closer scrutiny showed me, however, that he carried a much better line of goods than are used in the neighborhood in which he carries on his business. This caused the inquiry whether the merchant depended on the district in which his store was situated, for his trade. With withering scorn he replied that he hoped not, else some of his finer pickles, olives, sauces, etc., might not be sold for some days to come. Reaching for his day-book he showed me orders from some families whom any merchant would like to count as customers. I asked him to what he attributed his success in keeping these customers. It was the reply to this question which interested me. It was much as follows: "Well, I don't think it's my store, though I'm satisfied with it, and I'm sure it's not myself. It's the fact that they know they can depend on what I send them. When they send for good butter or fresh eggs, I am not content to send the best I have in my store unless they are the very best. It is the same with all my goods. When they ask for an article, I don't send it unless I know (not I think) it is the best that can be had. I am in a good position to get fresh and good farm produce from farmers, and I know good from bad butter, fresh eggs from stale ones, chickens from old hens, young geese and turkeys from old birds. And I give my customers the benefit of this knowledge, without trying in any way to beat them. That's what pays." I will make no comment, except to repeat, "That's what pays."

B. C. SHIPPING ACTIVITY.

There has been considerable activity in British Columbia shipping circles of late. About 40 vessels, of an average tonnage of 1,300, are now loading in British Columbia ports. About 15 are at the lumber mills, five are loading at the collieries, three loading salmon, and the remainder general cargoes.

That Vancouver is rapidly forging to the front, as a port, may be judged from the fact that nine lumber vessels, one royal mail and six or seven steamers are loading here, and, during the past week, the Oriental royal mail steamer has left, outward bound. Four lumber vessels, with full cargoes, have sailed during the week for foreign ports.—Province, Vancouver, October 17.

COFFEE IN PORTO RICO.

A correspondent of The New York Evening Post states that Porto Rico now produces some 25,000 to 30,000 tons of coffee annually. Very little of this goes to the United States, and few of us have any idea of the excellence of the Porto Rican product. The finest grade is consumed on the European continent. Most of the inferior grades are sent to Cuba. European prices are about the same as the price on the Java article.

Lowland coffee yields more abundantly, but yields an inferior article. Upland, or hill-grown coffee, is less prolific, but its quality is superior. The Porto Rican coffee is all hill-grown. The principal coffee district is among the hills of the western third of the island. The conditions there are particularly favorable for its production. "Coffee-raising," says the correspondent, "is a profitable industry. At least, I have yet to see a coffee-planter who was not in comfortable circumstances, and many of them are rich. Of course, there are those of small possessions who raise a little coffee, men of an acre or two of ground in the coffee district; but they are not to be regarded as coffee-planters. Coffee-planting, as a business, means a plantation with several hundred acres under cultivation. Then it pays. There is room for some extension of the industry, though I am told by one whose information I regard as entirely competent that it is very doubtful if the entire crop which the island could be made to produce would much more than double the present output. Coffee and tobacco seem to me to be industries which offer ample promise for profitable investment. Sugar appears more doubtful. Some of the sugar lands might be converted into tobacco lands. But all of these are for the capitalist. I see little here for anyone else."

THE VINEGAR MANUFACTURERS UNITE.

DURING the past week the movement on the part of several of the large vinegar manufacturing firms, in Ontario, toward the amalgamation of their interests in one organization, has come to a head, and letters patent have been applied for for the incorporation of the new company.

The following firms are interested: T. A. Lytle & Co., William Wilson and The Badgerow, Scott Co., Limited, of Toronto; The Dominion Vinegar Works and The Hamilton Vinegar Works, of Hamilton; A. Haaz & Co. Kingston, and S. Allen, Norwich. The capital of the new company will be $500,000. Wm. Wilson, Toronto, will be the president, but the directorate has not yet been announced.

At a meeting of several of the leading manufacturers interested, in the office of T. A. Lytle & Co. on Thursday morning, THE CANADIAN GROCER was informed that the prime object of the organization was to reduce the sale of acetic acid in Manitoba and the Northwest and in some parts of the Maritime Provinces.

Acetic acid is a wood acid, and is so dangerous for human consumption that its sale for that purpose is prohibited by the Dominion Government. In spite of this prohibition, however, it has so supplanted vinegar in Manitoba, that whereas from 15 to 20 cars of this article were sent annually to Winnipeg, three or four cars are all the demand now calls for.

A determined fight will be made by the new company to drive this acid out of the market for human consumption.

STEAMSHIPS FOR HALIFAX.

The Furness Line people, at least, are looking to the interests of Halifax in shipping circles. The officials of the company here have just received personal advice from Sir Christopher Furness to hustle trade here, with a view to adding larger and more modern ships. If the trade can be brought to Halifax, the company promise to put on a line of up-to-date 6,000 ton steamers. Recently, they made many additions to their already large fleet of vessels, and have opened up several new trade routes. Sir Christopher Furness, the president of the company, is devoting much time to making better connections with America and The Syren and Shipping of a recent date, speaks in the highest terms of his push and enterprise at West Hartlepool.—Herald, Halifax.

ADDRESSES OF PACKERS WANTED.

Editor GROCER,—In consequence of the frequency of inquiries for the names and addresses of Canadian packers of canned meats, fruit and vegetables, I am anxious that my lists should be quite up-to-date, and, as you are in close touch with the trade, take the liberty of suggesting that you should be kind enough to furnish me with such a list, specifying what each canner actually produces.

I am continually furnishing names to inquirers, and, from my own personal knowledge and information provided from official sources, already have a pretty extensive list.

However, Canada is constantly extending her productions, and it is possible that there might exist quite recent ventures of which I have not yet heard. There has been a growing inquiry for the names of canners of meats, one having reached me, a short time ago, from Germany, and it is in this direction, particularly, that I should like to revise my present list. Several canners of fruit and vegetables also can poultry and meats, and it is not always very easy to obtain definite details from general information furnished. The possession of an up-to-date and concise list would facilitate correspondence of those wishing to communicate with Canadian exporters.

Several of the Canadian canners are already represented on this side, but several cases have come to my knowledge where enquiries have resulted in business transactions with those who had no resident agents.

I am at all times happy to bring Canadian goods to the notice of the trade when desired, and to obtain preliminary information and reports, which enable the Canadian exporter to follow up such matters direct with possible buyers. A considerable number of such applications already reach us from Canada, but there is always room for more.

As a case in point, I might mention some rather large purchases of evaporated apples recently made by a German house, as a result of a list of names furnished by this office.

Any assistance which you can render in the direction above indicated will be appreciated. I am not writing this as correspondence to appear in your columns, but because I should like to profit by your intimate knowledge of the trade in the Dominion, if agreeable to you.

Yours faithfully,

HARRISON WATSON,

Curator, Imperial Institute.

London, Eng., Oct. 4, 1898.

[REMARKS: THE CANADIAN GROCER is forwarding a list to Mr. Watson, but would be pleased to receive names of firms, because there are some we may have overlooked.—Editor CANADIAN GROCER.]

BAKER'S EDUCATIONAL CABINET.

IN describing a handsome "educational cabinet," of cocoa and chocolate, which is on view in the Montreal offices of Walter Baker & Co., THE CANADIAN GROCER stated that one would be sent, without charge, to anyone writing for it. This was a mistake. Only a few of these cabinets have been made and they are being placed principally in school and other museums, for purely educational purposes. The statement was, of course, made in good faith, and THE GROCER regrets the error, as many retailers, who wrote asking for the cabinet, will be disappointed at not receiving it. Walter Baker & Co. are sorry to disappoint their friends, and the trade will realize that the fault is in no way theirs.

NEW MUSTARD BOX.

J. & J. Colman are putting mustard on the market packed in a new pattern box, which, by simply pulling a couple of staples and a few nails can be turned into a neat show case for the counter. An illustration will appear in a later issue of this paper.

It was stated, in a recent issue, that R. S. McIndoe, agent for Colman's mustard, had new cards for distribution among the trade. This was published through some misunderstanding, and it is to be regretted that Mr. McIndoe has been put to some annoyance by the large number of requests he has received for one of the cards. "It shows THE CANADIAN GROCER reaches the trade," he remarked.

APPLES WANTED IN NORWAY.

C. S. Sontum, the Canadian agent at Christiania, reports that the summer season has been very bad for the crops in Norway. The result is that cereals are being imported, and already several cargoes of wheat, flour and rolled oats have been imported. The apple crop has been almost ruined, and Mr. Sontum directs the attention of Canadian shippers to the possibilities of this trade. The Norwegians prefer Baldwins of first-class quality. Evaporated apples would find a ready sale, 50-lb. boxes being preferred to any other system of package.

W. Clark, of Montreal, is putting mince meat on the market in 4 and 6-lb. paper pails. The package is attractive, and its lightness will necessarily cause smaller freight cost.

ENCOURAGE BETTER SERVICE.

THE Quebec Board of Trade makes a very practical recommendation which should receive the support of other boards and of business men generally.

It says that any permanent arrangement for the Atlantic mail service should be based upon the speed of the fastest steamers carrying the mails to New York. In no other way can Canada benefit by its saving of 500 miles by the St. Lawrence route, as compared with New York. It may not be inopportune to point out that three steamers could maintain a weekly service between Quebec and Liverpool, whereas recent negotiations were for four. The saving in the cost, maintenance and operation of one such steamer should be a very important consideration for any company undertaking the weekly mail service.

This is the policy that any business man would pursue, but, strange to say, Governments cannot be made to see it.

It is a fact that when the Dominion line brought the Canada to Montreal they asked the Government for an increased subsidy on account of her increased speed. They were refused, and not even treated with common courtesy. They were told that they would have to run her to Montreal whether they liked or not. They showed they were not compelled to do so, for she was at once put on the Boston route.

IS IT A FAKE?

A man has been calling on the trade in Montreal, soliciting orders for a bottle of ink and a business directory. He explained that his firm, Bards & Co., were large manufacturers of ink. In order to introduce their ink among the leading business men, they were, he said, issuing a classified business directory, in which they would put the names, in large type, of those firms who would give them an order for a bottle of this ink, at $1. Just what value the directory would be, he was not prepared to say. He produced a sample, showing that Toronto had been worked successfully. From the list of orders he carried, it looked as if Montreal was also likely to be a profitable field.

The editor thought, if the ink was really very good, he would prefer paying for it alone, instead of buying his name in large type in what might prove to be a useless directory as well, and asked for the exact address of these generous ink manufacturers. The sample directory put them down at Toronto and New York. The street addresses were given by the representative as Forum Hall, Toronto, and 146-148 Park Row, New York. Representatives of this paper called at both places, but at neither was such a firm known.

The loss of a dollar is not much, but business men might make further inquiries before placing an order.

BREAKFAST FOODS DEARER.

The condition of the grain market is having its effect upon the manufacturers of breakfast foods.

In consequence of the light deliveries by the farmers, difficulty is being experienced in getting sufficient to keep up the supply of the manufactured product.

The result of this state of affairs is higher prices, rolled oats being quoted 20c. and rolled wheat 10c. per 100-lb. barrel dearer. Rolled oats are now quoted at $3.70 to $3.80 per barrel, and rolled wheat at $2.60 per barrel.

MANITOBA IS ALL RIGHT.

IT is gratifying to learn that the damage by rain to the wheat crop of Manitoba, which had been reaped but not gathered into barns or threshed, was greatly exaggerated.

Any damage to the wheat crop of Manitoba, which was serious, would be a bad thing for Canada, for the wheat crop is of more importance to the "Prairie Province" than the same crop is to any other Province in the Dominion.

Wholesale merchants and manufacturers in Eastern Canada, supplying largely as they do the merchandise consumed in Manitoba, are, of course, vitally interested in the crop conditions in that Province—a small crop meaning a small business.

But, with the crop as large as it is, the largest in the history of the Province, there will still be a great deal of first-class wheat, while, for the grain that is damaged, the improved prices are some compensation at any rate.

Even viewed from the standpoint of wheat alone, there is no need to be alarmed over the condition of affairs in Manitoba, but the generally increased facilities of the Province in dairying, stock-raising and mixed farming as a whole clearly make the trade conditions in that part of the country decidedly healthy.

SIR WILFRID AND GROCERIES.

And so Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, is a shareholder in a big English grocery concern. This does not, of course, make him a grocer, but it makes him one of a number of capitalists who are assisting in building up the grocery trade.

Sir Wilfrid is to be congratulated, not that he has become a shareholder in a particular concern, but that he has, by investing in shares in the same, obtained entree into the ranks of the grocers, and will now be entitled to hob-nob with them. And it is to be hoped that, in the hob-nobbing, he will learn a great deal regarding the grocery trade.

Sir Wilfrid is a great politician, but, like all politicians, great or small, he needs to learn more regarding business and business ways.

From this out the grocers of Canada may expect the hearty co-operation and sympathy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, their fellow business man.

TRADE ASPIRATIONS THE MOTIVE FOR WAR.

SOUND business ethics apply to nations as well as to individuals. And neglect to obey these result in trouble for the one as well as for the other. An example of this is to be seen in the present condition of the commercial nations.

Imagining no other nation had a right to an existence, and that everything was fair in commercial war, as well as in that kind of warfare in which guns and swords play a part, scheme after scheme has been resorted to, with the result, in many instances, that the last condition has been worse than the first.

In several of the continental countries we see the bonus system gone mad, until not only do foreign competitors writhe under its punishment, but the very natives cry out to be relieved from the burdens which are more than they are able to bear.

In other countries it has been protection gone mad. Protection to industries up to a certain point is undoubtedly a good thing for a country, and especially a young country like Canada. But protection, like any other good thing, can be made to work evil as well as good. If, for example, politicians manipulate the tariff, not in the interests of the country, but in the interests of their respective parties, that moment does it cease to be good and begin to be bad.

All the years the seed-sowing of unsound and selfish business methods have been going on among the nations, the conditions have been getting worse. And not only that, but the chief motive which formerly actuated war is practically obsolete, and a new one is now doing duty.

The old one was territorial expansion; the new one is trade expansion.

The United States, in their recent war with Spain, said they were fighting the Don in the interests of humanity. Perhaps humanity had something to do with it, but it is significant that the commercial press in the United States is now emphasizing the necessity of the conquered territory being retained, not chiefly in order that the area of the country be extended, but that markets may be secured for the rapidly expanding trade of the country.

Great Britain's concern about China is not merely the acquirement there of new territory by Russia, France and Germany, but that, in the acquirement of new territory, so much more of the world's surface and population shall be reserved as the special preserve of the nations which appropriate it.

It was this "open door" policy of Great Britain which, before the war with Spain, first began to soften the heart of Uncle Sam toward the Mother Land.

The United States has a growing trade with China. Last year, its total exports to China and Hong Kong combined aggregated $17,984,472. This, while of course not equal to Great Britain's $35,588,580, was large enough to give the two nations a community of interests. And a community of interests is a greater factor in creating international comity than even the influences of blood and language.

In Egypt, to-day, we see the same influence at work: England wants Egypt for its trade, not for its flag.

It is obvious, in view of the conditions now obtaining, that if the nations had not become so wedded to such unbusinesslike and selfish methods, that the peace of the world would not now be threatened as it is; at any rate from this cause.

But the lesson is not only to nations, but to individual business men who help to make up nations.

AN EXPLANATION.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is in receipt of a letter from the solicitors of Mr. George Lightbound, agent for J. Mayans Grustan & Co., Denia, Spain, requesting an apology for the following paragraph, which appeared in last week's issue of this paper, under the heading, "Are they Selected Raisins?" :

It is charged that a good many Valencia raisins have been bought and shipped to Canada branded as finest selected which are said to be in reality only similar to fine offstock, as put up under the best brands.

This is not likely to be conducive to the best interests of the Canadian trade, for THE CANADIAN GROCER has been assured that some at least of the first-class shipping-houses in Spain have instructed their agents here to report as to how this fruit is received by buyers in Canada, as they (the shippers) claim it is useless for them to maintain, in the face of this competition, the high standard of selected raisins they have hitherto done, if a lower and inferior grade answers the purpose just as well.

Not only does the above paragraph not refer to any brand, but the editor, when he penned it, did not know to whose brand or brands it referred. Neither does he now.

It said "a good many raisins" of the character named had been shipped to Canada.

From what can be gathered from a further investigation, there are two or three brands on the Canadian market which are what are termed in the trade "off grades," or grades not equal to those which have become recognized as standards. But this is not the experience of this year alone. It is the experience of nearly every year.

During the week previous to the publication of the paragraph in question, complaints had come to THE CANADIAN GROCER from several quarters to the effect that there were raisins on the market of the character therein described. In fact, it was what might be termed the talk of the street. This paper then felt it to be in the interest of the trade to publish the matter.

We exceedingly regret that Mr. Lightbound feels that the item applies to him. Were the shipper he represents the only one sending Valencia raisins to this market, he might, with reason, take umbrage, but, when there are some half a dozen, all told, we cannot see why he should for one moment imagine the article complained of reflects upon his firm's brand of raisins.

However, as he did take umbrage, we felt it our duty to ascertain whether the remarks applied or not to the raisins of the shipper whom he represents. In pursuance of this, we secured boxes of selected raisins of the different brands on the market, including that of Grustan & Co.; also boxes of fine off-stalk of different brands.

As a result of the comparison thus made, THE CANADIAN GROCER has no hesitation in saying that to whosoever's brand of selected raisins the talk upon the street referred, it could not have referred to that of J. Mayans Grustan & Co. And a mere glance was sufficient to prove that.

ADVANCE IN FRENCH PLUMS.

French plums are showing a great deal of strength.

A cable received in Toronto, on Monday, noted an advance of 9d. per cwt. over the figures at which business was effected last week. This makes an advance of 1s. 3d. during the last three weeks.

The cause of the higher prices appears to be a falling off in the supply in the primary markets.

THREE MONTHS OF GROCERY IMPORTS.

IMPORTS into Canada during the first three months—July, August and September—of the fiscal year, of merchandise appertaining to the grocery trade are interesting.

The imports of dutiable goods enumerated are noteworthy because of their marked increase, namely, $1,074,617, and the free goods because of their decrease of $909,581. In spite of the decrease, however, in the latter particular, the net gain of dutiable and free goods combined is $165,036. The following table gives the imports of dutiable goods:

It will be noticed that in the above table there are only four lines in which decreases are shown, and these only aggregate about $19,000. The gain of $671,482 in sugar is the most striking increase. Then, while the increase in the importation of wine may not be gratifying to those interested in the temperance cause, yet, it is interesting to the trade, in that it is one of the indications of better times—the depression of a couple of years ago having caused a marked falling off in the consumption of wines.

The increase in the imports of rice is due to the preferential tariff on British goods.

The following gives the importation of free goods:

The falling off in the importation of coffee of nearly \$700,000 is remarkable, but the explanation is, no doubt, to be found in the fact that a year ago the remarkably low price induced grocers to stock heavily, while the low prices ruling then are practically without improvement now. For some time the importers have been most cautious buyers. When a low quotation is submitted to them they almost invariably bid a smaller figure, which is seldom entertained. Only a few days ago, a house in the United States bid  $\frac{1}{8}$ c. per lb. more for 2,000 bags at Rio than any bid obtained in Canada, and yet it did not secure the goods.

It is somewhat difficult to explain the decline in the importation of tea. Indian and Ceylon teas are arriving in larger quantities, and advices from Japan report increased settlements on Canadian account. In view of this, one must conclude that China teas are the cause.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS.

MAIL advices to hand recently, state that The Grower's Association were asking  $3\frac{1}{4}$  to  $5\frac{1}{4}$ c. for 2, 3 and 4-crown loose muscatels on the Coast, and \$1.10 for layers. These prices represent an advance over the prices fixed by the association some time ago, and would mean a cost laid down at distributing points in Canada, allowing for the duty and freight, of fully  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c. on 2, 3 and 4-crown layers, and, so far, since the offers were received last week, there has been little business for forward delivery, and no business of importance has been noted for shipment to eastern Canadian markets at the new figures.

With regard to the impression among eastern buyers that the combination will not be maintained, advices from the Coast to hand this week from unprejudiced parties are against this opinion.

One commission man, in Montreal, was informed that The Growers' Association had bought up practically all the outside stock there was offering on the Coast, and really were in a position to force buyers to meet their views, provided the latter desired to stock up with California raisins.

Whether this will turn out to be a fact or not, buyers, in the absence of urgent consuming demand, are disposed to withhold their orders until stock is absolutely needed.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Oct. 27, 1898.

GROCERIES.

NOTHING particularly new has developed in the wholesale grocery trade during the week. Further shipments of new season's foreign dried fruit have arrived, among which are California prunes and layer and mat figs. Acadia granulated sugar has been advanced 5c. per 100 lb., but this is the only change in the sugar line. Canned goods are in much the same position as a week ago, except it be that a slightly easier feeling obtains in regard to tomatoes. Teas continue firm in the primary markets, and local wholesalers are experiencing a fair trade. Coffees are quiet and rather regular in the outside markets. Spices continue, on the whole, fairly steady. Taken on the whole, the wholesale grocery trade is fairly good.

CANNED GOODS.

The feature of the canned goods trade is a rather easier feeling in regard to tomatoes, consequent upon more liberal offerings by some of the packers. The ruling figure they are asking is 85c., but this the wholesalers do not appear inclined to pay. They would, however, pay 80c., bids at that figure having been made, but we have, as yet, heard of no transactions at that price. The price to retailers is still 85 to 90c. Corn continues firm at unchanged prices. Peas are steady and unchanged at from 70c. upward.

Nothing new has developed in regard to canned salmon. There are a few cohoes offering at $4 f.o.b. the Coast, but we hear of no transactions.

A great many gallon apples have been sold for export, one packer alone, it is reported, having taken orders for over 20,000 cases.

COFFEES.

The local market is quiet. The outside markets are, as a rule, dull. Rio coffee appears to be less irregular than it was, in price. The views of importers in Canada are still below those of holders.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is a scarcity of low and medium grades of syrup on the market. Bright syrups are the only kind the Canadian refineries are offering, and these are higher in price than similar grades can be imported at. The duty prevents dark and medium grade syrups being imported. Molasses is quiet, locally. New Orleans molasses is firm in the primary market.

SUGARS.

The feature of the home market is an advance of 5c. per 100 lb. in the price of Acadia granulated sugar, the figure at Toronto now being $4.58 per 100 lb. The demand for sugar is light.

The European markets are rather easier, but have declined about  $2\frac{1}{4}$ d. per cwt. up to the middle of the week owing to increased crop estimates. In New York, prices are unchanged, while the demand there is a little better than it was.

RICE.

The rice market rules steady. New season's Carolina rice is offering this week in Toronto, and the price being asked is about  $\frac{3}{4}$ c. per lb. higher than a year ago.

NUTS.

There has been a further advance in Tarragona almonds, and at to day's figures

*See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

they would cost  $11\frac{3}{4}$ c. laid down in Toronto. Grenoble walnuts are quoted three francs higher. Marbot walnuts will be later this year than the Grenoble description, and are said to be more or less of doubtful quality.

TEAS.

Brokers report a demand for low-grade Japan teas, but there is not a great deal of business being done, as importers will not, as a rule, pay the prices asked. The little business that is being done is chiefly in medium descriptions at from 16 to 17c. The revival of the tea duty question is leading, it is said, to large shipments of Japan tea being made to this country.

Both Indian and Ceylon teas continue firm. A London, England, tea circular of date of October 14, said in regard to Indian tea: "The last two weeks' heavy actions have afforded a good test of the strength of the market, and supplies have been readily absorbed without reaction in prices, while competition has been general and well sustained." In regard to Ceylon teas the same circular said: "The auction comprised only 13,204 packages against 18,440 last week. Previous quotations were fully maintained with a decidedly firm tendency, while the combined arrivals of teas of very desirable quality assisted in strengthening the confidence of buyers."

SPICES.

Pepper is slightly easier in New York, but the market is strong in England. In New York a reaction in favor of higher prices is looked for. Stocks of pepper in Singapore are practically exhausted. The ginger market shows a tendency to slightly higher prices.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS

CURRANTS—Wholesalers are doing a fair trade. The market in Greece is unchanged, there having been some business on import account at last week's prices. There is some cutting in prices among local wholesalers, but our quotations fairly well represent the figures for good fruit. There are some rain damaged currants on the market.

VALENCIA RAISINS—A fair trade is being done. Complaints in regard to the cutting of prices are still heard. The ruling figures are, however,  $4\frac{3}{4}$  to 5c. for fine off-stalk,  $5\frac{3}{8}$  to  $5\frac{3}{4}$ c. for selected, and  $5\frac{3}{4}$  to  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c. for layers.

PRUNES—French plums are cabled 9d. dearer, the supply beginning to run short. Shipments of Santa Clara Valley prunes reached the Toronto market this week. Wholesalers quote them as follows: 40's, 11c.; 50's,  $9\frac{1}{4}$ c.; 60's, 8c.; 70's,  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c.; 80's, 7c.; 90's,  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c. A fairly good business is being done by wholesalers in medium and small sizes of California prunes. California prunes, 40 to 60 sizes, are scarce and high in the primary market; smaller sizes are a little easier. Some business in French prunes, for importation, has been done during the past week.

FIGS—Shipments of Eleme and Comadra figs have been arriving this week, and a fair business, in view of the high prices, is being done. There is a brisk trade being done in tapnet figs at from 4 to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. Smyrna naturals rule at 7 to  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c. in bags, and choice naturals, in boxes, at  $11\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. Seven-crown Elemes are quoted at 27c. per lb., and what are termed "the finest of the season" are held at 35c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

Generally speaking, the demand for green fruits has been good during the past week. The sale of oranges and lemons is steadily increasing. Late Valencia oranges are done, but Jamaicas are offered in sufficient quantities to meet the demand, and the price continues unaltered. Malaga lemons are arriving in larger quantities, and are $2 to $3 per chest cheaper this week. Verdillas are unchanged in price. Bananas are in greater demand, and an advance of 5 to 40c. is noted this week. Some choice barrels of fall apples are offered at last week's figures. Winter apples will likely be offered freely in a week or so. They are expected to be worth from $3.50 up. Peaches are almost done. Pears and grapes are offered in moderate quantities. As the demand for all these goods has decreased in proportion to the supply, prices are about the same. A few tomatoes are coming in. An advance of 5 to 10c. is noted. Sweet potatoes are moving nicely at an advance of 25c. A decline of 15c. is noted in Spanish onions. Cranberries are commencing to move at $8 per bbl., and $3 per crate. Malaga or Almeria grapes have arrived, and are offered for sale at $6 to $7.50.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—New laid are in good demand at 16½ to 18c. for choice lots. Held fresh and cold stored stock move slowly at 14 to 15c., while limed are active at the same figure. Buyers are paying 14 to 14½c. at outside points.

POTATOES — The feeling is somewhat stronger, an advance of 3 to 5c. being noted. Car lots are worth 55 to 60c., and small lots on the market, 60 to 65c.

POULTRY—There is a good demand for all stock. Turkeys are coming in more freely. They are worth from 9 to 9½c. for young and 10 to 10½c. for old birds. Geese are worth ½c. more than last week. Ducks are 5 to 10c. cheaper. Wild ducks continue to come in at unchanged prices, which range from 20 to 25c. for teals and wid-geons to 60 to 75c. for black ducks and mallards.

HONEY — The demand is improving. The feeling is steady, with prices unchanged at 6½ to 7½c. for clear extracted honey, according to color and the size of package. Clover comb is firm at $1.25 to $1.50.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES — There is a steady jobbing business being done at unchanged figures, but all transactions so far are of a comparatively small nature. Car lots are worth about 7c. f.o.b. at country points. There is very little movement in dried apples. The price is steady at 4 to 5c. in a jobbing way.

BEANS—The demand for hand-picked is good, and prices are firm at $1 to $1.10. Common stock is 10c. cheaper, the range now being 80 to 90c.

VEGETABLES—Cauliflower has advanced 25c. per doz.; cabbage has declined 10 to 15c., and butter squash 50c. We quote: Cauliflower, $1 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 15 to 30c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; 40 to 60c.; parsley, 15 to 20c. doz. bunches; beets, 10c. per peck; carrots, 15c. per peck; onions, Danvers, 75c. to 90c. per bag; green beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; vegetable marrow, $1 to $1.25; butter squash, $1 to $1.50; pumpkins, 65c.

to 75c.; Hubbard squash, $1.50 to $2; red cabbage, 40 to 60c.; egg plant, 75 to $1 per basket.

PROVISIONS.

The market is well cleared up, and, as the demand continues brisk, prices throughout are firm, with an advance of 50c. in short cut barrel pork. The receipts of dressed hogs are larger than usual so early in the season. A big pack is anticipated.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Good dairy butter is wanted, but the demand for medium and poorer grades is decidedly limited. The feeling regarding creamery is easier, but unchanged. We quote at outside points: Dairy tubs, 14c.; prints, 14 to 15c.; large rolls, 14c.; creamery prints, 18½c.; tubs and boxes, 17 to 18c.

CHEESE—The market dull. There is a fair jobbing business being done, but no deals of any size are reported. At country boards, 8¾c. is the ruling figure. The jobbing price is 8½ to 9¾c. for early makes, and 9¼ to 9¾c. for September makes.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN — During the latter end of last week wheat advanced to about 74 to 75c. on cars outside, but a decline on Tuesday, this week, brought the price down to from 70 to 71c., where it now remains, showing a net advance of 4 to 5c. for the week. The street market has been brisk all week. Prices are firm, showing advances of 4 to 5c. for all wheats, 3 to 8c. for peas, 3 to 5c. for barley and 2c. for oats. A decline of 2c. is noted for rye. Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat has again advanced 3c., now being quoted at 85c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—Manitoba strong bakers' and Ontario grades have advanced 10c. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.40; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.10; Ontario patents, $4.10 to $4.20; straight roller, $3.35 to $3.45, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, and rolled wheat have advanced 10c.; split peas and pot barley, 25c. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.70 in bags and $3.70 to $3.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.75; pot barley, $3.75.

FISH.

There is no change in prices, except a decline of ½c. for whitefish. We quote: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh whitefish, 7½c.; steak trout, 7c. lb.; fresh perch, 3½c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½c. per lb.; boneless fish, 3¾c. per lb.; quail-on-toast, 5½c. per lb.; fresh-water herring, 60c. per basket; ciscoes, $1.25; haddies, 8c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 6c. per lb.; oysters, $1.35 to $1.40 per gallon.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The feeling is easier, but no change is reported. We quote: No. 1, 8½c.; No. 2, 7½c.; No. 3, 6½c.; cured, 9¼c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1

veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Local competition is so keen that another advance of 5c. is noted for shearlings and lambskins. We now quote at 75 to 80c.

WOOL—There is little doing. Prices are steady at 15c. for fleece, and 10c. for unwashed.

SEEDS.

The quantity of alsike coming forward is smaller than in the past week or two. Prices are steady at $2.75 to $4.50 in a jobbing way in Toronto. Red clover is offering in larger quantities, and is advancing in value. From $3.20 to $4 is now being paid. There is nothing doing yet in timothy.

SALT.

Prices are unchanged. The demand has shown considerable improvement during the past week. We quote as follows: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 54c.

MARKET NOTES.

Red clover seed has advanced 25c.

Short cut barrel pork is 50c. dearer.

Potatoes are 3 to 5c. dearer than a week ago.

Bananas have advanced 5 to 40c. per bunch.

French plums are cabled 9d. per cwt. dearer.

Malaga lemons have declined $2 to $3 per chest.

Eggs are worth ½ to 1c. per dozen more than a week ago.

Acadia granulated sugar has been advanced 5c. per 100 lb.

Rolled oats are 20c., and rolled wheat 10c. per barrel of 100 lb. dearer.

Manitoba strong bakers' and Ontario flours have advanced 10c. this week.

Shearlings and lambskins have advanced 5c., and are now quoted at 75 to 80c.

Shipments of new season's Santa Clara prunes arrived on the Toronto market this week.

Malaga and Almeria grapes have just come in. They are quoted at $6 to $7.50 per keg.

Documents for early October shipments of filberts have been received, and it is expected the goods will arrive early next month.

The Toronto offices of the Acadia Sugar Refinery and of George Lightbound, will shortly be removed from 28 Front street west to 27 on the same street.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 27, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THERE have been no striking changes in the general grocery situation during the past week. Trade in seasonable lines, such as dried fruits, is moving slowly, prices, as a rule, being steady, while, in sugar, tea and such staples, the current of trade is light, though of a steady character. Canned goods rule firm here, both in salmon and canned vegetables, and the circumstance is said to be interfering somewhat with the movement in the latter, as buyers are afraid of being caught long with high-priced goods, as they have been before. They are operating very cautiously, therefore. The feeling in dairy produce is quite heavy, and there is nothing special to report in regard to other lines of this character.

SUGAR.

Sugar exhibits a more settled feeling this week, and there has been a fair demand, locally, for refined which rules as last quoted. The fact that matters appear to be more stable in New York has also had a good effect. In raw, however, while cane has ruled steady at London, beet has been weak owing to the increased crop estimate, though prices are not quotably changed, October and November being quoted today, in London, at 9s. 8¼d. Cane was steady with offerings light, Java 12s., and fair refinery 10s. 9d. In New York, raw is firm, fair refinery, 3¾c.; centrifugal, 96 test, 4¼c., and molasses 3½c. Prices here are as last quoted.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in this market, and values continue normal in the absence of offers from the refiners.

MOLASSES.

The strength on Barbadoes molasses is fully maintained, round lots being firmly held here, bids of 28 to 28½c. having been refused in this connection this week. Stocks here are light, and for this reason the situation is an exceptionally strong one, especially as the regular fall demand from consumers is setting in. On spot, jobbers are now asking 31c. for car lots and 32c. in single puncheons, and predict even higher prices.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been no change in Valencia raisins during the week, and prices are steady as last quoted. Offers on common off-stalk Valencias have been made here at 4c., but few have changed hands at the price, and we quote 4 to 4¼c. Fine off-stalk have sold at current prices, and there has been trading in selected and layers at unchanged prices.

Mail advices from the Coast, of the date of Oct. 18, quote firm prices on California raisins, from 3¼ to 5¼c. being the range named. This is equivalent to 5½ to 7½c. laid down here, according to grade. It is asserted also that, having purchased up all, or practically all, of the outside fruit, the Growers' Association thoroughly control the supply, and are in a position to enforce the payment of their figures if a buyer wants the fruit.

There is nothing special to report in connection with Sultana or Malaga stock.

Currants rule quiet and unchanged, and there has been little or nothing done lately for importation.

Prunes continue firm for all sorts, and advices from primary markets, both for Austrian and French, are strong in their tenor. Californias are quite firmly held.

There has been a quiet trade in figs, which are steady at prices quoted elsewhere.

NUTS.

There is nothing new to report in nuts, and values on stocks to arrive are firmly held.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned vegetables and salmon continue firm. Reports from the Coast on the latter article are bullish, as already noted, and, with higher prices being asked on the Coast, spot prices rule very firm. The strong tone in tomatoes, corn and peas is fully maintained, and trading from first to second hands is somewhat restricted, owing to this circumstance, as buyers do not want to operate too far ahead at ruling prices, if there is any possibility at all of the market taking a turn downward.

RICE.

There is a fair amount of business doing in rice, while prices record no change.

TEA.

Trading in this staple has not fulfilled the expectation of last week, for there were no sales of importance from first to second hands. In fact, buyers steadily pursue a conservative course of fulfilling only immediate wants, which, though it results in a fair trade in the aggregate, leads to no special activity. Whether they will continue to hold off in this manner is another matter. The current movement has been chiefly in Japans, running from 16½ to 20c., only a few lots of blacks, Ceylons, and greens changing hands.

SPICES.

A firm feeling is maintained in pepper abroad, but there is little activity to report locally. No change in value is noted, either in it or in other lines.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a fair trade in green fruit of all descriptions. Jamaica oranges are now on the market in considerable quantities, but have been selling well at $6 to $6.50 per bbl and $3.50 to $4 per box. Malaga lemons have ruled fairly steady at $8 to $9 per chest and $3.50 to $4 per box. Almeria grapes are offering at $5.50 to $6.50 per bbl. and domestic at 20 to 30c. per basket. Canadian pears, in baskets, sell at $4.50 to $7, and in kegs at $2.50 to $3. Cape Cod cranberries range from $6 to $7. per bbl.; sweet potatoes, $2 to $2.50 per bbl., and Spanish onions, $2.50 per crate.

APPLES.

There has been a steady, active trade in apples, and values rule fairly steady at $2.50 to $3 for winter, $1.50 to $2 for fall, and $1.50 to $3 for Fameuse, according to grade.

FISH.

There has been no new feature of importance to note in the fish line this week. Considerable business of a sorting-up character has been done on western account, and the market, on the whole, is fairly active for the season. Supplies of all lines are ample, with the exception of salmon and codfish, the former being scarce. No. 1 N.S. herrings are easier, and green cod are firmer. We quote jobbing prices as follows: No. 1 Labrador herrings, $4 75 to $5 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S. do., $4.25 to $4.50; N.B. in half-bbls., $2.25; No. 3 mackerel, $11.50 to $12, and No. 1 green cod, $4 to $4.25.

There is no overstock of preserved fish, for which the demand is steady and prices firm. We quote: Pure boneless codfish, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; dressed or skinless codfish, 4¼c.; dried, $4 per 100 lb.; boneless fish, 3½c.

There is a good demand for fresh fish, of which supplies are ample to fill all requirements. We quote: Haddock, 3½c.; Manitoba dore and whitefish, 6½c.; pike, 5½c., and B.C. salmon, 13 to 13½c.

There is no change in smoked fish to note. Demand is good for all lines. We quote as follows: Haddies, 6½ to 7c.; kippered herrings, $1.35 to $1.50 per box; smoked herrings, 10 to 12c., and Yarmouth bloaters, $1.25.

The market for shell oysters is unchanged. Supplies are ample, for which the demand continues limited, on account of the unfavorable weather. We quote: Hand-picked malpeques, $4.50; fair to good, $3.50; Buctouche, $5.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—A fair amount of business was done in all grades of eggs to-day, but the chief demand was for new laid, which were scarce and firmly held at an advance of ½c. per dozen. We quote: Strictly new laid, 19½ to 20c.; No. 1 candled, 14c.; No. 2 do., 12 to 13c.; P.E.I., 12 to 13c., and culls, 9c. per doz. Receipts, 2,097 cases.

BEANS—There was nothing new in beans, prices being steady, with a fair trade in small lots. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—In honey, business was dull and prices unchanged. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to 7½c.; dark, 5½ to 6½c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Maple product continues featureless and neglected. We quote: Syrup, in wood, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; in tins, 45 to 55c., according to size; sugar, 6 to 6¼c. per lb.

DRIED APPLES—No receipts have been noted lately, and prices are firm at 5c. for dried and 8c. for evaporated.

PROVISIONS.

There was no change in the provision market to note. Trade in all lines continues fair for the season. We quote: Canadian pork, in barrels, $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8¼ to 8½c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10½c. to 13c.; and bacon, 10 to 13c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

The grain market was firm under an active demand, but the volume of business done was only fair. The feature of late has been the strong feeling in buckwheat, and sales were made at 45 to 46c. in store, but these figures would not be accepted now as holders' ideas are away up, in the country. In wheat, sales of Manitoba No. 1 hard were made at 77c. afloat Eort William, and No. 1 northern was quoted 1c. higher at 73c. for delivery all next month. Ontario red wheat, at shipping points west, sold at 72c. Peas were scarce and firmer at 68 to 69c. afloat, with some holders asking 70c. Oats were unchanged at 30½ to 31c. afloat, and rye sold at 54 to 55c.

Owing to the continued strong wheat markets all over the world, of late, and the steady rise in prices, the undertone to the flour market has steadily become stronger, and prices for Manitoba grades to-day were advanced 20c. per bbl. There was a brisk demand, and millers stated that it was impossible to supply the wants of the trade, owing to the scarcity. Enquiries were received from Glasgow, Copenhagen, Australia, and Boston for large lines, one cable alone asking for 5,000 sacks and 5,000 barrels. The sales on local account were large, including 1,200 sacks. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.85 to $4.10; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.60; in bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba patents, $4.50 to $4.70; strong bakers', best, $4.20 to $4.40.

There continues to be an active demand for feed, which is also scarce, and prices firmly held. We quote: Manitoba bran, $12; shorts, $14, and moullie, $16 per ton, including bags.

The demand for rolled oats is steady, and prices show no change, at $3.50 per barrel and at $1.70 per bag.

In baled hay, trade is very active, there being a good demand for small lots at steady prices. We quote: No. 1 at $6.50; No 2 at $5 to $5.50, and clover mixed at $4 to $4.50, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market continues easy. Business was dull, and the boat cheese realized from ⅞ to ¾c. lower than at the sale on Monday last. There were about 7,000 boxes offered, and the prices realized ran from 8¼ to 8¾c. For fancy eastern colored the range is 8¼ to 8½c., but the outside is not generably attainable. Western cheese is dull, ranging from 8¾ to 9c., but as most of the good were purchased at considerably above 9c., in the country, holders will not part with their goods at the prices realizable. We quote: Finest western Septembers, 9c.; finest western Augusts, 8¾c.; finest eastern Septembers, 8½c.; finest eastern Augusts, 8¾c.; Liverpool cables, 42s. 6d.

Butter is a dull market at 18 to 19c. for fancy creamery, but the outside figure is merely an asking price, as it cannot be realized for export. However, for fancy lots for special purposes this much has been paid by the local trade. Dairy runs from 14 to 14½c. We quote: Extra finest creamery, boxes, 18⅞ to 19c.; extra finest creamery, tubs, 18½ to 18¾c.; ordinary finest creamery, boxes, 18¼ to 18¾c.; ordinary finest creamery, tubs, 18¼c.; western dairy, tubs, 15c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Butter is dragging at present, and exporters here predict still lower prices for it this fall.

Buckwheat has been actively bought lately, at country points, on behalf of buyers here.

Flour advanced, on Tuesday, 20c. per bbl. for Manitoba grades, which are firmly held at the rise.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 27, 1898.

THIS has been quite a busy week. The stir in flour found our dealers with light stocks. They have bought quite freely. All grains seem higher. In winter port business, there is general regret expressed that the Beaver line is not coming this year. They were the first line to use a Canadian port, and the large and successful results that have followed are due largely to their efforts. Canadians, particularly our citizens, owe them much for the stand they took when other lines would not hear to the matter. Men are being sent into the woods in quite large numbers, but the cut will not be a large one, the past season being most unsatisfactory, not even showing strength towards its close. In hops, prices continue to advance, our market was quite largely stocked, and dealers have been largely supplied by local holders.

OIL—Burning oil is still the line having chief interest. There is a slight range of prices among local holders, particularly in American oil. Cod oil, as reported last week, is rather easier, the demand being light. The rather freer arrivals have affected prices. Paint oil is somewhat firmer.

SALT—The market shows no change. Stocks are ample in Liverpool coarse. The sale has been affected by lack of usual sale to fishermen, but a large quantity has been moved, notwithstanding. No arrivals are expected for some time. In Liverpool factory-filled, the sale is light, at even figures. Canadian is moving freely at regular prices. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1 per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—New goods continue to arrive. Packers complain of difficulty to get cars to forward shipments promptly. Corn continues to be the strongest feature, although all lines are firmly held. Outside of vegetables, salmon are a matter of chief interest. Dealers are beginning to realize that the higher prices are here to stay, and particularly in the local market higher figures must rule. Some dealers were fortunate in carrying over quite a few from last season and are making handsome profits. Buyers should be careful to get right quality and not be governed too much by price. Canned fish have a large sale, as haddies, bloaters, clams, etc. A new line is offered this week, and is very attractively put up, fried cod. Peaches and gallon apples higher. Lobsters a light sale. Shrimp are proving quite a seller here.

GREEN FRUIT—In spite of the very fine quality of Gravensteins being received, market has been somewhat dull and prices rather easier. It is expected that this week will see a firmer feeling manifested. Little yet doing in winter fruits. Oranges are rather lower. A few California still here, but the West India fruit is chiefly handled; some arrived this week by direct steamer and some via American ports. The outlook for the canning season is toward easy figures. In lemons, high prices still rule. New fruit will soon be to hand. In Canadian grapes, a car was received this week; prices quite a little higher. In cranberries, the Cape Cod berry keeps low. Higher prices are expected later. The native berry, as reported, is a very light crop. A few Nova Scotia pears to hand; fair quality; prices easy. Bananas are light sellers.

DRIED FRUIT—Figs have been a matter of interest, while some dealers had quite large receipts. Total import is small. Large lots were sold to arrive at good profits, although below present price to import. A few California figs continue to be sold. Prices there are higher and crop reported largely sold. The California Raisin Growers' Association have offered a rebate to Canadian buyers about equal to the late advance. New fruit anxiously expected. New currants are finding a ready sale, and cleaners are very busy supplying the demand. Full figures are asked. Valencia raisins are a little easier, but no change in price. A few California prunes to hand; prices rather higher than last year. Trade is light till after the holidays. Both French plums, which are much preferred to the French prunes, and Bosnia prunes have had some demand. In evaporated apples, demand grows, but is still light; price shows no change. Onions are firmly held, but move freely.

SUGAR—This is one line in which there is not much excitement. Values show little change, but rule rather lower, the position in the American market affecting the position here. Sales are quite freely made. Some American granulated is on the market this week, which is a new departure.

MOLASSES—The position is largely unchanged, though stocks, particularly Barbadoes, are in quite small compass. The fact of earlier arrivals of new from year to year tends to prevent advances, which, under former conditions, would have taken place. Higher values are looked for, but depend largely on the demand. A splendid value in syrup is offered, and is finding improved demand. New Orleans molasses is small sale.

PRODUCE—Eggs are very dull, both arrivals and demand light. Good stock is hard to get, but only commands fair figures. Butter is slow. There is a fair sale for best stock, but prices keep low, and the market is full of poor quality. Cheese are also, in spite of higher values outside, quiet, and, except for late markets, there is little demand for local trade. Better things are expected.

FISH—Prices firm; arrivals all round are light. Pollock are the quiet line. Our market continues to take less of this grade of fish from year to year. If slack salted, there is, however, a good demand for American trade. Cod hold their price, and a good business is reported. Pickled herring are still the matter of chief interest. Supply not being equal to demand, prices are, of course, firmly held. A few Canso are to hand this week. They are high and have but limited sale. Pickled shad easy. Even economy mess, which are always 50c. above other grades, are down to the price of the regular fall-caught fish. Spring shad are particularly plenty, and are low. Smoked herring show no change. In finnan haddie there is a good business. The 15-lb. box is proving a ready seller. Boneless fish and boneless pure cod, the demand for which is from the west, show a good business. We quote as follows: Large cod $3.40 to $3.50; medium, $3.40 to $3.50; pollock, $1.35 to $1.40; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.60 to $1.90 ½-bbl.; old smoked herring, 5 to 6c. per box; Canso, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4½ to 5c.; rippling herring, $1.90 to $2; wolves do., $2.25 to $2.50; new smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $4 ½-bbl.; fall do., $5; ½-bbl.; alewives, $3 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1; bloaters, 60c.

PROVISIONS—In barreled pork, local packers, as yet, have but a light output, and hold prices high, which has resulted in larger sales of the American goods. Prices at the moment are a little firmer. Beef is quite low, but is rather stiffer in tone; sale not large. Lard has been offered very low by some western packers. This week, there being 1c. difference between prices quoted, sales by those quoting lowest prices were quite freely made.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—This is the line of interest this week. Ontario flours, particularly, have advanced quickly, and Manitobas are higher. Buyers have bought quite freely of both grades, stock being quite light. Our dealers are large buyers of certain brands. In oats and oatmeal, prices have also advanced quickly, and large sales, particularly of the latter, have been made. Beans are also moving up, but trade for some time has been dull. The higher figures are, however, beginning to stir up interest. Barley, which, in the local market, has been sold below western prices, is marked higher, and split and blue peas are very firm. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.90 to $5; best Ontario, $3.90 to $4.10; medium, $3.75 to $3.85; oatmeal, $3.70 to $3.80; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $18 to $19; bran, $16 to $17; oats, 36 to 38c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.65; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The Bank of Nova Scotia has reduced its rate of interest from 3½ to 3 per cent.

Some 20,000 barrels of Nova Scotia apples, for shipment to England, have been sent via Montreal.

THE GROCER enjoyed a call from John P. Hood, manager of The Prince Edward Island Guardian, Charlottetown, this week.

A. C. Smith & Co., of our city, have made large shipments of potatoes to Western Canada this season, with quite satisfactory results.

Halifax is pushing for winter export business. The people there expect something new in the way of facilities this winter, in the form of a floating elevator.

Pure cod, without a bone, is something to be appreciated. While the price is high, as only the best grade of fish can be used, John Sealy reposts an increasing demand.

Shippers to the West Indies do not find everything turns to money, and never will as long as they are required to consign their goods. THE GROCER saw an account of sales of 1,200 boxes of smoked herring in which the shipper not only lost the fish, but was brought out $12 in debt.

Imports, via Taymouth Castle, this week, from the West Indies, were 750 bags cocoanuts, 250 bbls. oranges, 50 bbls. lime juice, 70 bbls. limes, 65 bbls. whiskey, besides other small consignments.

St. John is to have a new cornmeal mill, one of 400 barrels daily capacity. W. F. Fowler is the builder. Mr. Fowler is well known to the trade of our Province, as for many years he has largely supplied the trade.

St. John extends congratulations to Mr. W. H. Olive on his recent appointment in connection with the Intercolonial as traveling freight agent. Mr. Olive is an old St. John man, and has many warm friends here.

SINCE the installation of our Spring Water System our trade has increased fifty per cent.

WHY?

Because Whiter or Purer Starch has never been seen in Canada.

TO SHOW IT IS TO SELL IT.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 24, 1898.

YOUR correspondent, having been absent from the city for two weeks, now finds matters about as follows: In groceries, all lines are quiet, owing to extremely wet weather throughout the Province. With regard to wheat there is no disguising the fact that excessive rains have put it in a bad condition, and no doubt a large part of the crop will only be fit for food for stock. But with fair weather, of which there now seems a reasonable prospect, we will have sufficient good wheat for the milling companies interested in this country, and a good few million bushels for export. The bulk of the crop, when threshed, will be marketed in some shape or form, as drying stations are being established at different points in the Province. The C.P.R. elevator, at Port Arthur, is putting in a large drying plant, The Northern Elevator Co. are putting in one at Winnipeg, and The Dominion Elevator Co. one at Brandon, while some four or five others will be put in at different local points. By means of these dryers the wheat is subjected to a strong current of very hot air for 35 minutes, and then to a current of cold air for 15 minutes. Prices are still above an export basis. This is caused by local millers endeavouring to secure the hard dry wheat, and there is also considerable bidding from Ontario. An average price for all parts of the Province is 60c. per bushel to the farmer. Deliveries are extremely light, owing to delayed threshing and also to extremely bad roads.

FLOUR—Business in this line is good and prices fair. Patent, $2.05; strong bakers', $1.85; Algoma, $1.45; XXXX, $1.15. Bran is $9 per ton and shorts $11.

BUTTER—Creameries are beginning to close all over the country. All the Government creameries in the Northwest close next week. Price, 19½ to 20c. point of shipment. In view of Montreal prices, these figures are not likely to be exceeded, as an excellent quality of Ontario creamery can be laid down here at 20½c. Dairy butter is firm at 14½ to 15c. f.o.b. Winnipeg. A slightly improved demand in the Kootenay, and on the Coast, may help the situation here somewhat.

CHEESE—Most of the Manitoba cheese has been sold at 8½ to 9c. for large, and 9 to 9½c. for small.

EGGS—Strictly fresh eggs are arriving in such very small quantities they may be said to be off the market. Pickled eggs are quoted at 16 to 17c., though, so far, no sales have actually taken place.

CURED MEATS—The market in this product has practically remained stationary for two months. Almost all stuff handled here during that time has been brought in from the American side. It is expected, however, the local hogs will begin to come on the market next week.

COFFEE—Some little business is being done in a lower grade of green Rios than is usually handled on this market. Prices run from 8 to 9½c., with a large demand for medium grades.

CURRENTS—New stocks have arrived. Filiatras, in cases and half-barrels, 5½c.; barrels, 5½c.; cleaned, 6½ to 7c. The quality of the new goods is excellent.

RAISINS—New California Muscatels are in, but, as the price has been fixed by the association, they are higher than Mediterranean fruit. The consumption will therefore be light. There is also some complaint as to the quality. Two-crown Muscatels, 5½ to 5¾c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7¼c. Denia goods are arriving. The early shipments were held at $2 for a fine off-stalk, but those arriving later will run from $1.40 to $1.60. Layer Valencias in proportion. There will undoubtedly be a heavy trade in Mediterranean goods this year.

CANNED GOODS—Are moving somewhat freely, especially vegetables, in anticipation of higher prices. Tomatoes, $2.05 to $2.25; corn, $2.10; peas, $1.80 to $1.90; beans, $1.80 to $1.90; pumpkin, $1.90 to $2.

CANNED FRUITS—Raspberries, $2.75 to $3; strawberries, $3 to $3.10; plums, $2.75 to $3; peaches, $3 to $3.50, according to grade; pears, 2's, $3 to $3.25; pears, 3's, $4.50 to $5.

FISH—There is a fair trade in this line, as many orders had been placed before shipments arrived. Labrador herrings, $3.50 to $3.75; mackerel, $2.25 per pail; cod, pure, 6¾ to 7c per lb. Haddies to arrive.

CANNED MEATS—Are without change. salmon is still going higher. Northern, $4.25 to $4.50; Fraser river sockeye, $5.50 to $6. It looks as though many dealers would be disappointed in getting orders filled, as canners find it impossible to get the fish.

TEA—Shows a good steady market, and customers are gradually becoming reconciled to the advance of 3c. per lb. on low-grade Japans.

DRIED FRUITS—Market is very firm. New evaporated apples are now on the market at 8¾ to 9¼c. Some inferior lots have been received, which will, no doubt, be sold cheaper. Apricots are steady at 15 to 16c.; dried apples, 5½ to 6c.; evaporated peaches, unpeeled, 13c.; peeled, 17 to 18c. No new prunes have arrived. Price is unchanged for old stock.

SUGARS—Market very quiet. Granulated, 5 to 5½c.; German granulated, 4½ to 5c.; yellows, 4¾ to 4½c.

MOLASSES—Porto Rico stocks are practically off the market, and New Orleans is taking its place. A good trade is being done in Barbadoes at 45 to 50c. per gallon.

GREEN FRUIT—Trade is slow. Apples, late fall, $2.40 to $3; winter apples, $3 to $3.25; Washington box apples, $1.25; Lemons, $7.50; oranges, $5.50 for late Valencias; pears, Winter Nellis, $2.50 per crate; peaches, $1.25; Tokay grapes, $2.50; Concord, in baskets, 25c.; Niagaras, 30c.; Red Rogers, 35c.

CHESTNUTS—New, 12½c.

TORONTO GROCERS EAT OYSTERS.

ON Monday evening, members of the wholesale and retail grocery trade, of Toronto, gathered, at the invitation of the Toronto Retail Merchants' Association, to the number of about sixty, in St. George's Hall, Elm street.

The object of the gathering was entirely social, giving the retailers and wholesalers an opportunity to become better acquainted personally than they have been in the past.

The early part of the evening was spent playing cards and in social intercourse. About ten o'clock, the guests and members were invited by President Marmion to partake of an oyster supper. The spread was an exceptionally choice and bountiful one, and was done full justice to by all present.

The president, Mr. Marmion, was called away immediately after the repast was served, and the vice-president, F. W. Johnson assumed the chair. Mr. Johnson is acquainted with the art of saying the right thing, and, under his genial control, the speeches of the evening were well given and as well received.

The following representatives of wholesale and manufacturing houses were present: Messrs. W. H. Seyler, F. W. Humphrey, Frank Sloan, of John Sloan & Co., W. A. Strowger and T. H. Kelsey, of The Ireland National Food Co., Limited, Frank Britton, D. Casey and E. Hustwitt, of The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, Frank Galloway, of the Pure Gold Mfg. Co., Limited, J. R. Hagart, of the E. W. Gillett Company, R. B. Rice and — McKenzie, of H. P. Eckardt & Co., R. McKay, of G. F. & J. Galt, Chas. Coates, of the Morse Soap Works, W. Gales, Toronto Fruit Vinegar Co. H. C. Tomlin represented the bakers of the city.

Most of the representatives responded to Mr. Johnson's request for a speech, and the wish was freely expressed that this meeting of wholesalers and retailers should be followed up by many of a similar nature.

J. S. Bond replied on behalf of the association. In thanking the preceding speakers for their encouraging remarks, he stated that it was the desire of retailers, as a body, that they should be better acquainted with the wholesale dealers, and that any slight differences of opinion between the two bodies might readily be adjusted.

After the supper the card tables were again resorted to by those so inclined, and quite a jolly time was spent till midnight.

BALTIMORE OYSTER SEASON OPEN

About 10,000 men will be engaged in dredging for oysters in the Chesapeake this season. From 1,200 to 1,500 boats, with an average gross tonnage of 50 tons, will be engaged in the business. The dredgers claim that the oysters are not so prolific as in previous seasons, and express a desire for a shorter season than the present, which extends from October 15 to March 1, and a more rigid enforcement of the culling law.

The demand for Maryland, especially Baltimore, oysters, from the west is said to be increasing. In Baltimore there are a large number of packing and steaming houses situated, that require from 8,000 to 12,000 bushels of oysters a day to keep them in operation. A greater portion of the oysters brought to that city are turned over to these packing-houses and are either shucked and canned or steamed and canned, and sent to all corners of the United States and Canada.

NO MEETING HELD.

Several canners were in Toronto this week, and the impression got abroad that a meeting of the Packers' Association was being held. It is, however, denied that there was any meeting.

BAD YEAR FOR APPLES.

The Orange Judd Farmer says: "The apple crop of the United States is smaller than it has been since reliable statistics have been collected. The total supply from the 1898 crop of the United States is 27,700,000 barrels, compared with something over 40,000,000 last year, and 70,000,000 in the record breaking crop of 1896. The failure is widespread, reaching from the Pacific coast to Maine, and in none of the States does the output of fruit approach an average. The Ontario crop is decidedly short. The crop of Europe is below the normal."

BOND'S SOAP

and you have not got it in stock don't offer a substitute, be candid and straightforward. Don't attempt to insult the intelligence of your customer by offering a substitute, because when a lady has once used Bond's Soap nothing but Bond's soap will satisfy her.

If you have not yet ordered your stock of Bond's Soap, and you want your customers to get thoroughly acquainted with the goods before you keep them in stock, if you will send us a list of your customers we will mail each of them a free sample. We invite every grocer and general merchant to write us for sample, which he would do well to use on his scales, showcases, windows, silver-plated articles, to remove ink stains from the counter and desk. Take it home to your wife or mother and get her opinion of it. She can use it on the silver and cutlery without fear of scratching. In fact, it can be used on the most delicate piece of jewelery, or the dirtiest, grimmest kitchen or dairy utensil with equally good results. Every time you sell a bar of Bond's Soap we guarantee you to give complete satisfaction to your customer, both as regards weight and price.

CHEERFULNESS AND LONGEVITY.

“IT is not the cares of to-day,” says George Macdonald, “but the cares of to-morrow that weigh a man down. For the needs of to-day we have corresponding strength given.”

“How much have cost us the evils that never happened!” exclaims Jefferson.

“Do not anticipate trouble,” says Franklin, “or worry about what may never happen. Keep in the sunlight.”

Charles Lamb tells of a chronic grumbler who always complained at whist because he had so few trumps. By some artifice his companions managed to deal him the whole thirteen, hoping to extort some expression of satisfaction, but he only looked more wretched than ever as he examined his hand. “Well, Tom,” said Lamb, “haven’t you trumps enough this time?” “Yes,” grunted Tom; “but I’ve no other cards.”

The Puritans went through life tormented with the fear of sin and terror of the Judgment Day, and their melancholy taints their descendants. We are a nation of dyspeptics. We can earn our bread, but cannot digest it. We believe “there is not a string tuned to mirth but has its chord of melancholy,” that evil always stands behind good, and that the devil always has the whisk of his tail in everything. It seems impossible for some people to rid themselves of an inherent gloom which colors their whole life. They cannot enjoy a beautiful day. To them it is only one of those infernal “weather-breeders.” Their lives are set to a minor key, and they hear only plaintive sounds. Our religious creeds, philosophy, and hymns are tinged with the spleen of jaundice of unfortunate authors who sometimes mistook bile for inspiration.

Many writers have honestly believed they were giving the world valuable religious doctrines when in reality they were writing an account of their own jaundice and dyspepsia.

Calvin, though unquestionably honest, was a dyspeptic, and could eat but once a day. Who can say that his writings were not tinged by his malady? How can men shut out from the pure air and sunlight in convents and studies, away from the great throbbing, pulsing heart of Nature and humanity, write healthy, vigorous, religious doctrines for a hardy, healthy, robust, and practical world?

We should fight against every influence which tends to depress the mind, as we would against a temptation to crime. A depressed mind prevents the free action of the diaphragm and the expansion of the chest. It stops the secretions of the body, interferes with the circulation of the blood in the brain, and deranges the entire functions of the body. Scrofula and consumption often follow protracted depression of mind. That “fatal murmur” which is heard in the upper lobes of the lungs in the first stages of consumption, often follows depressed spirits after some great misfortune or sorrow. Victims of suicide are almost always in a depressed state from exhausted vitality, loss of nervous energy, dyspepsia, worry, anxiety, trouble, or grief.

Christ the Great Teacher did not shut Himself up with monks, away from temptation of the great world outside. He taught no long-faced, gloomy theology. He taught the gospel of gladness and good cheer. His doctrines are touched with the sunlight, and flavored with the flowers of the fields. The birds of the air, the beasts of field, and happy, romping children are in them. True piety is cheerful as the day.

Joy is the mainspring in the whole
Of endless Nature's calm rotation.
Joy moves the dazzling wheels that roll
In the great timepiece of Creation.—Schiller.

THE ALMERIAN GRAPE TRADE.

AS regards grapes, the best news in the annual report of Mr. Vice-Consul Lindsay is that the decrease in the yield has stopped. It is to be noted that from 1893 to 1896 the production had been diminishing at the rate of about 100,000 barrels per annum, and that from 800,000 to 900,000 barrels which the vines produced for the market in the years 1890-93, the quantity was reduced in 1896 to some 562,000 barrels. When the season of 1897 commenced it was feared that the decrease would continue, not only on account of the ravages of the "phylloxera vastatrix," but also because during the months of May and June a quantity of the fruit was lost through hailstorms. Fortunately, in spite of these calamities, the production has increased by 96,429 barrels over last year, and it now appears as if the 100,000 barrels lost yearly during the period of diminution will be gained by the increase of a like sum, as vines planted then are now beginning to bear fruit. In the grounds attacked by the phylloxera, the "riparia" in its several varieties is producing very good results, and a considerable number of American vines on which the native stock was grafted are yielding fruit. Large sums are yearly expended in acquiring and opening up ground for new plantations, thus providing work for a large number of hands, and considerably enriching the "Sociedad de Explosivos."—Commerce, London.

OUR FRUIT AND HONEY IN FAVOR.

The shipment of maple syrup, maple sugar, and clover honey sent from Canada to Manchester, Eng., met with a cordial reception, for the mayor of that city has written to the Canadian Department of Agriculture as follows: "The samples of maple syrup, maple sugar, and clover honey have duly arrived. The honey and syrup I have submitted to some large buyers of such material here, who seem much pleased with the samples, and have promised to communicate with their Canadian agents. I shall indeed be pleased if it leads to business, as the more the Mother Country can reciprocate with her colonies, the better for all."

The fruit sent to Bristol, Eng., met with a similar reception, as the following letter from F. B. Girdlestone, general manager of Bristol docks will show: "The package of peaches and pears was delivered to my house recently. The contents came to hand in splendid condition, and all I can say is that if your country can deliver fruit of this quality, and in such condition, the market in this country is an unlimited one. I have sent specimens around to friends, who pronounce the condition excellent and wonderful."

NUTMEGS IN CEYLON.

The cultivation of the nutmeg tree in Ceylon, according to a Ceylon paper, is undertaken very tardily, the yearly exports from that island amounting only to some 4,000 to 7,000 lb. Yet there are few spices that pay better than nutmegs, if properly cultivated, and they can be grown with tea in moderate numbers without materially affecting the yield of the tea. Formerly from ten to fifteen years have been given as the term required before the teas came into bearing, but it is now reported that a crop has been gathered in the low country districts of Kurunegala and Kelana valley within five years. This will, no doubt, give an impetus to the industry in Ceylon. The late Dr. Trimen was a firm believer in nutmegs and cloves paying well, but the European markets are well supplied with the latter product from Zanzibar.

FEW FRENCH PRUNES.

Advices from France state that there are few prunes being received in the distributing markets. Shipments to the United States have been very small thus far. According to other reports the market in France is unsettled, buyers being satisfied that the stock is there and that prices will be reasonable. Therefore they are withholding orders until actually compelled to buy.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

QUEBEC, HAMILTON, KINGSTON, LONDON, ST. JOHN, N.B., HALIFAX, WINNIPEG, VICTORIA, VANCOUVER, ST. JOHN'S, N'FLD.

IN the Magazine known as "World Wide,"
Some very strange stories are printed:
But De Rougemont's beats all else beside,
In wonders it's simply unstinted.

With a Dutchman named Jensen he went
A fishing for pearls near New Guinea,
And forty Malays, on diving intent,
Went with them. Our friend was no ninny.

'Cos why? Well, you see, the Malays
Do not know that a pearl's of great price,
But bring up two at a time in constant relays
For some food—perhaps fowls and some rice.

Ere long, at this rate, they had found
Many pearls of the best, white and black,
When for stores they ran quite aground,
So to Guinea they had to put back.

Here the Papuans bartered at first,
But finally getting too free,
A free fight came off and they got the worst,
And Jensen & Co. sailed to sea.

Having made fifty thou., at the least,
They ought to have made straight for home;
But civilized man is so greedy a beast,
They needs must yet much further roam.

You must not suppose in this place
They had not met with many strange creatures—
A twenty feet fish with hair on his face
Stood upright—showing horrible features.

And one day, by way of a change,
An Octopus thought he'd look in,
Seized a Malay in his boat. It is strange,
But it's true, and caused much chagrin.

In their greed for more gold, simply for pelf,
And this is the point of the story:
With only a dog and his solitary self
Poor Frenchy was left in his glory.

They meant to return in some hours at the most,
And ne'er thought they were folly committing,
They reckoned without their fine weather host,
And should have said "weather permitting."

Weather or no, they didn't come back,
But a storm came along pretty quickly,
The Frenchman was wrecked, alas and alack,
With horrors that are simply too sickly.

For over two years on a small strip of sand
With dog Bruno he still kept alive,
Without seeing a soul—it must have been grand,
But hardly the place where to thrive.

Yet bad as it was it might have been worse,
For the ship was, as some say, hard by,
And day after day it had to disburse
All the stores they had managed to buy.

And now comes the strange part of the tale,
Which the Magazine does not relate,
What kept him alive and made him so hale,
Without clothes, in a nudity state?

Almost the first thing that he managed to bring
From the ship and its one or two boats,
Was the one thing required—the identical thing—
Some ROBINSON'S PATENT GROATS.

He thus "got his gruel" in the literal sense,
And by this means his strength was preserved,
For ROBINSON'S GROATS are worth any expense,
Their success is most fully deserved.

But this was not all, KEEN, ROBINSON'S lot
Contained much that was not out of place,
And fever he would have most certainly got,
But PATENT BARLEY he found in the case.

Thus his food and his drink were of the right kind,
Nutritious, flesh-forming and good,
While the (pelican) birds that he shot, you will find,
Were as tough as a hard bit of wood.

But these he could swallow as soon as he found,
And its sight must have greatly him flustered,
The old ship breaking up, and there on the ground,
Was a case of KEEN'S D.S.F. MUSTARD.

He took heart after that and worked with a will
At a house and the making of boats,
He could do it, for soon he'd a jolly good fill
Of KEEN, ROBINSON'S WAVERLEY OATS.

These pulled him together in spite of the weather,
And his roughly made house not looking new,
He invented a paint which was made altogether
Of water and KEEN'S OXFORD BLUE.

It's a marvellous thing when we see what he owes
To KEEN, ROBINSON'S fine preparations,
That he never once says that he even knows
This great firm or its ramifications.

Of course he's a Frenchman, that may explain
His silence for which they pay dear,
The moral however is perfectly plain,
And that we'll proceed to give here.

MORAL.

Whenever you put off to sea,
Be the journey long or short,
Just see the stores—twixt you and me—
Are of the proper sort,
KEEN, ROBINSON must be the brand
Without you wish to fail;
At Garlick Hill, in their office grand,
They will always effect a sail.

are made are so delicate and tender that care should be taken when preparing for drinking that the infusion does not consume more than three minutes.

This insures that delightful aroma and deliciously sweet flavor for which Japan Teas are noted. Always follow the official recipe carefully.

HOW TO MAKE JAPAN TEA.

(OFFICIAL RECIPE.)

Use a small, dry, and thoroughly clean porcelain or porcelain-lined teapot. Put in one teaspoonful of tea-leaves for each cup desired. Pour on required quantity of freshly boiled water, and let stand from two to three minutes with closed lid. Never boil the leaves. Tea-leaves should be kept in tight can or jar, free from moisture.

Two-thirds of the tea consumed in the United States and Canada comes from Japan.

TOWNS IN MANITOBA AND THEIR MERCHANTS.

YOUR correspondent, according to arrangements with head office, has been absent from the city twelve days on a trip through the Province.

Before speaking of the individual towns visited, it will perhaps be of interest and value to your eastern subscribers, to give a little general sketch of the present state of the country. And first let me say that trade is fully six weeks later developing this fall than it was last. Last fall wheat was a good price and the weather being perfect large quantities of grain were immediately threshed and marketed. This year the opening price of wheat was low and the weather quite unsuited for threshing. The result is that probably not more than one-quarter of the wheat in the Province is threshed. The balance is standing out in stack or stook. That the heavy rain has seriously injured the crop, there can be no longer any doubt. Harvest hands were scarce in many districts, and, in some cases, the help obtained was of an inefficient class. The consequence is that even where stacking has been done, too often the stacks are so badly built they are worse than if the grain had been left in the stook. The long immunity from fall rains has prevented many of our farmers from giving that attention to careful stacking which insures safety against wet weather. Judging from present indications the weather has now settled. Some grain threshed from stook during the past few days has been little injured and hopes are entertained that the damage will not be so widespread as at first anticipated. But even if the wheat dries and threshing takes place rapidly, it will still be some weeks before fall trade can begin to move freely. Many farmers, who this year can afford to do so, will no doubt hold their wheat, looking for better prices. The rapid rise of the market in the last few days has tended to encourage this feeling. The slow movement of fall trade has been a very serious loss to merchants at country points. The crop being reported so good, many of them laid in very heavy fall stocks, and it is to be feared that in some cases they will not be able to unload them.

NEEPAWA.

The first town visited was Neepawa (land of plenty) on the Manitoba Northwestern railway, about 120 miles northwest of Winnipeg. The town is situated in the district of Beautiful Plains, the western portion of the great wheat plain which crosses the centre of the Province. The whole district is beautiful, being high rolling prairie and the town site was evidently chosen with an eye to beauty and cheap municipal improvement. The soil is a rich sandy loam; there is excellent drainage. The White Mud river, a small but beautifully clear stream, flows round two sides of the town, and a dam has been constructed across it which gives the inhabitants a beautiful lake of some 50 or 60 acres in extent, for boating purposes. Round this lake the council have constructed a fine driving road. Neepawa controls the trade from as fine a farming district as there is in the Province for a radius of 20 or 30 miles. The business men of the town are enterprising and public-spirited. Mayor J. A. Davidson, who, by the way, has been mayor ever since there was a town to be mayor of, owns large property, and has given both time and money to the public improvements of the town. This year, a fine stone and brick school was erected, at a cost of $11,000, and the eager bids for the debentures was an indication of the financial standing of the town. Among other buildings erected this year is a handsome Church of England edifice and also a rectory. The annual fall fair was on when your correspondent visited the town, and, in spite of unfavorable weather, was a very fine exhibit of the progress of the district. The fair ground immediately adjoins the town, and the main building is a large, square, brick structure, well lighted and most conveniently arranged. The display of dairy products was fine, and as for the vegetables they were astonishing. I wonder what our Ontario friends would think of radishes weighing ten pounds and a half and potatoes that weigh five pounds?

The town believes in the corporation controlling works for public benefit, and is now proceeding to instal both electric light and telephone service, to be controlled by the council. When the town has developed sufficiently to demand it, waterworks will be put in and also controlled by the town. One of the advantages enjoyed by Neepawa is the fact that it has a good roller process flour mill, with a capacity of 250 barrels per day. R. C. Ennis, the owner of the mill, has contributed not a little to the town's prosperity. A mill at their very doors has often meant 5 to 10c. per bushel more for the wheat, to the district. Most of the stores are general, or departmental, so far as groceries, boots, crockery, dry goods and clothing are concerned, but the hardware business is distinct.

Kerr & Graham carry a large stock of general groceries and crockery. They have not been open more than two years, but have already built up a large business, and express themselves as well satisfied with the result of their investment. They handle large quantities of butter and eggs. At present, they are making an addition to their building, to facilitate the handling of their crockery trade. They are subscribers to THE CANADIAN GROCER, and spoke cordially of the benefit received from a perusal of its pages.

R. Brown occupies, perhaps, one of the finest business sites in the town, being at a corner where every team and every person

MORSE BROS., Proprietors, Canton, Mass.

For sale by all Wholesale Grocers; also the McClary Mfg. Co., London, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Toronto.

coming up from the railway depot must pass. Mr. Brown is from Dundee, but has been in the country some eighteen years. He came to Neepawa two years ago, taking over the largest and oldest general business in the town, which, up to that time, had been owned and run by Mayor Davidson. The grocery department is filled with a heavy and well-selected stock of general groceries, a special line being made of package teas. A large stock of crockery is also carried, and, when your correspondent was there, they were just about to unpack a $300 shipment of china direct from Japan.

Fulton & Durnin and Moorhead's are two new houses opened in the grocery line, but seem to be receiving their fair share of patronage.

In all calls made in Neepawa, your correspondent found no house in the trade that did not take THE GROCER, and speak well of it. The only complaint heard was that the wet weather was retarding fall trade. Business through the summer was reported as unusually good. Neepawa enjoys the services of two chartered banks, the Union, which has been established for many years, and the Merchants, which quite recently bought out the private banking business of Dr. J. H. Harrison, who is one of the fathers of the town. Large quantities of fruit have been handled in Neepawa this season at very reasonable figures.

In another issue, your correspondent will speak of Portage la Prairie, Carbery, Brandon, Napinka, and Morden.

HOME-GROWN PEANUTS.

Harry H. Wilson is exhibiting in the window of his store, this week, a collection of home-grown peanuts. The sample was cultivated under the eye of Fred Webber, in his garden. The sample exhibit is a good one, but experimenters in this line of plant culture, Mr. Webber amongst them, do not claim that the raising of peanuts can be followed with success in this latitude.—News-Letter, Orillia, Ont.

ERRORS IN RETAIL "ADS."

I SAT in the office of a country newspaper the other day, and while there looked over a copy of the current issue, says a writer in Grocery World. About the first thing I noticed was three typographical errors in the advertisement of a retail grocer. I pointed them out to the editor—a personal friend—and volunteered the state-would I do that, but I should insist on seeing the proof, and if there were any errors, I should get a revised proof also. You would no more see city advertisers letting their advertisements go to press without seeing the proof than you would see them writing their advertisements in Greek. They appreciate the advantage of care, and so ought every advertiser—even the smallest. It is only

ment that he ought to read his proofs closer. All three of the errors were plain ones and ought to have been easily detected by a boy. The editor declared that the grocer ought to have read the proofs himself; that he shoved both the writing of the advertisement and reading of the proof on him (the editor), and he, with his manifold other duties, hadn't time to do either justice. There is reason in this. If I were a grocer, whether I had had any experience or not, I should write my own advertisements, and thus gain experience. Not only by accident if the careless advertisement pays, and I shouldn't like to carry an accident policy against such casualties, for they are very rare.

HARD ON THE GROCERS.

Some months ago, the Cleveland Retail Grocers' Association published a delinquent-debtor book, containing the names of persons who had not paid the members of the Association debts due them. A woman named Exton saw her name in the book and sued the Association for $3,000 damages. She was given a verdict the other day against the Association for $2,900.

SALMON SHIPS SAIL.

Two of this year's salmon fleet have left the Fraser with cargoes for the United Kingdom, the last to sail being the Blytheswood, which left on Thursday. She was given despatch by Bell-Irving & Co., of Vancouver, and carries 66,457 cases, valued at $332,285. The Acamas, which left about a week ago, was loaded by Robert Ward & Co., Limited. The amount of her cargo has already been given, but the different shipments composing it, which have just been obtained, are as follows:

W. H. Gillard & Co. have in store "Egyptian" stove pipe varnish, retailing at 15 and 25c., and leaving a good profit for the retailer.

Attractive is Lucas, Steele & Bristol's 1-lb. "Kiji" tea package; also their teacup dust in same style. Both were packed in Japan for the firm.

W. H. Gillard & Co. report an increasing sale for their "Aurora" Ceylon tea, which they claim to be the most attractive package tea on the market.

"Our last invoice of China greens includes a few lines of the finest obtainable Moyunes and Gunpowders," report The Davidson & Hay, Limited.

"Bargain" and "Tiger" molasses, barrels and halves, are Lucas, Steele & Bristol's big ad. in this direction. They are still offering at old figures.

As usual, Lucas, Steele & Bristol are to the fore in offering attractive values in herbs, both quality and price. Their glass bottles of same make an attractive display.

Lucas, Steel & Bristol offer Harris Bros.' horehound candy, drops and sticks, packed in 5-lb. boxes. Sale of these goods is large, as is also that of their English rock candy.

Frank Magor & Co. are showing a fine line of Christmas novelties in confectionery and candied fruits. In confectionery they have a large and varied assortment of Cadbury's celebrated chocolates put up in boxes and baskets. All novel in design and suitable for any taste. In boxes, they are showing footballs, twine boxes, collar and cuff boxes, besides an endless variety of small and large ones, ranging in prices from 50c. per dozen up to as many dollars. These goods will all be in stock and ready for shipment not later than November 15. They are also showing a line of Southwell's candied fruits put up in tasty and convenient packages. Messrs. Magor have already received and shipped large quantities of these goods, the orders for which were taken earlier in the season and shipped direct to customers. They report sales of these goods as being much larger than those of previous years.

CARLETON, N.B., COUNTY OATS.

For years there has been complaint that Carleton county oats were not of nearly as good quality as Ontario, chiefly for the reason that they were not well cleaned. In the St. John market there is generally 4 to 6c. per bushel difference in price between them and Ontario oats.

The Shippers' Union, of Carleton county, have decided to make a determined effort to secure a better class of grain for the market. At a meeting of the Shippers' Union, held in Woodstock recently, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, This union was formed some time ago for the purpose of raising the standard of Carleton county oats in the markets, recognizing the fact that a large percentage of the oats being shipped are unclean and below the standard weight we are of the opinion if such oats were recleaned and the light oats and foul seed blown out, said oats would go the standard weight and would command a better price in the different markets; therefore be it

Resolved, That in future we make a distinction of 5c. per bushel in favor of recleaned oats, that will weigh 32 pounds or over.

VISIT FROM AN ORANGE GROWER.

J. J. McIndoo, Fresno City, California, spent a few days in Toronto last week. He was on his way to the Coast, after spending some weeks at his old home in Peterborough. Mr. McIndoo is the owner of a 30-acre orange orchard, the produce of which is all shipped to England. Fresno is the centre of the California raisin industry, and a short crop is anticipated this year. Quite a number of former residents of Ontario have gone into the fruit raising business, and, as might be anticipated, they have made a success of it, and are ranked among the most prosperous men in the district.

SEEDED RAISINS POPULAR.

It looks as if the new raisin seeder, invented and used by W. Northrop, Toronto, is destined to be a factor in the raisin trade. Mr. Northrop now has 22 hands engaged in his works, yet his business is so pushed with orders that 1,000 cases of Valencias are waiting to be seeded. All the Toronto wholesale houses are putting up seeded fruit in new cartons.

DOMINION ANALYST'S REPORT :

This is to certify that on analysis of above vinegar I found it a purely "CONCENTRATED WINE VINEGAR," made from the grape fruit. Free from mineral acids, metallic substance, and alcohol. After dilution with pure water will prove a wholesome and palatable commodity either for table use or pickling purposes. A very important thing not to be lost sight of in using this article is that cleanliness is insured by procuring this vinegar in the concentrated form.

IS THERE AN OPENING FOR OUR APPLES?

MR. C. S. SONTUM, Christiania, representing the Dominion in Norway and Sweden, has informed the Department of Trade and Commerce that the apple crop of Norway has been almost ruined, and desires that the attention of shippers in Canada be directed to the matter.

He says that evaporated apples in 50-lb. boxes would find a ready sale, and that in green apples Baldwins are preferred.

Canada's trade with Norway and Sweden in this particular line has been practically nil. It is, according to the trade returns of the Dominion, seven years since we exported any green apples to that country, and then it was only 100 bbls., valued at $490. It is also only once within seven years that we shipped any dried apples there, and that was in 1894, when we sent 1,250 lb., valued at $125.

While there is not much encouragement in these figures, they should not deter Canadian exporters of green and dried apples, from at least prospecting the market of Norway and Sweden.

But, while the figures furnished by the Dominion trade returns afford little or no encouragement, the same can hardly be said of those of the United States. For example, last year that country exported to Norway and Sweden 2,052 barrels of green apples, valued at $2,967, and 216,206 lb. of dried apples, valued at $10,767. And what the United States has done in this line surely Canada ought to be able to do.

He who does his best in business, or any other avocation, is smiled upon by the gods.

TROPICAL PRODUCTS IN CANADA.

WHILE Canada, in its stretch northward, does not stop until some distance after it has entered the Arctic circle, yet it is by no means the land of ice and snow that the ignorant in other lands sometimes appear to think. We are, from time to time, reminded of this.

Only a few days ago, the daily papers in Canada were chronicling the fact that a gentleman living in Toronto had succeeded in producing, in his own garden, cotton, sugar cane and peanuts.

But this is not the first time, at any rate, that peanuts have been grown in Canada, crops of this nut having previously been successfully raised near St. Catharines, Ont.

These are not, however, the only proofs of the fact that the Canadian climate has a little intermixture of that of the tropics.

In western Ontario, tobacco culture has, in a few years, become a staple industry, and to such an extent that an export outlet is necessary for the disposal of the surplus product.

Then, too, for a quarter of a century, figs have been successfully cultivated at Niagara-on-the-Lake.

Canada undoubtedly has some cold weather in the winter, but in the summer she also has a great deal of hot weather. As a writer in last month's issue of The Canadian Magazine shows by an extended table, Canada has climates which are as warm in summer as many parts of the south of France, and summers as long as in the central departments of that country, while in both duration and heat the summers in Ontario surpass those of Britain.

UNUSUAL MANITOBA WEATHER.

IN the reports which are, from time to time, being published in regard to the damage to the wheat crop of Manitoba and the Territories, sufficient prominence has not been given to the peculiar conditions under which the damage was made possible.

In the first place, it should not be forgotten that the wet weather experienced this fall is extraordinary and not ordinary in that part of the Dominion.

As a rule, the autumn is dry in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. And, taking the annual rainfalls, they are the lightest in the Dominion. Last year, the fall was 9.66 inches in Manitoba, and 11.84 in the Territories, while the range, during the past five years, was 9.66 to 16 inches in the former and 11.84 to 8.54 inches in the latter. In the other Provinces the range, during the past five years, was as follows: Ontario, 20.65 to 28.31 inches; Quebec, 22.39 to 28.09 inches; Nova Scotia, 29.31 to 42.46 inches; New Brunswick, 23.74 to 33.76 inches; Prince Edward Island, 28.65 to 33.63 inches; British Columbia, 35.07 to 50.58 inches.

It is evident, therefore, that it would be a mistake for anyone to obtain the impression that Manitoba and the Territories are wet countries. Besides the evidence of these figures there is the contributory evidence of the recent vote on the plebiscite.

Were the conditions of barns and labor the same as in Ontario the damage would have been insignificant. In Manitoba and the Provinces, the farmers have neither storehouses nor barns. They stack the wheat in the fields and from these stacks thresh the grain, while of labor a great deal has to be brought every harvest from the older portions of the Dominion. And this year labor was scarce, while the crop to be handled was the largest on record.

Unless these facts are borne in mind one is liable to run away with a wrong impression in regard to the humidity of Manitoba and the Territories.

CHARACTER AND THE STORE.

What the character of the business is will depend on what manner of man the merchant is.

If he is slovenly his stock, his window display, his store, will be the same.

THE CANNED TOMATO OUTLOOK.

THERE appears to have been a slight easing off in the offerings of canned tomatoes during the past week. There have, however, been some transactions since our last issue, a few good round lots having changed hands.

The price at which business was done, as a rule, was 80c. delivered, although a slightly higher figure was obtained by at least one packer.

What the future of the canned tomato market will be is, of course, problematical. The pack, from what can be gathered, is a fairly good one. At the same time, however, it has come upon a bare market. There is no question about that.

It is this fact that at this stage of the campaign which gives the market its backbone.

A good many are speculating as to what the demand on British Columbia and Klondyke account will be.

We shall probably not witness the same rush into the Klondyke as we did last spring; but, even if the influx is only small, it must be remembered that there are already a good many people in that part of the country, and they will certainly require canned tomatoes.

Then, there are Rossland and other mining camps in British Columbia, where operations are being carried on with fresh vigor, and where the population is increasing. All these will require canned tomatoes.

And it must not be forgotten that the opening up of the railway through the Crow's Nest Pass, will tend to an increase in the consumption of Canadian food products—canned goods, as well as others—to the disadvantage of American, on account of the easier method of ingress to the country thereby afforded.

Besides this, there is the general natural tendency to the increase in the consumption of canned goods in the Dominion, which can only be prevented by high prices, and, as some of the retailers are selling tomatoes as low as 7c. per tin, or 84c. per dozen, there does not appear any immediate prospect of values affecting the consumption, particularly in view of the fact that large quantities were sold, to arrive, at decidedly low figures.

Judging from present outlook, we are of opinion that tomatoes are likely for some months to come to rule at about present figures. And it must be remembered that the disproportionately high price of corn will help maintain the value of tomatoes.

At the same time, however, we do not anticipate higher prices for some time, at any rate, especially in view of the fact that we are now entering the quiet season for canned vegetables.

LOW OFFERS ON VALENCIA RAISINS.

According to cable offers received in Montreal, last Friday, the market at Denia is fully 6d. to 1s. lower than it was, and the aggregate decline from the prices which governed the business for the opening deals this fall has been considerable.

According to the offers under consideration ordinary off-stalk is now offered at 12s. to 12s. 6d.; fine off-stalk, 13s. 6d.; selected, 17s. 6d. to 18s., and layers, 19s. 6d. to 20s. Compared with the range on the early receipts, therefore, the decline is from 1s. to 1s. 6d. per cwt.

The fact has not affected spot prices, and it is not considered that it will do so, as goods in stock, as a rule, cost full prices, and, naturally, jobbers are not anxious to shade or follow every fluctuation at primary markets.

Jobbing values, therefore, are held as previously quoted. So far, also, the lower offers have not led to fresh contracts for importation.

CUTTING PRICES TO SELL SUGAR.

A correspondent writes: "The wholesale grocers are cutting prices on a great many lines, especially dried fruits, to secure the retailers' orders for sugar. Prior to the new regulations governing prices on sugar, the wholesalers were not so anxious to sell this staple article. Now, however, that prices are fixed, and there is a margin to sell on, they are very anxious to secure all the orders possible. The reason for this is that a retail grocer's sugar orders will often amount to as much as fifty times any other line. This accounts for the wholesalers' anxiety to secure orders, but we think it is a mistake to cut prices on other goods to secure these orders. Though they may not see it, it practically means that the wholesaler is paying the duty imposed by the Government on the raw material, whereas it is the refiner who should pay it."

A BIG CHEESE FAILURE.

THE suspension of the cheese exporting firm of J. C. & G. D. Warrington, which took place on Saturday last, is likely to prove costly to cheese producers throughout the country, who are the chief creditors. The Messrs. Warrington had offices in London, Eng., and in Montreal, with buying travellers at Brockville, Belleville, and other leading points.

So far, no detailed statement of the liabilities of the firm has been made, but they are estimated as being pretty heavy.

The principals of the firm admit that there is fully $40,000 to $45,000 owing to farmers in the country, chiefly around Brockville and Belleville. The Molsons and Dominion Banks have also made advances to the firm on cheese in store, the first $22,000, and the second $12,000 to $13,000, and this cheese that the banks hold are the only assets at present visible.

It is understood that the firm is short, that is, it has contracted to deliver in England between November and January in the vicinity of 80,000 boxes of cheese, ranging from 42s. down to 39s. 6d. per cwt. These contracts, based on the current market price, stand the firm a loss of fully 75c. per box, or $60,000, which, of course, would enter as liabilities should the estate show any prospect of a dividend, which, as matters look, is very unlikely.

DRIED APPLES DEARER.

Higher prices are ruling on dried apples, and the cause is chiefly the competition which has lately developed among exporters in Toronto and Hamilton.

As high as 4¾c. is said to have been paid f.o.b. at outside points, and 4½c. per lb. appears to be the figure generally ruling for first-class stock. For second grade stock, 3½ to 4c. is being paid.

These prices are not, however, securing much fruit.

Sun-dried apples are reported scarce and firm in New York.

FALLACY OF PUSHING LOW-PRICED GOODS.

WHEN a mariner is steering for port, he usually tries to get there by the shortest route and in the quickest time compatible with safety.

In business, this principle does not appear to obtain so regularly.

Every merchant knows that, as a rule, the better quality an article is and the higher price it is, the more profitable it is.

But, while every merchant probably knows this, there are a great many who pursue a course which would cause one to believe that more money was made in selling cheap than in selling high-priced goods.

At any rate, whatever inference one can be allowed to draw from their conduct, merchants or their salesmen frequently begin by introducing to a customer the cheapest goods.

Tea is a favorite article for this modus operandi.

Over the counter, in the advertisement, it is the 25c. per lb. tea which is ever being held up to attract the attention of customers, until housewives who do not know the difference between poor and good tea—and there are great numbers who do not—are persuaded that a 25c. line is the standard quality tea.

Merchants who are wise should instruct their clerks to offer the better class tea first. Begin, say, at a 60c. tea.

Sing its praises. Contend that it is not only a better tea than the very cheap article, but, that better value is obtained, one spoonful of the high-grade going as far as two spoonfuls of the low-grade description, to say nothing of the advantage of flavor and the minimizing of deleterious substances.

If every merchant in the country were on the to-morrow to decide to devote his energy to pushing not only higher priced tea, but higher priced goods of every description, and instruct his salesmen accordingly, it would be much to his financial advantage in a short time.

Cheap goods can be depended upon to take care of themselves. Look after the higher priced goods and push them.

In the window display, in the advertisement, in the conversation with customers, let good goods be kept in the foreground.

HELPING COLLECT BAD DEBTS.

The Hamilton Retail Grocers' Association is on its metal in regard to "dead beat" customers.

It has decided to institute suits against people from whom individual members of the association have been unable to recover payment for goods sold.

The first cases came up in the Division Court a few days ago. There were nine of them, and the association obtained judgment in each case.

This is a practical way for the grocers of Hamilton to bear one another's burdens. And it is also a formidable way, for the knowledge that a whole battalion of grocers are preparing to swoop down upon him will make at least the average dead beat tremble.

FLOUR PRICES MAINTAINED.

The advance of 20c. per barrel in flour, established last week, has been firmly maintained since the development of the war scare, and buyers claim that it is almost impossible to buy wheat at country points, because farmers believe that they may get war prices for it.

As a result of this attitude, millers have had to procure supplies from jobbers in order to execute contracts that they had in hand, and, in doing so, paid pretty high prices for the privilege.

ADVANCE IN JAPAN TEA.

Cables have been received in both Toronto and Montreal since THE CANADIAN GROCER last went to press, announcing an advance of one cent per pound all round in the price of Japan tea.

Mail advices received a few weeks ago said prices were comparatively low, but would not remain so long, as the stock of good tea was getting so much reduced. This, then, is taken to be the cause of the present advance.

COHOE PACKING CLOSES.

Cohoe fishing closed on October 31, and the total pack, according to a press despatch, is approximately estimated at 50,000 cases.

Mail advices received this week from the Coast indicate that the market is still strong.

The ruling idea as to price is $4 f.o.b.

the Coast, but one holder has advanced his views to $4.25 f.o.b. The advices in question state that it has cost the packers this season in the neighborhood of $4 per case to put up cohoes, having had to pay 20c. per fish to the fishermen.

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Pedigrees are not good things to pull people to prosperity by.

Employ good business methods, as well as keep good goods.

It is sometimes easier to trace a pedigree than to discover brains.

Persistency is the path which leads the progressive to prosperity.

It is not always necessary to court the cook in order to court trade.

He who pulls against his employer is pulling against his own interests.

Enthusiasm gets up steam in business just as fire gets up steam in boilers.

He who does not display his goods in his window displays thereby his business incapacity.

Ambition runs away with some people; but time runs away with those who have no ambition.

There is no way to reach the goal of Success other than via the highway of Good Business Methods.

Merchants should not be satisfied by merely thinking their goods are all right; they should know they are.

The closer a man weds himself to his political party the looser is he likely to become in his political morals.

As it is easier to offend than to please a customer, he is a wise man who is doubly cautious about giving offence.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 3, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery trade does not present any new and striking features, unless it be that some of the local houses are experiencing a good business on British Columbia account. One house alone is this week sending out five carloads to the Coast. All the houses are busy receiving and shipping out new goods, and a fair number of new orders are being received. Only an occasional order is being received for canned goods, the sorting-up demand having, of course, not yet set in. There is no material change in the canned goods situation, although cohoes are, in some instances, being held higher on the Coast. A few California dried apricots have been received, but they are dear, being quoted at 18c. per lb. The tendency of the tea market in Young Hysons, Japans, Indians and Ceylons is upward. Currants are cabled a trifle easier, but other descriptions of foreign dried fruits are firm in the primary markets. Valencia raisins are still being quoted at low figures by local wholesalers. A shipment of last season's Grenoble walnuts has been received on the Toronto market, and is being distributed among the trade. Syrups and molasses are meeting with a fair demand. The sugar market is strong, but business is only fair.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no alteration in the canned vegetable market during the week. Corn is as firm as ever, and retailers here and there, in order to secure this line, will purchase peas and tomatoes with it. The idea for corn is 85 to 90c. per dozen. There have been transactions in round lots of tomatoes at 80c. delivered. The ruling wholesale price is 85c., although the range is from 85 to 90c.

The canned salmon situation continues strong. Cohoe fishing is over on the Coast, and a press despatch states that the total pack in British Columbia is 50,000 cases. A private letter received in Toronto this week states that $4 f.o.b. is the ruling figure, although at least one cannery has raised its views to $4.25 f.o.b. The wholesale price of cohoes in Toronto is likely to rule at about $1.15 to $1.20 per dozen. Fraser river salmon is quoted at $1.50 and second grade red salmon at $1.40. Lowe Inlet is quoted all the way from $1.25 to $1.40.

The chief demand at the moment for canned goods appears to be on British Columbia account.

COFFEES.

The Rio coffee market has recovered somewhat from the weakness which characterized it last week, and purchases for importation could not be repeated at last week's figures. The movement of the crop is again limited, and European advices have been stronger. Business in the local and outside market is quiet.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Retailers are beginning to stock up syrups for the winter, and business in this line is, in consequence, now fairly brisk. Business is principally in bright syrups at about 35c. per gal. A good business is also being done in corn syrups at about the same figure.

Molasses is also in better demand, and a

*See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

fair trade is being done at about 22 to 28c. per gallon for New Orleans.

SUGARS.

The European sugar market has ruled strong since our last review, although the cables, early this week, stated that the market for beet sugar was barely steady. In New York, last week, raw sugars advanced 1-16c. per lb., while refined sugars were irregular. Another independent refinery, The New York Sugar Refining Co., started up this week.

Sugars in Canada are firm and unchanged, and the volume of business is, on the whole, fair, although it is claimed by some that it is scarcely up to the mark. The price of standard granulated is unchanged at $4.58 Toronto, $4.40 Montreal.

NUTS.

The feature of the nut trade, locally, is the receipt of a shipment of old Grenoble walnuts. The quality is excellent, and they have been brought on with a view to supplying the trade until the new season's nuts arrive, which, this year, will be later than usual. They are meeting with a good sale. Tarragona almonds are advancing in the primary market, and they are now nearly one cent per pound above the figures at which orders were executed for this market.

TEAS.

The tea market is not very active, but prices are stronger rather than otherwise. The Japan market, according to a cable despatch, is 1c. per lb. higher than a week ago. Young Hyson teas are also decidedly strong, and the market for these descriptions is now nearing its close in China. A cable received this week said that limits would have to be advanced to complete present orders. Indian and Ceylon teas, particularly the latter, continue to advance in England.

Locally there have been some good transactions in Indian and Ceylon teas, both in spot teas and for importation. There have been some transactions in Pekoe Souchongs on spot at 14 to 15c. per lb. There have been a few transactions in Young Hysons, but, as a rule, the views of buyers and sellers are apart, which naturally prevents much business being done. Only a few transactions have taken place in Japan teas, the ideas of local importers being about 1½c. per lb. below those of holders. There are inquiries for Japan teas at about 13c. per lb., but 14c. appears to be about the lowest priced tea offering.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—The cable reports a slightly easier market, and there has been some buying for importation, as a result. Locally, the market is without change, business continuing just fair.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Practically nothing is being done in the way of new business for importation, the wholesale trade being inclined to work off what it has bought, before placing fresh orders. With the unsatisfactory prices which the wholesalers are getting, this is what might be expected. Wholesalers are doing a fair trade. Ruling prices for good fruit are: Offstalk, 4½c. per lb; fine offstalk, 4¾ to 5c.; selected, 5¾ to 5¾c.; layers, 6½ to 7c. Layers, until the Bellona's cargo is in stock, are scarce.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS—The first shipment of California raisins to reach this market this season arrived this week.

MALAGA RAISINS—The market continues firm, a cable offer by a Toronto importer at a slightly shaded price having been declined. The Bellona, the first direct steamer, is due to arrive in Montreal Nov. 6.

PRUNES—Wholesalers are experiencing a good business in California prunes of the different sizes at prices ranging from 6½ to 11c. per lb. A few transactions have taken place in Bosnia prunes for importation at steady prices.

ST. STEPHEN, N.B.

FIGS—A little trade was done on Halloween account. Prices for 10-lb. Elemes, 5 and 4 row, are this week ruling at 17 to 18c. respectively, tapnets at 4 to 4½c., and naturals at 7 to 7½c. per lb.

CALIFORNIA APRICOTS—A shipment of dried apricots, the first this season, arrived on the Toronto market this week. They are selling at 18c. per lb. in 25-lb. boxes. Prices in the primary market continue firm.

GREEN FRUITS.

Winter apples have begun to come in, but, as prices are ruling in the neighborhood of $3, a comparatively high figure, there is considerable hesitancy on the part of buyers, and the movement is not brisk. The large buyers are putting their purchases into storage, where they will be held for an advance. Cranberries are firm, and an advance of $1 to $2 is likely to ensue at any time. The price is likely to rule all winter at from $9 to $10. This high price is due partly to a large demand in the United States, owing to the scarcity and high price of apples there, and to an export demand for Great Britain. Peaches are done. Grapes have advanced 7 to 10c. Tomatoes are about done, but are nominally unchanged in value. Sweet potatoes are offered in large quantities, and are easier, a decline of 25c. being noted. The demand for bananas, lemons, and oranges is steadily improving. Bananas are unchanged in value. Verdilla lemons are done. Malagas, in boxes, have arrived, and are quoted at $3 to $3.50. Malagas in chests are now quoted at $9 to $10, as compared with $10 straight last week. Jamaica oranges are 50c. cheaper, now being rated at $7 to $8 per bbl. Malaga grapes are moving quietly, at $6 to $7.50 per keg. All other fruits are unchanged in value.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—A nice trade is being done in fresh eggs, at unchanged figures. Held fresh and cold stored stock is dull at 14 to 15c., while limed are active at the same figure. From 14 to 14½c. is paid at outside points for cases.

POTATOES—There are rather too many offering, both in cars and on the market, and prices are easier, though unchanged, at from 55 to 60c. for car lots, and 60 to 65c. for small lots on the market.

POULTRY—All classes of poultry are coming forward in large quantities, causing a decline of 2 to 2½c. for turkeys, and 1c. for geese. Wild ducks are coming in freely, and are selling at unchanged prices, which range from 20 to 25c. for teals and wid-geons to 60 to 75c. for black ducks and mallards.

HONEY—A fair business is being done, with prices firm and unaltered.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—A good steady jobbing business is being done in evaporated stock. Car lots are worth about 7c., f.o.b. at country points. From 8 to 8½c. is quoted in a jobbing way. There is no break in the quietness in the dried apple market. The jobbing price is steady at 4 to 5c.

BEANS—Hand-picked are moving nicely at $1 to $1.10. Common stock is in moderate demand at 80 to 90c.

VEGETABLES—There is a good all-round demand. No change in prices is noted. We quote: Cauliflower, $1 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 15 to 30c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz, 40 to 60c.; parsley, 15 to 20c. doz. bunches; beets, 10c. per peck; carrots, 15c. per peck; onions, Danvers, 75c. to 90c. per bag; green beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; vegetable marrow, $1 to $1.25; butter squash, $1 to $1.50; pumpkins, 65c. to 75c.; Hubbard squash, $1.50 to $2; red cabbage, 40 to 60c.; egg plant, 75 to $1 per basket.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—With the exception of choice tubs and rolls, dairy butter is in greater supply than demand, and prices are easier, though no change has taken place. Creamery is in good demand and firm at last week's figures. We quote at outside points: Dairy tubs, 14c.; prints, 14 to 15c.; large rolls, 14c.; creamery prints, 18½c.; tubs and boxes, 17 to 18c.

CHEESE—The feeling on country boards is steadier, sales being more frequently reported, and prices being better maintained, 8⅝ to 8⅞c. being frequently paid. The jobbing price is 8 to 8¾c. for early makes, and 9 to 9¼c. for September makes.

PROVISIONS.

A good general activity is reported. Dressed hogs are coming in exceedingly well for so early in the season. Prices are easier, a decline of 15c. being noted. Stocks of barrel pork, and dry salted and smoked meats, are well cleaned up, and are firm in value. Lard is moving well, with prices steady and unaltered.

FISH.

Oysters have declined 5 to 10c. Labrador herring are 25c. dearer. "Gem of the Sea" boneless fish is now quoted, 5c. being the figure. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh whitefish, 7½c.; steak trout, 7c. lb.; fresh perch, 3½c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.25 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; cod, in 1-lb. blocks, 6½c. per lb.; boneless fish, 5¾ to 4c. per lb.; quail-on-toast, 5½c. per lb.; Gem of the Sea, 5c. per lb. fresh-water herring, 60c. per basket; ciscoes, $1.25; haddies, 8c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 6c. per lb.; oysters, $1.25 to $1.35 per gallon.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN —Owing to the possibility of war, wheat prices have fluctuated considerably during the week. It is not likely, however, that prices will advance materially, except in case of actual hostilities, as there is abundance of wheat in sight. A decline of 1c. as compared with a week ago is to be noted, but prices are now firm at 69 to 70c. on cars outside. The street market has shown considerable activity in all grains. Prices are steady. We quote: Wheat, white, 72 to 73c.; red, 72½ to 73½c.; goose, 77½ to 78½c.; peas, 59 to 65c.; oats, 31 to 31½c.; barley, 51 to 54c.; rye, 48½c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat has declined 2c., and is now quoted at 83c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—Manitoba flour has declined 10c. Ontario grades are unchanged. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.30; Manitoba strong bakers', $4; Ontario patents, $4.10 to $4.20; straight roller, $3.35 to $3.45, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Prices are unchanged. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.70 in bags and $3.70 to $3.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.75; pot barley, $3.75.

SEEDS.

Alsike is practically in the same position as last week, with prices steady at $2.75 to $4.50 in a jobbing way in Toronto. Red clover is offering more freely. Very little of last year's crop is now left. For it from $3 to $3.75 is paid, according to quality. For some extra choice lots slightly more is paid. The new crop is offered in liberal quantities. It is worth from $3.50 to $4.10. There is nothing doing yet in timothy.

SALT.

Prices are unchanged. Business is active. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 54c.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The market is weak, and a decline is looked for. Cured hides have already dropped ¼c. in value. On the Chicago market, a decline of ½c. is reported. We quote: No. 1, 8½c.; No. 2, 7½c.; No. 3, 6½c.; cured, 9c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—The feeling for shearlings and lambskins is firm, but no change is noted. We quote at 75 to 80c.

WOOL—The market is dull. Prices are steady at 15c. for fleece, and 10c. for unwashed.

MARKET NOTES.

Grapes are 10c. dearer.
Cured hides are ½c. cheaper.
Oysters have declined 5 to 10c.
Labrador herring are 25c. dearer.
Sweet potatoes are 25 to 50c. cheaper.
Jamaica oranges are 50c. a bbl. cheaper.
Manitoba flour has declined 10c. per bbl.
Malaga lemons have declined $1 per chest.
Japan tea is cabled one cent per lb. dearer.
A shipment of old season's Grenoble walnuts has been received on the Toronto market.

California dried apricots are on the Toronto market.

Turkeys are 2 to 2½c.; geese, 1c. per lb. cheaper.

Cranberries are expected to be worth $9 to $10 this winter.

Glucose has advanced about 10c. per lb. within the past week.

The first shipment of California raisins for the season, is to hand.

Cohoe canned salmon is being held as high as $4.25 f.o.b. on the Coast, by some canners.

Tarragona almonds are nearly 1c. per lb. above the figures at which orders for this market were executed.

A cable from China states that the limits on Young Hyson tea will have to be advanced to complete orders.

Winter apples are coming in freely. They are worth about $3 per bbl. Fall varieties are about done, and are quoted at from $2 up.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co. report that the prospects were never brighter for a large fall and winter trade in the commission houses.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. report that the majority of large dealers have quit buying eggs, etc., and that country merchants are consigning much more butter and eggs than for some time past.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 3, 1898.

GROCERIES

THE week has not developed any change in the general grocery situation here, the volume of business, if anything, being rather lighter, from the fact that a church holiday in the Province reduced the number of trading days. No important change in values is to report, sugar, tea and nearly all the staples ruling as last quoted. Cables, however, have been easier on Valencia raisins and Japan teas, but the circumstance does not appear to have had any influence on spot values as yet. In country produce, butter continues to decline under an indifferent demand, while in flour the advance established last week is retained.

SUGAR.

There is no change in the local sugar market and trading rules light, though the tone is quite steady. Reports have it that some foreign sugar has been offered on the market at $4.10 per 100 lb., but, so far, no business has actually transpired. Local quotations, however, remain as last quoted. The raw article abroad has varied, cane ruling firm, while beet has been easy. Today, cane was cabled from London 12s. for Java, and 10s. 9d. for fair refining, while beet was quiet, with prices barely maintained at 9s. 9d. for present month's delivery. Raw was dull in New York, but held higher, fair refining, 3 13-16c.; centrifugal, 96 test, 4 5-16c., and molasses sugar, 3 9-16c. The refined market there is quite firm.

SYRUPS.

This staple has not furnished any activity yet, and trading is quite light.

MOLASSES.

There has been a brisker enquiry during the past week for round lots of Barbadoes molasses, but business has been light, for the very good reason that stocks are very firmly held, the very inside price that any stock is now obtainable in a large way, being 29c., and in several instances this bid has been refused, 30c. being asked. As a result of this, jobbing prices, though not quotably altered, are firmly held at 32c. in single puncheons, and 31c. in car lots.

DRIED FRUIT.

The week has elicited weaker cables from Denia on Valencia raisins, offers of well-known brands being made at a decline of 6d. to 1s., fine off-stalk now being quoted at 13s. 6d., selected, 17s. 6d. to 18s., and layers 19s. 6d. to 20s. On spot, business has been light, few sales of importance transpiring, but values on well-known brands are held from 4c. for ordinary off-stalk up to 6c. for layers, according to grade, as quoted elsewhere.

California raisins are quiet, and business in them is light, owing to the attitude adopted by the Growers' Association, which has retarded, rather than induced, buying.

Currants rule steady, and advices from abroad do not reflect anything new.

Prunes are steady for all sorts, both Austrian, French, and Californian, and there is nothing special to report here in either case.

There has been some fair business put through in California figs, the first carload, consisting of 2,400 10-lb. boxes, being sold for delivery shortly at 9 to 10c. f.o.b. on the Coast. European sorts remain as last quoted.

NUTS.

This market rules quiet locally, and there is nothing special to report. Cable intelligence generally, this week, has been of a firm character.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no change in the situation of this market, a fair business being noted in tomatoes, corn and peas, and also in salmon, for all of which demand has been fair during the week. Prices here show no alteration in any case.

TEA.

The Japan market was cabled rather easier toward the close of last week, but the fact has not been supplemented by any definite intelligence since. Enquiry here for Japan teas has been quite good, and holders in every case are obtaining their own prices. The demand is chiefly for teas ranging from 16½ to 19½c. In greens, a few pingsueys have sold at 10½ to 12½c., while some fine gunpowders have realized 17½ to 18c. Ceylons have changed hands at steady prices, and there has been little business reported in Congous. India and Ceylon cables on tea are quite firm from shipping points.

SPICES.

There is a steady feeling in spices, and trading is of a seasonable kind, though not extensive.

COFFEE.

This staple remains steady both for Brazil and Maracaibo, a few parcels of the latter having changed hands at 10 to 14½c., as to grade, for straight invoice lots of beans.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been no great activity in green fruit during the week, in fact, trading was of a rather unsatisfactory character. Lemons show no change, while oranges are in light receipt, but with a very limited demand. Bananas have a slow sale at $2 to $2.25, and sweet potatoes are meeting a poor demand at the same range. Malaga grapes are in good demand, as quoted last week, and there is a good demand for cranberries at $6 to $7.50 per bbl.

APPLES.

Quite a lot of poor apples have been arriving, and sell for any price between $1 to $2 per bbl., but good winter stock is held at $2.50 to $3 per bbl.

FISH.

Considering the unfavorable weather which has prevailed during the past week, a very fair amount of business has been done in this line, and, as supplies have not been excessive, the general tone of the market has been steady. In salt fish, the principal demand is for herring and salmon. The latter is scarce, and buyers, in consequence, find it difficult to fill their wants. We quote jobbing prices as follows: No. 1 Labrador herrings, $4.75 to $5 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S. do., $4.25 to $4.50; N.B. in half-bbbs., $2.25; No. 3 mackerel, $11.50 to $12, and No. 1 green cod, $4 to $4.25.

The demand for preserved fish continues ample to absorb all offerings, owing to the fact that stocks of such, in second hands, at the beginning of the season were exceedingly light, consequently the market is kept well cleaned up, and prices are maintained. We quote: Pure boneless codfish, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; dressed or skinless codfish, 4¼c.; dried, $4 per 112 lb.; boneless fish, 3½c.

Receipts of fresh fish have been fair for which the demand continues good at steady prices. We quote: Haddock, 3½c.; Manitoba dore and whitefish, 6½c.; pike, 5½c., and B.C. salmon, 13½c. per lb.

Smoked fish are meeting with a steady demand, and there is no accumulation of stock. We quote: Haddies, 6½ to 7c.; kippered herrings, $1.35 to $1.50 per box; smoked herrings, 10 to 12c., and Yarmouth bloaters, $1.25.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was a good demand for eggs, and the market was more active and firm. We quote: Strictly new laid, 19½ to 20c.; No. 1 candled, 15 to 16c.; No. 2 do., 12 to 13c., and culls, 9c. per dozen. Receipts, 1,357 cases.

BEANS—The market for beans was quiet, the demand being only for small lots. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 a bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—In honey there is nothing doing, as buyers have ample supplies on hand. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to 7½c.; dark, 5½ to 6½c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c.; and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT — The demand for maple product is nil, and prices nominal. We quote: Syrup, in wood, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; in tins, 45 to 55c., according to size. Sugar, 6 to 6¼c. per lb.

GAME—The receipts of partridge were fair to-day, for which the demand was good, prices were unchanged at 50 to 55c. for firsts, and at 35 to 40c. for seconds, per brace.

DRIED APPLES—Continue as last quoted, dried 5c., and evaporated 8c.

PROVISIONS.

There was no new feature in the local provision market. The demand is fair for small lots, and trade is fair for the season. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, in barrels, $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8¼ to 8½c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10½c. to 13c.; and bacon, 10 to 13c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

A feature of the local grain trade was the demand for buckwheat to cover up short sales, and, as the offerings were small, sharply advanced, and it was rumored that sales took place at 50c. per bushel. There was also a firmer feeling in oats, and some fair-sized lots changed hands afloat at 30¼ to 30½c.

There continues to be a steady demand for peas as the short interest in the market is said to be still large, and prices were firmer, with sales at 69c. afloat. In Manitoba wheat, sales of 35,000 bushels of No. 1 hard were made at 71½c. afloat, and No. 1 northern was quoted at 67½c. afloat Fort William on Tuesday.

There was an improved demand for Manitoba grades of flour both from local and country buyers, consequently the volume of business done was larger, including sales of 2,400 sacks. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4.00 to $4.25; straight rollers, $3.75 to $3.85; in bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba patents, $4.70 to $4.80; strong bakers', best, $4.20 to $4.40.

The demand for feed is still good, of which the offerings are limited, and prices still rule firm. We quote: Manitoba bran, $12; shorts, $14, and moullie, $16 per ton, including bags.

There was no change in rolled oats, and a fair trade is reported at $3.50 per barrel and at $1.70 per bag.

A steady trade continues to be done in baled hay, and the market is moderately active at unchanged prices. We quote: No. 1 at $6.50 to $7.50; No. 2 extra, $5 to $6; No. 2 and clover mixture, $4.50 to $5, and clover, $4.

CHEESE.

Cheese commenced to show more activity last Friday, for the first time, as a result of the decline, and it seems clear that buyers consider October make a purchase around present figures, for they bought considerable at Brockville and other centres, the ruling price being 8¾c. There has been much doing on spot also, not only in eastern, but in western makes. For the latter, as high as 9c. has been paid for October goods, but factorymen who were in town sold for less than this, some accepting 8½ to 8¾c. here, for eastern Ontario factories. Recent dealing in eastern fall goods has ranged all the way from 8⅔ to 8⅝c. On the other hand, in contrast to this local activity, exporters complain that the best bids they can obtain for fall goods, no section being specified, is 8⅔ to 8⅝c., and that, as a consequence, new business for prompt or immediate shipment is light. But, if the recent movement is a fair criterion, and it certainly should be, the lack of encouragement from Great Britain does not worry operators here, who consider October cheese a purchase, and are acting accordingly. We quote: Finest Ontario fall cheese, 8⅔ to 9c.; finest Ontario summer cheese, 8½ to 8⅝c.; finest Quebec fall cheese, 8½ to 8⅝c.; finest Quebec summer cheese, 8⅔ to 8¾c.; Liverpool cables, 42s. 6d.

BUTTER.

The butter market rules heavy, and though lower prices have been accepted in some cases for late made creamery, in others full value has been realized. On the whole, however, the export encouragement is poor, and the market appears to be governed by this demand at present, so that unless it improves or domestic inquiry picks up, prices may recede still further. For the top, 18¾c. may still be quoted, but it is difficult to realize, and 18¾c. is more acceptable to buyers. Values grade down from these figures as quoted below: Extra finest creamery, boxes, 18¾c.; extra finest creamery, tubs, 18¼c.; ordinary finest creamery, boxes, 18c.; ordinary finest creamery, tubs, 17¾c.; western dairy, tubs, 14¼c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cables from Denia, on Valencia raisins, quote a decline of 6d. to 1s. per cwt.

More demand has been experienced for October cheese, and market is steadier here.

The advance in flour noticed last week has been quite firmly maintained ever since.

Butter continues to sag off under lack of demand, being ¼ to ½c. lower now than last week.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 1, 1898.

THE week has shown active and satisfactory business; markets continue in sellers' favor. Even sugar, which has been dull, is quoted rather stronger. Cheese is dull. Quite a number of Maritime Province people have taken advantage of the low passenger rates to Montreal and Toronto. The railways should arrange for low rates at certain times, all through the summer and fall. Our clerks, when taking their holidays, nearly always go to Boston or New York, as they can go so much cheaper than by Montreal to Toronto. This should not be, as they get American ideas rather than Canadian. In fact, many are not at all acquainted with the size and influence of our business centres of the west, nor our immense natural resources.

OIL—Dealers in burning oil are very busy, as many buyers are anxious to have their shipments go forward before the close of navigation. There is no change in price to note, except that the American and Canadian products draw rather nearer together. There is now just one cent. between the two Canadian grades, and the same between the best Canadian and the American. Cod oil keeps low, demand being rather over-supplied. In paint oils, turpentine keeps very high. Otherwise there is little change.

SALT—There is rather dull business. Prices are low. In Liverpool coarse, there is not likely to be further arrivals till the winter steamers begin to run. Canadian has a steady sale. In fine salt it tends more and more to supply the market. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1 per 100 lb.

CANNED GOODS—Dealers, while largely supplied, continue to place orders where packers offer low, as the market all round is a very firm one. All lines of new goods are to hand, the different packers being quite well represented in our market. Salmon are very firm, as stocks are light. Prices, however, in local markets will have to go higher. They have only been prevented from moving more quickly because of the last year's stock here. Gallon apples have been bought more freely this year, and baked beans have more attention than usual.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples, while holding their value, are not as firm as they were. Winter fruit, little of which has yet arrived, is expected to rule firm. The daily auction of fall fruit rather weakens present prices. Oranges are coming more freely into the market, and of fair quality, though there is a wide range in quality of West India fruit. New lemons are here, and, as a consequence, values are lower. The package of Malaga lemons is much objected to, the shape being bad, making the freight abnormally high. They also arrive in bad order. Canadian grapes still have a good demand, each car arriving sees rather higher prices. The Cape Cod cranberry holds the market, as there are practically no native berries. A few Nova Scotia pears still offered, but quality is poor. There are also light arrivals of quinces.

DRIED FRUIT—California raisins are daily expected; in fact, they will likely be here before this report is read. Bad weather and a large demand have delayed shipments. California figs have proved but fairly successful here, and, as yet, there is little sale for prunes, and none for evaporated fruits. Present stocks of new Valencia raisins are also light. They and Smyrna figs are overdue. Buyers needing the latter will do well to place orders early, as importations are limited. Currants rule about as last year. Cleaned are particularly in demand. Present stock of onions is light, but, like some of the above lines, they are likely to be to hand in a few days. Market is firmer, and shippers are not anxious sellers. Evaporated apples are in better demand. Prices are firmer, western packers having advanced their figures, owing to export demand.

SUGAR—Some American granulated is to hand. The local refiners at Halifax, however, incline to higher figures, though earlier they made a small cut. At even prices, there is inclined to be a preference for the Montreal sugar on the part of some buyers. Except in a few cases, there is little demand for dark yellows.

MOLASSES—The market is a firm one. Quite a little molasses, particularly Barbadoes, was carried over from last season. The light stocks have enabled buyers to work it off at good figures. It is a long time since the situation was as strong as now. It is reported a small cargo of Porto Rico is due. Small lots continue to arrive from Yarmouth and Halifax. Some splendid values in syrup have been received and have met with a good sale.

PRODUCE—Eggs are higher. There is a good demand for fresh stock at the high figures. Held and preserved stock are not liked. Fresh eggs come to hand slowly. Butter is firmer for good quality, but it is very hard to get, while of poor there is too much. Cheese is quiet, particularly for local market. In fact, the wholesale grocery trade, on account of the retailers through the country getting supplied from local factories, do not find their cheese trade growing, and what they buy they get largely in trade from customers.

FISH—There have been large arrivals of Grand Manan herring, which are largely packed after arrival here. Prices are well maintained, as there are but light shipments to immediately follow present arrivals, which are likely the largest for any one time during the season. In all lines the demand is for better grades of fish. We do not quote kippings and wolves this week, but we quote haddies, which are a better grade. There are also a few Canso here. In dry cod, arrivals are light and prices are held firm. Pollock, dull. A few years ago they sold within a dollar of cod, but now you cannot get within two dollars. Smoked herring move quite freely, but at low figures. Bloaters and kippers have a steady sale. Finnan haddies are a large and growing business. At this season they go forward by express. Some American haddie still go to Ontario and Quebec from Portland and Boston, but we have a growing trade. We quote as follows: Large cod

$3.35 to $3.45; medium, $3.30 to $3.35; pollock, $1.30 to $1.35; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.70 to $1.75 ½-bbl.; Canso, pickled, $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; new smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $4 ½-bbl.; fall do., $5; ½-bbl.; alewives, $3 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1; bloaters, 60c.

PROVISIONS—There is a better sale for barreled goods, and prices tend firmer, particularly mess pork, which is quite scarce. Quite a little American is arriving. Beef is also firmer. Lard is not a large stock; prices firmer, and a number of packers have withdrawn quotations.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Manitoba flours have joined the advance this week. It is said it has been delayed owing to large stocks of old wheat, which were on hand. Millers are not pushing sales. In the case of many Ontario millers they are not quoting, owing to large sales, making it impossible to quote for present shipment. Our dealers have bought quite freely to arrive. Present stocks are light. Oatmeal and oats are again higher. There has been a fair business. Cornmeal shows no change. Beans are higher, but light business. Barley is one of the firmest lines. It is difficult for dealers to get accustomed to the high figures, but higher ones are likely to rule. Blue peas and split peas are high and firm. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.90 to $5; best Ontario, $4.00 to $4.20; medium, $3.75 to $3.85; oatmeal, $3.80 to $3.90; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $1.80 to $1.90; bran, $1.10 to $1.20; oats, 36 to 38c.; hand-picked beans, $1.10 to $1.20; prime, 95 to $1; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.65 to $3.85; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7½ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Two thousand Russian immigrants are due this week at Halifax on their way to the Northwest.

Shipments of oysters from Prince Edward Island have been small during the past week, owing to the high winds.

Baird & Peters received, this week, a shipment of American granulated sugar. It is something new in our market.

Calhoun's new cornmeal mill, at Wolfville, N.S., is now running and doing a large business. The corn is brought to the mill by schooner.

That a traveler for The H. J. Heinz Co. did a good trade in our city, is assured by the appearance of their goods with all the best retail trade.

Mr. Markwell, of The Boston Molasses Co., in company with the local broker, J. Hunter White, called on the wholesale trade during the week.

The following prices are offered by a Carleton Co., N.B., pork-packing house: Dressed, weight light, 4¼c.; medium, 4½c.; heavy, 4¾c.; stags and brood sows, $4.14; live weight, light, 3¾c.; medium, 3½c.; heavy, 3¼c.; stags and sows, 3c.

Fred. S. Wilber, Moncton, and formally in the Bank of Nova Scotia there, has accepted a position in the National Bank of the South African Republic.

A. A. McClaskey & Son this week opened a handsome retail confectionery store on King street. Their large factory on Dock street is running overtime, owing to very large jobbing orders received.

The new Washington County railroad is now running regularly between Eastport, Maine, and Calase, and at Milltown, N.B., was connected with the C.P.R. during the past week. Some twenty carloads of sardines were shipped west in this way.

A good story is told at the expense of one of our wholesale grocery travelers. It is said that, in endeavoring to make a sale of canned salmon, he was asked if his were cohoes or sockeye. He answered his were those with the blue label. The buyer said he did not care about that, but wanted to know if they were cohoes or sockeye. "Oh, yes," said the traveler, "they were packed by Cohoe."

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31, 1898.

THERE is practically no change in the situation of affairs in Winnipeg since last writing. Considerable threshing has been done, and, it is encouraging to learn, that so far the damage from wet weather is much less than anticipated. The roads are still so soft that very little of the wheat threshed can be hauled to elevators, and deliveries for the week are light. Price to-day on standard rate of freight for No. 1 hard, and from 2 to 3c. lower for Nos. 1 and 2 Northern.

Among the visitors to the city during the week was R. A. Lister, of Dursley, Eng., manufacturer of the Alexandra separator. Mr. Lister came to superintend the returns of this branch of his business here, and it is of interest to those who handle butter to know that over 1,000 separators have been sold in the Province during the past season, and the firm now have orders for 500 more. This should mark great improvement in the quality of butter. The pasteurizing plant put in for one creamery, that of Robt. Scott, at Shoal Lake, also marks an era, Mr. Scott having this week sold his season's output for 21c. per lb., which, in the present state of the market east and west, is a high figure.

Trade with regard to groceries is, of course, very quiet. Farmers are too busy trying to get up with fall work to do any buying that can be avoided. Business in the country is quiet, and wholesale business in town must, of necessity be quiet also.

Prices show little change, but are well maintained in all lines.

BUTTER—The season for creamery is now practically closed. A few factories are still running, but the output is still small. Price 20c. point of shipment, except in one case, given above, where 21c. was paid. Dairy butter is arriving freely, as many country merchants are now beginning to unload stock accumulated, and private stores are also coming in. Price 14½ to 15c. Winnipeg.

CHEESE—Very little is now offering, but the supply on hand is considered abundant for the requirements of the trade. Price, 8½ to 9c.

EGGS—No supply of fresh eggs obtainable in Manitoba. Ontario stocks are arriving. Jobbers' price to dealers will be 18c. for this stock. Choice picked stock, 16 to 17c.

CURED MEATS—Probably there never was so long a period in the markets here with no changes to record. Provision houses are still using price cards issued on August 15, and they do not anticipate any change. The local supply of hogs, like everything else, is kept back by wet weather and bad roads. Hams, 11½c.; breakfast bellies, 12c.; backs, 11½c.; shoulders, 9½c.; spiced rolls, 10½c.; long clear, 9½c.; extra short clear, 8½c.; dry salt, smoked, 9½c.

FLOUR—Is reported very brisk, with no change from $2.05 for patent, and other grades in proportion.

FIGS—New figs have arrived, but the price is so high that it is practically prohibitive. Table figs at 20c. per lb. wholesale, are not likely to command a large sale.

GREEN FRUIT—Trade is slowing up in this line, and prices are now practically on basis of winter supplies. Apples, $2.75 to $4 per barrel, according to variety; oranges, $4.50 to $5; lemons, $7.50; grapes, Almeria, in kegs (just arrived), $8; California Tokay, $2.75 per crate; pears, Washington Nellis, $2.75 per box; peaches, late Crawfords, $1.15; Cape Code cranberries, $8.50 per barrel; sweet potatoes, $5; nuts, fine Ontario chesnuts, 15c. per lb.

Currie Bros., general merchants, Andover, N. B., have assigned to R. F. Randolph, Woodstock, N. B. The unsecured liabilities are in the vicinity of $4,500, and the assets, not including real estate, are estimated at between $5,000 and $6,000. The real estate is subject to a mortgage of $1,200.

You hear and see this everywhere, "Quality Counts," but the only true, practical test is in the sales you make. Theory has no value, and the words "quality counts" are often misjudged in their meaning—they are becoming commonplace. We know that quality counts—our increasing sales prove it. How are you to know unless you put Tillson's Pan-Dried Rolled Oats to the test—don't take our word for it, but prove it at our expense. Send for free

LOW OFFERS OF FOREIGN SUGAR.

THESE have been some small offers of foreign granulated sugar at Montreal within the past ten days, but so far they have not affected the standing of the domestic article, as the quantity is inconsiderable, and its handling is confined to one or two houses outside the sugar agreement, who have only imported in a very moderate way.

They are asking from $4.10 to $4.25 for it, according to quantity, and should this competition increase to an extent where it would be appreciable, the domestic refiners will make a reduction in order to drive out, or, at any rate, reduce the sale of the foreign sugar to a minimum.

At present they show no disposition to do so, for the very good reason that all the jobbers inside the agreement are living up to it and not cutting prices, therefore they find no necessity to deal in this foreign sugar. Another reason is that quality of the domestic sugar is so superior that, unless the difference in price is quite noticable, the consumer will have it in preference to the foreign, and, in many instances, they refuse to have anything to do with the latter, no matter what the price is.

A MAN FROM SHANGHAI.

Mr. Chas. Schlee, of Peek Bros. & Winch Co., Shanghai, China, spent a couple of days in Toronto, the latter part of last week, on his way to London, Eng., where he will spend the winter, returning to China in the spring. He stated that there was a very large demand for green teas, but that the market in China is now practically closed. He expressed the opinion that low-grade China green teas will be much higher before the close of the season.

THE VINEGAR AMALGAMATION.

Mr. Seyler, of W. H. Seyler & Co., sole importers of concentrated grape wine vinegar, in a conversation with THE CANADIAN GROCER in regard to the recent movement to amalgamate the vinegar interest in Canada, said: "I have noticed with satisfaction the position taken by the vinegar manufacturers in Canada in regard to the use of acetic acid made from wood. Their position is unquestionably the correct one, and is entitled to receive the support of the public. We are interested in encouraging the use of pure vinegar. Since importing, over a year ago, the concentrated vinegar produced from grapes, we have several times had occasion to criticize the use of wood acetic acid vinegar. As far as our vinegar is concerned, there is no question about its purity, being made in Germany from the pure grapes. This, Dominion Analyst Pyne proved in his report on this vinegar, already published. Then, of course, another advantage with it is its economy in freight, while no barrels have to be returned. Our sales now extend from Halifax to Vancouver, and repeat orders are coming in freely. This vinegar is of two kinds, namely, golden and white wine. By-the-bye," concluded Mr. Seyler, "pure vinegars are naturally fruit vinegars, such as are made from cider, berries or grapes. The very signification of the word vinegar, from the French "vin," meaning wine, and "aigre," meaning sour, proves this. Sour wine, don't you see?"

BLACK TEA FROM GREEN TEA LEAF.

We recently saw a notice of an extraordinary process by means of which black tea can be converted into green tea leaf. It reminded us of an article which we read in one of the foreign wine journals, showing how white wine can be made from red grapes. At this rate, it ought soon be possible to prove that black is white and vice versa. The process by means of which green tea is converted into black consists in first withering, and, at the same time, more or less oxidizing (fermenting) the green leaf by submitting the unrolled leaf to the action of a current of warm, moist air at a temperature of 135 to 145 deg. Fahrenheit. During this operation the tea is continually lifted up and allowed to fall, and fresh air is continually admitted to replace the air from which the oxygen has been absorbed. The leaf is then rolled and dried, or the juices may be first thickened (with or without intervening second rolling), and the leaf finally dried. It is optional, but not preferable, also to submit the leaf to more or less of the ordinary fermentation process before the final drying.—London Grocer.

NO LONGER A BACHELOR.

Mr. R. D. Ross, manager of the Monsoon Tea Co., Toronto, is no longer a bachelor. He was married the other day to Miss Rouse, and the happy couple are spending their honeymoon in Manitoba and the Northwest, a good example for others to follow. THE CANADIAN GROCER tenders its heartiest congratulations.

WE CONGRATULATE OURSELVES.

G. S. Heywood, Chatham, writes: "The autumn edition of THE CANADIAN GROCER to hand (it's a beauty). Its pages are filled with interesting and instructive information. We congratulate ourselves on being one of your subscribers."

STAMPS USED TWICE.

A number of lads have been playing a sharp game on a company that furnishes coupons to merchants and redeems at $3 per book full. It appears that when a rival company introduced its coupon system in the city, the company first doing business here wished to display to the public the superiority of its system over that of the rival company, and, with that end in view, placed on view in the window of Anderson's grocery store, Division street, a large number of books filled with the company's red stamps. In some way a number of the filled books found their way to a barrel containing refuse, which was subsequently dumped in a nuisance pile in the northern section of the city. Boys found these books, removed the stamps, stuck them in new books, and presented them at the store where the company had appointed to redeem them at the rate of $3 per book. The books came in so fast that the company began to suspect that everything was not right, and, upon investigation, discovered the cause. It is estimated that the company lost at least $87 by the fraud. Nothing can be done towards securing a return of the money, as the lads who practised the fraud are not known.—Whig, Kingston, Ont.

DOES NOT USE A STENOGRAPHER.

Mr. P. C. Larkin, of the Salada Tea Co., does not now use a stenographer. It is not because business has diminished. On the contrary, it has increased. But he has got something as a substitute for a stenographer that does not need to be called, and is as accessible at midnight as at midday. He has got a graphophone. Mr. Larkin has it on his desk in his private office, and when he requires to dictate a letter or issue instructions, he merely touches a button and talks. The typewriter does the rest.

The warerooms of the Toronto Salt Works have been much improved of late. The offices have been repainted and refitted, making them warmer and brighter-looking for the coming winter months.

FEEDING CLERKS.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—In these days of keen competition, every possible manner and means is resorted to by manufacturers and others to have their goods placed before the public, and, of late, a most reprehensible practice has crept in in the shape of feeding salesmen in retail stores to sell certain products and no other. This thing is carried on to a very much larger extent than any retailer has an idea of. In some cases, it is a spiceman who is putting his hand in his pocket to get the head counterman to recommend his goods. In another case, the packet teaman is supplying the clerks with his celebrated brand for their private consumption. Again, the wholesale grocer keeps all hands supplied with cigars, to push his coffee, canned goods, tea, etc., and run down his neighbors', and so the thing goes on. In any of these cases, the man who is paying for all this is the retail merchant, and he is unaware of what is going on.

The above facts are known to be absolutely correct, and it is high time that the travelers who are chumming in with understrappers should be given a cold shoulder.

WATCH-DOG.

Hamilton, October 27, 1898.

HE USES THE ADVERTISING.

A Philadelphia grocer, writing to The Grocery World, gives it as his experience that it is advisable to use the advertising matter frequently sent out with specialties or proprietary articles.

His method is simple. All advertising matter sent to him is arranged in a large, flat basket, with an invitation to all to help themselves. If advertising matter comes with an article that pays an especially good profit, he slips it into all packages sent out. This has always created a demand for the article advertised, thus increasing his profits.

He also keeps on the lookout for manufacturers who have advertising matter, and when a booklet advertising any new food product or specialty is offered, he always sends for one, and if he thinks the article will sell, gets it. In every case he gets, if possible, advertising matter to help introduce it.

WHOLESALE FIRM "DONE UP."

A sharp trick was played on H. P. Eckardt & Co., wholesale grocers, Toronto, recently. A telephone order for two barrels of sugar and two caddies of tobacco was sent in, the name given being McLean & Van Loon, corner Broadview avenue and Gerrard street. A rig was sent for the goods. When the invoice was sent to McLean and Van Loon it was found that they had sent no such order. It was subsequently found that the message was sent from Church street, just a few blocks from Eckardt's.

It is put up by Moir, Wilson & Co., Aberdeen, and, as this firm makes a specialty of fish packing, the goods it sends out are of a high order, and have been well received by the trade. The firm's specialties are kippered herring and herring in tomato sauce. A. P. Tippet & Co. are sole agents for Canada.

A CROCKERY MERCHANT DEAD.

Joseph Pigot, of Pigot & Bryan, wholesale and retail crockery dealers, London, Ont., died suddenly at his home on Saturday morning last.

On Friday evening, while at his store, he was taken suddenly ill, and though he went home at once and medical aid was summoned his death occurred shortly after midnight. Heart failure was the cause of death.

Mr. Pigot went to London about 35 years ago, and for some time was in the employ of W. J. Reid & Co., Crystal Hall. A number of years ago, in company with the late George Bryan, a fellow-employee, he opened out in his present business on Dundas street. Deceased leaves a wife and family.

GROCERS LOOKING FOR DEER.

Several grocers from Toronto have left to try their skill at hunting deer in the Nipissing, Ont., district. W. Sykes and Fred Luttrell, Toronto and H. E. Snell, Toronto Junction, left on Monday for the South River district near Lake Nipissing. Thos. Clark, Jas. Simpson and Chas. Coutts, Toronto, have also gone northwards on the same errand. All expect to make a big bag, but intend to have a "good time" whether the deer are plentiful or not. And from past experiences, it is safe to say they will have the "good time" at least.

MARKET FOR CANADIAN TOBACCO

Already, although this is practically only the second year that tobacco has been raised in large areas in this country, the anxious inquiry is about the price and demand.

Last year but two concerns, and both in Quebec Province, were buying our country tobacco. A slight improvement in this respect has taken place and several other tobacco factories have prepared to use Canadian-grown leaf. The duty imposed by the present Government on imported tobacco leaf will also, of course, tend to a larger consumption of Canadian tobacco. But even with the present area in tobacco, and more so if that area is increased, the question of a market will become a serious matter for the growers.

Anticipating such a condition William McGregor, M.P., has been in correspondence with a number of persons interested in the growing of tobacco, with a view to securing markets outside of Canada.

Among others written to by Mr. McGregor was Daniel Scotten, the large tobacco manufacturer of Detroit. Besides being a large manufacturer of tobacco, Mr. Scotten is the largest landowner in the county of Essex. He very readily came to Mr. McGregor's assistance and furnished him with the names of a large number of foreign firms dealing in tobacco.—Record, Windsor, Ont.

MUST PAY THEIR GROCERY BILLS.

Policemen in Greater New York are not allowed to "hang up" their grocers for an indefinite period. The Police Board, rotten as it is reputed to be and generally useless, is effective to that extent and the "coppers" are compelled to be honest. Only the other day a patrolman was fined three days' pay for failing to satisfy a creditor. Every business firm ought to see that no dead beats are numbered among its employees. Some slow payers are apparently of the opinion that retailers are sufficiently honored by getting their patronage, whether they do or do not pay their bills. One of this class recently was inclined to be defiant when "hauled over the coals" by his employers, a wholesale firm, for letting a debt to a customer of the firm run an unconscionable time, the said customer having finally protested to the firm against such treatment by an employee.—Merchants' Review.

Miss E. Cora Hind, of Winnipeg, has been in the city this week in the interests of THE CANADIAN GROCER, and other publications issued by the McLean Publishing Company, of Toronto.—Brandon Times.

NEW PORK PACKING FACTORY.

The erection of the new pork packing establishment of the Park-Blackwell Co., Limited, Toronto, has been completed. The building is a commodious structure of four storeys, is equipped with the latest up-to-date machinery and appliances, and is situated conveniently to the hog and cattle markets. The company anticipate requiring about 3,000 hogs and 100 head of cattle weekly. This enterprising company contemplate entering the export trade, in addition to giving attention to their large and growing home trade. Attention is drawn to their advertisement in this week's issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

BUSY MINCEMEAT MAKER.

When J. H. Wethey, manufacturer of Wethey's condensed mincemeat was in Toronto a few days ago, he informed THE CANADIAN GROCER that the demand for his product is so great that his factory is working overtime. This is a natural result of the fact that Mr. Wethey puts up a good article.

By the recent burning of W. H. Tighe's evaporating factory at Chatham, Ont., 225 hands were thrown out of employment. New buildings will be erected.

These are the only goods of their kind that score 100 points perfection with the Retail Dealer and Consumer. Well advertised, need no talking up. Consumers know them all over Canada. Sold by the wholesale trade in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, London, Hamilton, Brantford, Etc.

WINNERS USE

---

COLEMAN'S SALT.

Here are a Few Pointers

for Cheese and Butter-makers, gathered from the Prize List at the Toronto Industrial Exhibition :

(1) ALL the First prizes in Creamery Butter were awarded to those who used Coleman's Refined Butter Salt.

(2) There were FIVE First prizes for Factory Cheese ; the users of Coleman's Cheese Salt scored Four.

(3) Butter salted with Coleman's Fine Butter Salt won 10 prizes out of the total of 18 in the Creamery classes.

(4) Cheese salted with Coleman's Cheese Salt won 22 prizes out of 28 in the Factory Cheese classes.

(5) The other prize winners used other brands of Canadian Salt ; no imported salt appears to have been used in any case.

WE EXTEND CONGRATULATIONS to the prize winners, and commend the above facts to the attention of Cheese and Butter-makers, and the trade in general.

Every dealer should carry a stock of Coleman's Dairy Salt. We assort carloads to suit purchasers. Samples and prices mailed on application.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU . . . .

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

are apt to believe everything they hear about new goods. They are told of a new tea that's going to eclipse every other brand ever before put on the market. They stock up with it, expecting great profits. What's the result? Profits fail to show up. They can't induce folks to make a second trial. Their customers soon tire of such stuff, and decide to go elsewhere for their goods, and the grocer quickly decides that it is better to stick to the best, namely,

TOWNS IN MANITOBA AND THEIR MERCHANTS.

From Neepawa your correspondent visited

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE,

which has the distinction of being the oldest town in Manitoba, after Winnipeg. As its name indicates, a long portage had to be made here in navigating the tortuous Assiniboine. It is situated in a farming district, known far and wide as the "Portage Plains." In this district you can ride for miles and miles through wheat fields that have no visible dividing line. Early frosts are unknown, and many large and comfortable farm houses are seen amid groves of trees that were planted by the first settlers, who moved into this district 25 years ago. With so good a farming country to draw from, being only 65 miles west of Winnipeg, on the main line of the C.P.R., and having excellent railway facilities, it is not surprising that Portage la Prairie is a thriving town, with civic affairs on a sound financial basis. Before the C.P.R. ran through, there was considerable dispute as to where the depot would be, and this led to there being an east and west end. The depot was finally located at the east end, and for years there was a spirit of antagonism between the two sections of the town. Happily, now, this is all passing away, owing to the fact that natural enlargement and growth are very rapidly filling up the gap between, and, in a year or two, none but old residents will know that there ever was anything to dispute about. The town is rather too flat to be easily drained, but is still much better off in that respect than Winnipeg. The soil is sandy loam, and there is none of that mud for which the capital of the Province is so infamous. Portage has a good telephone and electric light service, one daily and two weekly papers, and is strictly up-to-date.

A. J. Creighton, tea importer and wholesale merchant, occupies comfortable premises in the west end, and carries on an extensive trade in teas, spices, biscuits, candies, nuts, patent medicines and soaps. It is the boast of this house that every merchant in its line of trade is visited by its travelers every two weeks for a circuit north-west to Saltcoats on the Manitoba Northwestern, and west on the main line to Brandon. This is an enormous territory. "Tiger," a handsome package tea, and "Trilby" soap are the leading lines of the house. Mr. Creighton was absent in the east when your correspondent called, but his manager stated that they had found trade very good throughout the entire year. Fall trade, of course, was somewhat delayed by the bad weather, but as their staples were tea and soap (two things that people must have spite the weather) they had felt the depression less than some others. Mr. Creighton subscribes to THE GROCER and finds it very useful in his business.

Newman's is a handsome and well-appointed retail grocery, carrying a fine stock and doing a very large trade. Mr. Newman also does a considerable business in wheat, having farms of his own on which it is raised, and also buying and selling it. In addition to groceries, provisions are also carried. Mr. Newman reported trade as "not too bad" during the year.

Gilliland, general grocer, makes fancy French potted and bottled goods a speciality. Mr. Gilliland also carries a very choice stock of china and glassware, and when your correspondent called was just closing a large order for china which he is importing direct from France.

The Hudson's Bay Company, of course, carry a heavy stock of groceries and provisions, as is usual at all their posts. They have found business satisfactory throughout the year.

J. & E. Brown do a large grocery business in connection with their departmental store. They have also made a specialty of importing fresh fruit, and it is due to their enterprise that residents of Portage la Prairie now purchase fresh fruit for exactly the same price it sells in Winnipeg. This a boon, as for many years fruit was very dear in the Portage. In reply to the inquiry do you handle it for profit or an attraction? Mr. Brown said, we never handle anything for an attraction unless it pays us a reasonable profit. We find that by importing fruit by the carload we can sell it at the same price as Winnipeg dealers and make a fair profit. Mr. Brown said they found THE CANADIAN GROCER most useful in their business.

About 50 miles west of Portage la Prairie, on the main line of the C.P.R., is a town of about 1,200 inhabitants. The situation for a thriving town could hardly be surpassed, as it occupies the very centre of the great wheat plain, and commands the trade in all directions for a radius of 20 miles. The town is about 14 years old, and was never cursed with what is known as a boom, but has enjoyed the steady and substantial growth natural to the main trading point of a fertile and well-settled farming district. The situation is high rolling prairie, and, as the earliest residents had the wisdom to plant numbers of trees, the little town is very pretty, and has many fine homes, with large and well-kept gardens. Though a magnificent wheat country, the farmers round Carberry have not confined themselves exclusively to the growing of that cereal, but have wisely gone in for fine herds of pure-bred stock. John G. Barron, one of the best-known breeders in the Province, and president of the Pure-Bred Stock Association, has his home on the outskirts of Carberry. The great Boyd horse ranches are also in the immediate vicinity. Like most towns built mainly of wood, Carberry had its fire experience, and a pretty serious one it was, sweeping out almost the entire business portion of the town. This was just about a year ago, and now the burned sites are almost all rebuilt with handsome brick structures on stone foundations. There has been pretty close on to $75,000 of building done in Carberry during the past summer. The C.P.R. has erected a very handsome brick station in the Swiss chalet style. This building is heated with hot water and lighted throughout with acetylene gas. Some of the other buildings erected are: Murphy's block, brick, two stores, 30x80; Smale's block, two stores, 20x50; Aikenhead implement warehouse, 25x90; Kine's block, three stores; Massey-Harris Co.'s new warehouse, galvanized iron on stone foundation; Stewart's two-storey block, 25x70; Stinson & Fetridge, three storey block, 25x70; Walker block, two stores, 25x75; Alex. Robertson, furniture warehouse, three storeys, 30x125. The brick for these buildings was all made in the town, and it is a handsome red brick. Before the fire, Carberry had a good electric light plant and service. This was completely destroyed, and, though steps are being taken to have a new plant installed, many of the new buildings are putting in acetylene gas.

J. Fairly carries one of the largest stocks of groceries in Carberry, and also handles green fruit by the carload, provisions (making creamery butter and eggs a leading line), flour and feed, and, most unique feature of all, a large bakery is run in connection. In this bakery is to be seen the first Muddleby portable tile oven used in the Northwest. Next season, this firm will have large cold storage premises and will go in extensively for the pickling of eggs. Asked as to the bakery run with the grocery, Mr. Fairly said he found it very advantageous. Mr. Fairly is a firm believer in creamery versus dairy butter, and was the only merchant in his district this season who refused to pay more than a fair market value for dairy butter. Readers of THE GROCER will, no doubt, remember that from time to time your correspondent has spoken of the struggle creameries were having on account of merchants paying an unduly high price for dairy butter, thinking in this way to secure extra trade. This matter has reached an acute stage in the Province, and many creameries were obliged to close before the end of the season for want of patronage. It is, therefore, worthy of note that a man doing a very extensive trade in butter states positively that there is no advantage to the merchants, but frequently a dead loss in handling dairy butter. Mr. Fairly carries one of the daintiest stocks of china and glassware possible to imagine. The stock is also admirably arranged to give the best effect.

Kennedy & Co. are grocers doing a good business and occupying very comfortable quarters. Mr. Kennedy said trade had been very good, "but," he added, laughing, "we don't need any more people to do trade here. Just tell the people who read THE GROCER that we have all the firms now doing business that there is business for."

Logan & Co. are a new house just starting in very handsome new quarters. Mr. Logan said: "I don't take THE GROCER. I am just beginning, but I know the paper by repute, and I want it. I want everything that will help me in my business."

BRANDON.

There is no need to describe the "Wheat City" to readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER, as that was done last year.

Burton, Smith & Co. are both wholesale and retail grocers. Your correspondent had a long and pleasant chat with Mr. Smith, who presides over the wholesale and jobbing warehouse. "We make a special feature of package tea," said Mr. Smith. "We have it put up for us, and think that after years of experience we know just what the people of our district want. We carry two lines under our own brand, "Empress," which we have handled for years, and "In-diah," which we are just now introducing. We also have coffee and baking powder under our own label, and in the near future we will have our own brand of spices and essences. And in time we hope to have all the goods we handle under our own label. I am a great believer in trade papers," continued Mr. Smith, "and there is no money I invest with greater pleasure than in renewing my annual subscriptions. We could not keep house without THE CANADIAN GROCER. I always read it, and a department I find specially useful is that containing hints about how to do business and methods that other men have found successful. I know we often get an idea from a single number which is worth more than ten times the cost of the subscription for a year. Trade has been good, and we find business growing. Oddly enough, we have found the wet weather effect our retail business more than our wholesale, though it might be expected to be the reverse."

J. H. Murray & Co. have the honor of being the oldest grocery house in Brandon. In fact, Mr. Murray was one of the first men on the town site, and he has stayed with the job ever since, and found it, on the whole, satisfactory. Tea is the special feature of the house; at the same time a large stock of general groceries, provisions and fruit are carried. Mr. Murray would like to see the inspection law for tea established if the Government can only arrange to have the work done by proper experts. Mr. Murray is of opinion that more trashy tea is coming into Manitoba than the public or the trade generally are aware of, and not only is it bad for the digestion of the consumers of such a doubtful commodity, but it is spoiling the trade in a really good article. George Higginbotham, who has been a resident of Brandon for a number of years, has entered into partnership with Mr. Murray during the past season.

The Strome & White Co. report their grocery department a success during the year.

Mr. Dowler, who has the grocery business formerly carried on by Wilson & Rankin as a department of their store, has no cause of complaint.

Orchard & Co. and Bertrand & Co. report a large and increasing trade in fruit.

From the town of Brandon your correspondent traveled south or south-west to some 80 miles, passing through a fine farming country. Napinka, which is one of our very newest towns, is a brisk and thriving little place. Being a railway divisional point has given it an impetus. There are a large number of elevators at this point. I think I counted seven. Unfortunately arriving after seven in the evening, and being obliged to leave at seven the next morning, I was unable to call upon any of the merchants. Leaving Napinka, on the Deloraine branch of the C.P.R., we traveled due east again, passing Deloraine, Boissevain, Killarney, Crystal City, Pilot Mound and Manitou, at all of which I should like to have stayed, and reached about noon. Morden is now one of the very important towns of the Province. It is situated something over 60 miles from Winnipeg on the western verge of the Mennonite reserve, which lies along the International boundary. In the early days Morden was largely developed by Mennonite trade, but of later years the whole country round has filled up and the trade of the town is general. The land round Morden is especially adapted for wheat growing. This year the crop was very fine indeed, running from 20 to 25 bushels to the acre, and, as their harvest is almost two weeks earlier than other sections, more than half the threshing of the district was done before the rain came.

NAPINKA,

Like Carberry, Morden has had its baptism of fire. Twice in three years has a heavy fire swept through different portions of the town. And after each fire handsome brick and stone buildings have taken the place of those destroyed. One of the finest buildings erected this year is that of The T. T. Thompson Co. A two-storey brick building with a frontage of 72 feet by a depth of 125. Large stone basement. This firm is a new one, and carries, in addition to a heavy stock of general hardware and stoves and large assortment of threshers, buggies and agricultural implements. The building is lighted throughout with acetylene gas.

The grocery business of Morden is carried on in connection with the general stores. Meikle & Coppinger, Carley & Sturber, Tobias & Co., and the "old reliable" The Hudson's Bay Company, all carry large stocks of general groceries, and handle provisions and fruit. Business seemed in all cases to be satisfactory, but no one reported any special feature or leading line.

The impression left upon the mind of your correspondent, after visiting the various sections, was, that the grocery and provision trade of Manitoba is on a safe business basis, and the wholesale merchants of Winnipeg are covering the ground thoroughly and satisfactorily.

INTERESTING BUSINESS CASE.

In the Superior Court, Montreal, on November 4, the following case was heard before Mr. Justice Curran, and judgment rendered thereon :

Colson vs. Hughes, insolvent, and Caverhill, claimant, and Haines, curator, contesting.—The claimant asked to be collocated for a balance of $28,000 on the estate of the insolvent. Haines, the curator, contested the claim. He alleged that it was based upon a fraudulent deed of dissolution of partnership executed between claimant and insolvent in the month of February, 1897. The claimant denied all the allegations of the curator, and claimed that the deed in question was made in good faith; that all the creditors existing at the time of the dissolution of the partnership had been paid, and that subsequent creditors had no right to contest the claim. The court had arrived at the conclusion that the curator had fully established the material allegations of his contestation. The deed in question rendered Hughes insolvent on the date it bore. His subsequent creditors were prejudiced by that deed, and they had a right to have it declared fraudulent. The claimant had failed to meet the proof made by the curator, and the contestation was maintained with costs.

BUYING CANNED GOODS.

A press despatch to The Montreal Gazette from St. John, N.B., says: "A western dealer came to St. John on Wednesday and bought a carload of canned red salmon, paying over $5 per case for them. This has so reduced the stocks of this article here that holders are now asking $5.25 and sales had been made previously at $4.50 to $5 for small lots. It would not cost $5.25 to lay down new stock from the Coast and prices therefore up to-day. The same operator bought a car of corn and tomatoes, paying considerably more for them than dealers here have been asking for small lots. As these goods go west they will leave this market in a much healthier condition, and the price of corn and tomatoes has been marked up a little."

THE ESSEX TOBACCO CROP.

The tobacco growers, of Essex, have passed a resolution not to sell their burley tobacco for less than 12c., or cigar leaf for less than 18c. per lb. Every effort will be made to make this agreement unanimous. Essex will, this year, produce 8,000,000 lb., or 5,000,000 lb. more than the country has previously used. The Canadian Government will be urged to induce Great Britain to give a preference to Canadian tobacco, the duty at present being 76c. per lb. The Government will also be asked to change the Inland Revenue regulations to make the limit of foreign leaf necessary in mixed cigars 5 per cent., whereas now it is 25 per cent. The Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa, will ship several samples of the finer grades, grown in Essex and Kent, to Great Britain, for trial by tobacco manufacturers of that country. If a good export demand can be created, and if Daniel Scotten erects, as it is rumored he intends to, a tobacco factory in Sandwich West, Ont., it is likely that even the large crop of 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 lb., grown this year, will be much increased in successive summers.

MERCHANTS AND THE MILITIA.

THE CANADIAN GROCER would suggest to merchants to keep an eye on the utterances of General Hutton, the new Commander of the Canadian National Army. He recently arrived in this country, and has spoken on military affairs with sense, firmness and discretion. Without quoting his exact words, it is sufficient to mention that he thinks the time has come when the conduct of military affairs should be entirely separated from party politics. The General has not said so, but it is well known that political appointments by wirepulling and favoritism are continually being made and have been made to the permanent military force during the last ten years (not to go any further back). In other ways, the administration of military matters is affected by party considerations. This should cease.

The reason THE CANADIAN GROCER directs the attention of merchants to this subject is that the volunteer militia is nearly always called upon to protect the trade and commerce of the country. Canada is not a warlike community. It maintains its militia force for defensive purposes only. The history of the last 30 years shows this. The Fenian Raids of 1866 and 1870 were menaces against the merchants and trade interests along the border. The militia repelled these attacks of bands of freebooters, who would have pillaged if they had got a chance. Again, in the '90's the strike of railway men at Belleville led to riots, which, but for the calling out of the militia, might have been a more serious disturbance to trade than they proved. This duty was in aid of the civil power, which usually enforces its authority through the municipal police. Again, the Northwest Rebellion of 1885 was a signal example of the usefulness of the militia in restoring order and business conditions over a large tract of country. For these reasons, merchants should loyally support the volunteers, who make great sacrifices in time and money to maintain their regiments, and who only ask that promotions and changes and the awarding of contracts for clothing, etc., should be made on a strictly business basis. In fact, the militia is practically an insurance against disorder and destruction of property by mobs, etc., and is entitled to the moral support of all merchants.

MAJOR-GENERAL HUTTON, the new Commander of the Canadian National Army.

SACRIFICING UNSALABLE GOODS.

FEW retail merchants realize the constantly increasing cost of portions of their stock, which is daily, monthly, and yearly growing in amount because original figures are adhered to for selling prices, regardless of the fact that certain articles, by lack of popularity, or because they have already had their day, are worth less than their first cost, writes C. H. Arnold in Grocery World. The tenacity with which some merchants hang on to old goods year after year, inventorying them at the original cost, instead of present market value, is certainly worthy of a better cause.

An article costing originally $10, taking the value of money at ordinary interest rates, would stand at the end of the second year at about $11, at the end of the fifth year $13, and so on, each succeeding year piling up the cost, in that the money represented has not been earning an interest or a profit elsewhere, and, therefore, it would be charged to the goods. Meanwhile, the goods are diminishing in value, compared with original figures, in a more rapid ratio than their cost is piling up.

Carrying a stock of dead or unsalable goods locks up so much capital in trade that the merchant often finds himself unable to take advantage of the usual cash discounts. This means that goods otherwise costing him $10, less 7 per cent for quick money, or $9.30 net, will stand him $10 net.

Merchants who get into this position are no longer sought after by wholesalers when there are special bargains to be offered, for at such times only strict cash buyers are approached. This frequently means in a given community that the merchant's competitors can sell certain goods and make reasonable profits at prices that represent actual cost to him. Putting the knife into the prices of unsalable goods and getting rid of them is the only way to conduct a successful business. The first loss on unsalable articles is always the smallest loss.

PACKAGES OF FANCY CHINA.

A feature of the chinaware trade this fall is the large demand for assorted packages of fancy china. One of these packages was shown to a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER, while in the warerooms of Gowans, Kent & Co., this week. Each package contains a variety of articles, such as cake plates, shaving mugs, fancy cups, etc.

These packages are specially designed for the use of dealers desiring to commence handling fancy china, and, as they include the most salable articles for presentation purposes, etc., they have naturally "caught on" with the trade and sold in large quantities.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Roddy McCrimmon, who has for some years been in the sample-room of Warren Bros. & Co., Toronto, is, in a few days, leaving for Buffalo, where he will travel for the Salada Tea Co.

VISIT FROM A CALIFORNIA FRUIT MAN.

Mr. W. G. Fraser, Riverside, California, was in Toronto this week. Mr. Fraser is secretary-treasurer of the Arlington Heights Fruit Co., growers and shippers of oranges, lemons and grape fruit. The company has 2,000 acres under cultivation. He said that the crop of oranges and lemons would be about one-fourth to one-third short this season. He expressed the opinion that California lemons would be a factor on the Toronto market this season, as they already are in Winnipeg. The Arlington Heights Co., it may be mentioned, is controlled by English and Scotch capitalists. While Mr. Fraser was in Toronto he called upon the importing trade in company with Mr. W. H. Seyler, the local representative of the Arlington Heights Co. He left for Montreal on Wednesday.

YIELD OF DATES SHORT.

Agents in Montreal were advised this week, that the yield of dates, this year, was only 450,000, against 750,000 last year, and, that owing to this and the fact that Persia was suffering from a partial famine in other crops, that the surplus for export to Western Europe and America would be very materially decreased. Consequently, they predicted very firm prices for the balance of the season.

H. Walker & Son, Guelph, received on Wednesday their direct shipment new Tarragona S.S. almonds, and are prepared to sell at close prices in sack lots.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS HIGHER.

THE prospects are for still higher prices on California raisins this fall, so that jobbers and retailers who were lucky enough to procure sufficient out of the earlier shipments stand to reap the benefits.

Advices this week from Fresno state that the association have advanced prices, subject to change without notice, and to take effect immediately, as follows: Standard loose muscatels, Pacific loose and ungraded loose,  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per pound; seedless muscatels,  $\frac{1}{4}$ c. Pacific ungraded loose remain at 3c.; layers and other varieties without change; prices for export to Canada and Europe remain at September prices, but must be invoiced at present prices and rebate allowed on proof of foreign duty paid. Inventory of all raisins on hand in association packing-houses, taken October 29, shows on hand 784 cars; in growers' hands, not over 300 cars; held outside association, 75 cars; shipped by association to November 5, 1,653 cars; shipped by parties outside association, 150 cars; total crop of 1898,

2,962 cars; average crop, 4,000 cars; shortage, 25 per cent.

The early October shipments received in Montreal of California fruit are almost exhausted, and, naturally, holders are very firm.

CANNED RASPBERRIES SCARCE.

THERE is quite a scarcity of canned raspberries on the Toronto market this season.

For some years wholesalers have been taking less and less interest in canned fruits, and, added to this, the short pack of raspberries this season, owing to the drouth, the stock of this particular kind of fruit is even smaller than usual. Some wholesalers have no canned raspberries at all in stock.

This condition of affairs is now being made manifest, on account of a demand from British Columbia for canned raspberries as well as other canned fruits, difficulty being experienced in securing sufficient to fill orders.

As a result of this, there is a decidedly stronger market for this description of canned fruit.

The houses which seem to be at the moment most directly experiencing the demand on British Columbia account have marked their figures on canned raspberries up to as high as $1.65 per dozen, although there are other houses with whom the idea is $1.35 to $1.45, according to quality.

SHELLED WALNUTS HIGHER.

Shelled walnuts, which have rated firm ever since the beginning of August, gave indications of renewed strength this week in the shape of an advance of 1c. per lb., Montreal jobbers, this week, asking 21 to 22c. for the execution of new orders.

They state that the rise is due to the situation of supplies abroad, where the immediate available supply is practically all controlled by one firm in London, who are demanding full figures.

An illustration of the strength of the market was afforded this week, when a Montreal grocery firm, who had a few hundred bags or so near at hand, were asked from London to quote a price on the nuts before they offered them here. This they refused to do, as they wanted the goods for their own trade.

THE COHOE PACK.

THERE appears to be some difference of opinion as to the pack of coho salmon in British Columbia.

It will be remembered that a press despatch, referred to in the last issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER, placed the pack at 5,000 cases. A letter, however, received in Toronto this week from a well-known canner estimates it at 25,000 cases. But, The Province, Vancouver, under date of November 1, puts the pack at 39,500 cases, publishing the following approximate figures of the respective packs:

|                                        | Cases. |
|----------------------------------------|--------|
| Rithet & Co., Delta, 2 canneries.....  | 15,000 |
| Fishermen's Cannery, Port Guichon..... | 3,000  |
| Hickey & Co., North Arm.....           | 4,500  |
| R. Ward & Co., Imperial Cannery.....   | 3,000  |
| J. H. Todd & Co., Beaver Cannery.....  | 1,000  |
| D. J. Munn, Sea Island.....            | 2,000  |
| British-American.....                  | 9,000  |
| Britannia.....                         | 2,000  |
| Total.....                             | 39,500 |

It appears from private letters just to hand that the run of cohoes improved materially during the last hours of the season, which closed on Oct. 31, with the result that some of the canners state they will be in a slightly better position to fill orders than they had expected. Cohoes were packed by ten canneries.

There is no change in the situation, the market keeping decidedly firm, with no offers to report.

While your eye is on your business, see that it also keeps Right Principles in view.

NEXT YEAR'S MOLASSES CROP.

More recent advices from the West Indies make it clear that the first reports regarding the damage to the sugar cane plantations were somewhat exaggerated, and that, by the date for the next molasses season, matters will be once more in shape.

It is understood that the majority of the plantations which were flattened to the ground have regained their upright position. It has been found that the roots were not injured, as the plants have commenced to assume their natural appearance.

This will be acceptable intelligence to molasses importers, as it shows that the outlook for the coming crop is not as bad as was at first expected.

THE PICKLE INDUSTRY IN CANADA.

DURING the past week or two, pickle manufacture has been the subject of some discussion in the Toronto press. It was introduced by The World, which rightly conceives that the pickle industry in Canada is not all that it might or should be.

The World, in the early stages of the discussion, was evidently possessed of the impression that there was no pickle industry in Toronto, for, in an article which appeared in its issue of November 1, it said :

There are many new industries that might be started in Toronto, if our imports were closely studied with a view to ascertaining the consumption of foreign articles. One such industry is the manufacture of a high-grade of pickles.

And, further on, in the same article, it remarked :

We believe there is a fine business here for the man who has the enterprise to jump in and occupy the field. The pickle industry is only one of a score of others that ought to be located in Toronto.

Of course, everyone in the grocery trade knows there are pickle factories in Toronto. There are some half-a-dozen in all. But, it is quite possible that there might be half-a-thousand and The Toronto World and the world at large know nothing about it, for, with one exception, the pickle manufacturers in the "Queen City" persist in keeping their light under a bushel. The World, when it had discovered that there were pickle factories in its own city, also discovered why they were so little known, for, in its issue of November 4, it declared : "Our pickle manufacturers have made no effort to advertise themselves or their goods, as their foreign rivals have."

The World declares that as good pickles can be made "in Toronto as can be made in any part of the world," and that "we can grow them cheaper here than they can in England." And yet, in face of all this, it suggests that "the Government might help the industry by doubling the present duty."

THE CANADIAN GROCER has always favored a moderate tariff protection to industries which are compatible with the conditions and requirements of the country, but any such rate of duty as The World proposes would be most immoderate.

Seventy per cent. ad valorem! Why, it is simply nonsense! If we can make as "good pickles in Toronto as can be made in any part of the world," and can grow vegetables for pickles "cheaper than they can in Great Britain," surely 35 per cent., the present rate of duty, ought to be ample protection. We never remember hearing any complaints from the pickle manufacturers themselves that it is not. And it has become a well-known axiom in this country that any industry that cannot exist on 35 per cent. protection, ought not to exist at all.

If any change is made in the duty it should rather be toward a lower than a higher rate, with the conditions as they are to-day ; for after years of a high duty the home market is largely supplied by the imported article. In the sample-room of some wholesale houses not a bottle of Canadian pickles is to be seen.

The chief cause, however, of the comparative smallness of the pickle industry in Canada is not due to the duty. It is due to the manufacturers themselves.

Those who are at all enterprising and pushing enough to be entitled to be so classified are the exception ; lack of enterprise and push characterize the majority.

The years that have passed are strewn with the wrecks of defunct pickle manufacturers, while the importations of pickles have continued to increase, notwithstanding the 35 per cent. duty. The following table shows the imports in gallons for the five years ending June 31, 1897 :

|           | In bottles,jars, etc. | In bulk. | In brine. | Totalgals. |
|-----------|---------------------------|----------|-----------|----------------|
| 1893..... | 61,025                    | 733      | 912       | 62,670         |
| 1894..... | 67,428                    | 912      | 1,775     | 70,115         |
| 1895..... | 56,254                    | 11,391   | 254       | 67,899         |
| 1896..... | 70,681                    | 10,896   | 997       | 82,574         |
| 1897..... | 79,307                    | 18,776   | 1,874     | 99,957         |

With the tariff what it is, it is evident, in the face of the above table, that pickle manufacturing is either not an industry compatible to Canada, or that most of the men who are engaged in it are not compatible to the industry. We prefer to take the latter view.

What is wanted, first of all, is that the manufacturers put up first-class pickles in first-class vinegar, instead of poor vegetables in poisonous acetic acid distilled from wood. And, furthermore, they need to put them up in more attractive packages.

Then, with first-class goods, the next thing is to push them. Devise schemes to get the public acquainted with them. Advertise them ; not now and then, but all the year round. The Canadian manufacturers who are advertising are doing so in a perfunctory way, and in a way that cannot possibly bring them anywhere near the same results as the advertising in this country of the foreign manufacturers.

Old established pickle manufacturing firms in Great Britain and the United States, whose very firm names have become synonyms for pickles, are still pushing for business ; are still advertising ; are still devising schemes. And it is certain that if they do these things, it is certainly necessary for the manufacturers in Canada to do so.

There is trouble in store for those who run against the business law, as well as for those who run counter of the natural law.

THE SMYRNA FIG CROP OF 1898.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has several times during the past two weeks had occasion to refer to the extraordinary smallness of the Smyrna fig crop. What has been previously stated was not at all an exaggeration, as is proved by the receipt at this office of a copy of the fig crop report of 1898, kindly forwarded by Antoine Solari, of Smyrna. The report is as follows :

FIG CROP, SEASON 1898.

It will be seen that the decrease in the crop, compared with last year, is 82 per cent. A load, it might be stated, weighs about four cwt.

Keep up your energy, if you would not let your business down.

PATRONIZING PECULIAR SCHEMES

MOST people are more easily persuaded to patronize schemes which are questionable than those which are commendable. It may be because of the liberal quantity of sugar with which they appear to be coated. But, whatever the cause, people, and business men among them, are being continuously victimized.

There is a paper published in New York, by the name of The American Journal of Health, which has constituted itself an authority on foods. And so solicitous is it that publicity should be given to commendable articles of food, that it writes unsolicited, lengthy editorials, each editorial to be the leader in the issue in which it appears. But, in order that there shall be no mistake—for the editorials are not always, at any rate, written before the goods are inspected—the manuscript is submitted to the manufacturers of the particular product with which it deals. It asks nothing, either by the line or the inch, for the publication of the editorial, which is conceived in the love-for-pure-food spirit and penned with the motive of benefiting humanity. But, lest its generosity should defeat the object it has in view, it stipulates that, in case the article should be accepted—by the manufacturer, of course—an order for a minimum number of copies of this celebrated health journal, at the stipulated market price, shall accompany the letter of acceptance.

Of course, no manufacturer or merchant who has been thus generously treated would think of being ungenerous in return, even though the market price of this celebrated journal of health is high. Although, by-the-way, we do hear of some who, actually, were ungenerous enough to refuse the editor's offer.

Some of the manufacturers whose products have been editorially treated by this celebrated health journal are Canadians.

Of course, this health journal is not published in Canada. But what of that? Aren't the manufacturers whose products are being treated editorially by a scientific pen, getting something for nothing, even if the paper is published in a foreign country, and circulated in a foreign country? Dollars spent in buying a few copies of the paper, of course, no generous man would think of counting as money expended.

People should not look at things like this from too mercenary a standpoint. Neither should they be of too analytical turn of mind. People who have got behind the scenes in regard to The American Journal of Health's editorial policy may nudge their fellows and cry, "Ah, ah, Blank's caught." That is the way of the world, and these railleurs will be caught some other way. As long as the goods are right, what should it matter if they are written up in ways that are most peculiar?

NOVEMBER 9 FOR THANKSGIVING.

A SUBSCRIBER, who does not desire his name published, writes suggesting that November 9, the birthday of the Prince of Wales, be made a permanent Thanksgiving Day.

The suggestion is, we think, the best that has been yet made.

It would make the holiday two weeks earlier than at present, and be at a time when fair weather might be fairly expected.

Then, there is the utilitarian side of the proposition. In the natural order of things, it will be only a few years hence before the British throne will be occupied by the present Prince of Wales, whose birthday, November 9, will certainly become a public holiday. Whether, therefore, Thanksgiving Day be held at the end of October or of November, it would mean another holiday in about two weeks, with the Christmas and New Year's holidays closely following.

By fixing Thanksgiving Day for November 9 this would be avoided, while increased interest would be given to the two features which called the holiday into existence.

We think this proposition will meet with the approval of the business men of the country.

HEAVY SHIPMENTS FROM DENIA.

According to advices from abroad France has been a much heavier purchaser of Valencia raisins this year than usual, and had it not been for this extra demand values would have ruled much lower, as the exports from Denia were heavier.

In this connection it is asserted that the exports up to about 10 days ago from the Great Spanish raisin port were 417,565 quintals, against 362,714 for the same time in 1897.

Only about 100,000 quintals are now left in Denia. France, however, took 50,000 quintals this year, against 6,000 last year, so that increase in exports was equalized and values not very materially affected by the increased output. Demand at present in Denia is reported as dull, but the market is described as firm.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 10, 1898.
GROCERIES.

A GOOD fall trade has been done by the wholesale houses, and business is still keeping up well. Naturally, there is not a great deal doing in canned goods at this time of the year, but prices are being well maintained, while corn is quoted firmer. Canned raspberries are also a little firmer, on account of a demand from British Columbia. The position of canned salmon is as strong as ever. An improvement in the demand for coffees is to be noted. A fairly good business is reported in both syrups and molasses. Sugars continue quiet, although they are probably no more so than is usual at this time of the year. The sugar market rules firm. Business, if anything, has been slightly better in rice during the past week or two. The most interesting feature in regard to nuts is a cable from France announcing that no Marbot walnuts will probably be shipped to Canada this season, owing to the damaged condition of the crop. Quite a little business has been done in Indian and Ceylon teas on spot during the past week, owing to their favorable prices compared with those ruling on the London, England, market. Wholesalers are experiencing a fair trade in teas. Foreign dried fruits are receiving fair attention.

CANNED GOODS.

As will be noted in our editorial columns, the pack of cohoes on the Coast is placed, by a British Columbia paper, at 39,500 cases, while a letter from a canner estimates it at 25,000 cases. We hear of no further transactions in cohoes, but the market appears to be as firm as ever, the canners putting up the largest quantities reporting that they have sold their total pack. Locally, prices are firm in regard to all kinds of canned salmon, but there is not much business being done.

Canned vegetables remain in much the same position as before. There is not much business being done, which, of course, is to be expected at this time of the year. The ruling price for tomatoes is still 85c. per doz., although at least one brand is being held at 95c. We hear of nothing being held by packers at less than 85c., the lots offering a week or two ago at 80c. having evidently been picked up. Corn is still decidedly firm, the price now being asked by wholesalers ranging from 90c. to $1 as a rule.

People are unconcerned about peas, and the wholesale price ranges from 70c. up, although there are not many houses quoting as low as the figure named.

Canned fruits are in demand on British Columbia account, and some difficulty is being experienced in supplying requirements in raspberries, which are now quoted as high as $1.65 by some wholesalers; $1.35 to $1.45 is, however, the ruling figure.

COFFEES.

There is a little better inquiry this week for Mocha and Ceylon coffees of the higher grades for importation. Wholesalers report a better demand for Rio coffees at from 7½c. per lb. upward. Cable advices from Brazil report the market firm on expected light receipts.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrups are still scarce. The dark descriptions are practically not to be had. The demand for syrups is good. The demand

*See pages 29 and 30 for
Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

for molasses is increasing, and wholesale quotations rank from 25 to 40c. per gallon, according to quality. In New York the market is a shade easier for New Orleans molasses, on account of increased receipts.

SUGARS.

The sugar market has been firm during the past week. Last week raws advanced 1-16c. per lb. in New York, and the cable on Tuesday reported the market firm in London, with beet sugar ¾d. dearer. In New York, the refiners have renewed their guarantee against lower prices for 30 to 60 days on large lots, but, with the Doscher independent refinery in operation, there is naturally an unsettled feeling in regard to refined sugar, notwithstanding the firmness of the raw article.

In Canada, the price of sugar is unchanged, the wholesale figure for standard granulated still being $4.58 Toronto and $4.40 Montreal. A fair trade is being done, although no large lots are wanted. The refineries are also doing a fair trade for this time of the year, although this does not mean a great deal.

NUTS.

It is probable there will be no Marbot walnuts on the Canadian market this season. The rain has damaged the crop to such an extent that cable advices say no shipments will be made to Canada this season. A cable received in Toronto this week notes an advance of 1c. per pound in the price of Valencia shelled almonds.

TEAS.

While there is very little being done in Indian and Ceylon teas for import, yet quite a nice business has been done in consigned teas on spot of these descriptions, the prices at which they are offering being lower than the figures ruling on the London, Eng., market. This condition of affairs has not been pleasing to those who have been trying to sell teas for import. Agents for shipping-houses report that there is little or nothing doing in Japan teas, although the market keeps steady as to price. Mail advices from London, Eng., under date of Oct. 27, stated, in regard to the market for Ceylon descriptions, that teas suitable for the home and export trades were wanted and sold with a hardening tendency.

Wholesalers report trade fairly good in teas and rather better than a week or two ago.

SPICES.

A little better inquiry in a sorting-up way is being experienced for import. Prices are in much about the same position as before.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

There is not a great deal being done in rice, although business is a great deal better than it was a week or two ago. In tapioca, scarcely anything is being done, the easy feeling in regard to prices causing people to defer purchasing.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—A cable received in Toronto on Tuesday from Patras noted a slight decline in prices, bringing figures down to the lowest point of the season. A letter, however, received from Patras, under date of Oct. 22, said: "The market is very firm, indeed, and we see no reason to suppose that we shall have any decline this side of Christmas, as the consumption seems to be very large everywhere." Local wholesalers report a good business, with the demand running largely on the cleaned fruit, which only cost ½c. per lb. more than the uncleaned.

VALENCIA RAISINS—A letter from Denia, Spain, under date of October 24, said: "The export of Valencia raisins to date are 446,305 quintals, against 395,000 the same date last year. There remain in the country about 100,000 quintals of all grades." The same letter quoted prices which indicated that the market was well sustained. Toronto wholesalers report the demand improving, and they quote as follows, according to quality: Off-stalk,  $4\frac{1}{4}$  to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; fine off-stalk,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to 5c.; selected,  $5\frac{1}{4}$  to  $5\frac{3}{4}$ c.; layers,  $5\frac{3}{4}$  to  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS—Prices have been again advanced by the association in California, but there is no change as far as Canada is concerned, and there has been some business done during the past week for importation at the old figure. The slow way in which shipments of California raisins have been coming forward this season has been disappointing to Canadian buyers, and has caused much inconvenience. In some instances, merchants who gave orders for shipment second half of September have not yet received a package. The few that are on the market are being quoted at  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. for 3-crown and  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 4-crown;  $2\frac{1}{2}$ -lb. carton boxes are being quoted at \$5 per doz.

FIGS—There is very little doing, the high price curtailing the demand. Prices run all the way from 17 to 18c. for 1-crown, to 25 to 28c. for 7-crown Eleme figs. Tapnets are quoted at from 4 to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb., and naturals at 7 to  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. Stocks in Smyrna are exhausted, and no more figs will be brought to the Canadian market. Goods which have been brought here could easily have been sold in New York or Chicago at an advance.

PRUNES—There has been some enquiry and some business done in California prunes for importation at old prices.

CANDIED PEELS—A demand is beginning to set in. The ruling quotations are: Lemon,  $10\frac{1}{2}$  to 13c.; orange, 11 to 14c.; citron, 16 to 19c.

GREEN FRUITS.

There has been quite a scarcity of lemons on the market here, but a large shipment of new Messinas arrived on Wednesday. These are quoted at from $4.50 to $5 per box. The demand is excellent. Oranges are also in good demand, and though the supply is liberal, an advance of 50c. per bbl. is noted for Jamaicas, the only kind now offering. Cranberries have risen in price, as we anticipated last week, 50c. to $1, now being quoted at $8.50 to $9. Spanish onions are somewhat easier, a decline of 5 to 10c. being noted. Tomatoes are done, red peppers are scarce, but nominally 20 to 25c. Other fruits, bananas, apples, Malaga grapes, sweet potatoes, are moving steadily at unchanged figures.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The feeling regarding dairy butter is weak, resulting in a decline of 1c. for all grades. Creamery is quiet, with prints 1c. cheaper. Tubs are easy, but no change is noted. We quote at outside points: Dairy tubs, 13c.; prints, 13 to 14c.; large rolls, 13c.; creamery prints, 17 to 18c.; tubs and boxes, 17 to  $17\frac{1}{2}$ c.

CHEESE—The market is steady, with an upward tendency. Prices received at cheese boards are about the same as last week. The jobbing price for late makes is  $\frac{1}{4}$ c. higher. We quote: 8 to  $8\frac{3}{4}$ c. for early makes, and 9 to  $9\frac{1}{4}$ c. for late makes.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—A good business is being done. The demand is rather greater than the supply of strictly-fresh stock, and an advance of 1c. has ensued. Strictly-fresh are now quoted at 18 to 19c., but as high as 20c. is frequently paid for choice small lots. Held-fresh and cold-stored stock are quiet at about  $14\frac{1}{2}$  to  $15\frac{1}{2}$ c. Limed sell freely at  $14\frac{1}{2}$  to 16c. From 14 to 15c. is paid at outside points, for cases.

POTATOES—The market is steady at 55c. for car lots, and 60 to 65c. for small lots, on the market.

POULTRY—The market is irregular. Both the receipts and the demand vary from day to day. Prices are comparatively steady, though turkeys have declined 1c., and geese,  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. Chickens are 5c., and ducks, 10c. cheaper. It is not likely that further reductions will ensue. Wild ducks are arriving in moderate numbers, and are steady at unchanged prices, which range from 20 to 25c. for teals and widgons to 60 to 75c. for black ducks and mallards.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The inquiry for evaporated apples is moderate, attention being largely directed just now to winter apples. Prices are firm and unchanged. Car lots are worth about 7c. f.o.b. at country points. From 8 to  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c. is quoted in a jobbing way. There is a brisk demand for dried apples, which seem to be scarce. From 4 to 4½c. is being paid at country points for No. 1 stock. Common stock is worth about 3½c. The jobbing price is steady at 4 to 5c.

BEANS—A good demand for hand-picked is noted at $1 to $1.10. Common stock is in moderate demand at 80 to 90c.

VEGETABLES—Business is considerably reduced in volume. Lettuce, carrots, red cabbage and egg plant have all declined 5 to 10c. in price. Cauliflower is 25 to 50c. cheaper. Parsnips are now coming in freely, and are quoted at 10c. per peck. Green beans are done. We quote as follows: Cauliflower, 75 to $1 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, per doz; 40 to 60c.; parsley, 10 to 15c. per doz. bunches; beets, 10c. per peck; parsnips, 10c. per peck; carrots, 10c. per peck; onions, Danvers, 75 to 90c. per bag; vegetable marrow, $1 to $1.25; butter squash, $1 to $1.50; pumpkins, 65c. to 75c.; Hubbard squash, $1.50 to $2; red cabbage, 40 to 50c.; egg plant, 50 to 90c. per basket.

PROVISIONS.

The market situation is, throughout, steady and unchanged. Receipts of dressed hogs are large. Though the pack of all meats is large, the demand is brisk enough to keep stocks well cleaned up.

FISH.

No change is noted. Prices are steady. We quote: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh white-fish, 7½c.; steak trout, 7c. lb.; fresh perch, 3½c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.25 per bbl. and $3 per

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Wheat prices have remained steady this week, except in the case of goose wheat, which has fallen from the exceptional value noted last week to a price 1 to 2c. below that of red and white wheat. On cars outside 69 to 70c. is paid for both the latter. The street market has been moderately active. We quote: Wheat, white, 72 to 73c.; red, 72½ to 73½c.; goose, 71c.; peas, 67c.; oats, 31 to 31½c.; barley, 54 to 55½c.; rye, 48½c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat has declined 2c., and is now quoted at 81c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—There is no change. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.30; Manitoba strong bakers', $4; Ontario patents, $4.10 to $4.20; straight roller, $3.35 to $3.45, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—No change is noted. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.70 in bags and $3.70 to $3.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.75; pot barley, $3.75.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The anticipated decline in prices here in sympathy with the reduction in other markets has not yet taken place, but the market is still weak. We quote: No. 1, 8½c.; No. 2, 7½c.; No. 3, 6½c.; cured, 9c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Shearlings and lambskins are firm at 75 to 80c.

WOOL—There is still little doing. Prices are steady at 15c. for fleece, and 10c. for unwashed.

SEEDS.

Deliveries of alsike are slackening off. It is thought that most of this year's crop has been marketed. Fewer orders from abroad are noted. The feeling is somewhat easier, dealers not manifesting a desire to buy unless at a basis of about 25c. cheaper than a week ago. The price now ranges from $2.75 to $4.25. The wet weather has somewhat retarded the harvesting of red clover, and deliveries are not large. From $3 to $3.75 is paid for last year's crop, and from $3.50 to $4.25 for this year's crop.

SALT

Prices are unchanged. Trade is brisk. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 54c.

MARKET NOTES.

Eggs are 1c. dearer.

Butter has declined 1c. per lb.

Spanish onions are 5 to 10c. cheaper.

Cheese is ¼ to ½c. dearer than a week ago.

Cranberries have advanced 50c. to $1 per barrel.

New Messina lemons are in at $4.50 to $5 per box.

Valencia shelled almonds are cabled 1c. per lb. dearer.

A cable received in Toronto on Tuesday noted a slight decline in currants in Greece.

Chickens have declined 5c., and ducks, 10c., per pair; geese, ½c., and turkeys, 1c., per lb.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. state that they are doing such a large trade in butter and eggs that they are able to make unusually prompt returns for consignments.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co., desire to secure large quantities of dried apples. They have also a large special order for honey, and would like to hear from holders.

W. B. Bayley & Co., commission merchants, 46 Front street east, Toronto, have secured the warehouse at the south-west corner of Front and Church streets, and expect to move into it in about a month.

A cable from E. M. Dadelszel & Co., Bordeaux, France, states that there will be no Marbot walnuts shipped to Canada this season. A cable from J. S. Todd & Co., of the same city, advises that the crop of Marbots has been much damaged by rain, and recommends the purchase of Bordeaux walnuts.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 10, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been a fairly satisfactory volume of trade in general groceries during the week, and no very striking changes are to report, except a rather sharp advance in shelled walnuts of 1c. per lb. Molasses is firm, and holders are refusing to fill orders, except at a sharp advance. California raisins point higher for fresh importations, owing to the situation on the Coast, referred to elsewhere. Dates are reported a short crop, and are accordingly firm. Canned goods, tea, coffee, green fruit, etc., furnish no change. Country produce is firm, and cheese is higher, the only weakness in this respect being in butter, which is again lower this week.

SUGAR.

Outside advices on sugar have been quite firm during the week, especially on beet, which has advanced quite sharply in London, being ¾d. higher than it was a week ago, at 9s. 9d. for November and 9s. 9¾d. for December delivery. Demand is reported active, and the market firm at the advance. Cane was firm in London, with Java quoted 3d. higher, at 12s. 3d., and fair refining unchanged at 10s. 9d. Raw sugar in New York is firm and held higher; fair refining, 3 13-16c.; centrifugal, 96 test, 4 5-16c., and molasses sugar, 3 9-16c. Refined is also firm in that market, and the same can be said of the local situation, there being a fair movement of refined at the prices quoted in our prices current.

SYRUPS.

There is little to report in this line, and prices continue largely nominal.

MOLASSES.

Inquiry for round lots of Barbadoes molasses has been quite keen, showing that jobbers are in want of stock, and now, holders are asking 30c., bids of 29c. for round lots having been refused. Stocks are the smallest known for years, and this difference between buyers' and sellers' views restricts business. In a jobbing way prices are firmly held, as quoted in our prices current.

DRIED FRUIT.

Business in Valencia raisins for importation, despite low offers referred to last week, has been nil. The ss. Bellona has arrived in port this week, and fruit re this ship is selling for forward delivery at unchanged prices, the range being from 4¼ to 6½c., according to quality and description of the fruit.

The first shipments of California raisins received here are now almost exhausted, and jobbers state that it will cost more money to lay down fresh supplies than the first receipts. At present, prices range on 2 to 4-crown loose muscatels at 5½ to 7½c., according to grade, with London layers firm at $1.50 per box, and clusters all the way from $1.85 to $4.25 per box, according to brand.

Sultana raisins are steady, with a fair inquiry, at 10½ to 12½c., according to grade.

There is a fair enquiry for California prunes at quotations, and European sorts are firmly held for forward delivery.

There is no change in currants. Arrivals of superior grade Vostizzas are noted, which sell as high as 6½c. per lb. Other sorts are unchanged.

Dates are firm abroad, late advices confirming reports of a very short crop. On spot, old dates have sold at 5 to 6c. per lb.

Figs are steady, and a fair trade has been done in 10-lb. boxes, at a range of 15 to 20c., according to grade.

NUTS.

The chief feature in nuts has been the advance in shelled walnuts, which exhibit continued strength, prices this week being marked up from 21 to 22c. Grenoble and Marbot walnuts are firm, and Sicily filberts are the same way.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been little change in canned vegetables or fruit during the past week, prices ruling steady, while demand from retailers has been fairly active. Canned salmon are as firm as ever, and prices are held all round.

TEA.

No special activity has been noted in tea, although there is the usual quality of business in progress to meet current wants. Late cables from Japan note an advance in low-grade teas, but there are no indications of any response here. Reports from the west state that the member of a Japan tea firm has been placing orders there for some large lines at less than holders here would accept. Blacks meet a fair enquiry, and they are scarce, while round lots of Ceylon have changed hands at 16c.

COFFEE.

Coffee exhibits a quiet, but steady feeling, sales in Maracaibo beans in straight invoice lots being noted at 9¼ to 10c.; broken lots would necessitate more money. Santos and Rios have changed hands at 7½ to 8c., also for the green bean in straight lots.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market has ruled fairly steady during the past week. The last lots of Valencia oranges were cleared up this week and our quotations are withdrawn. Jamaica oranges are steady to firmer at $6 to $7 per bbl. Cranberries are firmly held. Malaga grapes are selling freely at quotations, and there is no change in other lines.

APPLES.

There is an active trade in apples, and fine winter fruit are firmly held this week at $3 to $4 per bbl. Fall fruit are a decreasing stock.

FISH.

As the season advances, the demand for all kinds of fish improves, and dealers state that a fair trade is doing in a jobbing way. A feature of the market during the week has been a much stronger feeling in green cod, owing to the scarcity, and prices have scored an advance of 50 to 75c. per barrel. There has also been a sharp advance in the price of mackerel. We quote jobbing prices as follows: No. 1 Labrador herrings, $4.75 to $5 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S. do., $4.25 to $4.50; N.B. in half-bbls., $2.25; No. 3 mackerel, $15; No. 1 green cod, $4.50 to $5; No. 2, $3.50; B.C. salmon, $13 per bbl. and $7 per ½-bbl.

The stock of prepared fish is light, for which the demand is fair, and prices are steady. We quote: Pure boneless codfish, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; dressed or skinless codfish, 4¼c.; soft cured, 3¼c.; dried, $4 per 112 lb.; boneless fish, 3 to 3½c.

The stocks of fresh fish are light, especially western, and prices, in consequence, have been maintained under a far demand. We quote: Haddock, 3¼c.; Manitoba dore and whitefish, 6½c.; pike, 5½c., and B.C. salmon, 13½c. per lb.

There have been large arrivals of smoked fish, of which the quality is only ordinary, and prices for some lines are lower. We quote: Haddies, 6 to 7c.; kippered herrings, $1.35 to $1.50 per box; smoked herrings, 10 to 12c., and Yarmouth and bay bloaters, 90c. to $1.

The market is well supplied with ordinary grades of shell oysters, for which the demand has only been limited on account of the weather. Choice selected malpeques are selling at $6, and common to good at $3.50 to $4.50 per barrel.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand for eggs was fair and the market is moderately active and firm. Receipts of strictly new laid are very small, and buyers, in some cases, find it difficult to fill their wants. We quote: Strictly new laid, 21 to 21½c.; No. 1 candled, 15 to 16c.; No. 2 do., 12 to 13c.; Montreal limed, 14 to 14½c., and culls, 9c. per dozen. Receipts, 2,538 cases.

POULTRY—The receipts of poultry to-day were fair, and, as the indications are for colder weather, they will likely increase in the near future. There is an active demand at present in the country from export buyers for all the choice stock offering. Trade here to-day was fair and prices show no change. We quote: Turkeys, 8½ to 9½c.; chickens, 6½ to 7½c.; ducks, 7 to 7½c., and geese, 5½ to 6½c. per lb.

GAME—There continues to be a steady demand for partridge, and all the offerings meet with a ready sale at 50 to 55c. for firsts, and at 35 to 40c. for seconds, per brace.

BEANS—The market for beans was without any new feature. We quote: Choice hand-picked, 95c. to $1 a bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—There is little or no demand for honey, as buyers have ample supplies on hand. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 7 to 7½c.; dark, 5½ to 6½c.; white extracted, 6 to 6½c.; and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Is dull and featureless, as usual at this season. We quote as follows: Syrup, in wood, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; in tins, 45 to 55c., according to size. Sugar, 6 to 6¼c. per lb.

POTATOES—The market for potatoes is fairly active and steady, there being a good demand for all choice stock, and sales were made at 50c. per bag in car lots. Receipts of inferior to common stock are fair, which meet with a slow sale at 40 to 45c. per bag ex cars.

DRIED APPLES—These are very scarce at present, and jobbers, this week, refused bids of 4½c. to clear out the entire stock of dried they have on hand, demanding 5c., while evaporated are held firm at 8c.

PROVISIONS.

A steady trade in a jobbing way continues to be done in provisions, and the market is moderately active. We quote: Canadian pork, in barrels, $16 to $16.50; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8¼ to 8½c. per lb., and compound refined at 5 to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 10½c. to 13c.; and bacon, 10 to 13c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

There was very little doing in grain on spot, and the market in consequence was quiet. Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat was offered at 71c. afloat Fort William, and Ontario red was selling west at 67 to 68c.

The market for peas was weaker, and prices are fully 1c. per bushel lower, with buyers bidding 67c. and holders asking 68c. afloat.

A stronger feeling prevailed for buckwheat, and prices advanced ½c. per bushel with sales at 50½c. afloat.

There was no change in oats, and business in them was slow at 30½c. afloat.

In flour, trade continues fairly active, and prices rule firm. There has been some demand from foreign buyers, and The Lake of the Woods Milling Co. placed 1,000 sacks on London and 500 on Dublin account. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4.00 to $4.25; straight rollers, $3.75 to $3.85; in bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba patents, $4.70 to $4.80; strong bakers', best, $4.20 to $4.40.

There continues to be a good demand for feed, and millers, in some cases, are heavily oversold. Prices rule firm. We quote: Manitoba bran, $12; shorts, $14. and moullie, $16 per ton, including bags.

The tone of the meal market is firm under a good demand for rolled oats at $3.60 per barrel and at $1.75 per bag.

A fairly active trade was done in baled hay, and the market was steady, with no change in prices to note. We quote: No. 1 at $6.50 to $7.50; No. 2 extra, $5 to $6; No. 2 and clover mixture, $4.50 to $5, and clover, $4.

CHEESE.

Cheese retains its firm feeling, and the balance of the fall make is being rapidly taken out of factorymen's hands at from 8½¢ upward to 9¢, according to the section. At the wharf, the other day, 2,500 boxes were offered, and all sold at 8½¢ to 8¾¢, an advance of ¼¢. on last Monday's ruling. We quote: Finest Ontario fall cheese, 9½¢ to 9¾¢; finest eastern fall cheese, 8½¢ to 9¢; French fall cheese, 8¾¢ to 8½¢; Liverpool cable, 42s. to 44s.

BUTTER.

Butter continues dull and dragging, with no new features to report. Prices are easy, 18c. now being an extreme figure for finest creamery. Receipts were 1,401 packages. We quote: Extra finest creamery, boxes, 17½¢ to 18c.; extra finest creamery, tubs, 17½¢ to 17¾¢; ordinary finest creamery, boxes, 17½¢ to 17¾¢; ordinary finest creamery, tubs, 17c.; western dairy, tubs, 14½¢ to 14¾¢.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cheese has advanced ¼¢. per lb. for export trading on last week's basis.

Shelled walnuts were marked up 1c. per lb. this week and are stiff at the rise.

Creamery butter is ½¢ to ¾¢. lower than it was last week, and dull at the decline.

Advices to hand state that the crop of dates this year is only 450,000 against 750,000 last season.

Almost all the first arrivals of California raisins are now exhausted and fresh importations will cost more money.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 8, 1898.

BUSINESS continues good, and the market is in a satisfactory condition in nearly all lines. In very many lines dealers are caught somewhat short. But this is not altogether an evil; in fact, it very much helps in sustaining prices. Large quantities of country produce are being brought to the city from up river, and that part of the city where the river boats land is a particularly busy one. American pickles seem to be coming into more general use in our city, even in the face of the heavy duty. These goods are imported in both bulk and in glass. The former is largely a sweet pickle, and the latter chiefly fancy goods. In canned goods, both baked beans in tomato sauce and soups are chiefly American.

OIL—The chief interest continues to centre around burning oil, shipments of which continue very large. Prices show no change, but are easy. Turpentine has again advanced, which makes the price very high. Cod oil continues to arrive quite freely. The quality is but fair. There is light sale and prices are lower.

SALT—This line is still a quiet one. Fair stocks of Liverpool coarse salt are held here, and the present sale is small. Prices continue low. No further arrivals are looked for till the direct steamers begin to run about the last of the month, when there will be regular shipments received. In factory-filled, the market is even more quiet. Canadian is largely supplying the demand. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to

CANNED GOODS—New goods continue to arrive, the chief receipts this week being salmon. Quite a few are to hand. In this line prices are higher and are firmly held. A car was sold this week to go west, a very unusual occurrence. There was also a car of vegetables sold on western account, which tends to strengthen the position. In the latter our dealers are quite well supplied. Baked beans are low. It is a line in which there is considerable competition. Peaches, which are held higher west, are in fair supply here. New oysters are quoted, and prices are same as last year.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples are easy, owing to quite free arrivals. Winter fruit is beginning to be received. Reports from Nova Scotia are for a larger yield than was expected. Exports are very large, and returns are quite satisfactory. Oranges have fair sale. The best trade call for Jamaicas, which are firmly held. Lemons show but fair business. In Canadian grapes, prices are about as last week. Season is getting late, and best grades tend higher. Californian Tokays are quite freely received, and are very fine. Malagas, as yet, have a light sale. Cranberries are higher. In the American market, Cape Cods have experienced advances upward of $1 per bbl., and natives are scarce.

DRIED FRUIT—New California raisins in all grades are to hand. Quality is satisfactory. The seeded have been received in much larger quantities than ever before. Valencias continue to come to hand and have a fair sale. Layers are much more largely imported than ever. New figs were received this week; also sultana raisins. In the latter the demand here is light, and the former are so high it affects the sale. Stocks are small. All peels are now on the market, and the trade is ready to supply holiday demand for all lines. There has been an active enquiry for evaporated apples. Dealers are surprised at the advance in the price; in fact, best stock seems hard to get. Dried are dull, though there is a light sale at present. This week saw quite free arrivals of onions. The market is firm. There is quite a range in quality.

SUGARS—Show little change in value. Quite a little foreign arrived via the last Liverpool boat to Halifax; enough to make competition. A little American has arrived and does not seem, at least, as yet, a factor.

MOLASSES—Quite a little Porto Rico has arrived during the week from Halifax, a little from Yarmouth, and some from Boston. Some splendid values are offered from the last named point. Stock here is not large, and values are firmly held. It is said a small cargo is about due from Porto Rico. Barbadoes is in light supply. In New Orleans, last importations were not satisfactory, and present prices for best grade are too high for business. Syrups, of which there are very small stock, are higher. Prices are, however, still low.

PRODUCE—Butter is still very satisfactory. There is a good demand for best stock, but this is hard to get, and the lower grades work off very slowly. Prices are still too low even for best stock. Eggs are in demand, and prices tend higher. Receipts are light. Cheese in local market is dull. Factories are quite well sold up for export.

FISH—There is fair business. Receipts of dry fish are light, and prices show no change, values being quite high. In pickled fish, receipts are still below the demand. Prices keep high; little change expected. Large fish are particularly light stock. Smoked move freely at rather firmer figures, but the price keeps low. Finnan haddies are somewhat scarce and firmly held. There is a good demand for bloaters and kippers, at even prices. Shad are low. We quote: Large cod, $3.35 to $3.45; medium, $3.30 to $3.35; pollock, $1.30 to $1.35; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.75 to $1.90 ½-bbl.; Canso, pickled, $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; spring shad, $4 ½-bbl.; fall do., $5; ½-bbl.; alewives, $3 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1; bloaters, 60c.

PROVISIONS—Local curers begin to offer new mess pork, and as far as they have stock, supply the market. Clear pork has limited sale. In beef, there is also but light business reported. Smoked meats are supplied direct to the retail trade. Wholesale grocers do very little in it. Lard is low, with still quite a range in packers' prices.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Stocks of flour, particularly Manitoba, are light, but quite a quantity has been bought to arrive. Prices in all grades well maintained. Many millers are oversold, and will not quote. Oats and oatmeal are tending higher. Dealers are quite well supplied with the latter. Beans have been a matter of interest, and at $1 delivered for hand-picked wholesale men are buyers, but holders west incline to higher figures, and local merchants are slow to advance bids. Barley and split peas are light stock; prices high, and tending upward. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.85 to $5; best Ontario, $4 to $4.25; medium, $3.75 to $3.95; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.85; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $18 to $19; bran, $16 to $17; oats, 36 to 38c.; hand-picked beans, $1.10 to $1.20; prime, 95 to $1; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.60 to $3.75; hay, $7 to $8; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The low price of hay is having one good effect: it is leading farmers to keep more cattle.

Lunenburg, N.S., has 70 schooners in the fishing business. The summer catch averaged 1,200 quintals per vessel.

Potatoes are being freely shipped to the West Indies. W. H. Chase cleared a cargo of 1,700 bls. this week for Havana.

Geo. Mann, Montreal, manager of the Salada Tea Co., was in St. John during the past week. From here Mr. Mann went to Boston.

Customs receipts for October, 1898, were $62,695.45, being nearly $4,000 less than the same month of 1897, when they were $66,432.67.

Deposits were again much below the withdrawals at the savings bank during the past month, amounting to $59,800, while the withdrawals were $80,140.

A. W. Adams has taken over the warehouse and forwarding business of Chas. De-Bury. His warehouse, No. 13, north wharf, is splendidly situated for warehouse purposes.

Wm. Smith, with Bowman & Angevine, received the prize of $10, given by The Pure Gold Mfg. Co. for the largest number of their coupons collected during the past month.

THE GROCER extends congratulations to J. C. Newson, formerly of Crapaud, P.E.I., but now of Holt & Newson, Boston, lately elected president of the Eclipse Oil Co., Wheeling.

The Bank of Nova Scotia have opened a branch at Winnipeg. G. A. Kennedy, of Yarmouth, is manager. Mr. Kennedy is succeeded in Yarmouth by A. H. Rowley, of Marysville, N.B.

Coming events cast their shadows before. Smelts are even now quite plentiful at Richibucto. Boys catch them with hooks. They bring 3c. per lb. for shipment to the United States market.

The first steamer of The Manhattan Steamship Co. to leave for St. John, from New York, leaves on November 9, and, returning, leaves St. John on November 14. It is the intention to make weekly sailings. These steamers will call at Eastport.

The ss. Winnipeg, on her first direct trip from Liverpool to Charlottetown, had quite a cargo, including 1,000 sacks of coarsesalt, 500 kegs soda, 1,000 packages liquor, 100 barrels grapes, 500 boxes pipes, 1,000 boxes tinplate, etc.

Robt. Starr, of Wolfville, made a display of Nova Scotia fruit at Omaha, representing the Fruit Growers Association, which was a surprise to western people. There were 50 varieties of apples, among them a Chebucio beauty, weighing 25 ounces and measuring 13 inches round. An orange apple weighed 19 ounces and was 14 inches round.

The Middleman's Profit,

deprives both you and your customers of a certain degree of "quality"—you'll agree to that. The middleman's profit goes entirely into quality in Tillson's Pan-Dried Rolled Oats, because we sell to you direct. "The Middleman's Profit" is often responsible for the direct loss of a customer. If you can skip such a chance (and you can) why take it?

Your customers are abso-

AMONG TORONTO RETAILERS.

Specialty In Tomatoes.

The grocery trade in Toronto have long known that W. J. Sykes, College street, is one of the most enterprising dealers in canned goods in Toronto. Fresh evidence of this was given me while in his store the other day. On a large number of cans of tomatoes, I saw a new label. Closer examination showed me that it was a label gotten up for Mr. Sykes' own trade. The distinctive feature of these cans was that the lithograph showed, pinned to a large tomato, a neat card, stating that they were "specially selected from the finest tomatoes grown in Canada, for W. J. Sykes, 346 College street, Toronto." Mr. Sykes told me that he had secured labels for the cans in 100 cases, and that, by an arrangement with the packer from whom he bought most of his canned goods, these cans were given even more care than is generally given by this packer, who has a reputation for carefully selecting the goods he cans. The aim in view in having these cans specially prepared is to create a special demand for these goods. It is not probable, however, that Mr. Sykes' enterprise will be followed by many other retailers, as the packers prefer to put up their goods in the regular way, as the trouble in making a special selection is no minor matter. And few dealers buy in such quantities as does Mr. Sykes, who is figuring on handling 4,000 cases of tomatoes this season.

Money Plentiful.

I have frequently noted a feeling among Toronto retailers to the effect that times are improving, but until this week no voice has been heard from "beyond the Don." I was in the store of McLean & Van Loan, at the corner of Broadview avenue and Gerard street, the other day and noted a general improvement in appearances. The ceiling had been repapered, the fixtures brightened up, and new goods filled all the shelves, etc. Inquiry led up to Mr. McLean telling me that not only is there a larger demand for goods, but money is much more plentiful than was true of recent years, thus reducing the difficulty of collecting and the loss through bad debts to a minimum. The wheels of business being thus oiled, McLean & Van Loan expect to "get a move on" this winter.

of the Dead Head.*

I witnessed a good sample of the brilliant methods of the up-to-date dead head the other day. I was in the store of a Yonge street grocer when a man about fifty years of age entered. He walked quietly up to the counter, and asked if the grocer kept a certain baker's bread.

"Yes, we have it," was the reply.

"I would like a double loaf, please."

The bread was secured, wrapped up, and laid on the counter for the customer. He hesitated a moment, then, leaning forward, politely enquired: "I suppose you will trust me with this till Monday?"

The name and address was secured, and the promise to wait till Monday given. Then the customer, seeming to recollect something, asked:

"Have you any really fresh eggs?"

"Yes."

"I would like a dozen. And I would like a can of salmon, a pound of tea, and a pound of nice creamery butter. I will take the bread and the tea. Send the rest as soon as you can."

The customer departed. I said nothing, hoping that the merchant would be more fortunate in getting his money than the landlady of the smooth-tongued gentleman whom fate caused me to be housed with some six months ago. But, so far, the merchant has not seen the customer or his cash again.
